11.133 “Subhūti, future physical forms are empty of future physical forms. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness, future physical forms cannot be apprehended. If even emptiness cannot be apprehended, because it is empty of emptiness, how could future physical forms ever be apprehended in emptiness? Subhūti, future feelings are empty of future feelings. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness, future feelings cannot be apprehended. If even emptiness cannot be apprehended, because it is empty of emptiness, how could future feelings ever be apprehended in emptiness? Subhūti, future perceptions are empty of future perceptions. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness, future perceptions cannot be apprehended. If even emptiness cannot be apprehended, because it is empty of emptiness, how could future perceptions ever be apprehended in emptiness? Subhūti, future formative predispositions are empty of future formative predispositions. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness, future formative predispositions cannot be apprehended. If even emptiness cannot be apprehended, because it is empty of emptiness, how could future formative predispositions ever be apprehended in emptiness? Subhūti, future consciousness is empty [F.320.a] of future consciousness. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness, future consciousness cannot be apprehended. If even emptiness cannot be apprehended, because it is empty of emptiness, how could future consciousness ever be apprehended in emptiness?

11.134 “Subhūti, present physical forms are empty of present physical forms. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness, present physical forms cannot be apprehended. If even emptiness cannot be apprehended, because it is empty of emptiness, how could present physical forms ever be apprehended in emptiness? Subhūti, present feelings are empty of present feelings. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness, present feelings cannot be apprehended. If even emptiness cannot be apprehended, because it is empty of emptiness, how could present feelings ever be apprehended in emptiness? Subhūti, present perceptions are empty of present perceptions. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness, present perceptions cannot be apprehended. If even emptiness cannot be apprehended, because it is empty of emptiness, how could present perceptions ever be apprehended in emptiness? Subhūti, present formative predispositions are empty of present formative predispositions. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness, present formative predispositions cannot be apprehended. If even emptiness cannot be apprehended, because it is empty of emptiness, how could present formative predispositions ever be apprehended in emptiness? Subhūti, present consciousness is empty of present consciousness. If you ask [F.320.b] why, it is because in emptiness, present consciousness cannot be apprehended. If even emptiness cannot be apprehended, because it is empty of emptiness, how could present consciousness ever be apprehended in emptiness?

11.135 “Subhūti, the perfection of generosity cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the perfection of generosity cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the perfection of generosity cannot be apprehended in the present, and the perfection of generosity cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness? Subhūti, the perfection of ethical discipline cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the perfection of ethical discipline cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the perfection of ethical discipline cannot be apprehended in the present, and the perfection of ethical discipline cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness? Subhūti, the perfection of tolerance [F.321.a] cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the perfection of tolerance cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the perfection of tolerance cannot be apprehended in the present, and the perfection of tolerance cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness? Subhūti, the perfection of perseverance cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the perfection of perseverance cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the perfection of perseverance cannot be apprehended in the present, and the perfection of perseverance cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness? Subhūti, the perfection of meditative concentration cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the perfection of meditative concentration cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the perfection of meditative concentration cannot be apprehended in the present, and the perfection of meditative concentration cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, [F.321.b] Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness? Subhūti, the perfection of wisdom cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the perfection of wisdom cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the perfection of wisdom cannot be apprehended in the present, and the perfection of wisdom cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.136 “Subhūti, the emptiness of internal phenomena cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the emptiness of internal phenomena cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the emptiness of internal phenomena cannot be apprehended in the present, and the emptiness of internal phenomena cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time [F.322.a] ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.137 “Subhūti, the emptiness of external phenomena cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the emptiness of external phenomena cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the emptiness of external phenomena cannot be apprehended in the present, and the emptiness of external phenomena cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.138 “Subhūti, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena cannot be apprehended in the present, and the emptiness of external and internal phenomena cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.139 “Subhūti, the emptiness of emptiness cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the emptiness of emptiness cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the emptiness of emptiness cannot be apprehended in the present, and the emptiness of emptiness cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, [F.322.b] and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.140 “Subhūti, the emptiness of great extent cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the emptiness of great extent cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the emptiness of great extent cannot be apprehended in the present, and the emptiness of great extent cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.141 “Subhūti, the emptiness of ultimate reality cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the emptiness of ultimate reality cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the emptiness of ultimate reality cannot be apprehended in the present, and the emptiness of ultimate reality cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in [F.323.a] sameness?

11.142 “Subhūti, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena cannot be apprehended in the present, and the emptiness of conditioned phenomena cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

- 11.143 “Subhūti, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena cannot be apprehended in the present, and the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?”
- 11.144 “Subhūti, the emptiness of the unlimited cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the emptiness of the unlimited cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the emptiness of the unlimited cannot be apprehended in the present, and the emptiness of the unlimited [F.323.b] cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?”
- 11.145 “Subhūti, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end cannot be apprehended in the present, and the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?”
- 11.146 “Subhūti, the emptiness of nonexclusion cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the emptiness of nonexclusion cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the emptiness of nonexclusion cannot be apprehended in the present, and the emptiness of nonexclusion cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended [F.324.a] in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.147 “Subhūti, the emptiness of inherent nature cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the emptiness of inherent nature cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the emptiness of inherent nature cannot be apprehended in the present, and the emptiness of inherent nature cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.148 “Subhūti, the emptiness of all phenomena cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the emptiness of all phenomena cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the emptiness of all phenomena cannot be apprehended in the present, and the emptiness of all phenomena cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.149 “Subhūti, the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics [F.324.b] cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics cannot be apprehended in the present, and the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.150 “Subhūti, the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended cannot be apprehended in the present, and the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.151 “Subhūti, the emptiness of nonentities cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the emptiness of nonentities cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the emptiness of nonentities cannot be apprehended in the present, and the emptiness of nonentities cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended [F.325.a] in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.152 “Subhūti, the emptiness of essential nature cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the emptiness of essential nature cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the emptiness of essential nature cannot be apprehended in the present, and the emptiness of essential nature cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.153 “Subhūti, the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities cannot be apprehended in the present, and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. [F.325.b] If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.154 “Subhūti, the applications of mindfulness cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the applications of mindfulness cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the applications of mindfulness cannot be apprehended in the present, and the applications of mindfulness cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.155 “Subhūti, the correct exertions cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the correct exertions cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the correct exertions cannot be apprehended in the present, and the correct exertions cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness? [F.326.a]

11.156 “Subhūti, the supports for miraculous ability cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the supports for miraculous ability cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the supports for miraculous ability cannot be apprehended in the present, and the supports for miraculous ability cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.157 “Subhūti, the faculties cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the faculties cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the faculties cannot be apprehended in the present, and the faculties cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.158 “Subhūti, the powers cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the powers cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the powers cannot be apprehended in the present, and the powers cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, [F.326.b] Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.159 “Subhūti, the branches of enlightenment cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the branches of enlightenment cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the branches of enlightenment cannot be apprehended in the present, and the branches of enlightenment cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.160 “Subhūti, the noble eightfold path cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the noble eightfold path cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the noble eightfold path cannot be apprehended in the present, and the noble eightfold path cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time [F.327.a] cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.161 “Subhūti, the truths of the noble ones cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the truths of the noble ones cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the truths of the noble ones cannot be apprehended in the present, and the truths of the noble ones cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.162 “Subhūti, the meditative concentrations cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the meditative concentrations cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the meditative concentrations cannot be apprehended in the present, and the meditative concentrations cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.163 “Subhūti, the immeasurable attitudes [F.327.b] cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the immeasurable attitudes cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the immeasurable attitudes cannot be apprehended in the present, and the immeasurable attitudes cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.164 “Subhūti, the formless absorptions cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the formless absorptions cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the formless absorptions cannot be apprehended in the present, and the formless absorptions cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.165 “Subhūti, the eight liberations cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the eight liberations cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the eight liberations cannot be apprehended in the present, [F.328.a] and the eight liberations cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.166 “Subhūti, the nine serial steps of meditative absorption cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the nine serial steps of meditative absorption cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the nine serial steps of meditative absorption cannot be apprehended in the present, and the nine serial steps of meditative absorption cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.167 “Subhūti, the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past; the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future; the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation [F.328.b] cannot be apprehended in the present; and the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.168 “Subhūti, the extrasensory powers cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the extrasensory powers cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the extrasensory powers cannot be apprehended in the present, and the extrasensory powers cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.169 “Subhūti, the meditative stabilities cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the meditative stabilities cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the meditative stabilities cannot be apprehended in the present, and

the meditative stabilities cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time [F.329.a] cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.170 “Subhūti, the dhāraṇī gateways cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the dhāraṇī gateways cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the dhāraṇī gateways cannot be apprehended in the present, and the dhāraṇī gateways cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.171 “Subhūti, the ten powers of the tathāgatas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the ten powers of the tathāgatas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the ten powers of the tathāgatas cannot be apprehended in the present, and the ten powers of the tathāgatas cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.172 “Subhūti, the four fearlessnesses [F.329.b] cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the four fearlessnesses cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the four fearlessnesses cannot be apprehended in the present, and the four fearlessnesses cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.173 “Subhūti, the four kinds of exact knowledge cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the four kinds of exact knowledge cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the four kinds of exact knowledge cannot be apprehended in the present, and the four kinds of exact knowledge cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?<sup>593</sup>

11.174 “Subhūti, great loving kindness cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, great loving kindness cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, great loving kindness cannot be apprehended in the present, and great loving kindness cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.175 “Subhūti, great compassion cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, great compassion cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, great compassion cannot be apprehended in the present, and great compassion cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.176 “Subhūti, the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas cannot be apprehended in the present, and the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, [F.330.a] it is because past time cannot be apprehended in sameness, future time cannot be apprehended in sameness, and present time cannot be apprehended in sameness. If even sameness cannot be apprehended in sameness, how could past time ever be apprehended in sameness, how could future time ever be apprehended in sameness, and how could present time ever be apprehended in sameness?

11.177 “Moreover, Subhūti, ordinary people cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, ordinary people cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, ordinary people cannot be apprehended in the present, and ordinary people cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because beings cannot be apprehended. Moreover, Subhūti, śrāvakas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, śrāvakas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, śrāvakas cannot be apprehended in the present, and śrāvakas cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because beings cannot be apprehended. Moreover, Subhūti, pratyekabuddhas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, pratyekabuddhas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, pratyekabuddhas cannot be apprehended in the present, and pratyekabuddhas cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because beings cannot be apprehended. Moreover, Subhūti, bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the present, and bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because beings cannot be apprehended.

11.178 “Moreover, Subhūti, tathāgatas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, tathāgatas cannot be apprehended [F.330.b] at the limit of the future, tathāgatas cannot be apprehended in the present, and tathāgatas cannot be apprehended in the sameness of the three times. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because beings cannot be apprehended.”

11.179 Then Venerable Subhūti said to the Blessed One, “Blessed Lord, it is well and good, this Great Vehicle of bodhisattva great beings that the Blessed Lord has taught so well called ‘the sameness of the three times.’ Blessed Lord, bodhisattva great beings of the past, who have trained in this Great Vehicle, have acquired all-aspect omniscience; Blessed Lord, bodhisattva great beings of the future, also, having trained in just this perfection of wisdom, will acquire all-aspect omniscience; and, Blessed Lord, fathomless bodhisattva great beings in the immeasurable, countless world systems of the ten directions, having trained in just this Great Vehicle, are acquiring all-aspect omniscience. Blessed Lord, [F.331.a] that is why the Great Vehicle of bodhisattva great beings is this one called ‘the sameness of the three times.’”

11.180 Venerable Subhūti having spoken thus, the Lord said to him, “That is so, Subhūti, that is so! Having trained in this Great Vehicle, the tathāgatas, arhats, perfectly complete buddhas of the past, future, and present have acquired, will acquire, and are acquiring all-aspect omniscience.”

11.181 This completes the eleventh chapter from The Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand Lines. [B23]

12.

CHAPTER 12

- 12.1 Then the venerable Pūrṇa Maitrāyaṇīputra said to the Blessed One, “Blessed Lord, this elder Subhūti, who has been put in charge of the perfection of wisdom by the tathāgata, arhat, completely perfect Buddha, thinks he is just to teach the Great Vehicle.”
- 12.2 The venerable Subhūti then said to the Blessed One, “Blessed Lord, I trust that I have not contradicted the perfection of wisdom while teaching the Great Vehicle.”
- 12.3 “Subhūti, you have not done so,” replied the Blessed One. “Subhūti, you do teach the Great Vehicle in conformity with the perfection of wisdom. If you ask why, Subhūti, it is because whatever virtuous attributes there are, be they the attributes of śrāvakas, the attributes of [F.331.b] pratyekabuddhas, the attributes of bodhisattvas, or the attributes of buddhas, all of them are indeed gathered and included within the perfection of wisdom.”
- 12.4 Subhūti then asked, “Blessed Lord, what are virtuous attributes on the side of enlightenment that are gathered and included within the perfection of wisdom—what are the attributes of the śrāvakas like that, the attributes of the pratyekabuddhas, the attributes of the bodhisattvas, and the attributes of the buddhas?”
- 12.5 The Blessed One answered, “They are the four applications of mindfulness, the four correct exertions, the four supports for miraculous ability, the five faculties, the five powers, the seven branches of enlightenment, and the noble eightfold path; the four truths of the noble ones, the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation, the four meditative concentrations, the four immeasurable attitudes, the four formless absorptions, and the six extrasensory powers; the perfection of generosity, the perfection of ethical discipline, the perfection of tolerance, the perfection of perseverance, the perfection of meditative concentration, and the perfection of wisdom; the emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of ultimate reality, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, the emptiness of the unlimited, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, the emptiness of nonexclusion, the emptiness of inherent nature, the emptiness of all phenomena, [F.332.a] the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, the emptiness of nonentities, the emptiness of essential nature, and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities; and all the meditative stabilities, all the dhāraṇī gateways, the ten powers of the tathāgatas, the four fearlessnesses, the four kinds of exact knowledge, great loving kindness, great compassion, great empathetic joy, great equanimity, the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas, the reality of phenomena that does not decline, and abiding in perpetual equanimity.

12.6 “Subhūti, these are held to be the virtuous attributes on the side of enlightenment that are gathered and included within the perfection of wisdom that are the attributes of the śrāvakas, the attributes of the pratyekabuddhas, the attributes of the bodhisattvas, and the attributes of the buddhas.

12.7 “Subhūti, the Great Vehicle, the perfection of wisdom, the perfection of meditative concentration, the perfection of perseverance, the perfection of tolerance, the perfection of ethical discipline, and the perfection of generosity; physical forms, feelings, perceptions, formative predispositions, and consciousness; the eyes, sights, visual consciousness, visually compounded sensory contact, and feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact; the ears, sounds, auditory consciousness, [F.332.b] aurally compounded sensory contact, and feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact; the nose, odors, olfactory consciousness, nasally compounded sensory contact, and feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact; the tongue, tastes, gustatory consciousness, lingually compounded sensory contact, and feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact; the body, tangibles, tactile consciousness, corporeally compounded sensory contact, and feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact; the mental faculty, mental phenomena, mental consciousness, mentally compounded sensory contact, and feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact; ignorance, formative predispositions, consciousness, name and form, the six sense fields, sensory contact, sensation, craving, grasping, the rebirth process, birth, and aging and death; the perfection of generosity, the perfection of ethical discipline, the perfection of tolerance, the perfection of perseverance, [F.333.a] the perfection of meditative concentration, and the perfection of wisdom; the emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of ultimate reality, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, the emptiness of the unlimited, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, the emptiness of nonexclusion, the emptiness of inherent nature, the emptiness of all phenomena, the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, the emptiness of nonentities, the emptiness of essential nature, and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities; the applications of mindfulness, the correct exertions, the supports for miraculous ability, the faculties, the powers, the branches of enlightenment, and the noble eightfold path; the truths of the noble ones, the meditative concentrations, the immeasurable attitudes, the formless absorptions, the six extrasensory powers, the eight stations of mastery, the ten stations of complete suffusion, the eight liberations, [F.333.b] and the nine serial steps of meditative absorption; suffering, the origin, the cessation, and the path; the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation, the meditative stabilities, the dhāraṇī gateways, the ten powers of the tathāgatas, the four fearlessnesses, the four kinds of exact knowledge, great compassion, and the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas; the realm of desire, the realm of form, the realm of formlessness, virtuous phenomena, nonvirtuous phenomena, contaminated phenomena, uncontaminated phenomena, mundane phenomena, supramundane phenomena, conditioned phenomena, and unconditioned phenomena; the tathāgatas, and the Dharma and Vinaya taught by the tathāgatas; the realm of phenomena, the real nature, the very limit of reality, the realm of the inconceivable, and the realm of nirvāṇa—all of these are neither true nor not true,<sup>594</sup> and they are immaterial, impossible to indicate, unobstructed, and have only one defining characteristic, which is to say, they are without defining characteristics.

12.8 “For that reason, Subhūti, you do indeed teach the Great Vehicle [F.334.a] in conformity with the perfection of wisdom.

12.9 “If you ask why, it is because ‘the Great Vehicle is not one thing and the perfection of wisdom another,’ so, the Great Vehicle and the perfection of wisdom are without duality and cannot be divided into two. ‘The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the perfection of meditative concentration another,’ so, the Great Vehicle and the perfection of meditative concentration are without duality and cannot be divided into two. ‘The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the perfection of perseverance another,’ so, the Great Vehicle and the perfection of perseverance are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the perfection of tolerance another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the perfection of tolerance are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the perfection of ethical discipline another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the perfection of ethical discipline are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the perfection of generosity another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the perfection of generosity are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.10 " 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the emptiness of internal phenomena another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the emptiness of internal phenomena are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the emptiness of external phenomena another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the emptiness of external phenomena [F.334.b] are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the emptiness of external and internal phenomena another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the emptiness of external and internal phenomena are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the emptiness of emptiness another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the emptiness of emptiness are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the emptiness of great extent another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the emptiness of great extent are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the emptiness of ultimate reality another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the emptiness of ultimate reality are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the emptiness of conditioned phenomena another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the emptiness of conditioned phenomena are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the emptiness of the unlimited another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the emptiness of the unlimited are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and [F.335.a] the emptiness of nonexclusion another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the emptiness of nonexclusion are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the emptiness of inherent nature another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the emptiness of inherent nature are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the emptiness of all phenomena another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the emptiness of all phenomena are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the emptiness of nonentities another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the emptiness of nonentities are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the emptiness of essential nature another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the emptiness of essential nature are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.11 " 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and [F.335.b] the applications of mindfulness another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the applications of mindfulness are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the correct exertions another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the correct exertions are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the supports for miraculous ability another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the supports for miraculous ability are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the faculties another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the faculties are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the powers another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the powers are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the branches of enlightenment another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the branches of enlightenment are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the noble eightfold path another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the noble eightfold path are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.12 " 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the truths of the noble ones another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the truths of the noble ones are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the meditative concentrations another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the meditative concentrations [F.336.a] are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the immeasurable attitudes another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the immeasurable attitudes are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the formless absorptions another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the formless absorptions are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the eight liberations another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the eight liberations are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the nine serial steps of meditative absorption another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the nine serial steps of meditative absorption are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the extrasensory powers another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the extrasensory powers are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the meditative stabilities another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the meditative stabilities are without duality and cannot be divided into two. 'The Great Vehicle is not one thing [F.336.b] and the dhāraṇī gateways another,' so, the Great Vehicle and the dhāraṇī gateways are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.13      “ ‘The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the ten powers of the tathāgatas another,’ so, the Great Vehicle and the powers of the tathāgatas are without duality and cannot be divided into two. ‘The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the four fearlessnesses another,’ so, the Great Vehicle and the fearlessnesses are without duality and cannot be divided into two. ‘The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the four kinds of exact knowledge another,’ so, the Great Vehicle and the kinds of exact knowledge are without duality and cannot be divided into two. ‘The Great Vehicle is not one thing and great compassion another,’ so, the Great Vehicle and great compassion are without duality and cannot be divided into two. ‘The Great Vehicle is not one thing and the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas another,’ so, the Great Vehicle and the distinct qualities of the buddhas are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.14      “For that reason, Subhūti, you do teach the Great Vehicle by teaching the perfection of wisdom, and you do teach the perfection of wisdom by teaching the Great Vehicle.”

12.15      Then the venerable Subhūti said to the Blessed One, “But still, Blessed Lord, bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. Bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. Bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. One should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits [F.337.a] because physical forms are beyond all limits. One should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits because feelings are beyond all limits. One should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits because perceptions are beyond all limits. One should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits because formative predispositions are beyond all limits. One should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits because consciousness is beyond all limits.

12.16 “It cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘physical forms are a bodhisattva.’ It cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘feelings are a bodhisattva.’ It cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘perceptions are a bodhisattva.’ It cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘formative predispositions are a bodhisattva.’ It cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘consciousness is a bodhisattva.’

12.17 “Blessed Lord, since in all respects, and in each and every way, I do not observe and do not apprehend a bodhisattva, then to which bodhisattvas should I give teaching and instruction in the perfection of wisdom? Since I do not observe and do not apprehend an actual bodhisattva even through the entirety [of all the attributes],<sup>595</sup> to which bodhisattvas should I give teaching and instruction in the perfection of wisdom?

12.18 “Moreover, Blessed Lord, one says ‘a bodhisattva.’ It is a mere name, yet, Blessed Lord, just as one says ‘a self, a self,’ even though there is no coming into being for a self, similarly, Blessed Lord, [F.337.b] one says ‘a bodhisattva, a bodhisattva,’ even though there is no coming into being for a bodhisattva. So, given that phenomena are without essential nature, what physical forms that have come into being could there possibly be;<sup>596</sup> what feelings that have come into being could there possibly be; what perceptions that have come into being could there possibly be; what formative predispositions that have come into being could there possibly be; and what consciousness that has come into being could there possibly be? Blessed Lord, something that has not come into being is not physical forms, something that has not come into being is not feelings, something that has not come into being is not perceptions, something that has not come into being is not formative predispositions, and something that has not come into being is not consciousness. This being the case, Blessed Lord, given that one cannot apprehend those bodhisattva great beings who are engaged in the pursuit of enlightenment as other than something that has not come into being, does something that has not come into being teach and give instructions in a perfection of wisdom that has also not come into being? If, when such teachings are given, the minds of bodhisattva great beings are not disheartened, not intimidated, and not regretful, and they are not afraid, not frightened, and not terrified, then these bodhisattva great beings are indeed practicing the perfection of wisdom.”

12.19 Then the venerable Śāradvatīputra inquired of the venerable Subhūti, “Venerable Subhūti, why can bodhisattvas great beings not be apprehended at the limit of the past not, not be apprehended at the limit of the future, [F.338.a] and not be apprehended in the middle? Venerable Subhūti, why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits because physical forms are beyond all limits; that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits because feelings are beyond all limits; that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits because perceptions are beyond all limits; that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits because formative predispositions are beyond all limits; and that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits because consciousness is beyond all limits?

12.20 “Venerable Subhūti, why can it not even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘physical forms are a bodhisattva’; not even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘feelings are a bodhisattva’; not even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘perceptions are a bodhisattva’; not even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘formative predispositions are a bodhisattva’; and not even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘consciousness is a bodhisattva’?

12.21 “Venerable Subhūti, why do you say, ‘Since in all respects, and in each and every way, I do not observe and do not apprehend a bodhisattva great being, then to which bodhisattvas should I give teaching and instruction in the perfection of wisdom?’ Venerable Subhūti, why do you say, ‘Since I do not observe and do not apprehend even just a bodhisattva as a whole,<sup>597</sup> then to which bodhisattva [F.338.b] great beings should I give teaching and instruction in what perfection of wisdom?’

12.22 “Venerable Subhūti, why do you say, ‘Blessed Lord, one says “bodhisattva great being.” It is a mere name.’ Venerable Subhūti, why do you say, ‘Just as one says “a self, a self,” even though a self does not come into being, similarly, Blessed Lord, one says ‘a bodhisattva, a bodhisattva,’ even though a bodhisattva does not come into being. So, given that phenomena are in their essential nature nonentities,<sup>598</sup> what physical forms that have come into being could there possibly be; what feelings that have come into being could there possibly be; what perceptions that have come into being could there possibly be; what formative predispositions that have come into being could there possibly be; and what consciousness that has come into being could there possibly be? Something that has not come into being is not physical forms, something that has not come into being is not feelings, something that has not come into being is not perceptions, something that has not come into being is not formative predispositions, and something that has not come into being is not consciousness.'

12.23 "Venerable Subhūti, why do you say, 'Does something that has not come into being teach and give instructions in a perfection of wisdom that has also not come into being?' Venerable Subhūti, why do you say, 'One cannot apprehend those bodhisattva great beings as other than not having come into being'? And, Venerable Subhūti, why do you say, [F.339.a] 'If, when such teachings are given, the minds of bodhisattva great beings are not disheartened, not intimidated, and not regretful, and they are not afraid, not frightened, and not terrified, then these bodhisattva great beings are indeed practicing the perfection of wisdom?'"

12.24 The venerable Śāradvatīputra having said this, the venerable Subhūti then responded, "Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because beings are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because beings are empty, beings are void, and beings are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because beings are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because beings are empty, beings are void, and beings are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because beings are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. It is because beings are empty, beings are void, and beings are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent beings, empty beings, void beings, and beings that are without inherent existence, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent beings are not one thing, empty beings another, void beings another, beings without inherent existence another, [F.339.b] and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent beings, empty beings, void beings, beings without inherent existence, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.25 "Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because physical forms are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because physical forms are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because physical forms are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because physical forms are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because physical forms are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because physical forms are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because physical forms are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because physical forms are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because physical forms are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because physical forms are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because physical forms are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because physical forms are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent physical forms, [F.340.a] physical forms that are emptiness, void physical forms, and physical forms that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent physical forms are not one thing, physical forms that are emptiness another, void physical forms another, physical forms that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent physical forms, physical forms that are emptiness, void physical forms, physical forms that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.26 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because feelings are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because feelings are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because feelings are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because feelings are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because feelings are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because feelings are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because feelings are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because feelings are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because feelings are nonexistent that bodhisattvas [F.340.b] cannot be apprehended in the middle, because feelings are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because feelings are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because feelings are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent feelings, feelings that are emptiness, void feelings, and feelings that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent feelings are not one thing, feelings that are emptiness another, void feelings another, feelings that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent feelings, feelings that are emptiness, void feelings, feelings that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.27 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because perceptions are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because perceptions are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because perceptions are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because perceptions are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because perceptions are nonexistent [F.341.a] that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because perceptions are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because perceptions are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because perceptions are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because perceptions are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because perceptions are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because perceptions are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because perceptions are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent perceptions, perceptions that are emptiness, void perceptions, and perceptions that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent perceptions are not one thing, perceptions that are emptiness another, void perceptions another, perceptions that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent perceptions, perceptions that are emptiness, void perceptions, perceptions that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are [F.341.b] without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.28 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because formative predispositions are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because formative predispositions are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because formative predispositions are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because formative predispositions are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because formative predispositions are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because formative predispositions are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because formative predispositions are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because formative predispositions are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because formative predispositions are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because formative predispositions are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because formative predispositions are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because formative predispositions are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent formative predispositions, formative predispositions that are emptiness, void formative predispositions, and formative predispositions that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent formative predispositions are not one thing, formative predispositions that are emptiness another, void formative predispositions another, formative predispositions that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, [F.342.a] nonexistent formative predispositions, formative predispositions that are emptiness, void formative predispositions, formative predispositions that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.29 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because consciousness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because consciousness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the

limit of the past, because consciousness is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because consciousness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because consciousness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because consciousness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because consciousness is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because consciousness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because consciousness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because consciousness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because consciousness is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because consciousness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent consciousness, [F.342.b] consciousness that is emptiness, void consciousness, and consciousness that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent consciousness is not one thing, consciousness that is emptiness another, void consciousness another, consciousness that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent consciousness, consciousness that is emptiness, void consciousness, consciousness that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.30 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the eyes are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the eyes are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the eyes are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the eyes are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the eyes are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the eyes are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the eyes are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the eyes are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the eyes are nonexistent [F.343.a] that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the eyes are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the eyes are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the eyes are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent eyes, eyes that are emptiness, void eyes, and eyes that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent eyes are not one thing, eyes that are emptiness another, void eyes another, eyes that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent eyes, eyes that are emptiness, void eyes, eyes that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.31 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the ears are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the ears are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the ears are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the ears are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the ears are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the ears are emptiness [F.343.b] that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the ears are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the ears are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the ears are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the ears are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the ears are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the ears are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent ears, ears that are emptiness, void ears, and ears that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent ears are not one thing, ears that are emptiness another, void ears another, ears that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent ears, ears that are emptiness, void ears, ears that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.32 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the nose is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the nose is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the nose is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended [F.344.a] at the limit of the past, and because the nose is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the nose is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the nose is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the nose is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the nose is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the nose is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the nose is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the nose is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the nose is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent nose, a nose that is emptiness, a void nose, and a nose that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent nose is not one thing, a nose that is emptiness another, a void nose another, a nose that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent nose, a nose that is emptiness, a void nose, a nose that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be [F.344.b] divided into two.

12.33 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the tongue is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the tongue is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the tongue is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the tongue is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the tongue is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the tongue is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the tongue is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the tongue is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the tongue is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the tongue is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the tongue is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the tongue is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent tongue, a tongue that is emptiness, a void tongue, and a tongue that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent tongue is not one thing, a tongue that is emptiness another, a void tongue another, a tongue that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent tongue, a tongue that is emptiness, a void [F.345.a] tongue, a tongue that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.34 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the body is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the body is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the body is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the body is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the body is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the body is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the body is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the body is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the body is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the body is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the body is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the body is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent body, a body that is emptiness, a void body, and a body that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent body is not one thing, a body that is emptiness another, a void body another, a body that is without [F.345.b] essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent body, a body that is emptiness, a void body, a body that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.35 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the mental faculty is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the mental faculty is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the mental faculty is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the mental faculty is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the mental faculty is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the mental faculty is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the mental faculty is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the mental faculty is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the mental faculty is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the mental faculty is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the mental faculty is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the mental faculty is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent mental faculty, a mental faculty that is emptiness, a void mental faculty, and a mental faculty [F.346.a] that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent mental faculty is not one thing, a mental faculty that is emptiness another, a void mental faculty another, a mental faculty that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent mental faculty, a mental faculty that is emptiness, a void mental faculty, a mental faculty that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. [B24]

12.36 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because sights are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because sights are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because sights are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because sights are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because sights are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because sights are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because sights are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because sights are without essential nature that bodhisattvas [F.346.b] cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because sights are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because sights are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because sights are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because sights are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent sights, sights that are emptiness, void sights, and sights that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent sights are not one thing, sights that are emptiness another, void sights another, sights that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent sights, sights that are emptiness, void sights, sights that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.37 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because sounds are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because sounds are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because sounds are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because sounds are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because sounds [F.347.a] are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because sounds are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because sounds are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because sounds are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because sounds are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because sounds are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because sounds are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because sounds are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent sounds, sounds that are emptiness, void sounds, and sounds that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent sounds are not one thing, sounds that are emptiness another, void sounds another, sounds that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent sounds, sounds that are emptiness, void sounds, sounds that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.38 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because odors are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because odors are emptiness [F.347.b] that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because odors are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because odors are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because odors are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because odors are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because odors are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because odors are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because odors are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because odors are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because odors are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because odors are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent odors, odors that are emptiness, void odors, and odors that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent odors are not one thing, odors that are emptiness another, void odors another, odors that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent odors, odors that are emptiness, void odors, odors that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, [F.348.a] and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.39 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because tastes are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because tastes are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because tastes are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because tastes are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because tastes are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because tastes are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because tastes are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because tastes are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because tastes are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because tastes are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because tastes are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because tastes are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent tastes, tastes that are emptiness, void tastes, and tastes that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent tastes are not one thing, tastes that are emptiness another, void tastes another, tastes that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent tastes, tastes [F.348.b] that are emptiness, void tastes, tastes that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.40 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because tangibles are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because tangibles are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because tangibles are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because tangibles are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because tangibles are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because tangibles are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because tangibles are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because tangibles are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because tangibles are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because tangibles are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because tangibles are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because tangibles are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent tangibles, tangibles that are emptiness, void tangibles, and tangibles that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent tangibles are not one thing, tangibles that are emptiness another, void tangibles [F.349.a] another, tangibles that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent tangibles, tangibles that are emptiness, void tangibles, tangibles that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.41 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because mental phenomena are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because mental phenomena are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because mental phenomena are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because mental phenomena are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because mental phenomena are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because mental phenomena are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because mental phenomena are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because mental phenomena are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because mental phenomena are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because mental phenomena are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because mental phenomena are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because mental phenomena are without essential nature [F.349.b] that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent mental phenomena, mental phenomena that are emptiness, void mental phenomena, and mental phenomena that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent mental phenomena are not one thing, mental phenomena that are emptiness another, void mental phenomena another, mental phenomena that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent mental phenomena, mental phenomena that are emptiness, void mental phenomena, mental phenomena that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.42 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because visual consciousness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because visual consciousness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because visual consciousness is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because visual consciousness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because visual consciousness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because visual consciousness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit [F.350.a] of the future, because visual consciousness is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because visual consciousness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because visual consciousness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because visual consciousness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because visual consciousness is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because visual consciousness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent visual consciousness, a visual consciousness that is emptiness, a void visual consciousness, and a visual consciousness that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent visual consciousness is not one thing, a visual consciousness that is emptiness another, a void visual consciousness another, a visual consciousness that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent visual consciousness, a visual consciousness that is emptiness, a void visual consciousness, a visual consciousness that is without essential nature, [F.350.b] bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.43 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because auditory consciousness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because auditory consciousness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because auditory consciousness is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because auditory consciousness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because auditory consciousness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because auditory consciousness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because auditory consciousness is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because auditory consciousness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because auditory consciousness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because auditory consciousness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because auditory consciousness is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because auditory consciousness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent auditory consciousness, an auditory consciousness that is emptiness, a void auditory consciousness, and an auditory consciousness that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent auditory consciousness is not one thing, an auditory consciousness that is emptiness another, a void auditory consciousness another, an auditory [F.351.a] consciousness that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent auditory consciousness, an auditory consciousness that is emptiness, a void auditory consciousness, an auditory consciousness that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.44 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because olfactory consciousness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because olfactory consciousness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because olfactory consciousness is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because olfactory consciousness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because olfactory consciousness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because olfactory consciousness is emptiness [F.351.b] that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because olfactory consciousness is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because olfactory consciousness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because olfactory consciousness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because olfactory consciousness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because olfactory consciousness is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because olfactory consciousness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent olfactory consciousness, an olfactory consciousness that is emptiness, a void olfactory consciousness, and an olfactory consciousness that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent olfactory consciousness is not one thing, an olfactory consciousness that is emptiness another, a void olfactory consciousness another, an olfactory consciousness that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent olfactory consciousness, an olfactory consciousness that is emptiness, a void olfactory consciousness, an olfactory consciousness that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, [F.352.a] the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.45 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because gustatory consciousness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because gustatory consciousness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because gustatory consciousness is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because gustatory consciousness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because gustatory consciousness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because gustatory consciousness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because gustatory consciousness is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because gustatory consciousness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because gustatory consciousness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because gustatory consciousness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because gustatory consciousness is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because gustatory consciousness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent gustatory consciousness, a gustatory consciousness that is emptiness, a void gustatory consciousness, and a gustatory consciousness that is without essential nature, [F.352.b] the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent gustatory consciousness is not one thing, a gustatory consciousness that is emptiness another, a void gustatory consciousness another, a gustatory consciousness that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent gustatory consciousness, a gustatory consciousness that is emptiness, a void gustatory consciousness, a gustatory consciousness that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.46 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because tactile consciousness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because tactile consciousness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because tactile consciousness is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because tactile consciousness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because tactile consciousness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because tactile consciousness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because tactile consciousness is void [F.353.a] that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because tactile consciousness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because tactile consciousness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because tactile consciousness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because tactile consciousness is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because tactile consciousness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent tactile consciousness, a tactile consciousness that is emptiness, a void tactile consciousness, and a tactile consciousness that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent tactile consciousness is not one thing, a tactile consciousness that is emptiness another, a void tactile consciousness another, a tactile consciousness that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent tactile consciousness, a tactile consciousness that is emptiness, a void tactile consciousness, a tactile consciousness that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle [F.353.b]—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.47 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because mental consciousness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because mental consciousness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because mental consciousness is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because mental consciousness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because mental consciousness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because mental consciousness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because mental consciousness is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because mental consciousness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because mental consciousness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because mental consciousness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because mental consciousness is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because mental consciousness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent mental consciousness, a mental consciousness that is emptiness, a void mental consciousness, and a mental consciousness that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, [F.354.a] and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent mental consciousness is not one thing, a mental consciousness that is emptiness another, a void mental consciousness another, a mental consciousness that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent mental consciousness, a mental consciousness that is emptiness, a void mental consciousness, a mental consciousness that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.48 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because visually compounded sensory contact is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because visually compounded sensory contact is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because visually compounded sensory contact is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because visually compounded sensory contact is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because visually compounded sensory contact is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because visually compounded sensory contact is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because visually compounded sensory contact is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because visually [F.354.b] compounded sensory contact is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because visually compounded sensory contact is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because visually compounded sensory contact is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because visually compounded sensory contact is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because visually compounded sensory contact is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent visually compounded sensory contact, visually compounded sensory contact that is emptiness, void visually compounded sensory contact, and visually compounded sensory contact that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent visually compounded sensory contact is not one thing, visually compounded sensory contact that is emptiness another, void visually compounded sensory contact another, visually compounded sensory contact that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent visually compounded sensory contact, visually compounded sensory contact that is emptiness, void visually compounded sensory contact, visually compounded sensory contact that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.49 “Venerable [F.355.a] Śāradvatīputra, it is because aurally compounded sensory contact is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because aurally compounded sensory contact is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because aurally compounded sensory contact is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because aurally compounded sensory contact is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because aurally compounded sensory contact is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because aurally compounded sensory contact is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because aurally compounded sensory contact is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because aurally compounded sensory contact is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because aurally compounded sensory contact is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because aurally compounded sensory contact is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because aurally compounded sensory contact is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because aurally compounded sensory contact is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent aurally compounded sensory contact, aurally compounded sensory contact that is emptiness, void aurally compounded sensory contact, and aurally compounded sensory contact that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent aurally compounded sensory contact is not one thing, aurally compounded sensory contact that is emptiness [F.355.b] another, void aurally compounded sensory contact another, aurally compounded sensory contact that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent aurally compounded sensory contact, aurally compounded sensory contact that is emptiness, void aurally compounded sensory contact, aurally compounded sensory contact that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.50 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because nasally compounded sensory contact is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because nasally compounded sensory contact is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because nasally compounded sensory contact is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because nasally compounded sensory contact is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because nasally compounded sensory contact is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future; because nasally compounded sensory contact is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future; because nasally compounded sensory contact is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future; and because nasally compounded sensory contact is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because nasally compounded sensory contact [F.356.a] is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle; because nasally compounded sensory contact is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle; because nasally compounded sensory contact is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because nasally compounded sensory contact is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent nasally compounded sensory contact, nasally compounded sensory contact that is emptiness, void nasally compounded sensory contact, and nasally compounded sensory contact that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent nasally compounded sensory contact is not one thing, nasally compounded sensory contact that is emptiness another, void nasally compounded sensory contact another, nasally compounded sensory contact that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent nasally compounded sensory contact, nasally compounded sensory contact that is emptiness, void nasally compounded sensory contact, nasally compounded sensory contact that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.51 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because lingually compounded sensory contact is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, [F.356.b] because lingually compounded sensory contact is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because lingually compounded sensory contact is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because lingually compounded sensory contact is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because lingually compounded sensory contact is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because lingually compounded sensory contact is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because lingually compounded sensory contact is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because lingually compounded sensory contact is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because lingually compounded sensory contact is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because lingually compounded sensory contact is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because lingually compounded sensory contact is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle; and because lingually compounded sensory contact is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent lingually compounded sensory contact, lingually compounded sensory contact that is emptiness, void lingually compounded sensory contact, and lingually compounded sensory contact that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent lingually compounded sensory contact is not one thing, lingually compounded sensory contact that is emptiness another, void lingually compounded sensory contact another, lingually compounded sensory contact that is without essential nature another, [F.357.a] and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent lingually compounded sensory contact, lingually compounded sensory contact that is emptiness, void lingually compounded sensory contact, lingually compounded sensory contact that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.52 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because corporeally compounded sensory contact is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because corporeally compounded sensory contact is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because corporeally compounded sensory contact is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because corporeally compounded sensory contact is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because corporeally compounded sensory contact is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because corporeally compounded sensory contact is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because corporeally compounded sensory contact is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future; and because corporeally compounded sensory contact is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because corporeally compounded sensory contact is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because corporeally compounded sensory contact is emptiness [F.357.b] that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because corporeally compounded sensory contact is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because corporeally compounded sensory contact is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent corporeally compounded sensory contact, corporeally compounded sensory contact that is emptiness, void corporeally compounded sensory contact, and corporeally compounded sensory contact that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent corporeally compounded sensory contact is not one thing, corporeally compounded sensory contact that is emptiness another, void corporeally compounded sensory contact another, corporeally compounded sensory contact that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent corporeally compounded sensory contact, corporeally compounded sensory contact that is emptiness, void corporeally compounded sensory contact, corporeally compounded sensory contact that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.53 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because mentally compounded sensory contact is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because mentally compounded sensory contact is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit [F.358.a] of the past, because mentally compounded sensory contact is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because mentally compounded sensory contact is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because mentally compounded sensory contact is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because mentally compounded sensory contact is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because mentally compounded sensory contact is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because mentally compounded sensory contact is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because mentally compounded sensory contact is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because mentally compounded sensory contact is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because mentally compounded sensory contact is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because mentally compounded sensory contact is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent mentally compounded sensory contact, mentally compounded sensory contact that is emptiness, void mentally compounded sensory contact, and mentally compounded sensory contact that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent mentally compounded sensory contact is not one thing, mentally compounded sensory contact that is emptiness another, void mentally compounded sensory contact another, mentally compounded sensory contact that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas [F.358.b] yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent mentally compounded sensory contact, mentally compounded sensory contact that is emptiness, void mentally compounded sensory contact, mentally compounded sensory contact that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.54 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are nonexistent [F.359.a] that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact that are emptiness, void feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, and feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are not one thing, feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact that are emptiness another, void feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact another, feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact that are emptiness, void feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit [F.359.b] of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.55 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are without essential nature that [F.360.a] bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact that are emptiness, void feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, and feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are not one thing, feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact that are emptiness another, void feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact another, feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact that are emptiness, void feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.56 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because feelings conditioned [F.360.b] by nasally compounded sensory contact are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact that are emptiness, void feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, and feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not [F.361.a] apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are not one thing, feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact that are emptiness another, void feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact another, feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact that are emptiness, void feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.57 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are nonexistent [F.361.b] that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact that are emptiness, void feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact, and feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are not one thing, feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact that are emptiness another, void feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact another, feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact that are without essential nature another, [F.362.a] and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact that are emptiness, void feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.58 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are void that [F.362.b] bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact that are emptiness, void feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact, and feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are not one thing, feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact that are emptiness another, void feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact another, feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned [F.363.a] by corporeally compounded sensory contact that are emptiness, void feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.59 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because feelings conditioned [F.363.b] by mentally compounded sensory contact are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact that are emptiness, void feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact, and feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are not one thing, feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact that are emptiness another, void feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact another, feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact that are emptiness, void feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the [F.364.a] middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. [B25]

12.60 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the earth element is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the earth element is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the earth element is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the earth element is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the earth element is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the earth element is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the earth element is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the earth element is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the earth element is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the earth element is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the earth element is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the earth element is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent earth element, an earth element that is emptiness, a void earth element, and an earth element that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. [F.364.b] A nonexistent earth element is not one thing, an earth element that is emptiness another, a void earth element another, an earth element that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent earth element, an earth element that is emptiness, a void earth element, an earth element that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.61 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the water element is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the water element is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the water element is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the water element is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the water element is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the water element is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the water element is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the water element is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the water element is nonexistent [F.365.a] that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the water element is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the water element is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the water element is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent water element, a water element that is emptiness, a void water element, and a water element that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent water element is not one thing, a water element that is emptiness another, a void water element another, a water element that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent water element, a water element that is emptiness, a void water element, a water element that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.62 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the fire element is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the fire element is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, [F.365.b] because the fire element is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the fire element is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the fire element is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the fire element is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the fire element is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the fire element is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the fire element is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the fire element is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the fire element is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the fire element is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent fire element, a fire element that is emptiness, a void fire element, and a fire element that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent fire element is not one thing, a fire element that is emptiness another, a void fire element another, a fire element that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent fire element, [F.366.a] a fire element that is emptiness, a void fire element, a fire element that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.63 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the wind element is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the wind element is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the wind element is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the wind element is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the wind element is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the wind element is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the wind element is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the wind element is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the wind element is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the wind element is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the wind element is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the wind element is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be [F.366.b] apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent wind element, a wind element that is emptiness, a void wind element, and a wind element that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent wind element is not one thing, a wind element that is emptiness another, a void wind element another, a wind element that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent wind element, a wind element that is emptiness, a void wind element, a wind element that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.64 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the space element is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the space element is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the space element is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the space element is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the space element is nonexistent that bodhisattvas [F.367.a] cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the space element is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the space element is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the space element is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the space element is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the space element is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the space element is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the space element is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent space element, a space element that is emptiness, a void space element, and a space element that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent space element is not one thing, a space element that is emptiness another, a void space element another, a space element that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent space element, a space element that is emptiness, [F.367.b] a void space element, a space element that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.65 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the consciousness element is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the consciousness element is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the consciousness element is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the consciousness element is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the consciousness element is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the consciousness element is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the consciousness element is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the consciousness element is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the consciousness element is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the consciousness element is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the consciousness element is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the consciousness element is [F.368.a] without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent consciousness element, a consciousness element that is emptiness, a void consciousness element, and a consciousness element that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent consciousness element is not one thing, a consciousness element that is emptiness another, a void consciousness element another, a consciousness element that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent consciousness element, a consciousness element that is emptiness, a void consciousness element, a consciousness element that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.66 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because ignorance is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because ignorance is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because ignorance is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because ignorance [F.368.b] is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because ignorance is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because ignorance is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because ignorance is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because ignorance is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because ignorance is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because ignorance is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because ignorance is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because ignorance is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent ignorance, an ignorance that is emptiness, a void ignorance, and an ignorance that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent ignorance is not one thing, an ignorance that is emptiness another, a void ignorance another, an ignorance that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent ignorance, an ignorance that is emptiness, a void ignorance, an ignorance that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit [F.369.a] of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.67 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because formative predispositions are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because formative predispositions are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be

apprehended at the limit of the past, because formative predispositions are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because formative predispositions are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because formative predispositions are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because formative predispositions are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because formative predispositions are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because formative predispositions are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because formative predispositions are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because formative predispositions are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because formative predispositions are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because formative predispositions are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent formative predispositions, formative predispositions that are emptiness, void formative predispositions, and formative predispositions that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent formative predispositions are not one thing, formative predispositions that are emptiness another, void formative predispositions another, formative predispositions that are without essential nature another, [F.369.b] and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent formative predispositions, formative predispositions that are emptiness, void formative predispositions, formative predispositions that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.68 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because consciousness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because consciousness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because consciousness is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because consciousness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because consciousness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because consciousness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because consciousness is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because consciousness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because consciousness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because consciousness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because consciousness is void that bodhisattvas [F.370.a] cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because consciousness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent consciousness, a consciousness that is emptiness, a void consciousness, and a consciousness that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent consciousness is not one thing, a consciousness that is emptiness another, a void consciousness another, a consciousness that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent consciousness, a consciousness that is emptiness, a void consciousness, a consciousness that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.69 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because name and form are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because name and form are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because name and form are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because name and form are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because name [F.370.b] and form are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because name and form are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because name and form are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because name and form are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because name and form are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because name and form are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because name and form are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because name and form are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent name and form, name and form that are emptiness, void name and form, and name and form that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent name and form are not one thing, name and form that are emptiness another, void name and form another, name and form that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent name and form, name and form that are emptiness, void name and form, name and form that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, [F.371.a] the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.70 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the six sense fields are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the six sense fields are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the six sense fields are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the six sense fields are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the six sense fields are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the six sense fields are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the six sense fields are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the six sense fields are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the six sense fields are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the six sense fields are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the six sense fields are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the six sense fields are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in the nonexistent six sense fields, the six sense fields that are emptiness, the void six sense fields, and the six sense fields that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, [F.371.b] and the middle is not apprehended. The nonexistent six sense fields are not one thing, the six sense fields that are emptiness another, the void six sense fields another, the six sense fields that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the nonexistent six sense fields, the six sense fields that are emptiness, the void six sense fields, the six sense fields that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.71 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because sensory contact is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because sensory contact is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because sensory contact is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because sensory contact is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because sensory contact is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because sensory contact is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because sensory contact is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because sensory contact is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because sensory contact is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because sensory contact [F.372.a] is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because sensory contact is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because sensory contact is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent sensory contact, a sensory contact that is emptiness, a void sensory contact, and a sensory contact that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent sensory contact is not one thing, a sensory contact that is emptiness another, a void sensory contact another, a sensory contact that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent sensory contact, a sensory contact that is emptiness, a void sensory contact, a sensory contact that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.72 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because sensation is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because sensation is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because sensation is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because sensation is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because sensation is nonexistent [F.372.b] that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because sensation is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because sensation is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because sensation is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because sensation is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because sensation is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because sensation is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because sensation is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent sensation, a sensation that is emptiness, a void sensation, and a sensation that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent sensation is not one thing, a sensation that is emptiness another, a void sensation another, a sensation that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent sensation, a sensation that is emptiness, a void sensation, a sensation that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.73 “Venerable [F.373.a] Śāradvatīputra, it is because craving is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because craving is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because craving is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because craving is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because craving is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because craving is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because craving is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because craving is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because craving is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because craving is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because craving is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because craving is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent craving, a craving that is emptiness, a void craving, and a craving that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent craving is not one thing, a craving that is emptiness another, a void craving another, a craving that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, [F.373.b] Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent craving, a craving that is emptiness, a void craving, a craving that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.74 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because grasping is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because grasping is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because grasping is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because grasping is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because grasping is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because grasping is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because grasping is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because grasping is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because grasping is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because grasping is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because grasping is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because grasping is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent grasping, a grasping that is emptiness, a void grasping, and a grasping that is without essential nature, [F.374.a] the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent grasping is not one thing, a grasping that is emptiness another, a void grasping another, a grasping that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent grasping, a grasping that is emptiness, a void grasping, a grasping that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.75 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the rebirth process is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the rebirth process is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the rebirth process is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the rebirth process is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the rebirth process is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the rebirth process is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the rebirth process is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the rebirth process is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the rebirth process is nonexistent that bodhisattvas [F.374.b] cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the rebirth process is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the rebirth process is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the rebirth process is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent rebirth process, a rebirth process that is emptiness, a void rebirth process, and a rebirth process that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent rebirth process is not one thing, a rebirth process that is emptiness another, a void rebirth process another, a rebirth process that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent rebirth process, a rebirth process that is emptiness, a void rebirth process, a rebirth process that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.76 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because birth is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because birth is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because birth is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because birth is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because birth is nonexistent that [F.375.a] bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because birth is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because birth is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because birth is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because birth is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because birth is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because birth is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because birth is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent birth, a birth that is emptiness, a void birth, and a birth that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent birth is not one thing, a birth that is emptiness another, a void birth another, a birth that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent birth, a birth that is emptiness, a void birth, a birth that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.77 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because [F.375.b] aging and death are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because aging and death are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because aging and death are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because aging and death are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because aging and death are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because aging and death are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because aging and death are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because aging and death are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because aging and death are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because aging and death are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because aging and death are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because aging and death are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent aging and death, aging and death that are emptiness, void aging and death, and aging and death that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent aging and death are not one thing, aging and death that are emptiness another, void aging and death another, aging and death that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, [F.376.a] nonexistent aging and death, aging and death that are emptiness, void aging and death, aging and death that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.78 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the perfection of generosity is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the perfection of generosity is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the perfection of generosity is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the perfection of generosity is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the perfection of generosity is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the perfection of generosity is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the perfection of generosity is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the perfection of generosity is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the perfection of generosity is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the perfection of generosity is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the perfection of generosity is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, [F.376.b] and because the perfection of generosity is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent perfection of generosity, a perfection of generosity that is emptiness, a void perfection of generosity, and a perfection of generosity that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent perfection of generosity is not one thing, a perfection of generosity that is emptiness another, a void perfection of generosity another, a perfection of generosity that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent perfection of generosity, a perfection of generosity that is emptiness, a void perfection of generosity, a perfection of generosity that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.79 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the perfection of ethical discipline is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the perfection of ethical discipline is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the perfection of ethical discipline is void that bodhisattvas [F.377.a] cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the perfection of ethical discipline is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the perfection of ethical discipline is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the perfection of ethical discipline is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the perfection of ethical discipline is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the perfection of ethical discipline is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the perfection of ethical discipline is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the perfection of ethical discipline is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the perfection of ethical discipline is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the perfection of ethical discipline is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent perfection of ethical discipline, a perfection of ethical discipline that is emptiness, a void perfection of ethical discipline, and a perfection of ethical discipline that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent perfection of ethical discipline is not one thing, a perfection of ethical discipline that is emptiness another, a void perfection of ethical discipline another, a perfection [F.377.b] of ethical discipline that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent perfection of ethical discipline, a perfection of ethical discipline that is emptiness, a void perfection of ethical discipline, a perfection of ethical discipline that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.80 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the perfection of tolerance is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the perfection of tolerance is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the perfection of tolerance is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the perfection of tolerance is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the perfection of tolerance is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the perfection of tolerance is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the perfection of tolerance is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the perfection of tolerance is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit [F.378.a] of the future. It is because the perfection of tolerance is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the perfection of tolerance is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the perfection of tolerance is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the perfection of tolerance is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent perfection of tolerance, a perfection of tolerance that is emptiness, a void perfection of tolerance, and a perfection of tolerance that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent perfection of tolerance is not one thing, a perfection of tolerance that is emptiness another, a void perfection of tolerance another, a perfection of tolerance that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent perfection of tolerance, a perfection of tolerance that is emptiness, a void perfection of tolerance, a perfection of tolerance that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all [F.378.b] of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.81 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the perfection of perseverance is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the perfection of perseverance is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the perfection of perseverance is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the perfection of perseverance is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the perfection of perseverance is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the perfection of perseverance is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the perfection of perseverance is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the perfection of perseverance is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the perfection of perseverance is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the perfection of perseverance is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the perfection of perseverance is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the perfection of perseverance is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent perfection of perseverance, a perfection of perseverance that is emptiness, a void perfection of perseverance, and a perfection of perseverance that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not [F.379.a] apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent perfection of perseverance is not one thing, a perfection of perseverance that is emptiness another, a void perfection of perseverance another, a perfection of perseverance that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent perfection of perseverance, a perfection of perseverance that is emptiness, a void perfection of perseverance, a perfection of perseverance that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.82 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the perfection of meditative concentration is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the perfection of meditative concentration is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the perfection of meditative concentration is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the perfection of meditative concentration is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the perfection of meditative concentration is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the perfection of meditative concentration is emptiness that bodhisattvas [F.379.b] cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the perfection of meditative concentration is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the perfection of meditative concentration is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the perfection of meditative concentration is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the perfection of meditative concentration is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the perfection of meditative concentration is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the perfection of meditative concentration is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent perfection of meditative concentration, a perfection of meditative concentration that is emptiness, a void perfection of meditative concentration, and a perfection of meditative concentration that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent perfection of meditative concentration is not one thing, a perfection of meditative concentration that is emptiness another, a void perfection of meditative concentration another, a perfection of meditative concentration that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent perfection of meditative concentration, a perfection of meditative concentration that is emptiness, a void perfection [F.380.a] of meditative concentration, a perfection of meditative concentration that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.83 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the perfection of wisdom is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the perfection of wisdom is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the perfection of wisdom is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the perfection of wisdom is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the perfection of wisdom is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the perfection of wisdom is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the perfection of wisdom is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the perfection of wisdom is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the perfection of wisdom is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the perfection of wisdom is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the perfection of wisdom is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the perfection of wisdom is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable [F.380.b] Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent perfection of wisdom, a perfection of wisdom that is emptiness, a void perfection of wisdom, and a perfection of wisdom that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent perfection of wisdom is not one thing, a perfection of wisdom that is emptiness another, a void perfection of wisdom another, a perfection of wisdom that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent perfection of wisdom, a perfection of wisdom that is emptiness, a void perfection of wisdom, a perfection of wisdom that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. [B26]

12.84 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the emptiness of internal phenomena is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of internal phenomena is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of internal phenomena is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the emptiness of internal phenomena is without essential nature that [F.381.a] bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the emptiness of internal phenomena is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of internal phenomena is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of internal phenomena is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the emptiness of internal phenomena is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the emptiness of internal phenomena is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of internal phenomena is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of internal phenomena is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the emptiness of internal phenomena is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in the nonexistent emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of internal phenomena that is emptiness, the void emptiness of internal phenomena, and the emptiness of internal phenomena that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. The nonexistent emptiness of internal phenomena is not one thing, the emptiness of internal phenomena that is emptiness another, the void emptiness of internal phenomena another, the emptiness of internal phenomena that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the nonexistent emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of internal phenomena that is emptiness, the void emptiness of internal phenomena, [F.381.b] the emptiness of internal phenomena that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.85 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the emptiness of external phenomena is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of external phenomena is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of external phenomena is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the emptiness of external phenomena is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the emptiness of external phenomena is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of external phenomena is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of external phenomena is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the emptiness of external phenomena is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the emptiness of external phenomena is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of external phenomena is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of external phenomena is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the emptiness of external phenomena is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in the nonexistent emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena that is emptiness, the void emptiness of external phenomena, and the emptiness of external phenomena that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. The nonexistent [F.382.a] emptiness of external phenomena is not one thing, the emptiness of external phenomena that is emptiness another, the void emptiness of external phenomena another, the emptiness of external phenomena that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the nonexistent emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena that is emptiness, the void emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.86 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is nonexistent that bodhisattvas [F.382.b] cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in the nonexistent emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena that is emptiness, the void emptiness of external and internal phenomena, and the emptiness of external and internal phenomena that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. The nonexistent emptiness of external and internal phenomena is not one thing, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena that is emptiness another, the void emptiness of external and internal phenomena another, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the nonexistent emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena that is emptiness, the void emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.87 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the emptiness of emptiness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of emptiness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of emptiness is void that bodhisattvas [F.383.a] cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the emptiness of emptiness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the emptiness of emptiness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of emptiness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of emptiness is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the emptiness of emptiness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the emptiness of emptiness is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of emptiness is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of emptiness is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the emptiness of emptiness is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in the nonexistent emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of emptiness that is emptiness, the void emptiness of emptiness, and the emptiness of emptiness that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. The nonexistent emptiness of emptiness is not one thing, the emptiness of emptiness that is emptiness another, the void emptiness of emptiness another, the emptiness of emptiness that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, [F.383.b] the nonexistent emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of emptiness that is emptiness, the void emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of emptiness that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.88 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the emptiness of great extent is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of great extent is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of great extent is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the emptiness of great extent is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the emptiness of great extent is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of great extent is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of great extent is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the emptiness of great extent is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the emptiness of great extent is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of great extent is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of great extent is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the emptiness of great extent is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in the nonexistent [F.384.a] emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of great extent that is emptiness, the void emptiness of great extent, and the emptiness of great extent that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. The nonexistent emptiness of great extent is not one thing, the emptiness of great extent that is emptiness another, the void emptiness of great extent another, the emptiness of great extent that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the nonexistent emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of great extent that is emptiness, the void emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of great extent that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.89 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the emptiness of ultimate reality is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of ultimate reality is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of ultimate reality is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the emptiness of ultimate reality is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the emptiness of ultimate reality is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of ultimate reality is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, [F.384.b] because the emptiness of ultimate reality is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the emptiness of ultimate reality is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the emptiness of ultimate reality is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of ultimate reality is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of ultimate reality is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the emptiness of ultimate reality is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in the nonexistent emptiness of ultimate reality, the emptiness of ultimate reality that is emptiness, the void emptiness of ultimate reality, and the emptiness of ultimate reality that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. The nonexistent emptiness of ultimate reality is not one thing, the emptiness of ultimate reality that is emptiness another, the void emptiness of ultimate reality another, the emptiness of ultimate reality that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the nonexistent emptiness of ultimate reality, the emptiness of ultimate reality that is emptiness, the void emptiness of ultimate reality, the emptiness of ultimate reality that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all [F.385.a] of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.90 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in the nonexistent emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena that is emptiness, the void emptiness of conditioned phenomena, and the emptiness of conditioned phenomena that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle [F.385.b] is not apprehended. The nonexistent emptiness of conditioned phenomena is not one thing, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena that is emptiness another, the void emptiness of conditioned phenomena another, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the nonexistent emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena that is emptiness, the void emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.91 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is without essential nature [F.386.a] that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in the nonexistent emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena that is emptiness, the void emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, and the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. The nonexistent emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is not one thing, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena that is emptiness another, the void emptiness of unconditioned phenomena another, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the nonexistent emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena that is emptiness, the void emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are [F.386.b] without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.92 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the emptiness of the unlimited is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of the unlimited is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of the unlimited is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the emptiness of the unlimited is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the emptiness of the unlimited is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of the unlimited is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of the unlimited is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the emptiness of the unlimited is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the emptiness of the unlimited is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of the unlimited is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of the unlimited is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the emptiness of the unlimited is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in the nonexistent emptiness of the unlimited, the emptiness of the unlimited that is emptiness, the void emptiness of the unlimited, and the emptiness of the unlimited that is [F.387.a] without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. The nonexistent emptiness of the unlimited is not one thing, the emptiness of the unlimited that is emptiness another, the void emptiness of the unlimited another, the emptiness of the unlimited that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the nonexistent emptiness of the unlimited, the emptiness of the unlimited that is emptiness, the void emptiness of the unlimited, the emptiness of the unlimited that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.93 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is nonexistent [F.387.b] that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in the nonexistent emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end that is emptiness, the void emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, and the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. The nonexistent emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is not one thing, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end that is emptiness another, the void emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end another, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, [F.388.a] the nonexistent emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end that is emptiness, the void emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.94 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the emptiness of nonexclusion is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of nonexclusion is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of nonexclusion is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the emptiness of nonexclusion is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the emptiness of nonexclusion is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of nonexclusion is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of nonexclusion is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the emptiness of nonexclusion is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the emptiness of nonexclusion is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of nonexclusion is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of nonexclusion is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended [F.388.b] in the middle, and because the emptiness of nonexclusion is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in the nonexistent emptiness of nonexclusion, the emptiness of nonexclusion that is emptiness, the void emptiness of nonexclusion, and the emptiness of nonexclusion that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. The nonexistent emptiness of nonexclusion is not one thing, the emptiness of nonexclusion that is emptiness another, the void emptiness of nonexclusion another, the emptiness of nonexclusion that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the nonexistent emptiness of nonexclusion, the emptiness of nonexclusion that is emptiness, the void emptiness of nonexclusion, the emptiness of nonexclusion that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.95 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the emptiness of inherent nature is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of inherent nature is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of inherent nature is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and [F.389.a] because the emptiness of inherent nature is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the emptiness of inherent nature is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of inherent nature is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of inherent nature is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the emptiness of inherent nature is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the emptiness of inherent nature is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of inherent nature is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of inherent nature is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the emptiness of inherent nature is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in the nonexistent emptiness of inherent nature, the emptiness of inherent nature that is emptiness, the void emptiness of inherent nature, and the emptiness of inherent nature that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. The nonexistent emptiness of inherent nature is not one thing, the emptiness of inherent nature that is emptiness another, the void emptiness of inherent nature another, the emptiness of inherent nature that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the nonexistent emptiness of inherent nature, the emptiness [F.389.b] of an inherent nature that is emptiness, the void emptiness of inherent nature, the emptiness of inherent nature that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.96 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the emptiness of all phenomena is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of all phenomena is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of all phenomena is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the emptiness of all phenomena is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the emptiness of all phenomena is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of all phenomena is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of all phenomena is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the emptiness of all phenomena is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the emptiness of all phenomena is nonexistent that bodhisattvas [F.390.a] cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of all phenomena is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of all phenomena is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the emptiness of all phenomena is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in the nonexistent emptiness of all phenomena, the emptiness of all phenomena that is emptiness, the void emptiness of all phenomena, and the emptiness of all phenomena that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. The nonexistent emptiness of all phenomena is not one thing, the emptiness of all phenomena that is emptiness another, the void emptiness of all phenomena another, the emptiness of all phenomena that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the nonexistent emptiness of all phenomena, the emptiness of all phenomena that is emptiness, the void emptiness of all phenomena, the emptiness of all phenomena that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.97 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is void that bodhisattvas [F.390.b] cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in the nonexistent emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics that is emptiness, the void emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, and the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. The nonexistent emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is not one thing, the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics that is emptiness another, the void emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics another, the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, [F.391.a] or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the nonexistent emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics that is emptiness, the void emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.98 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended [F.391.b] in the middle, and because the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in the nonexistent emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended that is emptiness, the void emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, and the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. The nonexistent emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is not one thing, the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended that is emptiness another, the void emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended another, the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the nonexistent emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended that is emptiness, the void emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.99 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the emptiness of nonentities is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of nonentities is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit [F.392.a] of the past, because the emptiness of nonentities is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the emptiness of nonentities is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the emptiness of nonentities is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of nonentities is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of nonentities is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the emptiness of nonentities is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the emptiness of nonentities is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of nonentities is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of nonentities is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the emptiness of nonentities is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in the nonexistent emptiness of nonentities, the emptiness of nonentities that is emptiness, the void emptiness of nonentities, and the emptiness of nonentities that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. The nonexistent emptiness of nonentities is not one thing, the emptiness of nonentities that is emptiness another, the void emptiness of nonentities another, the emptiness of nonentities [F.392.b] that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the nonexistent emptiness of nonentities, the emptiness of nonentities that is emptiness, the void emptiness of nonentities, the emptiness of nonentities that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.100 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the emptiness of essential nature is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of essential nature is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of essential nature is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the emptiness of essential nature is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the emptiness of essential nature is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of essential nature is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of essential nature is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the emptiness of essential nature is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the emptiness of essential nature is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of essential nature is emptiness [F.393.a] that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of essential nature is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the emptiness of essential nature is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in the nonexistent emptiness of essential nature, the emptiness of essential nature that is emptiness, the void emptiness of essential nature, and the emptiness of essential nature that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. The nonexistent emptiness of essential nature is not one thing, the emptiness of essential nature that is emptiness another, the void emptiness of essential nature another, the emptiness of essential nature that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the nonexistent emptiness of essential nature, the emptiness of essential nature that is emptiness, the void emptiness of essential nature, the emptiness of essential nature that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.101 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is void [F.393.b] that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in the nonexistent emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities, the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities that is emptiness, the void emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities, and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. The nonexistent emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is not one thing, the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities that is emptiness another, [F.394.a] the void emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities another, the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the nonexistent emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities, the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities that is emptiness, the void emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities, the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. [V17] [F.1.b] [B1]

12.102 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the applications of mindfulness are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the applications of mindfulness are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the applications of mindfulness are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the applications of mindfulness are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the applications of mindfulness are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the applications of mindfulness are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, [F.2.a] because the applications of mindfulness are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the applications of mindfulness are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the applications of mindfulness are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the applications of mindfulness are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the applications of mindfulness are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the applications of mindfulness are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent applications of mindfulness, applications of mindfulness that are emptiness, void applications of mindfulness, and applications of mindfulness that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent applications of mindfulness are not one thing, applications of mindfulness that are emptiness another, void applications [F.2.b] of mindfulness another, applications of mindfulness that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent applications of mindfulness, applications of mindfulness that are emptiness, void applications of mindfulness, applications of mindfulness that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.103 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the correct exertions are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the correct exertions are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the correct exertions are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the correct exertions are without [F.3.a] essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the correct exertions are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the correct exertions are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the correct exertions are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the correct exertions are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the correct exertions are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the correct exertions are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the correct exertions are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the correct exertions are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent correct exertions, correct exertions that are emptiness, void correct exertions, and correct exertions that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent correct exertions are not one thing, correct exertions that are emptiness another, void [F.3.b] correct exertions another, correct exertions that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent correct exertions, correct exertions that are emptiness, void correct exertions, correct exertions that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.104 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the supports for miraculous ability are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the supports for miraculous ability are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the supports for miraculous ability are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the supports for miraculous ability are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the supports for miraculous ability are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the supports for miraculous ability are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the supports for miraculous ability are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the supports for miraculous ability are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the supports for miraculous ability are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the supports for miraculous ability are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended [F.4.a] in the middle, because the supports for miraculous ability are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the supports for miraculous ability are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent supports for miraculous ability, supports for miraculous ability that are emptiness, void supports for miraculous ability, and supports for miraculous ability that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent supports for miraculous ability are not one thing, supports for miraculous ability that are emptiness another, void supports for miraculous ability another, supports for miraculous ability that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent supports for miraculous ability, supports for miraculous ability that are emptiness, void supports for miraculous ability, supports for miraculous ability that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.105 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the faculties are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the faculties are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the faculties are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the faculties are without essential nature [F.4.b] that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the faculties are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the faculties are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the faculties are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the faculties are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the faculties are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the faculties are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the faculties are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the faculties are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent faculties, faculties that are emptiness, void faculties, and faculties that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent faculties are not one thing, faculties that are emptiness another, void faculties another, faculties that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent faculties, faculties that are emptiness, void faculties, faculties that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are [F.5.a] without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.106 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the powers are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the powers are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the powers are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the powers are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the powers are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the powers are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the powers are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the powers are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the powers are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the powers are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the powers are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the powers are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent powers, powers that are emptiness, void powers, and powers that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent powers are not one thing, powers that are emptiness another, void powers another, powers that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past [F.5.b] one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent powers, powers that are emptiness, void powers, powers that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.107 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the branches of enlightenment are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the branches of enlightenment are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the branches of enlightenment are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the branches of enlightenment are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the branches of enlightenment are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the branches of enlightenment are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the branches of enlightenment are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the branches of enlightenment are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the branches of enlightenment are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the branches of enlightenment are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the branches of enlightenment are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and [F.6.a] because the branches of enlightenment are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent branches of enlightenment, branches of enlightenment that are emptiness, void branches of enlightenment, and branches of enlightenment that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent branches of enlightenment are not one thing, branches of enlightenment that are emptiness another, void branches of enlightenment another, branches of enlightenment that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent branches of enlightenment, branches of enlightenment that are emptiness, void branches of enlightenment, branches of enlightenment that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.108 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the noble eightfold path is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the noble eightfold path is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the noble eightfold path is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the noble eightfold path is without essential nature [F.6.b] that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the noble eightfold path is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the noble eightfold path is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the noble eightfold path is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the noble eightfold path is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the noble eightfold path is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the noble eightfold path is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the noble eightfold path is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the noble eightfold path is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in the nonexistent noble eightfold path, the noble eightfold path that is emptiness, the void noble eightfold path, and the noble eightfold path that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. The nonexistent noble eightfold path is not one thing, the noble eightfold path that is emptiness another, the void noble eightfold path another, the noble eightfold path that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, [F.7.a] or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the nonexistent noble eightfold path, the noble eightfold path that is emptiness, the void noble eightfold path, the noble eightfold path that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.109 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the truths of the noble ones are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the truths of the noble ones are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the truths of the noble ones are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the truths of the noble ones are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the truths of the noble ones are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the truths of the noble ones are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the truths of the noble ones are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the truths of the noble ones are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the truths of the noble ones are nonexistent that [F.7.b] bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the truths of the noble ones are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the truths of the noble ones are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the truths of the noble ones are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent truths of the noble ones, truths of the noble ones that are emptiness, void truths of the noble ones, and truths of the noble ones that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent truths of the noble ones are not one thing, truths of the noble ones that are emptiness another, void truths of the noble ones another, truths of the noble ones that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent truths of the noble ones, truths of the noble ones that are emptiness, void truths of the noble ones, truths of the noble ones that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.110 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the meditative concentrations are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because [F.8.a] the meditative concentrations are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the meditative concentrations are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the meditative concentrations are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the meditative concentrations are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the meditative concentrations are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the meditative concentrations are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the meditative concentrations are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the meditative concentrations are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the meditative concentrations are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the meditative concentrations are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the meditative concentrations are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent meditative concentrations, meditative concentrations that are emptiness, void meditative concentrations, and meditative concentrations that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent meditative concentrations are not one thing, meditative concentrations that are emptiness another, void meditative concentrations another, meditative concentrations that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle [F.8.b] yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent meditative concentrations, meditative concentrations that are emptiness, void meditative concentrations, meditative concentrations that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.111 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the immeasurable attitudes are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the immeasurable attitudes are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the immeasurable attitudes are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the immeasurable attitudes are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the immeasurable attitudes are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the immeasurable attitudes are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the immeasurable attitudes are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the immeasurable attitudes are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the immeasurable attitudes are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the immeasurable attitudes are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the immeasurable attitudes are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the immeasurable attitudes are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent immeasurable attitudes, immeasurable attitudes that are emptiness, void [F.9.a] immeasurable attitudes, and immeasurable attitudes that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent immeasurable attitudes are not one thing, immeasurable attitudes that are emptiness another, void immeasurable attitudes another, immeasurable attitudes that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent immeasurable attitudes, immeasurable attitudes that are emptiness, void immeasurable attitudes, immeasurable attitudes that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.112 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the formless absorptions are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the formless absorptions are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the formless absorptions are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the formless absorptions are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the formless absorptions are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, [F.9.b] because the formless absorptions are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the formless absorptions are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the formless absorptions are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the formless absorptions are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the formless absorptions are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the formless absorptions are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the formless absorptions are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent formless absorptions, formless absorptions that are emptiness, void formless absorptions, and formless absorptions that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent formless absorptions are not one thing, formless absorptions that are emptiness another, void formless absorptions another, formless absorptions that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, [F.10.a] nonexistent formless absorptions, formless absorptions that are emptiness, void formless absorptions, formless absorptions that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.113 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the liberations are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the liberations are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the liberations are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the liberations are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the liberations are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the liberations are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the liberations are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the liberations are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the liberations are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the liberations are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the liberations are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the liberations are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. [F.10.b] If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent liberations, liberations that are emptiness, void liberations, and liberations that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent liberations are not one thing, liberations that are emptiness another, void liberations another, liberations that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent liberations, liberations that are emptiness, void liberations, liberations that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.114 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the serial steps of meditative absorption are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the serial steps of meditative absorption are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the serial steps of meditative absorption are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the serial steps of meditative absorption are without essential nature [F.11.a] that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the serial steps of meditative absorption are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the serial steps of meditative absorption are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the serial steps of meditative absorption are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the serial steps of meditative absorption are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the serial steps of meditative absorption are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the serial steps of meditative absorption are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the serial steps of meditative absorption are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the serial steps of meditative absorption are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent serial steps of meditative absorption, serial steps of meditative absorption that are emptiness, void serial steps of meditative absorption, and serial steps of meditative absorption that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent serial steps of meditative absorption are not one thing, [F.11.b] serial steps of meditative absorption that are emptiness another, void serial steps of meditative absorption another, serial steps of meditative absorption that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent serial steps of meditative absorption, serial steps of meditative absorption that are emptiness, void serial steps of meditative absorption, serial steps of meditative absorption that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.115 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past; because the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past; because the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past; and because the emptiness, signlessness, [F.12.a] and wishlessness gateways to liberation are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future; because the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future; because the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future; and because the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle; because the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle; because the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle; and because the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness [F.12.b] gateways to liberation; emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation that are emptiness; void emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation; and emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are not one thing; emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation that are emptiness another; void emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation another; emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation that are without essential nature another; and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation; emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation that are emptiness; void emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation; emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation that are without essential nature; bodhisattvas; the limit of the past; [F.13.a] the limit of the future; and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.116 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the extrasensory powers are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the extrasensory powers are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the extrasensory powers are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the extrasensory powers are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the extrasensory powers are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the extrasensory powers are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the extrasensory powers are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the extrasensory powers are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the extrasensory powers are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the extrasensory powers are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the extrasensory powers are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the extrasensory powers are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent extrasensory powers, extrasensory powers that are emptiness, void extrasensory powers, and extrasensory powers that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, [F.13.b] the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent extrasensory powers are not one thing, extrasensory powers that are emptiness another, void extrasensory powers another, extrasensory powers that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent extrasensory powers, extrasensory powers that are emptiness, void extrasensory powers, extrasensory powers that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.117 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the meditative stabilities are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the meditative stabilities are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the meditative stabilities are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the meditative stabilities are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the meditative stabilities are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the meditative stabilities are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the meditative stabilities are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because [F.14.a] the meditative stabilities are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the meditative stabilities are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the meditative stabilities are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the meditative stabilities are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the meditative stabilities are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent meditative stabilities, meditative stabilities that are emptiness, void meditative stabilities, and meditative stabilities that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent meditative stabilities are not one thing, meditative stabilities that are emptiness another, void meditative stabilities another, meditative stabilities that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent meditative stabilities, meditative stabilities that are emptiness, void meditative stabilities, meditative stabilities that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.118 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the dhāraṇī gateways [F.14.b] are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the dhāraṇī gateways are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the dhāraṇī gateways are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the dhāraṇī gateways are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the dhāraṇī gateways are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the dhāraṇī gateways are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the dhāraṇī gateways are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the dhāraṇī gateways are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the dhāraṇī gateways are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the dhāraṇī gateways are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the dhāraṇī gateways are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the dhāraṇī gateways are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent dhāraṇī gateways, dhāraṇī gateways that are emptiness, void dhāraṇī gateways, and dhāraṇī gateways that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent dhāraṇī gateways are not one thing, dhāraṇī gateways that are emptiness another, void dhāraṇī gateways another, dhāraṇī gateways that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas [F.15.a] yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent dhāraṇī gateways, dhāraṇī gateways that are emptiness, void dhāraṇī gateways, dhāraṇī gateways that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.119 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the powers of the tathāgatas are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the powers of the tathāgatas are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the powers of the tathāgatas are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the powers of the tathāgatas are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the powers of the tathāgatas are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the powers of the tathāgatas are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the powers of the tathāgatas are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the powers of the tathāgatas are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the powers of the tathāgatas are nonexistent that [F.15.b] bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the powers of the tathāgatas are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the powers of the tathāgatas are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the powers of the tathāgatas are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent powers of the tathāgatas, powers of the tathāgatas that are emptiness, void powers of the tathāgatas, and powers of the tathāgatas that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent powers of the tathāgatas are not one thing, powers of the tathāgatas that are emptiness another, void powers of the tathāgatas another, powers of the tathāgatas that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent powers of the tathāgatas, powers of the tathāgatas that are emptiness, void powers of the tathāgatas, powers of the tathāgatas that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be [F.16.a] divided into two.

12.120 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the fearlessnesses are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the fearlessnesses are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the fearlessnesses are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the fearlessnesses are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the fearlessnesses are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the fearlessnesses are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the fearlessnesses are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the fearlessnesses are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the fearlessnesses are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the fearlessnesses are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the fearlessnesses are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the fearlessnesses are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent fearlessnesses, fearlessnesses that are emptiness, void fearlessnesses, and fearlessnesses that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent fearlessnesses are not one thing, fearlessnesses that are emptiness [F.16.b] another, void fearlessnesses another, fearlessnesses that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent fearlessnesses, fearlessnesses that are emptiness, void fearlessnesses, fearlessnesses that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.121 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the kinds of exact knowledge are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the kinds of exact knowledge are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the kinds of exact knowledge are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the kinds of exact knowledge are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the kinds of exact knowledge are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the kinds of exact knowledge are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the kinds of exact knowledge are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the kinds of exact knowledge are without essential nature that bodhisattvas [F.17.a] cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the kinds of exact knowledge are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the kinds of exact knowledge are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the kinds of exact knowledge are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the kinds of exact knowledge are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in kinds of exact knowledge that are nonexistent, kinds of exact knowledge that are emptiness, kinds of exact knowledge that are void, and kinds of exact knowledge that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Kinds of exact knowledge that are nonexistent are not one thing, kinds of exact knowledge that are emptiness another, kinds of exact knowledge that are void another, kinds of exact knowledge that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, kinds of exact knowledge that are nonexistent, kinds of exact knowledge that are emptiness, kinds of exact knowledge that are void, kinds of exact knowledge that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, [F.17.b] the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.122 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because great compassion is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because great compassion is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because great compassion is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because great compassion is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because great compassion is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because great compassion is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because great compassion is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because great compassion is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because great compassion is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because great compassion is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because great compassion is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because great compassion is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in a nonexistent great compassion, a great compassion that is emptiness, a void great compassion, and a great compassion that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. A nonexistent great compassion is not one thing, a great compassion that is emptiness another, [F.18.a] a void great compassion another, a great compassion that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, a nonexistent great compassion, a great compassion that is emptiness, a void great compassion, a great compassion that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.123 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the distinct qualities of the buddhas are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the distinct qualities of the buddhas are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the distinct qualities of the buddhas are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the distinct qualities of the buddhas are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the distinct qualities of the buddhas are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the distinct qualities of the buddhas are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the distinct qualities of the buddhas are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the distinct qualities of the buddhas are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the distinct qualities of the buddhas are nonexistent that bodhisattvas [F.18.b] cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the distinct qualities of the buddhas are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the distinct qualities of the buddhas are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the distinct qualities of the buddhas are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in distinct qualities of the buddhas that are nonexistent, distinct qualities of the buddhas that are emptiness, distinct qualities of the buddhas that are void, and distinct qualities of the buddhas that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Distinct qualities of the buddhas that are nonexistent are not one thing, distinct qualities of the buddhas that are emptiness another, distinct qualities of the buddhas that are void another, distinct qualities of the buddhas that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, distinct qualities of the buddhas that are nonexistent, distinct qualities of the buddhas that are emptiness, distinct qualities of the buddhas that are void, distinct qualities of the buddhas that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.124 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the realm of phenomena is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, [F.19.a] because the realm of phenomena is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the realm of phenomena is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the realm of phenomena is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the realm of phenomena is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the realm of phenomena is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the realm of phenomena is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the realm of phenomena is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the realm of phenomena is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the realm of phenomena is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the realm of phenomena is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the realm of phenomena is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in the nonexistent realm of phenomena, the realm of phenomena that is emptiness, the void realm of phenomena, and the realm of phenomena that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. The nonexistent realm of phenomena is not one thing, the realm of phenomena that is emptiness another, the void realm of phenomena another, the realm of phenomena that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the nonexistent realm of phenomena, the realm [F.19.b] of phenomena that is emptiness, the void realm of phenomena, the realm of phenomena that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.125 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the real nature is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the real nature is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the real nature is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the real nature is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the real nature is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the real nature is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the real nature is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the real nature is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the real nature is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the real nature is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the real nature is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the real nature is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in the nonexistent real nature, the real nature that is emptiness, the void real nature, and the real nature that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. [F.20.a] The nonexistent real nature is not one thing, the real nature that is emptiness another, the void real nature another, the real nature that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the nonexistent real nature, the real nature that is emptiness, the void real nature, the real nature that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.126 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the very limit of reality is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the very limit of reality is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the very limit of reality is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the very limit of reality is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the very limit of reality is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the very limit of reality is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the very limit of reality is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the very limit of reality is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the very limit of reality is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, [F.20.b] because the very limit of reality is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the very limit of reality is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the very limit of reality is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in the very limit of reality that is nonexistent, the very limit of reality that is emptiness, the very limit of reality that is void, and the very limit of reality that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. The very limit of reality that is nonexistent is not one thing, the very limit of reality that is emptiness another, the very limit of reality that is void another, the very limit of reality that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the very limit of reality that is nonexistent, the very limit of reality that is emptiness, the very limit of reality that is void, the very limit of reality that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.127 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the realm of the inconceivable is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because the realm of the inconceivable is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit [F.21.a] of the past, because the realm of the inconceivable is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because the realm of the inconceivable is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because the realm of the inconceivable is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the realm of the inconceivable is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because the realm of the inconceivable is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because the realm of the inconceivable is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because the realm of the inconceivable is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the realm of the inconceivable is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because the realm of the inconceivable is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because the realm of the inconceivable is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in the nonexistent realm of the inconceivable, the realm of the inconceivable that is emptiness, the void realm of the inconceivable, and the realm of the inconceivable that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. The nonexistent realm of the inconceivable is not one thing, the realm of the inconceivable that is emptiness another, the void realm [F.21.b] of the inconceivable another, the realm of the inconceivable that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the nonexistent realm of the inconceivable, the realm of the inconceivable that is emptiness, the void realm of the inconceivable, the realm of the inconceivable that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.128 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because śrāvakas are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because śrāvakas are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because śrāvakas are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because śrāvakas are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because śrāvakas are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because śrāvakas are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because śrāvakas are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because śrāvakas are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because śrāvakas are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended [F.22.a] in the middle, because śrāvakas are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because śrāvakas are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because śrāvakas are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent śrāvakas, śrāvakas that are emptiness, void śrāvakas, and śrāvakas that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent śrāvakas are not one thing, śrāvakas that are emptiness another, void śrāvakas another, śrāvakas that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent śrāvakas, śrāvakas that are emptiness, void śrāvakas, śrāvakas that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.129 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because pratyekabuddhas are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because pratyekabuddhas are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because pratyekabuddhas are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because pratyekabuddhas are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because pratyekabuddhas are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because pratyekabuddhas [F.22.b] are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because pratyekabuddhas are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because pratyekabuddhas are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because pratyekabuddhas are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because pratyekabuddhas are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because pratyekabuddhas are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because pratyekabuddhas are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent pratyekabuddhas, pratyekabuddhas that are emptiness, void pratyekabuddhas, and pratyekabuddhas that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent pratyekabuddhas are not one thing, pratyekabuddhas that are emptiness another, void pratyekabuddhas another, pratyekabuddhas that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent pratyekabuddhas, pratyekabuddhas that are emptiness, void pratyekabuddhas, pratyekabuddhas that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all [F.23.a] of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.130 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because bodhisattvas are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because bodhisattvas are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because bodhisattvas are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because bodhisattvas are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because bodhisattvas are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because bodhisattvas are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because bodhisattvas are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because bodhisattvas are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because bodhisattvas are nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because bodhisattvas are emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because bodhisattvas are void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because bodhisattvas are without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent bodhisattvas, bodhisattvas that are emptiness, void bodhisattvas, and bodhisattvas that are without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent bodhisattvas are not one thing, bodhisattvas that are emptiness [F.23.b] another, void bodhisattvas another, bodhisattvas that are without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So,

Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent bodhisattvas, bodhisattvas that are emptiness, void bodhisattvas, bodhisattvas that are without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.131 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because omniscience is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because omniscience is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, because omniscience is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, and because omniscience is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past. It is because omniscience is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because omniscience is emptiness that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, because omniscience is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and because omniscience is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future. It is because omniscience is nonexistent that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, because omniscience is emptiness that bodhisattvas [F.24.a] cannot be apprehended in the middle, because omniscience is void that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle, and because omniscience is without essential nature that bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because in nonexistent omniscience, omniscience that is emptiness, void omniscience, and omniscience that is without essential nature, the limit of the past is not apprehended, the limit of the future is not apprehended, and the middle is not apprehended. Nonexistent omniscience is not one thing, omniscience that is emptiness another, void omniscience another, omniscience that is without essential nature another, and bodhisattvas yet another, or the limit of the past one thing, the limit of the future another, and the middle yet another. So, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nonexistent omniscience, omniscience that is emptiness, void omniscience, omniscience that is without essential nature, bodhisattvas, the limit of the past, the limit of the future, and the middle—all of these—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.132 “For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the past, bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended at the limit of the future, and bodhisattvas cannot be apprehended in the middle. [F.24.b] [B2]

12.133 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, you said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because physical forms are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, physical forms are the same as space. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits<sup>599</sup> it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because physical forms are emptiness, the past limit of physical forms cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because physical forms are beyond all limits.

12.134 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because feelings are beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because feelings are emptiness, the past limit of feelings cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, [F.25.a] and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because feelings are beyond all limits.

12.135 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because perceptions are beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, perceptions are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because perceptions are emptiness, the past limit of perceptions cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because perceptions are beyond all limits.

12.136 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because formative predispositions are beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, formative predispositions are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' [F.25.b] similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because formative predispositions are emptiness, the past limit of formative predispositions cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because formative predispositions are beyond all limits.

12.137 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because consciousness is beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, consciousness is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because consciousness is emptiness, the past limit of consciousness cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because consciousness is beyond all limits.

12.138 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the eyes are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the eyes are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as [F.26.a] in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the eyes are emptiness, the past limit of the eyes cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the eyes are beyond all limits.

12.139 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the ears are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the ears are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the ears are emptiness, the past limit of the ears cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the ears are beyond all limits.

- 12.140 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the nose is beyond all limits?’ [F.26.b] Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the nose is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the nose is emptiness, the past limit of the nose cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the nose is beyond all limits.
- 12.141 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the tongue is beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the tongue is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the tongue is emptiness, the past limit of the tongue cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the tongue is beyond all limits.
- 12.142 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the body is beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the body is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space [F.27.a] the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the body is emptiness, the past limit of the body cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the body is beyond all limits.
- 12.143 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the mental faculty is beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the mental faculty is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the mental faculty is emptiness, the past limit of the mental faculty cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the mental faculty is beyond all limits.

12.144 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because sights are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, sights are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed [F.27.b] with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because sights are emptiness, the past limit of sights cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because sights are beyond all limits.

12.145 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because sounds are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, sounds are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because sounds are emptiness, the past limit of sounds cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because sounds are beyond all limits.

12.146 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because odors are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, odors are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because odors are emptiness, the past limit of odors cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle [F.28.a] cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because odors are beyond all limits.

- 12.147 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because tastes are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, tastes are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because tastes are emptiness, the past limit of tastes cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because tastes are beyond all limits.
- 12.148 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because tangibles are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, tangibles are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because tangibles are emptiness, the past limit of tangibles cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because tangibles are beyond all limits.
- 12.149 “You said, ‘Why [F.28.b] should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because mental phenomena are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, mental phenomena are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because mental phenomena are emptiness, the past limit of mental phenomena cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because mental phenomena are beyond all limits.
- 12.150 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because visual consciousness is beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visual consciousness is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because visual consciousness is emptiness, the past limit of visual consciousness cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because visual consciousness is beyond all limits.

12.151 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because [F.29.a] auditory consciousness is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, auditory consciousness is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because auditory consciousness is emptiness, the past limit of auditory consciousness cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because auditory consciousness is beyond all limits.

12.152 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because olfactory consciousness is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, olfactory consciousness is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because olfactory consciousness is emptiness, the past limit of olfactory consciousness cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because olfactory consciousness is beyond all limits.

12.153 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because gustatory [F.29.b] consciousness is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, gustatory consciousness is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because gustatory consciousness is emptiness, the past limit of gustatory consciousness cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because gustatory consciousness is beyond all limits.

12.154 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because tactile consciousness is beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, tactile consciousness is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because tactile consciousness is emptiness, the past limit of tactile consciousness cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because tactile consciousness is beyond all limits.

12.155 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, [F.30.a] because mental consciousness is beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, mental consciousness is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because mental consciousness is emptiness, the past limit of mental consciousness cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because mental consciousness is beyond all limits.

12.156 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because visually compounded sensory contact is beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visually compounded sensory contact is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because visually compounded sensory contact is emptiness, the past limit of visually compounded sensory contact cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because visually compounded sensory contact is beyond all limits.

12.157 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because [F.30.b] aurally compounded sensory contact is beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, aurally compounded sensory contact is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because aurally compounded sensory contact is emptiness, the past limit of aurally compounded sensory contact cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because aurally compounded sensory contact is beyond all limits.

12.158 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because nasally compounded sensory contact is beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nasally compounded sensory contact is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because nasally compounded sensory contact is emptiness, the past limit of nasally compounded sensory contact cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because nasally compounded sensory contact is beyond all limits.

12.159 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because lingually compounded sensory contact is beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, [F.31.a] lingually compounded sensory contact is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because lingually compounded sensory contact is emptiness, the past limit of lingually compounded sensory contact cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because lingually compounded sensory contact is beyond all limits.

12.160 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because corporeally compounded sensory contact is beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, corporeally compounded sensory contact is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because corporeally compounded sensory contact is emptiness, the past limit of corporeally compounded sensory contact cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because corporeally compounded sensory contact is beyond all limits.

12.161 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because mentally compounded sensory contact is beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, [F.31.b] mentally compounded sensory contact is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because mentally compounded sensory contact is emptiness, the past limit of mentally compounded sensory contact cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because mentally compounded sensory contact is beyond all limits.

12.162 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are emptiness, the past limit of feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are beyond all limits.

12.163 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings [F.32.a] conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are emptiness, the past limit of feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are beyond all limits.

12.164 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are emptiness, the past limit of feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are beyond all limits.

12.165 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, [F.32.b] because feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are emptiness, the past limit of feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are beyond all limits.

12.166 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are emptiness, the past limit of feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because feelings conditioned by [F.33.a] corporeally compounded sensory contact are beyond all limits.

12.167 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are emptiness, the past limit of feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are beyond all limits.

- 12.168 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the earth element is beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the earth element is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the earth element is emptiness, the past limit of the earth element cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas [F.33.b] are beyond all limits, because the earth element is beyond all limits.
- 12.169 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the water element is beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the water element is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the water element is emptiness, the past limit of the water element cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the water element is beyond all limits.
- 12.170 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the fire element is beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the fire element is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the fire element is emptiness, the past limit of the fire element cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the fire element is beyond all limits.
- 12.171 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, [F.34.a] because the wind element is beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the wind element is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the wind element is emptiness, the past limit of the wind element cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the wind element is beyond all limits.

12.172 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the space element is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the space element is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the space element is emptiness, the past limit of the space element cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the space element is beyond all limits.

12.173 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the consciousness element is beyond all limits?' Venerable [F.34.b] Śāradvatīputra, the consciousness element is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the consciousness element is emptiness, the past limit of the consciousness element cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the consciousness element is beyond all limits.

12.174 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because ignorance is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, ignorance is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because ignorance is emptiness, the past limit of ignorance cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because ignorance is beyond all limits.

12.175 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because formative predispositions are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, formative predispositions are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as [F.35.a] in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because formative predispositions are emptiness, the past limit of formative predispositions cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because formative predispositions are beyond all limits.

12.176 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because consciousness is beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, consciousness is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because consciousness is emptiness, the past limit of consciousness cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because consciousness is beyond all limits.

12.177 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because name and form are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, name and form are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, [F.35.b] but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because name and form are emptiness, the past limit of name and form cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because name and form are beyond all limits.

- 12.178 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the six sense fields are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the six sense fields are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the six sense fields are emptiness, the past limit of the six sense fields cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the six sense fields are beyond all limits.
- 12.179 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because sensory contact is beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, sensory contact is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because sensory contact [F.36.a] is emptiness, the past limit of sensory contact cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because sensory contact is beyond all limits.
- 12.180 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because sensation is beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, sensation is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because sensation is emptiness, the past limit of sensation cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because sensation is beyond all limits.
- 12.181 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because craving is beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, craving is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because craving is emptiness, the past limit of craving cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, [F.36.b] and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because craving is beyond all limits.

12.182 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because grasping is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, grasping is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because grasping is emptiness, the past limit of grasping cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because grasping is beyond all limits.

12.183 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the rebirth process is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the rebirth process is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the rebirth process is emptiness, the past limit of the rebirth process cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, [F.37.a] Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the rebirth process is beyond all limits.

12.184 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because birth is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, birth is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because birth is emptiness, the past limit of birth cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because birth is beyond all limits.

- 12.185 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because aging and death are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, aging and death are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because aging and death are emptiness, the past limit of aging and death cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because aging and death are beyond all limits.
- 12.186 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the perfection of generosity is beyond [F.37.b] all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of generosity is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the perfection of generosity is emptiness, the past limit of the perfection of generosity cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the perfection of generosity is beyond all limits.
- 12.187 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the perfection of ethical discipline is beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of ethical discipline is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because, just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the perfection of ethical discipline is emptiness, the past limit of the perfection of ethical discipline cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the perfection of ethical discipline is beyond all limits.
- 12.188 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, [F.38.a] because the perfection of tolerance is beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of tolerance is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the perfection of tolerance is emptiness, the past limit of the perfection of tolerance cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the perfection of tolerance is beyond all limits.

12.189 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the perfection of perseverance is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of perseverance is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the perfection of perseverance is emptiness, the past limit of the perfection of perseverance cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the perfection of perseverance is beyond all limits.

12.190 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas [F.38.b] are beyond all limits, because the perfection of meditative concentration is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of meditative concentration is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the perfection of meditative concentration is emptiness, the past limit of the perfection of meditative concentration cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the perfection of meditative concentration is beyond all limits.

12.191 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the perfection of wisdom is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of wisdom is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the perfection of wisdom is emptiness, the past limit of the perfection of wisdom cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the perfection of wisdom is beyond all limits. [F.39.a] [B3]

12.192 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of internal phenomena is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of internal phenomena is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the emptiness of internal phenomena is emptiness, the past limit of the emptiness of internal phenomena cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of internal phenomena is beyond all limits.

12.193 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of external phenomena is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of external phenomena is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the emptiness of external phenomena is emptiness, the past limit of the emptiness of external phenomena cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of external phenomena is beyond all limits.

12.194 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas [F.39.b] are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is emptiness, the past limit of the emptiness of external and internal phenomena cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is beyond all limits.

12.195 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of emptiness is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of emptiness is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the emptiness of emptiness is emptiness, the past limit of the emptiness of emptiness cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of emptiness is beyond all limits.

12.196 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because [F.40.a] the emptiness of great extent is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of great extent is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the emptiness of great extent is emptiness, the past limit of the emptiness of great extent cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of great extent is beyond all limits.

12.197 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of ultimate reality is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of ultimate reality is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the emptiness of ultimate reality is emptiness, the past limit of the emptiness of ultimate reality cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of ultimate reality is beyond all limits.

12.198 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is beyond all limits?' Venerable [F.40.b] Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is emptiness, the past limit of the emptiness of conditioned phenomena cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is beyond all limits.

12.199 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is emptiness, the past limit of the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is beyond all limits.

12.200 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of the unlimited is beyond all limits?' Venerable [F.41.a] Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of the unlimited is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the emptiness of the unlimited is emptiness, the past limit of the emptiness of the unlimited cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of the unlimited is beyond all limits.

12.201 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is emptiness, the past limit of the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is beyond all limits.

12.202 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, [F41.b] because the emptiness of nonexclusion is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of nonexclusion is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the emptiness of nonexclusion is emptiness, the past limit of the emptiness of nonexclusion cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of nonexclusion is beyond all limits.

12.203 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of inherent nature is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of inherent nature is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the emptiness of inherent nature is emptiness, the past limit of the emptiness of inherent nature cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of inherent nature is beyond all limits.

12.204 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, [F.42.a] because the emptiness of all phenomena is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of all phenomena is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the emptiness of all phenomena is emptiness, the past limit of the emptiness of all phenomena cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of all phenomena is beyond all limits.

12.205 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is emptiness, the past limit of the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is beyond all limits.

12.206 "You said, 'Why [F.42.b] should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is emptiness, the past limit of the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is beyond all limits.

12.207 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of nonentities is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of nonentities is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the emptiness of nonentities is emptiness, the past limit of the emptiness of nonentities cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of nonentities is beyond all limits.

12.208 "You said, 'Why should [F.43.a] one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of essential nature is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of essential nature is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the emptiness of essential nature is emptiness, the past limit of the emptiness of essential nature cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of essential nature is beyond all limits.

12.209 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is emptiness, the past limit of the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is beyond all [F.43.b] limits.

12.210 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the applications of mindfulness are beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the applications of mindfulness are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the applications of mindfulness are emptiness, the past limit of the applications of mindfulness cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the applications of mindfulness are beyond all limits.

12.211 "You said, 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the correct exertions are beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the correct exertions are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the correct exertions are emptiness, the past limit of the correct exertions cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the correct exertions are beyond all limits.

12.212 "You said, [F.44.a] 'Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the supports for miraculous ability are beyond all limits?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the supports for miraculous ability are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name 'space,' similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the supports for miraculous ability are emptiness, the past limit of the supports for miraculous ability cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the supports for miraculous ability are beyond all limits.

12.213 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the faculties are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the faculties are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the faculties are emptiness, the past limit of the faculties cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the faculties are beyond all limits.

12.214 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the powers [F.44.b] are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the powers are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the powers are emptiness, the past limit of the powers cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the powers are beyond all limits.

12.215 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the branches of enlightenment are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the branches of enlightenment are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the branches of enlightenment are emptiness, the past limit of the branches of enlightenment cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the branches of enlightenment are beyond all limits.

12.216 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all [F.45.a] limits, because the noble eightfold path is beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the noble eightfold path is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the noble eightfold path is emptiness, the past limit of the noble eightfold path cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the noble eightfold path is beyond all limits.

12.217 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the truths of the noble ones are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the truths of the noble ones are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because, just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the truths of the noble ones are emptiness, the past limit of the truths of the noble ones cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the truths of [F.45.b] the noble ones are beyond all limits.

12.218 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the meditative concentrations are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the meditative concentrations are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the meditative concentrations are emptiness, the past limit of the meditative concentrations cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the meditative concentrations are beyond all limits.

12.219 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the immeasurable attitudes are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the immeasurable attitudes are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the immeasurable attitudes are emptiness, the past limit of the immeasurable attitudes cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, [F.46.a] Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the immeasurable attitudes are beyond all limits.

12.220 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the formless absorptions are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the formless absorptions are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the formless absorptions are emptiness, the past limit of the formless absorptions cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the formless absorptions are beyond all limits.

12.221 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the eight liberations are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the liberations are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the liberations are emptiness, [F.46.b] the past limit of the liberations cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the liberations are beyond all limits.

12.222 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the nine serial steps of meditative absorption are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the serial steps of meditative absorption are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the serial steps of meditative absorption are emptiness, the past limit of the serial steps of meditative absorption cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the serial steps of meditative absorption are beyond all limits.

12.223 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways [F.47.a] to liberation are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are emptiness, the past limit of the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are beyond all limits.

12.224 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the extrasensory powers are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the extrasensory powers are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the extrasensory powers are emptiness, the past limit of the extrasensory powers cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the extrasensory powers are beyond all limits. [F.47.b]

12.225 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the meditative stabilities are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the meditative stabilities are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the meditative stabilities are emptiness, the past limit of the meditative stabilities cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the meditative stabilities are beyond all limits.

12.226 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the dhāraṇī gateways are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the dhāraṇī gateways are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the dhāraṇī gateways are emptiness, the past limit of the dhāraṇī gateways cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the dhāraṇī gateways are beyond all limits.

12.227 “You said, ‘Why should one know [F.48.a] that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the powers of the tathāgatas are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the powers of the tathāgatas are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the powers of the tathāgatas are emptiness, the past limit of the powers of the tathāgatas cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the powers of the tathāgatas are beyond all limits.

12.228 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the fearlessnesses are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the fearlessnesses are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the fearlessnesses are emptiness, the past limit of the fearlessnesses cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the fearlessnesses are beyond all limits.

12.229 “You said, [F.48.b] ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the kinds of exact knowledge are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the kinds of exact knowledge are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the kinds of exact knowledge are emptiness, the past limit of the kinds of exact knowledge cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the kinds of exact knowledge are beyond all limits.

12.230 “You said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because great compassion is beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, great compassion is the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because great compassion is emptiness, the past limit of great compassion cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because great compassion is beyond all limits.

- 12.231 “You [F.49.a] said, ‘Why should one know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the distinct qualities of the buddhas are beyond all limits?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the distinct qualities of the buddhas are the same as space. If you ask why, it is because just as in space the limit of the past cannot be apprehended, the limit of the future cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended, but, because the limitless is beyond all limits it is expressed with the name ‘space,’ similarly, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, because the distinct qualities of the buddhas are emptiness, the past limit of the distinct qualities of the buddhas cannot be apprehended, the future limit cannot be apprehended, and the middle cannot be apprehended. In emptiness a limit or a middle cannot be apprehended. For that reason, Śāradvatīputra, one should know that bodhisattvas are beyond all limits, because the distinct qualities of the buddhas are beyond all limits.
- 12.232 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, you said, ‘Why can it not even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that “physical forms are a bodhisattva”’; not even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that “feelings are a bodhisattva”’; not even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that “perceptions are a bodhisattva”’; not even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that “formative predispositions are a bodhisattva”’; and not even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that “consciousness is a bodhisattva”’?
- 12.233 “Physical forms are empty of physical forms. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no physical forms, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘physical forms are a bodhisattva.’ Feelings are empty of feelings. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no feelings, [F.49.b] and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘feelings are a bodhisattva.’ Perceptions are empty of perceptions. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no perceptions, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘perceptions are a bodhisattva.’ Formative predispositions are empty of formative predispositions. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no formative predispositions, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘formative predispositions are a bodhisattva.’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, consciousness is empty of consciousness. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no consciousness, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘consciousness is a bodhisattva.’

12.234 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the eyes are empty of the eyes. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no eyes, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘the eyes are a bodhisattva.’ The ears are empty of the ears. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no ears, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘the ears are a bodhisattva.’ The nose is empty of the nose. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no nose, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘the nose is a bodhisattva.’ The tongue is empty of the tongue. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no tongue, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, [F.50.a] for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘the tongue is a bodhisattva.’ The body is empty of the body. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no body, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘the body is a bodhisattva.’ The mental faculty is empty of the mental faculty. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no mental faculty, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘the mental faculty is a bodhisattva.’

12.235 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, sights are empty of sights. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no sights, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘sights are a bodhisattva.’ Sounds are empty of sounds. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no sounds, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘sounds are a bodhisattva.’ Odors are empty of odors. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no odors, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘odors are a bodhisattva.’ Tastes are empty of tastes. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no tastes, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘tastes are a bodhisattva.’ Tangibles are empty of tangibles. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no tangibles, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, [F.50.b] that ‘tangibles are a bodhisattva.’ Mental phenomena are empty of mental phenomena. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no mental phenomena, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘mental phenomena are a bodhisattva.’

12.236 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visual consciousness is empty of visual consciousness. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no visual consciousness, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘visual consciousness is a bodhisattva.’ Auditory consciousness is empty of auditory consciousness. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no auditory consciousness, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘auditory consciousness is a bodhisattva.’ Olfactory consciousness is empty of olfactory consciousness. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no olfactory consciousness, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘olfactory consciousness is a bodhisattva.’ Gustatory consciousness is empty of gustatory consciousness. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no gustatory consciousness, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘gustatory consciousness is a bodhisattva.’ Tactile consciousness is empty of tactile consciousness. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no tactile [F.51.a] consciousness, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘tactile consciousness is a bodhisattva.’ Mental consciousness is empty of mental consciousness. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no mental consciousness, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘mental consciousness is a bodhisattva.’

12.237 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visually compounded sensory contact is empty of visually compounded sensory contact. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no visually compounded sensory contact, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘visually compounded sensory contact is a bodhisattva.’ Aurally compounded sensory contact is empty of aurally compounded sensory contact. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no aurally compounded sensory contact, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘aurally compounded sensory contact is a bodhisattva.’ Nasally compounded sensory contact is empty of nasally compounded sensory contact. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no nasally compounded sensory contact, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘nasally compounded sensory contact is a bodhisattva.’ Lingually compounded sensory contact is empty of lingually compounded sensory contact. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no lingually compounded sensory contact, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable [F.51.b] Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘lingually compounded sensory contact is a bodhisattva.’ Corporeally compounded sensory contact is empty of corporeally compounded sensory contact. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no corporeally compounded sensory contact, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘corporeally compounded sensory contact is a bodhisattva.’ Mentally compounded sensory contact is empty of mentally compounded sensory contact. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no mentally compounded sensory contact, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘mentally compounded sensory contact is a bodhisattva.’

12.238 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are empty of feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are a bodhisattva.’ Feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are empty of feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are a bodhisattva.’ Feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are empty of feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact. [F.52.a] If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are a bodhisattva.’ Feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are empty of feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are a bodhisattva.’ Feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are empty of feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are a bodhisattva.’ Feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are empty of feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are a bodhisattva.’

12.239 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the earth element is empty of the earth element. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no earth element, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘the earth element is a bodhisattva.’ The water element is empty of the water element. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no [F.52.b] water element, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘the water element is a bodhisattva.’ The fire element is empty of the fire element. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no fire element, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘the fire element is a bodhisattva.’ The wind element is empty of the wind element. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no wind element, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘the wind element is a bodhisattva.’ The space element is empty of the space element. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no space element, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘the space element is a bodhisattva.’ The consciousness element is empty of the consciousness element. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no consciousness element, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘the consciousness element is a bodhisattva.’

12.240 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, ignorance is empty of ignorance. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no ignorance, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘ignorance is a bodhisattva.’ Formative predispositions are empty of formative predispositions. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no formative predispositions, [F.53.a] and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even not be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘formative predispositions are a bodhisattva.’ Consciousness is empty of consciousness. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no consciousness, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘consciousness is a bodhisattva.’ Name and form are empty of name and form. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no name and form, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even not be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘name and form are a bodhisattva.’ The six sense fields are empty of the six sense fields. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are not six sense fields, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘the six sense fields are a bodhisattva.’ Sensory contact is empty of sensory contact. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no sensory contact, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘sensory contact is a bodhisattva.’ Sensation is empty of sensation. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no sensation, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘sensation is a bodhisattva.’ Craving is empty of craving. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no craving, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, [F.53.b] that ‘craving is a bodhisattva.’ Grasping is empty of grasping. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no grasping, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘grasping is a bodhisattva.’ The rebirth process is empty of the rebirth process. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no rebirth process, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘the rebirth process is a bodhisattva.’ Birth is empty of birth. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no birth, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘birth is a bodhisattva.’ Aging and death are empty of aging and death. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no aging and death, and there are no bodhisattvas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason it cannot even not be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘aging and death are a bodhisattva.’

12.241 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of generosity is empty of the perfection of generosity. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no perfection of generosity, and there are no bodhisattvas. The perfection of ethical discipline is empty of the perfection of ethical discipline. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no perfection of ethical discipline, and there are no bodhisattvas. The perfection of tolerance is empty of the perfection of tolerance. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no perfection of tolerance, and there are no bodhisattvas. The perfection of perseverance is empty of the perfection of perseverance. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no perfection of perseverance, and there are no bodhisattvas. [F.54.a] The perfection of meditative concentration is empty of the perfection of meditative concentration. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no perfection of meditative concentration, and there are no bodhisattvas. The perfection of wisdom is empty of the perfection of wisdom. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no perfection of wisdom, and there are no bodhisattvas.

12.242 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of internal phenomena is empty of the emptiness of internal phenomena. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no emptiness of internal phenomena, and there are no bodhisattvas. The emptiness of external phenomena is empty of the emptiness of external phenomena. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no emptiness of external phenomena, and there are no bodhisattvas. The emptiness of external and internal phenomena is empty of the emptiness of external and internal phenomena. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no emptiness of external and internal phenomena, and there are no bodhisattvas. The emptiness of emptiness is empty of the emptiness of emptiness. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no emptiness of emptiness, and there are no bodhisattvas. The emptiness of great extent is empty of the emptiness of great extent. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no emptiness of great extent, and there are no bodhisattvas. The emptiness of ultimate reality is empty of the emptiness of ultimate reality. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no emptiness of ultimate reality, and there are no bodhisattvas. The emptiness of conditioned phenomena is empty of the emptiness of conditioned phenomena. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no emptiness of conditioned phenomena, and there are no bodhisattvas. The emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is empty of the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, and there are no bodhisattvas. The emptiness of the unlimited is empty of the emptiness of the unlimited. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no emptiness of the unlimited, there are no [F.54.b] bodhisattvas. The emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is empty of the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, and there are no bodhisattvas. The emptiness of nonexclusion is empty of the emptiness of nonexclusion. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no emptiness of nonexclusion, and there are no bodhisattvas. The emptiness of inherent nature is empty of the emptiness of inherent nature. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no emptiness of inherent nature, and there are no bodhisattvas. The emptiness of all phenomena is empty of the emptiness of all phenomena. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no emptiness of all phenomena, and there are no bodhisattvas. The emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is empty of the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, and there are no bodhisattvas. The emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is empty of the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, and there are no bodhisattvas. The emptiness of nonentities is empty of the emptiness of nonentities. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no emptiness of nonentities, and there are no bodhisattvas. The emptiness of essential nature is empty of the emptiness of essential nature. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no emptiness of essential nature, and there are no bodhisattvas. The emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is empty of the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities, and there are no bodhisattvas.

12.243 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the applications of mindfulness are empty of the applications of mindfulness. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no applications of mindfulness, and [F.55.a] there are no bodhisattvas. The correct exertions are empty of the correct exertions. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no correct exertions, and there are no bodhisattvas. The supports for miraculous ability are empty of the supports for miraculous ability. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no supports for miraculous ability, and there are no bodhisattvas. the faculties are empty of the faculties. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no faculties, and there are no bodhisattvas. the powers are empty of the powers. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no powers, and there are no bodhisattvas. The branches of enlightenment are empty of the branches of enlightenment. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no branches of enlightenment, and there are no bodhisattvas. The noble eightfold path is empty of the noble eightfold path. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no noble eightfold path, and there are no bodhisattvas.

12.244 “The truths of the noble ones are empty of the truths of the noble ones. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no truths of the noble ones, and there are no bodhisattvas. The meditative concentrations are empty of the meditative concentrations. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no meditative concentrations, and there are no bodhisattvas. The immeasurable attitudes are empty of the immeasurable attitudes. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no immeasurable attitudes, and there are no bodhisattvas. The formless absorptions are empty of the formless absorptions. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no formless absorptions, and there are no bodhisattvas. The eight liberations [F.55.b] are empty of the eight liberations. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no eight liberations, and there are no bodhisattvas. The nine serial steps of meditative absorption are empty of the nine serial steps of meditative absorption. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no nine serial steps of meditative absorption, and there are no bodhisattvas. The emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are empty of the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation, and there are no bodhisattvas. The extrasensory powers are empty of the extrasensory powers. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no extrasensory powers, and there are no bodhisattvas. The meditative stabilities are empty of the meditative stabilities. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no meditative stabilities, and there are no bodhisattvas. The dhāraṇī gateways are empty of the dhāraṇī gateways. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no dhāraṇī gateways, and there are no bodhisattvas.

12.245 “the powers of the tathāgatas are empty of the powers of the tathāgatas. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no powers of the tathāgatas, and there are no bodhisattvas. The fearlessnesses are empty of the fearlessnesses. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no fearlessnesses, and there are no bodhisattvas. The kinds of exact knowledge are empty of the kinds of exact knowledge. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no kinds of exact knowledge, and there are no bodhisattvas. [F.56.a] Great compassion is empty of great compassion. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no great compassion, and there are no bodhisattvas. The distinct qualities of the buddhas are empty of the distinct qualities of the buddhas. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no distinct qualities of the buddhas, and there are no bodhisattvas.

12.246 “The realm of phenomena is empty of the realm of phenomena. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no realm of phenomena, and there are no bodhisattvas. The real nature is empty of the real nature. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no real nature, and there are no bodhisattvas. The very limit of reality is empty of the very limit of reality. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no very limit of reality, and there are no bodhisattvas. The realm of the inconceivable is empty of the realm of the inconceivable. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no realm of the inconceivable, and there are no bodhisattvas. Omniscience is empty of omniscience. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no omniscience, and there are no bodhisattvas. The knowledge of the aspects of the path is empty of the knowledge of the aspects of the path. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no knowledge of the aspects of the path, and there are no bodhisattvas. All-aspect omniscience is empty of all-aspect omniscience. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no all-aspect omniscience, and there are no bodhisattvas.

12.247 “The vehicle of the śrāvakas is empty of the vehicle of the śrāvakas. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no vehicle of the śrāvakas, and there are no bodhisattvas. The vehicle of the pratyekabuddhas is empty of the vehicle of the pratyekabuddhas. If you ask why, [F.56.b] it is because in emptiness there is no vehicle of the pratyekabuddhas, and there are no bodhisattvas. The vehicle of the buddhas is empty of the vehicle of the buddhas. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there is no vehicle of the buddhas, and there are no bodhisattvas. The śrāvakas are empty of the śrāvakas. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no śrāvakas, and there are no bodhisattvas. The pratyekabuddhas are empty of the pratyekabuddhas. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no pratyekabuddhas, and there are no bodhisattvas. The tathāgatas are empty of the tathāgatas. If you ask why, it is because in emptiness there are no tathāgatas, and there are no bodhisattvas.

12.248 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, this is the reason it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘physical forms are a bodhisattva’; it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘feelings are a bodhisattva’; it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘perceptions are a bodhisattva’; it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘formative predispositions are a bodhisattva’; and it cannot even be discerned and apprehended, for instance, that ‘consciousness is a bodhisattva.’

12.249 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, you said, ‘Why do you say, “Since in all respects, and in each and every way, I do not apprehend a bodhisattva, then to which bodhisattvas should I give teaching and instruction in what perfection of wisdom?”’

12.250 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, physical forms do not exist and cannot be apprehended in physical forms, physical forms do not exist and cannot be apprehended in feelings, feelings do not exist and cannot be apprehended in feelings, and feelings do not exist and cannot be apprehended in physical forms. Physical forms and feelings do not exist and cannot be apprehended in perceptions, perceptions do not exist and cannot be apprehended in perceptions, and perceptions do not exist and cannot be apprehended in physical forms or feelings. Physical forms, feelings, [F.57.a] and perceptions do not exist and cannot be apprehended in formative predispositions; formative predispositions do not exist and cannot be apprehended in formative predispositions; and formative predispositions do not exist and cannot be apprehended in physical forms, feelings, or perceptions. Physical forms, feelings, perceptions, and formative predispositions do not exist and cannot be apprehended in consciousness; consciousness does not exist and cannot be apprehended in consciousness; and consciousness does not exist and cannot be apprehended in physical forms, feelings, perceptions, or formative predispositions.

12.251 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the eyes do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the eyes, the eyes do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the ears, the ears do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the ears, and the ears do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the eyes. The eyes and the ears do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the nose, the nose does not exist and cannot be apprehend in the nose, and the nose does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the eyes or the ears. The eyes, the ears, and the nose do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the tongue; the tongue does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the tongue; and the tongue does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the eyes, the ears, or the nose. The eyes, the ears, the nose, and the tongue do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the body; the body does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the body; and the body does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the eyes, the ears, the nose, or the tongue. The eyes, the ears, the nose, the tongue, and the body do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the mental faculty; the mental faculty does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the mental faculty; and the mental faculty does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the eyes, the ears, the nose, the tongue, or the body.

12.252 “Sights do not exist and cannot be apprehended in sights, sights do not exist and cannot be apprehended in sounds, sounds do not exist and cannot be apprehended in sounds, and sounds do not exist and cannot be apprehended in sights. Sights and sounds do not exist and cannot be apprehended in odors, odors do not exist and cannot be apprehend in odors, and odors do not exist and cannot be apprehended in sights or sounds. Sights, sounds, and odors do not exist and cannot be apprehended in tastes; tastes do not exist and cannot be apprehended in tastes; and tastes do not exist and cannot be apprehended in sights, sounds, or odors. Sights, sounds, odors, and tastes do not exist and cannot be apprehended in tangibles; [F.57.b] tangibles do not exist and cannot be apprehended in tangibles; and tangibles do not exist and cannot be apprehended in sights, sounds, odors, or tastes. Sights, sounds, odors, tastes, and tangibles do not exist and cannot be apprehended in mental phenomena; mental phenomena do not exist and cannot be apprehended in mental phenomena; and mental phenomena do not exist and cannot be apprehended in sights, sounds, odors, tastes, or tangibles.

12.253 “Visual consciousness does not exist and cannot be apprehended in visual consciousness, visual consciousness does not exist and cannot be apprehended in auditory consciousness, auditory consciousness does not exist and cannot be apprehended in auditory consciousness, and auditory consciousness does not exist and cannot be apprehended in visual consciousness. Visual consciousness and auditory consciousness do not exist and cannot be apprehended in olfactory consciousness, olfactory consciousness does not exist and cannot be apprehend in olfactory consciousness, and olfactory consciousness does not exist and cannot be apprehended in visual consciousness or auditory consciousness. Visual consciousness, auditory consciousness, and olfactory consciousness do not exist and cannot be apprehended in gustatory consciousness; gustatory consciousness does not exist and cannot be apprehended in gustatory consciousness; and gustatory consciousness does not exist and cannot be apprehended in visual consciousness, auditory consciousness, or olfactory consciousness. Visual consciousness, auditory consciousness, olfactory consciousness, and gustatory consciousness do not exist and cannot be apprehended in tactile consciousness; tactile consciousness does not exist and cannot be apprehended in tactile consciousness; and tactile consciousness does not exist and cannot be apprehended in visual consciousness, auditory consciousness, olfactory consciousness, or gustatory consciousness. Visual consciousness, [F.58.a] auditory consciousness, olfactory consciousness, gustatory consciousness, and tactile consciousness do not exist and cannot be apprehended in mental consciousness; mental consciousness does not exist and cannot be apprehended in mental consciousness; and mental consciousness does not exist and cannot be apprehended in visual consciousness, auditory consciousness, olfactory consciousness, gustatory consciousness, or tactile consciousness.

12.254 “Visually compounded sensory contact does not exist and cannot be apprehended in visually compounded sensory contact, visually compounded sensory contact does not exist and cannot be apprehended in aurally compounded sensory contact, aurally compounded sensory contact does not exist and cannot be apprehended in aurally compounded sensory contact, and aurally compounded sensory contact does not exist and cannot be apprehended in visually compounded sensory contact. Visually compounded sensory contact and aurally compounded sensory contact do not exist and cannot be apprehended in nasally compounded sensory contact, nasally compounded sensory contact does not exist and cannot be apprehend in nasally compounded sensory contact, and nasally compounded sensory contact does not exist and cannot be apprehended in visually compounded sensory contact or aurally compounded sensory contact. Visually compounded sensory contact, aurally compounded sensory contact, and nasally compounded sensory contact do not exist and cannot be apprehended in lingually compounded sensory contact; lingually compounded sensory contact does not exist and cannot be apprehended in lingually compounded sensory contact; and lingually compounded sensory contact does not exist and cannot be apprehended in visually compounded sensory contact, aurally compounded sensory contact, or nasally compounded sensory contact. Visually compounded sensory contact, aurally compounded sensory contact, nasally compounded sensory contact, and lingually compounded sensory contact do not exist and cannot be apprehended in corporeally compounded sensory contact; corporeally compounded sensory contact does not exist and cannot be apprehended in corporeally compounded sensory contact; and corporeally compounded sensory contact does not exist and cannot be apprehended in visually compounded sensory contact, aurally compounded sensory contact, [F.58.b] nasally compounded sensory contact, or lingually compounded sensory contact. Visually compounded sensory contact, aurally compounded sensory contact, nasally compounded sensory contact, lingually compounded sensory contact, and corporeally compounded sensory contact do not exist and cannot be apprehended in mentally compounded sensory contact; mentally compounded sensory contact does not exist and cannot be apprehended in mentally compounded sensory contact; and mentally compounded sensory contact does not exist and cannot be apprehended in visually compounded sensory contact, aurally compounded sensory contact, nasally compounded sensory contact, lingually compounded sensory contact, or corporeally compounded sensory contact.

12.255 “Feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact do not exist and cannot be apprehended in feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact do not exist and cannot be apprehended in feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact do not exist and cannot be apprehended in feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, and feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact do not exist and cannot be apprehended in feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact. Feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact and feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact do not exist and cannot be apprehended in feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact do not exist and cannot be apprehend in feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, and feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact do not exist and cannot be apprehended in feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact or feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact. Feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, and feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact do not exist and cannot be apprehended in feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact; feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact do not exist and cannot be apprehended in feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact; and feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact [F.59.a] do not exist and cannot be apprehended in feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, or feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact. Feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, and feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact do not exist and cannot be apprehended in feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact; feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact do not exist and cannot be apprehended in feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact; and feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact do not exist and cannot be apprehended in feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, or feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact. Feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact, and feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact do not exist and cannot be apprehended in feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact; feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact do not exist and cannot be apprehended in feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact; and feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact do not exist and cannot be apprehended in feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact, or feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact. [B4]

12.256 “The earth element [F.59.b] does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the earth element, the earth element does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the water element, the water element does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the water element, and the water element does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the earth element. The earth element and the water element do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the fire element, the fire element does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the fire element, and the fire element does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the earth element or the water element. The earth element, the water element, and the fire element do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the wind element; the wind element does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the wind element; and the wind element does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the earth element, the water element, or the fire element. The earth element, the water element, the fire element, and the wind element do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the space element; the space element does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the space element; and the space element does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the earth element, the water element, the fire element, or the wind element. The earth element, the water element, the fire element, the wind element, and the space element do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the consciousness element; the consciousness element does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the consciousness element; and the consciousness element does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the earth element, the water element, the fire element, the wind element, or the space element.

12.257 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, ignorance does not exist and cannot be apprehended in ignorance, ignorance does not exist and cannot be apprehended in formative predispositions, formative predispositions do not exist and cannot be apprehended in formative predispositions, and formative predispositions do not exist and cannot be apprehended in ignorance. Ignorance and formative predispositions do not exist and cannot be apprehended in consciousness, consciousness does not exist and [F.60.a] cannot be apprehended in consciousness, and consciousness does not exist and cannot be apprehended in ignorance or formative predispositions. Ignorance, formative predispositions, and consciousness do not exist and cannot be apprehended in name and form; name and form do not exist and cannot be apprehended in name and form; and name and form do not exist and cannot be apprehended in ignorance, formative predispositions, or consciousness. Ignorance, formative predispositions, consciousness, and name and form do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the six sense fields; the six sense fields do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the six sense fields; and the six sense fields do not exist and cannot be apprehended in ignorance, formative predispositions, consciousness, or name and form. Ignorance, formative predispositions, consciousness, name and form, and the six sense fields do not exist and cannot be apprehended in sensory contact; sensory contact does not exist and cannot be apprehended in sensory contact; and sensory contact does not exist and cannot be apprehended in ignorance, formative predispositions, consciousness, name and form, or the six sense fields. Ignorance, formative predispositions, consciousness, name and form, the six sense fields, and sensory contact do not exist and cannot be apprehended in sensation; sensation does not exist and cannot be apprehended in sensation; and sensation does not exist and cannot be apprehended in ignorance, formative predispositions, consciousness, name and form, the six sense fields, or sensory contact. Ignorance, formative predispositions, consciousness, name and form, the six sense fields, sensory contact, and sensation do not exist and cannot be apprehended in craving; craving does not exist and cannot be apprehended in craving; and craving does not exist and cannot be apprehended in ignorance, formative predispositions, consciousness, name and form, the six sense fields, sensory contact, or sensation. Ignorance, formative predispositions, consciousness, name and form, the six sense fields, sensory contact, sensation, and craving do not exist [F.60.b] and cannot be apprehended in grasping; grasping does not exist and cannot be apprehended in grasping; and grasping does not exist and cannot be apprehended in ignorance, formative predispositions, consciousness, name and form, the six sense fields, sensory contact, sensation, or craving. Ignorance, formative predispositions, consciousness, name and form, the six sense fields, sensory contact, sensation, craving, and grasping do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the rebirth process; the rebirth process does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the rebirth process; and the rebirth process does not exist and cannot be apprehended in ignorance, formative predispositions, consciousness, name and form, the six sense fields, sensory contact, sensation, craving, or grasping. Ignorance, formative predispositions, consciousness, name and form, the six sense fields, sensory contact, sensation, craving, grasping, and the rebirth process do not exist and cannot be apprehended in birth; birth does not exist and cannot be apprehended in birth; and birth does not exist and cannot be apprehended in ignorance, formative predispositions, consciousness, name and form, the six sense fields, sensory contact, sensation, craving, grasping, or the rebirth process. Ignorance, formative predispositions, consciousness, name and form, the six sense fields, sensory contact, sensation, craving, grasping, the rebirth process, and birth do not exist and cannot be apprehended in aging and death; aging and death do not exist and cannot be apprehended in aging and death; and aging and death do not exist and cannot be apprehended in ignorance, formative predispositions, consciousness, name and form, the six sense fields, sensory contact, sensation, craving, grasping, the rebirth process, or birth.

12.258     “The perfection of generosity does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the perfection of generosity, the perfection of generosity does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the perfection of ethical discipline, the perfection of ethical discipline does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the perfection of ethical discipline, and the perfection of ethical discipline does not exist [F.61.a] and cannot be apprehended in the perfection of generosity. The perfection of generosity and the perfection of ethical discipline do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the perfection of tolerance, the perfection of tolerance does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the perfection of tolerance, and the perfection of tolerance does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the perfection of generosity or the perfection of ethical discipline. The perfection of generosity, the perfection of ethical discipline, and the perfection of tolerance do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the perfection of perseverance; the perfection of perseverance does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the perfection of perseverance; and the perfection of perseverance does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the perfection of generosity, the perfection of ethical discipline, or the perfection of tolerance. The perfection of generosity, the perfection of ethical discipline, the perfection of tolerance, and the perfection of perseverance do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the perfection of meditative concentration; the perfection of meditative concentration does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the perfection of meditative concentration; and the perfection of meditative concentration does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the perfection of generosity, the perfection of ethical discipline, the perfection of tolerance, or the perfection of perseverance. The perfection of generosity, the perfection of ethical discipline, the perfection of tolerance, the perfection of perseverance, and the perfection of meditative concentration do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the perfection of wisdom; the perfection of wisdom does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the perfection of wisdom; and the perfection of wisdom does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the perfection of generosity, the perfection of ethical discipline, the perfection of tolerance, [F.61.b] the perfection of perseverance, or the perfection of meditative concentration.

12.259     “The emptiness of internal phenomena does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of internal phenomena does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of external phenomena, and the emptiness of external phenomena does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of internal phenomena.

12.260     “The emptiness of internal phenomena and the emptiness of external phenomena do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, and the emptiness of external and internal phenomena does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of internal phenomena or the emptiness of external phenomena.

12.261 “The emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, and the emptiness of external and internal phenomena do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of emptiness does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of emptiness, and the emptiness of emptiness does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, or the emptiness of external and internal phenomena.

12.262 “The emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, and the emptiness of emptiness do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of great extent does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of great extent, and the emptiness of great extent does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, or the emptiness of emptiness.

12.263 “The emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, and the emptiness of great extent do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of ultimate reality; the emptiness of ultimate reality does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of ultimate reality; and the emptiness of ultimate reality does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, or the emptiness of great extent.

12.264 “The emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, and the emptiness of ultimate reality [F.62.a] do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of conditioned phenomena; the emptiness of conditioned phenomena does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of conditioned phenomena; and the emptiness of conditioned phenomena does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, or the emptiness of ultimate reality.

12.265 “The emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of ultimate reality, and the emptiness of conditioned phenomena do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena; the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena; and the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of ultimate reality, or the emptiness of conditioned phenomena.

12.266 “The emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of ultimate reality, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, and the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of the unlimited; the emptiness of the unlimited does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of the unlimited; and the emptiness of the unlimited does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of ultimate reality, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, or the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena.

12.267 “The emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of ultimate reality, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, and the emptiness of the unlimited [F.62.b] do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end; the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end; and the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of ultimate reality, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, or the emptiness of the unlimited.

12.268 “The emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of ultimate reality, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, the emptiness of the unlimited, and the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of nonexclusion; the emptiness of nonexclusion does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of nonexclusion; and the emptiness of nonexclusion does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of ultimate reality, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, the emptiness of the unlimited, or the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end.

12.269 “The emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of ultimate reality, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, the emptiness of the unlimited, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, and the emptiness of nonexclusion do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of inherent nature; the emptiness of inherent nature does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of inherent nature; and the emptiness of inherent nature does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness [F.63.a] of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of ultimate reality, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, the emptiness of the unlimited, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, or the emptiness of nonexclusion.

12.270 “The emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of ultimate reality, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, the emptiness of the unlimited, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, the emptiness of nonexclusion, and the emptiness of inherent nature do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of all phenomena; the emptiness of all phenomena does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of all phenomena; and the emptiness of all phenomena does not exist and

cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of ultimate reality, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, the emptiness of the unlimited, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, the emptiness of nonexclusion, or the emptiness of inherent nature.

12.271 “The emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of ultimate reality, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, the emptiness of the unlimited, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, the emptiness of nonexclusion, the emptiness of inherent nature, and the emptiness of all phenomena do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics; the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics; and the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, [F.63.b] the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of ultimate reality, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, the emptiness of the unlimited, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, the emptiness of nonexclusion, the emptiness of inherent nature, or the emptiness of all phenomena.

12.272 “The emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of ultimate reality, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, the emptiness of the unlimited, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, the emptiness of nonexclusion, the emptiness of inherent nature, the emptiness of all phenomena, and the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended; the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended; and the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, the

emptiness of ultimate reality, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, the emptiness of the unlimited, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, the emptiness of nonexclusion, the emptiness of inherent nature, the emptiness of all phenomena, or the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics.

12.273 “The emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of ultimate reality, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, the emptiness of the unlimited, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, the emptiness of nonexclusion, the emptiness of inherent nature, the emptiness of all phenomena, the emptiness of [F.64.a] intrinsic defining characteristics, and the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of nonentities; the emptiness of nonentities does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of nonentities; and the emptiness of nonentities does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of ultimate reality, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, the emptiness of the unlimited, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, the emptiness of nonexclusion, the emptiness of inherent nature, the emptiness of all phenomena, the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, or the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended.

12.274 “The emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of ultimate reality, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, the emptiness of the unlimited, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, the emptiness of nonexclusion, the emptiness of inherent nature, the emptiness of all phenomena, the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, and the emptiness of nonentities do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of essential nature; the emptiness of essential nature does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of essential nature; and the emptiness of essential nature does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, the

emptiness of ultimate reality, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, the emptiness of the unlimited, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, the emptiness of nonexclusion, the emptiness of inherent nature, the emptiness of all phenomena, the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, [F.64.b] or the emptiness of nonentities.

12.275 “The emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of ultimate reality, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, the emptiness of the unlimited, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, the emptiness of nonexclusion, the emptiness of inherent nature, the emptiness of all phenomena, the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, the emptiness of nonentities, and the emptiness of essential nature do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities; the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities; and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the emptiness of internal phenomena, the emptiness of external phenomena, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the emptiness of emptiness, the emptiness of great extent, the emptiness of ultimate reality, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, the emptiness of the unlimited, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, the emptiness of nonexclusion, the emptiness of inherent nature, the emptiness of all phenomena, the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, or the emptiness of essential nature.

12.276 “The applications of mindfulness do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the applications of mindfulness, the applications of mindfulness do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the correct exertions, the correct exertions do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the correct exertions, and the correct exertions do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the applications of mindfulness.

12.277 “The applications of mindfulness and the correct exertions do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the supports for miraculous ability, the supports for miraculous ability do not exist [F.65.a] and cannot be apprehended in the supports for miraculous ability, and the supports for miraculous ability do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the applications of mindfulness or the correct exertions.

12.278 “The applications of mindfulness, the correct exertions, and the supports for miraculous ability do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the faculties; the faculties do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the faculties; and the faculties do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the applications of mindfulness, the correct exertions, or the supports for miraculous ability.

12.279 “The applications of mindfulness, the correct exertions, the supports for miraculous ability, and the faculties do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the powers; the powers do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the powers; and the powers do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the applications of mindfulness, the correct exertions, the supports for miraculous ability, or the faculties.

12.280 “The applications of mindfulness, the correct exertions, the supports for miraculous ability, the faculties, and the powers do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the branches of enlightenment; the branches of enlightenment do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the branches of enlightenment; and the branches of enlightenment do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the applications of mindfulness, the correct exertions, the supports for miraculous ability, the faculties, or the powers.

12.281 “The applications of mindfulness, the correct exertions, the supports for miraculous ability, the faculties, the powers, and the branches of enlightenment do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the path; the path does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the path; and the path does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the applications of mindfulness, the correct exertions, the supports for miraculous ability, the faculties, the powers, or the branches of enlightenment.

12.282 “The truths of the noble ones do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the truths of the noble ones, the truths of the noble ones [F.65.b] do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the meditative concentrations, the meditative concentrations do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the meditative concentrations, and the meditative concentrations do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the truths of the noble ones.

12.283 “The truths of the noble ones and the meditative concentrations do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the immeasurable attitudes, the immeasurable attitudes do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the immeasurable attitudes, and the immeasurable attitudes do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the truths of the noble ones or the meditative concentrations.

- 12.284 “The truths of the noble ones, the meditative concentrations, and the immeasurable attitudes do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the formless absorptions; the formless absorptions do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the formless absorptions; and the formless absorptions do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the truths of the noble ones, the meditative concentrations, or the immeasurable attitudes.
- 12.285 “The truths of the noble ones, the meditative concentrations, the immeasurable attitudes, and the formless absorptions do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the liberations; the liberations do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the liberations; and the liberations do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the truths of the noble ones, the meditative concentrations, the immeasurable attitudes, or the formless absorptions.
- 12.286 “The truths of the noble ones, the meditative concentrations, the immeasurable attitudes, the formless absorptions, and the liberations do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the serial steps of meditative absorption; the serial steps of meditative absorption do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the serial steps of meditative absorption; and the serial steps of meditative absorption do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the truths of the noble ones, the meditative concentrations, the immeasurable attitudes, the formless absorptions, or [F.66.a] the liberations.
- 12.287 “The truths of the noble ones, the meditative concentrations, the immeasurable attitudes, the formless absorptions, the liberations, and the serial steps of meditative absorption do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the gateways to liberation; the gateways to liberation do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the gateways to liberation; and the gateways to liberation do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the truths of the noble ones, the meditative concentrations, the immeasurable attitudes, the formless absorptions, the liberations, or the serial steps of meditative absorption.
- 12.288 “The truths of the noble ones, the meditative concentrations, the immeasurable attitudes, the formless absorptions, the liberations, the serial steps of meditative absorption, and the gateways to liberation do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the extrasensory powers; the extrasensory powers do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the extrasensory powers; and the extrasensory powers do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the truths of the noble ones, the meditative concentrations, the immeasurable attitudes, the formless absorptions, the liberations, the serial steps of meditative absorption, or the gateways to liberation.
- 12.289 “The truths of the noble ones, the meditative concentrations, the immeasurable attitudes, the formless absorptions, the liberations, the serial steps of meditative absorption, the gateways to liberation, and the

extrasensory powers do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the meditative stabilities; the meditative stabilities do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the meditative stabilities; and the meditative stabilities do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the truths of the noble ones, the meditative concentrations, the immeasurable attitudes, the formless absorptions, the liberations, the serial steps of meditative absorption, the gateways to liberation, or the extrasensory powers.

12.290 “The truths of the noble ones, [F.66.b] the meditative concentrations, the immeasurable attitudes, the formless absorptions, the liberations, the serial steps of meditative absorption, the gateways to liberation, the extrasensory powers, and the meditative stabilities do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the dhāraṇī gateways; the dhāraṇī gateways do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the dhāraṇī gateways; and the dhāraṇī gateways do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the truths of the noble ones, the meditative concentrations, the immeasurable attitudes, the formless absorptions, the liberations, the serial steps of meditative absorption, the gateways to liberation, the extrasensory powers, or the meditative stabilities.

12.291 “The powers of the tathāgatas do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the powers of the tathāgatas, the powers of the tathāgatas do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the fearlessnesses, the fearlessnesses do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the fearlessnesses, and the fearlessnesses do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the powers of the tathāgatas.

12.292 “The powers of the tathāgatas and the fearlessnesses do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the kinds of exact knowledge, the kinds of exact knowledge do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the kinds of exact knowledge, and the kinds of exact knowledge do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the powers of the tathāgatas or the fearlessnesses.

12.293 “The powers of the tathāgatas, the fearlessnesses, and the kinds of exact knowledge do not exist and cannot be apprehended in great loving kindness; great loving kindness does not exist and cannot be apprehended in great loving kindness; and great loving kindness does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the powers of the tathāgatas, the fearlessnesses, or the kinds of exact knowledge.

12.294 “The powers of the tathāgatas, the fearlessnesses, the kinds of exact knowledge, and great loving kindness do not exist and cannot be apprehended in great compassion; great compassion does not exist and cannot be apprehended in great compassion; and great compassion does not exist [F.67.a] and cannot be apprehended in the powers of the tathāgatas, the fearlessnesses, the kinds of exact knowledge, or great loving kindness.

- 12.295 “The powers of the tathāgatas, the fearlessnesses, the kinds of exact knowledge, great loving kindness, and great compassion do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the distinct qualities of the buddhas; the distinct qualities of the buddhas do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the distinct qualities of the buddhas; and the distinct qualities of the buddhas do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the powers of the tathāgatas, the fearlessnesses, the kinds of exact knowledge, great loving kindness, or great compassion.
- 12.296 “The attributes of the level of the spiritual family do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the attributes of the level of the spiritual family, the attributes of the level of the spiritual family do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the attributes of the eighth level, the attributes of those at the eighth level do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the attributes of those at the eighth level, and the attributes of those at the eighth level do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the attributes of those at the level of the spiritual family.
- 12.297 “The attributes of the level of the spiritual family and the attributes of the eighth level do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the attributes of those who have entered the stream, the attributes of those who have entered the stream do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the attributes of those who have entered the stream, and the attributes of those who have entered the stream do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the attributes of the level of the spiritual family or the attributes of the eighth level.
- 12.298 “The attributes of the level of the spiritual family, the attributes of the eighth level, and the attributes of those who have entered the stream do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the attributes of the level of once-returners; the attributes of the level of once-returners do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the attributes of the level of once-returners; and the attributes of the level of once-returners do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the attributes of the level of the spiritual family, the attributes of the eighth level, or the attributes of those who have entered the stream.
- 12.299 “The attributes of the level of the spiritual family, the attributes of the eighth level, the attributes of those who have entered the stream, and the attributes of the level of once-returners do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the attributes of the level of non-returners; the attributes of the level of non-returners do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the attributes of the level of non-returners; and the attributes of the level of non-returners [F.67.b] do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the attributes of the level of the spiritual family, the attributes of the eighth level, the attributes of those who have entered the stream, or the attributes of the level of once-returners.

12.300 “The attributes of the level of the spiritual family, the attributes of the eighth level, the attributes of those who have entered the stream, the attributes of the level of once-returners, and the attributes of the level of non-returners do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the attributes of the arhats; the attributes of the arhats do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the attributes of the arhats; and the attributes of the arhats do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the attributes of the level of the spiritual family, the attributes of the eighth level, the attributes of those who have entered the stream, the attributes of the level of once-returners, or the attributes of the level of non-returners.

12.301 “The level of ordinary people does not exist and cannot be apprehended at the level of ordinary people, the level of ordinary people does not exist and cannot be apprehended at the level of the spiritual family, the level of ordinary people and the level of the spiritual family do not exist and cannot be apprehended at the eighth level, the eighth level does not exist and cannot be apprehended at the eighth level, and the eighth level cannot be apprehended at the level of ordinary people or the level of the spiritual family.

12.302 “The level of ordinary people, the level of the spiritual family, and the eighth level do not exist and cannot be apprehended at the level of insight; the level of insight does not exist and cannot be apprehended at the level of insight; and the level of insight does not exist and cannot be apprehended at the level of ordinary people, the level of the spiritual family, or the eighth level.

12.303 “The level of ordinary people, the level of the spiritual family, the eighth level, and the level of insight do not exist and cannot be apprehended at the level of attenuated refinement; the level of attenuated refinement does not exist and cannot be apprehended at the level of attenuated refinement; and the level of attenuated refinement does not exist and cannot be apprehended at the level of ordinary people, the level of the spiritual family, the eighth level, or the level of insight.

12.304 “The level of ordinary people, the level of the spiritual family, the eighth level, the level of insight, and the level of attenuated refinement do not exist and cannot be apprehended at the level of no attachment; the level of no attachment does not exist and cannot be apprehended at the level of no attachment; and the level of no attachment does not exist and cannot be apprehended at the level of ordinary people, the level of the spiritual family, [F.68.a] the eighth level, the level of insight, or the level of attenuated refinement.

12.305 “The level of ordinary people, the level of the spiritual family, the eighth level, the level of insight, the level of attenuated refinement, and the level of no attachment do not exist and cannot be apprehended at the level of spiritual achievement; the level of spiritual achievement does not exist and cannot be apprehended at the level of spiritual achievement; and the level of spiritual achievement does not exist and cannot be apprehended at the level of ordinary people, the level of the spiritual family, the eighth level, the level of insight, the level of attenuated refinement, or the level of no attachment.

12.306 “The level of ordinary people, the level of the spiritual family, the eighth level, the level of insight, the level of attenuated refinement, the level of no attachment, and the level of spiritual achievement do not exist and cannot be apprehended at the level of the pratyekabuddhas; the level of the pratyekabuddhas does not exist and cannot be apprehended at the level of the pratyekabuddhas; and the level of the pratyekabuddhas does not exist and cannot be apprehended at the level of ordinary people, the level of the spiritual family, the eighth level, the level of insight, the level of attenuated refinement, the level of no attachment, or the level of spiritual achievement.

12.307 “The level of ordinary people, the level of the spiritual family, the eighth level, the level of insight, the level of attenuated refinement, the level of no attachment, the level of spiritual achievement, and the level of the pratyekabuddhas do not exist and cannot be apprehended at the level of the bodhisattvas; the level of the bodhisattvas does not exist and cannot be apprehended at the level of the bodhisattvas; and the level of the bodhisattvas does not exist and cannot be apprehended at the level of ordinary people, the level of the spiritual family, the eighth level, the level of insight, the level of attenuated refinement, the level of no attachment, the level of spiritual achievement, or the level of the pratyekabuddhas.

12.308 “The level of ordinary people, the level of the spiritual family, the eighth level, the level of insight, the level of attenuated refinement, the level of no attachment, the level of spiritual achievement, the level of the pratyekabuddhas, and the level of the bodhisattvas [F.68.b] do not exist and cannot be apprehended at the level of the perfectly complete buddhas; the level of the perfectly complete buddhas does not exist and cannot be apprehended at the level of the perfectly complete buddhas; and the level of the perfectly complete buddhas does not exist and cannot be apprehended at the level of ordinary people, the level of the spiritual family, the eighth level, the level of insight, the level of attenuated refinement, the level of no attachment, the level of spiritual achievement, the level of the pratyekabuddhas, or the level of the bodhisattvas.

- 12.309 “Omniscience does not exist and cannot be apprehended in omniscience, omniscience does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the knowledge of the aspects of the path, the knowledge of the aspects of the path does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the knowledge of the aspects of the path, and the knowledge of the aspects of the path does not exist and cannot be apprehended in omniscience.
- 12.310 “Omniscience and the knowledge of the aspects of the path do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the all-aspect omniscience, all-aspect omniscience does not exist and cannot be apprehended in all-aspect omniscience, and all-aspect omniscience does not exist and cannot be apprehended in omniscience or the knowledge of the aspects of the path.
- 12.311 “Those who have entered the stream do not exist and cannot be apprehended in those who have entered the stream, those who have entered the stream do not exist and cannot be apprehended in once-returners, once-returners do not exist and cannot be apprehended in once-returners, once-returners do not exist and cannot be apprehended in those who have entered the stream, those who have entered the stream and once-returners do not exist and cannot be apprehended in non-returners, non-returners do not exist and cannot be apprehended in non-returners, and non-returners do not exist and cannot be apprehended in those who have entered the stream or once-returners.
- 12.312 “Those who have entered the stream, once-returners, and non-returners do not exist and cannot be apprehended in arhats; arhats do not exist and cannot be apprehended in arhats; and arhats [F.69.a] do not exist and cannot be apprehended in those who have entered the stream, once-returners, or non-returners.
- 12.313 “Those who have entered the stream, once-returners, non-returners, and arhats do not exist and cannot be apprehended in pratyekabuddhas; pratyekabuddhas do not exist and cannot be apprehended in pratyekabuddhas; and pratyekabuddhas do not exist and cannot be apprehended in those who have entered the stream, once-returners, non-returners, or arhats.
- 12.314 “Those who have entered the stream, once-returners, non-returners, arhats, and pratyekabuddhas do not exist and cannot be apprehended in bodhisattvas; bodhisattvas do not exist and cannot be apprehended in bodhisattvas; and bodhisattvas do not exist and cannot be apprehended in those who have entered the stream, once-returners, non-returners, arhats, or pratyekabuddhas.

- 12.315 “Those who have entered the stream, once-returners, non-returners, arhats, pratyekabuddhas, and bodhisattvas do not exist and cannot be apprehended in tathāgatas; tathāgatas do not exist and cannot be apprehended in tathāgatas; and tathāgatas do not exist and cannot be apprehended in those who have entered the stream, once-returners, non-returners, arhats, pratyekabuddhas, or bodhisattvas.
- 12.316 “Bodhisattvas do not exist and cannot be apprehended in bodhisattvas. Bodhisattvas do not exist and cannot be apprehended in the perfection of wisdom. The perfection of wisdom does not exist and cannot be apprehended in the perfection of wisdom. The perfection of wisdom does not exist and cannot be apprehended in bodhisattvas.
- 12.317 “Bodhisattvas and the perfection of wisdom do not exist and cannot be apprehended in teaching and instruction. Teaching and instruction do not exist and cannot [F.69.b] be apprehended in teaching and instruction. Teaching and instruction do not exist and cannot be apprehended in bodhisattvas or the perfection of wisdom.
- 12.318 “So it is, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that because all phenomena do not exist and cannot be apprehended, bodhisattvas do not exist and cannot be apprehended.
- 12.319 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, you also said, ‘Why do you say, “One says ‘a bodhisattva.’ It is a mere name”?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, this name bodhisattva has been designated adventitiously, and so ‘one says “a bodhisattva.” It is a mere name.’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, these names physical forms, feelings, perceptions, formative predispositions, and consciousness have been designated adventitiously. This is because a name does not come from anywhere, does not go anywhere, and does not dwell anywhere. That which is a ‘mere name’ is not physical forms, it is not feelings, it is not perceptions, it is not formative predispositions, and it is not consciousness. If you ask why, it is because a name is empty of the essential nature of a name, and that which is empty is not a name, and so ‘one says “a bodhisattva.” It is a mere name.’
- 12.320 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, these names eyes, ears, nose, tongue, body, and mental faculty have been designated adventitiously. This is because a name does not come from anywhere, does not go anywhere, and does not dwell anywhere. That which is a ‘mere name’ is not the eyes, it is not the ears, it is not the nose, it is not the tongue, it is not the body, and it is not the mental faculty. If you ask why, it is because a name is empty of the essential nature of a name, and that which is empty [F.70.a] is not a name, and so ‘one says “a bodhisattva.” It is a mere name.’

- 12.321 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, these names sights, sounds, odors, tastes, tangibles, and mental phenomena have been designated adventitiously. This is because a name does not come from anywhere, does not go anywhere, and does not dwell anywhere. That which is a ‘mere name’ is not sights, it is not sounds, it is not odors, it is not tastes, it is not tangibles, and it is not mental phenomena. If you ask why, it is because a name is empty of the essential nature of a name, and that which is empty is not a name, and so ‘one says “a bodhisattva.” It is a mere name.’
- 12.322 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, these names visual consciousness, auditory consciousness, olfactory consciousness, gustatory consciousness, tactile consciousness, and mental consciousness have been designated adventitiously. This is because a name does not come from anywhere, does not go anywhere, and does not dwell anywhere. That which is a ‘mere name’ is not visual consciousness, it is not auditory consciousness, it is not olfactory consciousness, it is not gustatory consciousness, it is not tactile consciousness, and it is not mental consciousness. If you ask why, it is because a name is empty of the essential nature of a name, and that which is empty is not a name, and so ‘one says “a bodhisattva.” It is a mere name.’
- 12.323 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, these names visually compounded sensory contact, aurally compounded sensory contact, nasally compounded sensory contact, lingually compounded sensory contact, corporeally compounded sensory contact, and mentally compounded sensory contact [F.70.b] have been designated adventitiously. This is because a name does not come from anywhere, does not go anywhere, and does not dwell anywhere. That which is a ‘mere name’ is not visually compounded sensory contact, it is not aurally compounded sensory contact, it is not nasally compounded sensory contact, it is not lingually compounded sensory contact, it is not corporeally compounded sensory contact, and it is not mentally compounded sensory contact. If you ask why, it is because a name is empty of the essential nature of a name, and that which is empty is not a name, and so ‘one says “a bodhisattva.” It is a mere name.’
- 12.324 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, these names feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact, feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact, and feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact have been designated adventitiously. This is because a name does not come from anywhere, does not go anywhere, and does not dwell anywhere. That which is a ‘mere name’ is not feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, it is not feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, it is not feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, it is not feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact, it is not feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact, and it is not feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact. If you ask why, it is because a name is empty of the essential nature of a name, and that which is empty is not a name, and so 'one says "a bodhisattva." It is a mere name.'

12.325 "Venerable Śāradvatīputra, these names earth element, water element, fire element, wind element, space element, [F.71.a] and consciousness element have been designated adventitiously. This is because a name does not come from anywhere, does not go anywhere, and does not dwell anywhere. That which is a 'mere name' is not the earth element, it is not the water element, it is not the fire element, it is not the wind element, it is not the space element, and it is not the consciousness element. If you ask why, it is because a name is empty of the essential nature of a name, and that which is empty is not a name, and so 'one says "a bodhisattva." It is a mere name.'

12.326 "Venerable Śāradvatīputra, these names ignorance, formative predispositions, consciousness, name and form, six sense fields, sensory contact, sensation, craving, grasping, the rebirth process, birth, and aging and death have been designated adventitiously. This is because a name does not come from anywhere, does not go anywhere, and does not dwell anywhere. That which is a 'mere name' is not ignorance, it is not formative predispositions, it is not consciousness, it is not name and form, it is not the six sense fields, it is not sensory contact, it is not sensation, it is not craving, it is not grasping, it is not the rebirth process, it is not birth, and it is not aging and death. If you ask why, it is because a name is empty of the essential nature of a name, and that which is empty is not a name, and so 'one says "a bodhisattva." It is a mere name.'

12.327 "Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of generosity is a mere name. The perfection of generosity is not in the name, [F.71.b] nor is the name in the perfection of generosity. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the perfection of generosity do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.

12.328 "The perfection of ethical discipline is a mere name. The perfection of ethical discipline is not in the name, nor is the name in the perfection of ethical discipline. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the perfection of ethical discipline do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.

12.329 "The perfection of tolerance is a mere name. The perfection of tolerance is not in the name, nor is the name in the perfection of tolerance. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the perfection of tolerance do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.

- 12.330     “The perfection of perseverance is a mere name. The perfection of perseverance is not in the name, nor is the name in the perfection of perseverance. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the perfection of perseverance do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.331     “The perfection of meditative concentration is a mere name. The perfection of meditative concentration is not in the name, nor is the name in the perfection of meditative concentration. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the perfection of meditative concentration do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
[F.72.a]
- 12.332     “The perfection of wisdom is a mere name. The perfection of wisdom is not in the name, nor is the name in the perfection of wisdom. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the perfection of wisdom do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.333     “The emptiness of internal phenomena is a mere name. The emptiness of internal phenomena is not in the name, nor is the name in the emptiness of internal phenomena. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the emptiness of internal phenomena do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.334     “The emptiness of external phenomena is a mere name. The emptiness of external phenomena is not in the name, nor is the name in the emptiness of external phenomena. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the emptiness of external phenomena do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.335     “The emptiness of external and internal phenomena is a mere name. The emptiness of external and internal phenomena is not in the name, nor is the name in the emptiness of external and internal phenomena. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the emptiness of external and internal phenomena do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.336     “The emptiness of emptiness is a mere name. The emptiness of emptiness is not in the name, nor is the name in the emptiness of emptiness. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the emptiness of emptiness do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.337     “The emptiness of great extent is a mere name. The emptiness of great extent is not in the name, nor is the name in the emptiness of great extent. If you ask why, [F.72.b] it is because both that which is a name and that which is the emptiness of great extent do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.

12.338     “The emptiness of ultimate reality is a mere name. The emptiness of ultimate reality is not in the name, nor is the name in the emptiness of ultimate reality. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the emptiness of ultimate reality do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.

12.339     “The emptiness of conditioned phenomena is a mere name. The emptiness of conditioned phenomena is not in the name, nor is the name in the emptiness of conditioned phenomena. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the emptiness of conditioned phenomena do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.

12.340     “The emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is a mere name. The emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is not in the name, nor is the name in the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.

12.341     “The emptiness of the unlimited is a mere name. The emptiness of the unlimited is not in the name, nor is the name in the emptiness of the unlimited. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the emptiness of the unlimited do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.

12.342     “The emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is a mere name. The emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is not in the name, nor is the name in the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end. If you ask why, [F.73.a] it is because both that which is a name and that which is the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.

12.343     “The emptiness of nonexclusion is a mere name. The emptiness of nonexclusion is not in the name, nor is the name in the emptiness of nonexclusion. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the emptiness of nonexclusion do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.

12.344     “The emptiness of inherent nature is a mere name. The emptiness of inherent nature is not in the name, nor is the name in the emptiness of inherent nature. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the emptiness of inherent nature do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.

- 12.345     “The emptiness of all phenomena is a mere name. The emptiness of all phenomena is not in the name, nor is the name in the emptiness of all phenomena. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the emptiness of all phenomena do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.346     “The emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is a mere name. The emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is not in the name, nor is the name in the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.347     “The emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is a mere name. The emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is not in the name, nor is the name [F.73.b] in the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.348     “The emptiness of nonentities is a mere name. The emptiness of nonentities is not in the name, nor is the name in the emptiness of nonentities. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the emptiness of nonentities do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.349     “The emptiness of essential nature is a mere name. The emptiness of essential nature is not in the name, nor is the name in the emptiness of essential nature. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the emptiness of essential nature do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.350     “The emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is a mere name. The emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is not in the name, nor is the name in the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.351     “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the applications of mindfulness is a mere name. The applications of mindfulness are not in the name, nor is the name in the applications of mindfulness. [F.74.a] If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the applications of mindfulness do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.352     “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the correct exertions is a mere name. The correct exertions are not in the name, nor is the name in the correct exertions. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the correct

- exertions do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.353 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the supports for miraculous ability is a mere name. The supports for miraculous ability are not in the name, nor is the name in the supports for miraculous ability. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the supports for miraculous ability do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.354 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the faculties is a mere name. the faculties are not in the name, nor is the name in the faculties. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the faculties do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.355 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the powers is a mere name. the powers are not in the name, nor is the name in the powers. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the powers do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.356 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the branches of enlightenment is a mere name. The branches of enlightenment are not in the name, nor is the name in [F.74.b] the branches of enlightenment. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the branches of enlightenment do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.357 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the noble eightfold path is a mere name. The noble eightfold path is not in the name, nor is the name in the noble eightfold path. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the noble eightfold path do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.358 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the truths of the noble ones is a mere name. The truths of the noble ones are not in the name, nor is the name in the truths of the noble ones. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the truths of the noble ones do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.359 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the meditative concentrations is a mere name. The meditative concentrations are not in the name, nor is the name in the meditative concentrations. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the meditative concentrations do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.360 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the immeasurable attitudes is a mere name. The immeasurable attitudes are not in the name, nor is the name in the immeasurable attitudes. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the immeasurable attitudes do not exist and cannot be apprehended. [F.75.a] That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.

- 12.361 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the formless absorptions is a mere name. The formless absorptions are not in the name, nor is the name in the formless absorptions. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the formless absorptions do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.362 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the liberations is a mere name. The liberations are not in the name, nor is the name in the liberations. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the liberations do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.363 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the nine serial steps of meditative absorption is a mere name. The nine serial steps of meditative absorption are not in the name, nor is the name in the nine serial steps of meditative absorption. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the nine serial steps of meditative absorption do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.364 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation is a mere name. The emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are not in the name, nor is the name in the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation. If you ask why, it is because [F.75.b] both that which is a name and that which is the gateways to liberation do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.365 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the extrasensory powers is a mere name. The extrasensory powers are not in the name, nor is the name in the extrasensory powers. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the extrasensory powers do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.366 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the meditative stabilities is a mere name. The meditative stabilities are not in the name, nor is the name in the meditative stabilities. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the meditative stabilities do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.367 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the dhāraṇī gateways is a mere name. The dhāraṇī gateways are not in the name, nor is the name in the dhāraṇī gateways. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the dhāraṇī gateways do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.368 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the ten powers of the tathāgatas is a mere name. the powers of the tathāgatas are not in the name, nor is the name in the powers of the tathāgatas. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and

- that which is the powers of the tathāgatas do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva [F.76.a] is a mere name.
- 12.369 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the four fearlessnesses is a mere name. The fearlessnesses are not in the name, nor is the name in the fearlessnesses. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the fearlessnesses do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.370 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the four kinds of exact knowledge is a mere name. The kinds of exact knowledge are not in the name, nor is the name in the kinds of exact knowledge. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the kinds of exact knowledge do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.371 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, great loving kindness is a mere name. Great loving kindness is not in the name, nor is the name in great loving kindness. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is great loving kindness do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.372 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, great compassion is a mere name. Great compassion is not in the name, nor is the name in great compassion. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is great compassion do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.373 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas is a mere name. The distinct qualities of the buddhas [F.76.b] are not in the name, nor is the name in the distinct qualities of the buddhas. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the distinct qualities of the buddhas do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.374 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, this name omniscience has been designated adventitiously. Omniscience is not in the name, nor is the name in omniscience. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is omniscience do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.
- 12.375 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, this name the knowledge of the aspects of the path has been designated adventitiously. The knowledge of the aspects of the path is not in the name, nor is the name in the knowledge of the aspects of the path. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is the knowledge of the aspects of the path do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name.

- 12.376 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, this name all-aspect omniscience has been designated adventitiously. All-aspect omniscience is not in the name, nor is the name in all-aspect omniscience. If you ask why, it is because both that which is a name and that which is all-aspect omniscience do not exist and cannot be apprehended. That is why this bodhisattva is a mere name. [B5]
- 12.377 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, you said, ‘Why do you say, “One says ‘self, self,’ [F.77.a] even though a self has absolutely not come into being; ‘being, being,’ even though a being has absolutely not come into being; ‘life form, life form,’ even though a life form has absolutely not come into being; ‘living being, living being,’ even though a living being has absolutely not come into being; ‘life, life,’ even though a life has absolutely not come into being; ‘individual, individual,’ even though an individual has absolutely not come into being; ‘person, person,’ even though a person has absolutely not come into being; ‘one born of Manu, one born of Manu,’ even though one born of Manu has absolutely not come into being; ‘a child of Manu, a child of Manu,’ even though a child of Manu has absolutely not come into being; ‘agent, agent,’ even though an agent has absolutely not come into being; ‘experiencer, experiencer,’ even though an experiencer has absolutely not come into being; ‘knower, knower,’ even though a knower has absolutely not come into being; and ‘viewer, viewer,’ even though a viewer has absolutely not come into being”?’
- 12.378 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, since the self absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since a being absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since a life form absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since a living being absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since a life absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since a person absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since an individual absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since one born of Manu absolutely [F.77.b] does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since a child of Manu absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since an agent absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since an experiencer absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since a knower absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; and since a viewer absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being?

12.379 “Since physical forms absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since feelings absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since perceptions absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since formative predispositions absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; and since consciousness absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being?

12.380 “Since the eyes absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since the ears absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since the nose absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the tongue absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the body absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; and since the mental faculty absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being?

12.381 “Since sights absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since sounds absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since odors absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could [F.78.a] it be possible that they come into being; since tastes absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since tangibles absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; and since mental phenomena absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being?

12.382 “Since visual consciousness absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since auditory consciousness absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since olfactory consciousness absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since gustatory consciousness absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since tactile consciousness absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; and since mental consciousness absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being?

12.383 “Since visually compounded sensory contact absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since aurally compounded sensory contact absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since nasally compounded sensory contact absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since lingually compounded sensory contact absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since corporeally compounded sensory contact absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; and since mentally compounded sensory contact absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being?

12.384 “Since feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact [F.78.b] absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; and since feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being?

12.385 “Since the earth element absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the water element absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the fire element absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the wind element absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the space element absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; and since the consciousness element absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being?

12.386 “Since ignorance absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since formative predispositions absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since consciousness absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since name and form absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since the six sense fields absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since sensory contact absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since sensation absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since craving absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it [F.79.a] comes into being; since grasping absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the rebirth process absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since birth absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; and since aging and death absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being?

12.387 “Since the perfection of generosity absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the perfection of ethical discipline absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the perfection of tolerance absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the perfection of perseverance absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the perfection of meditative concentration absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; and since the perfection of wisdom absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being?

12.388 “Since the emptiness of internal phenomena absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the emptiness of external phenomena absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the emptiness of external and internal phenomena absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the emptiness of emptiness absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the emptiness of great extent absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the emptiness of ultimate reality absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the emptiness of conditioned phenomena absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, [F.79.b] how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the emptiness of the unlimited absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the emptiness of nonexclusion absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the emptiness of inherent nature absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the emptiness of all phenomena absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the emptiness of nonentities absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the emptiness of essential nature absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; and since the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being?

12.389     “Since the applications of mindfulness absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since the correct exertions absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since the supports for miraculous ability absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since the faculties absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since the powers absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since the branches of enlightenment [F.80.a] absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since the noble eightfold path absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being?

12.390 “Since the truths of the noble ones absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since the meditative concentrations absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since the immeasurable attitudes absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since the formless absorptions absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since the eight liberations absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since the nine serial steps of meditative absorption absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since the extrasensory powers absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since the meditative stabilities absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since the dhāraṇī gateways absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since the ten powers of the tathāgatas absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since the four fearlessnesses absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since the four kinds of exact knowledge absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since great loving kindness absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible [F.80.b] that it comes into being; since great compassion absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that it comes into being; since the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being?

12.391 “Since śrāvakas absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since pratyekabuddhas absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being; since bodhisattvas absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being;

and since tathāgatas, arhats, perfectly complete perfect buddhas absolutely do not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could it be possible that they come into being?

12.392 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, where you said, ‘Similarly, are all phenomena in their essential nature nonentities?’<sup>600</sup> Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that is so! If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because an essential nature does not arise from a conjunction.<sup>601</sup>

12.393 Śāradvatīputra then asked, “Venerable Subhūti, what does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction?”

12.394 Subhūti replied, “Physical forms do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, feelings do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, perceptions do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, formative predispositions do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, and consciousness does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction.

12.395 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the eyes do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the ears do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the nose does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the tongue does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the body does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, and the mental faculty does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction. Sights do not have an essential nature arising [F.81.a] from a conjunction, sounds do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, odors do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, tastes do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, tangibles do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, and mental phenomena do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction. Visual consciousness does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, auditory consciousness does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, olfactory consciousness does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, gustatory consciousness does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, tactile consciousness does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, and mental consciousness does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction. Visually compounded sensory contact does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, aurally compounded sensory contact does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, nasally compounded sensory contact does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, lingually compounded sensory contact does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, corporeally compounded sensory contact does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, and mentally compounded sensory contact does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction. Feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, and feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction.

12.396 “The earth element does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the water element does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the fire element does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the wind element does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the space element does not have [F.81.b] an essential nature arising from a conjunction, and the consciousness element does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction.

12.397 “Ignorance does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, formative predispositions do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, consciousness does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, name and form do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the six sense fields do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, sensory contact does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, sensation does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, craving does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, grasping does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the rebirth process does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, birth does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, and aging and death do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction.

12.398 “The perfection of generosity does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the perfection of ethical discipline does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the perfection of tolerance does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the perfection of perseverance does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the perfection of meditative concentration does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, and the perfection of wisdom does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction.

12.399 “The emptiness of internal phenomena does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the emptiness of external phenomena does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the emptiness of emptiness does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the emptiness of great extent does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the emptiness of ultimate reality does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the emptiness of the unlimited does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the emptiness of nonexclusion [F.82.a] does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the emptiness of inherent nature does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the emptiness of all phenomena does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the emptiness of nonentities does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the emptiness of essential nature does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction.

12.400 “The applications of mindfulness do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the correct exertions do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the supports for miraculous ability do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the faculties do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the powers do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the branches of enlightenment do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, and the noble eightfold path does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction.

12.401 “The truths of the noble ones do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the meditative concentrations do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the immeasurable attitudes do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the formless absorptions do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the eight liberations do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the nine serial steps of meditative absorption do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the extrasensory powers do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the meditative stabilities do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the dhāraṇī gateways do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the ten powers of the tathāgatas do not have an essential nature [F.82.b] arising from a conjunction, the four fearlessnesses do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, the four kinds of exact knowledge do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, great loving kindness does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, great compassion does not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction, and the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas do not have an essential nature arising from a conjunction.

12.402 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears.”

12.403 Śāradvatīputra asked, “Venerable Subhūti, what are all those phenomena that are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears?”

12.404 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “physical forms are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; perceptions are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; and consciousness is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.405 “The eyes are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the ears are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the nose is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the tongue is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the body is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; and the mental faculty is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears. Sights are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; sounds are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; odors are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; tastes are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; tangibles are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental phenomena are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears. Visual consciousness is impermanent, but not because [F.83.a] anything at all disappears; auditory consciousness is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; olfactory consciousness is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; gustatory consciousness is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; tactile consciousness is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears;

and mental consciousness is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears. Visually compounded sensory contact is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; aurally compounded sensory contact is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; nasally compounded sensory contact is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; lingually compounded sensory contact is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; corporeally compounded sensory contact is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; and mentally compounded sensory contact is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears. Feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; and feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.406 “The earth element is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the water element is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the fire element is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the wind element is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the space element is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; and the consciousness element is impermanent, but not because anything at all [F.83.b] disappears.

12.407 “Ignorance is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; consciousness is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; name and form are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the six sense fields are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; sensory contact is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; sensation is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; craving is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; grasping is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the rebirth process is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; birth is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; and aging and death are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.408 “The perfection of generosity is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of ethical discipline is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of tolerance is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of perseverance is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of meditative concentration is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; and the perfection of wisdom is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.409 “The emptiness of internal phenomena is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external phenomena is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of emptiness is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of great extent is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of ultimate reality is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of the unlimited [F.84.a] is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonexclusion is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of inherent nature is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of all phenomena is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonentities is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of essential nature is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.410 “The applications of mindfulness are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the correct exertions are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the supports for miraculous ability are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the faculties are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the powers are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the branches of enlightenment are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; and the noble eightfold path is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.411 “The truths of the noble ones are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative concentrations are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the immeasurable attitudes are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the formless absorptions are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the eight liberations are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the nine serial steps of meditative absorption are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness [F.84.b] gateways to liberation are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the extrasensory powers are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative stabilities are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the dhāraṇī gateways are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the ten powers of the tathāgatas are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the four fearlessnesses are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; the four kinds of exact knowledge are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; great loving kindness is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; great compassion is impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears; and the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.412 “If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because that which is suffering is a nonentity, and extinct. For this reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are impermanent, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.413 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears.”

12.414 Śāradvatīputra asked, “Venerable Subhūti, what are all those phenomena that are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears?”

12.415 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “physical forms are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; perceptions are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; and consciousness is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.416 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the eyes are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the ears are suffering, but not because [F.85.a] anything at all disappears; the nose is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the tongue is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the body is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; and the mental faculty is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears. Sights are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; sounds are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; odors are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; tastes are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; tangibles are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental phenomena are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears. Visual consciousness is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; auditory consciousness is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; olfactory consciousness is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; gustatory consciousness is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; tactile consciousness is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental consciousness is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears. Visually compounded sensory contact is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; aurally compounded sensory contact is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; nasally compounded sensory contact is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; lingually compounded sensory contact is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; corporeally compounded sensory contact is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; and mentally compounded sensory contact is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears. Feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are suffering, [F.85.b] but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; and feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.417 “The earth element is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the water element is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the fire element is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the wind element is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the space element is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; and the consciousness element is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears.

- 12.418 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, ignorance is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; consciousness is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; name and form are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the six sense fields are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; sensory contact is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; sensation is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; craving is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; grasping is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the rebirth process is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; birth is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; and aging and death are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears.
- 12.419 “The perfection of generosity is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of ethical discipline is suffering, but [F.86.a] not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of tolerance is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of perseverance is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of meditative concentration is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; and the perfection of wisdom is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears.
- 12.420 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of internal phenomena is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external phenomena is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of emptiness is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of great extent is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of ultimate reality is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of the unlimited is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonexclusion is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of inherent nature is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of all phenomena is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonentities is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of essential nature is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities [F.86.b] is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.421 “The applications of mindfulness are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the correct exertions are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the supports for miraculous ability are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the faculties are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the powers are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the branches of enlightenment are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; and the noble eightfold path is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.422 “The truths of the noble ones are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative concentrations are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the immeasurable attitudes are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the formless absorptions are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the eight liberations are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the nine serial steps of meditative absorption are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the extrasensory powers are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative stabilities are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the dhāraṇī gateways are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the ten powers of the tathāgatas are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the four fearlessnesses are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; the four kinds of exact knowledge are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; great loving kindness [F.87.a] is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; great compassion is suffering, but not because anything at all disappears; and the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.423 “If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because that which is suffering is a nonentity, and extinct. For this reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are suffering, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.424 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears.”

12.425 Śāradvatīputra asked, “Venerable Subhūti, what are all those phenomena that are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears?”

12.426 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “physical forms are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; perceptions are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; and consciousness is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.427 “The eyes are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the ears are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the nose is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the tongue is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the body is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; and the mental faculty is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears. Sights are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; sounds are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; odors are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; tastes are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; tangibles [F.87.b] are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental phenomena are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears. Visual consciousness is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; auditory consciousness is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; olfactory consciousness is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; gustatory consciousness is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; tactile consciousness is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental consciousness is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears. Visually compounded sensory contact is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; aurally compounded sensory contact is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; nasally compounded sensory contact is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; lingually compounded sensory contact is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; corporeally compounded sensory contact is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; and mentally compounded sensory contact is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears. Feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are nonself, but not because

- anything at all disappears; and feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears.
- 12.428 “The earth element is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the water element is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the fire element is nonself, [F.88.a] but not because anything at all disappears; the wind element is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the space element is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; and the consciousness element is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears.
- 12.429 “Ignorance is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; consciousness is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; name and form are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the six sense fields are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; sensory contact is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; sensation is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; craving is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; grasping is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the rebirth process is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; birth is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; and aging and death are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears.
- 12.430 “The perfection of generosity is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of ethical discipline is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of tolerance is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of perseverance is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of meditative concentration is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; and the perfection of wisdom is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears.
- 12.431 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of internal phenomena is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external phenomena is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of emptiness is nonself, [F.88.b] but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of great extent is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of ultimate reality is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of the unlimited is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonexclusion is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of inherent nature is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of all phenomena is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonentities is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of essential nature is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.432 “The applications of mindfulness are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the correct exertions are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the supports for miraculous ability are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the faculties are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the powers are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the branches of enlightenment are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; and the noble eightfold path is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.433 “The truths of the noble ones are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; [F.89.a] the meditative concentrations are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the immeasurable attitudes are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the formless absorptions are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the eight liberations are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the nine serial steps of meditative absorption are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the extrasensory powers are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative stabilities are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the dhāraṇī gateways are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the ten powers of the tathāgatas are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the four fearlessnesses are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; the four kinds of exact knowledge are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; great loving kindness is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; great compassion is nonself, but not because anything at all disappears; and the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears.

- 12.434 “If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because that which is nonself is a nonentity, and extinct. For this reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are nonself, but not because anything at all disappears.
- 12.435 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears.”
- 12.436 Śāradvatīputra asked, “Venerable Subhūti, what are all those phenomena that are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears?”
- 12.437 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” [F.89.b] replied Subhūti, “physical forms are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; perceptions are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; and consciousness is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears.
- 12.438 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the eyes are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the ears are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the nose is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the tongue is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the body is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; and the mental faculty is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, sights are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; sounds are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; odors are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; tastes are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; tangibles are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental phenomena are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visual consciousness is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; auditory consciousness is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; olfactory consciousness is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; gustatory consciousness is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; tactile consciousness is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental consciousness is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visually compounded sensory contact is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; aurally compounded sensory contact is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; nasally compounded sensory contact is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; lingually compounded sensory contact is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; corporeally compounded sensory contact is at peace, but not because [F.90.a] anything at all disappears; and mentally compounded sensory contact is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; and feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.439 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the earth element is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the water element is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the fire element is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the wind element is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the space element is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; and the consciousness element is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.440 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, ignorance is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; consciousness is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; name and form are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the six sense fields are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; sensory contact is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; sensation is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; craving is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; grasping is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the rebirth process is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; birth is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; and aging and death are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.441 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, [F.90.b] the perfection of generosity is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of ethical discipline is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of tolerance is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of perseverance is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of meditative concentration is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; and the perfection of wisdom is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.442 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of internal phenomena is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external phenomena is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of emptiness is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of great extent is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of ultimate reality is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of the unlimited is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonexclusion is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of inherent nature is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of all phenomena is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonentities is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of essential nature is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.443 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the applications of mindfulness are [F.91.a] at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the correct exertions are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the supports for miraculous ability are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the faculties are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the powers are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the branches of enlightenment are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; and the noble eightfold path is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.444 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the truths of the noble ones are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative concentrations are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the immeasurable attitudes are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the formless absorptions are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the eight liberations are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the nine serial steps of meditative absorption are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the extrasensory powers are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative stabilities are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the dhāraṇī gateways are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the ten powers of the tathāgatas are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the four fearlessnesses are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; the four kinds of exact knowledge are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; great loving kindness is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; great compassion is at peace, but not because anything at all disappears; and the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas are at peace, [F.91.b] but not because anything at all disappears.

12.445 “If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because that which is at peace is a nonentity, and extinct. For this reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are at peace, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.446 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are empty, but not because anything at all disappears.”

12.447 Śāradvatīputra asked, “Venerable Subhūti, what are all those phenomena that are empty, but not because anything at all disappears?”

12.448 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “physical forms are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; perceptions are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; and consciousness is empty, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.449 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the eyes are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the ears are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the nose is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the tongue is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the body is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; and the mental faculty is empty, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, sights are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; sounds are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; odors are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; tastes are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; tangibles are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental phenomena are empty, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visual consciousness is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; auditory consciousness is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; olfactory consciousness is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; gustatory [F.92.a] consciousness is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; tactile consciousness is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental consciousness is empty, but not because anything at all disappears. Visually compounded sensory contact is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; aurally compounded sensory contact is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; nasally compounded sensory contact is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; lingually compounded sensory contact is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; corporeally compounded sensory contact is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; and mentally compounded sensory contact is empty, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; and feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are empty, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.450 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the earth element is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the water element is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the fire element is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the wind element is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the space element is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; and the consciousness element is empty, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.451 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, ignorance is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; [F.92.b] consciousness is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; name and form are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the six sense fields are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; sensory contact is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; sensation is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; craving is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; grasping is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the rebirth process is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; birth is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; and aging and death are empty, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.452 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of generosity is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of ethical discipline is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of tolerance is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of perseverance is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of meditative concentration is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; and the perfection of wisdom is empty, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.453 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of internal phenomena is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external phenomena is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of emptiness is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of great extent is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of ultimate reality is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of the unlimited is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is empty, [F.93.a] but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonexclusion is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of inherent nature is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of all phenomena is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonentities is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of essential nature is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is empty, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.454 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the applications of mindfulness are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the correct exertions are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the supports for miraculous ability are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the faculties are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the powers are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the branches of enlightenment are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; and the noble eightfold path is empty, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.455 “The truths of the noble ones are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative concentrations are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the immeasurable attitudes are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the formless absorptions are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the eight liberations are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the nine serial steps of meditative absorption are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness, signlessness, [F.93.b] and wishlessness gateways to liberation are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the extrasensory powers are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative stabilities are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the dhāraṇī gateways are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the ten powers of the tathāgatas are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the four fearlessnesses are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; the four kinds of exact knowledge are empty, but not because anything at all disappears; great loving kindness is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; great compassion is empty, but not because anything at all disappears; and the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas are empty, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.456 “If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because that which is empty is a nonentity, and extinct. For this reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are empty, but not because anything at all disappears. [B6]

12.457 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are signless, but not because anything at all disappears.”

12.458 Śāradvatīputra asked, “Venerable Subhūti, what are all those phenomena that are signless, but not because anything at all disappears?”

12.459 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “physical forms are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; perceptions are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; and consciousness is signless, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.460 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the eyes are signless, [F.94.a] but not because anything at all disappears; the ears are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the nose is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the tongue is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the body is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; and the mental faculty is signless, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, sights are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; sounds are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; odors are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; tastes are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; tangibles are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental phenomena are signless, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visual consciousness is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; auditory consciousness is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; olfactory consciousness is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; gustatory consciousness is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; tactile consciousness is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental consciousness is signless, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visually compounded sensory contact is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; aurally compounded sensory contact is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; nasally compounded sensory contact is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; lingually compounded sensory contact is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; corporeally compounded sensory contact is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; and mentally compounded sensory contact [F.94.b] is signless, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; and feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are signless, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.461 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the earth element is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the water element is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the fire element is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the wind element is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the space element is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; and the consciousness element is signless, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.462 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, ignorance is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; consciousness is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; name and form are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the six sense fields are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; sensory contact is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; sensation is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; craving is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; grasping is signless, but not because anything at all [F.95.a] disappears; the rebirth process is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; birth is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; and aging and death are signless, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.463 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of generosity is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of ethical discipline is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of tolerance is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of perseverance is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of meditative concentration is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; and the perfection of wisdom is signless, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.464 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of internal phenomena is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external phenomena is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of emptiness is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of great extent is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of ultimate reality is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of the unlimited is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonexclusion is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of inherent nature is signless, [F.95.b] but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of all phenomena is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonentities is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of essential nature is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is signless, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.465 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the applications of mindfulness are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the correct exertions are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the supports for miraculous ability are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the faculties are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the powers are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the branches of enlightenment are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; and the noble eightfold path is signless, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.466 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the truths of the noble ones are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative concentrations are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the immeasurable attitudes are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the formless absorptions are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the eight liberations are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the nine serial steps of meditative absorption are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness, [F.96.a] signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the extrasensory powers are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative stabilities are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the dhāraṇī gateways are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the ten powers of the tathāgatas are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the four fearlessnesses are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; the four kinds of exact knowledge are signless, but not because anything at all disappears; great loving kindness is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; great compassion is signless, but not because anything at all disappears; and the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas are signless, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.467 “If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because that which is signless is a nonentity, and extinct. For this reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are signless, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.468 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears.”

12.469 Śāradvatīputra asked, “Venerable Subhūti, what are all those phenomena that are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears?”

12.470 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “physical forms are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; perceptions are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; and consciousness is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.471 “Venerable [F.96.b] Śāradvatīputra, the eyes are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the ears are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the nose is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the tongue is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the body is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; and the mental faculty is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, sights are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; sounds are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; odors are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; tastes are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; tangibles are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental phenomena are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visual consciousness is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; auditory consciousness is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; olfactory consciousness is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; gustatory consciousness is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; tactile consciousness is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental consciousness is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visually compounded sensory contact is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; aurally compounded sensory contact is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; nasally compounded sensory contact is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; lingually compounded sensory contact is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; corporeally compounded sensory contact is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; and mentally compounded sensory contact is wishless, [F.97.a] but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; and feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.472 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the earth element is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the water element is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the fire element is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the wind element is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the space element is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; and the consciousness element is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears.

- 12.473 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, ignorance is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; consciousness is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; name and form are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the six sense fields are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; sensory contact is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; sensation is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; craving is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; grasping is wishless, [F.97.b] but not because anything at all disappears; the rebirth process is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; birth is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; and aging and death are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears.
- 12.474 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of generosity is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of ethical discipline is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of tolerance is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of perseverance is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of meditative concentration is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; and the perfection of wisdom is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears.
- 12.475 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of internal phenomena is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external phenomena is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of emptiness is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of great extent is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of ultimate reality is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of the unlimited is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonexclusion is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of inherent nature is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of all phenomena [F.98.a] is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonentities is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of essential nature is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.476 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the applications of mindfulness are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the correct exertions are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the supports for miraculous ability are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the faculties are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the powers are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the branches of enlightenment are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; and the noble eightfold path is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.477 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the truths of the noble ones are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative concentrations are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the immeasurable attitudes are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the formless absorptions are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the eight liberations are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the nine serial steps of meditative absorption are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness, [F.98.b] signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the extrasensory powers are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative stabilities are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the dhāraṇī gateways are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the ten powers of the tathāgatas are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the four fearlessnesses are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; the four kinds of exact knowledge are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; great loving kindness is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; great compassion is wishless, but not because anything at all disappears; and the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.478 “If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because that which is wishless is a nonentity, and extinct. For this reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are wishless, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.479 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears.”

12.480 Śāradvatīputra asked, “Venerable Subhūti, what are all those phenomena that are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears?”

12.481 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “physical forms are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; perceptions are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; and consciousness is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.482 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the eyes are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the ears are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the nose is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the tongue is virtuous, but not because anything at all [F.99.a] disappears; the body is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; and the mental faculty is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, sights are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; sounds are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; odors are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; tastes are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; tangibles are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental phenomena are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visual consciousness is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; auditory consciousness is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; olfactory consciousness is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; gustatory consciousness is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; tactile consciousness is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental consciousness is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visually compounded sensory contact is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; aurally compounded sensory contact is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; nasally compounded sensory contact is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; lingually compounded sensory contact is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; corporeally compounded sensory contact is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; and mentally compounded sensory contact is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; and [F.99.b] feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.483 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the earth element is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the water element is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the fire element is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the wind element is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the space element is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; and the consciousness element is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.484 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, ignorance is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; consciousness is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; name and form are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the six sense fields are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; sensory contact is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; sensation is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; craving is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; grasping is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the rebirth process is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; birth is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; and aging and death are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.485 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of generosity is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of ethical discipline is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of tolerance is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of perseverance is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of meditative concentration is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; and the perfection of wisdom is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.486 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of internal phenomena is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external phenomena [F.100.a] is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of emptiness is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of great extent is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of ultimate reality is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of the unlimited is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonexclusion is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of inherent nature is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of all phenomena is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonentities is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of essential nature is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.487 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the applications of mindfulness are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the correct exertions are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the supports for miraculous ability are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the faculties are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the powers are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the branches of enlightenment are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; and the noble eightfold path is virtuous, but [F.100.b] not because anything at all disappears.

12.488 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the truths of the noble ones are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative concentrations are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the immeasurable attitudes are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the formless absorptions are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the eight liberations are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the nine serial steps of meditative absorption are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the extrasensory powers are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative stabilities are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the dhāraṇī gateways are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the ten powers of the tathāgatas are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the four fearlessnesses are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; the four kinds of exact knowledge are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; great loving kindness is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears;

great compassion is virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears; and the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.489 “If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because that which is virtuous is a nonentity, and extinct. For this reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are virtuous, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.490 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears.”

12.491 Śāradvatīputra asked, “Venerable Subhūti, what are all those phenomena that are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears?”

12.492 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “physical forms [F.101.a] are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; perceptions are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; and consciousness is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.493 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the eyes are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the ears are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the nose is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the tongue is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the body is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; and the mental faculty is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, sights are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; sounds are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; odors are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; tastes are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; tangibles are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental phenomena are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visual consciousness is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; auditory consciousness is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; olfactory consciousness is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; gustatory consciousness is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; tactile consciousness is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental consciousness is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visually compounded sensory contact is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; aurally compounded sensory [F.101.b] contact is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; nasally compounded sensory contact is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; lingually compounded sensory contact is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; corporeally compounded sensory contact is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; and mentally compounded sensory contact is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; and feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.494 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the earth element is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the water element is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the fire element is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the wind element is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the space element is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; and the consciousness element is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.495 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, ignorance is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; consciousness is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; name and form are not [F.102.a] a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the six sense fields are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; sensory contact is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; sensation is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; craving is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; grasping is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the rebirth process is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; birth is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; and aging and death are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.496 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of generosity is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of ethical discipline is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of tolerance is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of perseverance is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of meditative concentration is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; and the perfection of wisdom is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.497 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of internal phenomena is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external phenomena is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of emptiness is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of great extent is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of ultimate reality is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is not a basic transgression, [F.102.b] but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of the unlimited is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonexclusion is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of inherent nature is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of all phenomena is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonentities is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of essential nature is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.498 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the applications of mindfulness are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the correct exertions are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the supports for miraculous ability are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the faculties are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the powers are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the branches of enlightenment are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; and the noble eightfold path is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.499 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the truths of the noble ones are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative concentrations are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the immeasurable attitudes are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the [F.103.a] formless absorptions are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the eight liberations are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the nine serial steps of meditative absorption are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the extrasensory powers are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative stabilities are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the dhāraṇī gateways are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the ten powers of the tathāgatas are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the four fearlessnesses are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; the four kinds of exact knowledge are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; great loving kindness is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; great compassion is not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears; and the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas are not a basic transgression, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.500 “If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because that which is not a basic transgression is a nonentity, and extinct. For this reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are not basic transgressions, but not because anything at all disappears.

- 12.501 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears.”
- 12.502 Śāradvatīputra asked, “Venerable Subhūti, what are all those phenomena that are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears?”
- 12.503 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “physical forms are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; [F.103.b] feelings are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; perceptions are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; and consciousness is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears.
- 12.504 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the eyes are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the ears are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the nose is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the tongue is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the body is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; and the mental faculty is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, sights are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; sounds are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; odors are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; tastes are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; tangibles are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental phenomena are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visual consciousness is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; auditory consciousness is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; olfactory consciousness is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; gustatory consciousness is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; tactile consciousness is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental consciousness is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visually compounded sensory contact is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; aurally compounded sensory contact is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; nasally compounded sensory contact is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; lingually compounded sensory contact [F.104.a] is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; corporeally compounded sensory contact is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; and mentally compounded sensory contact is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable

Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; and feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.505 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the earth element is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the water element is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the fire element is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the wind element is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the space element is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; and the consciousness element is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.506 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, ignorance is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; consciousness is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; name and form are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the six sense fields are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; sensory contact is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; sensation is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; craving is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; grasping is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the rebirth process is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; birth is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; and aging and death are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.507 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of generosity is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of ethical discipline is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of tolerance is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of perseverance is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of meditative concentration is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; and the perfection of wisdom is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.508 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of internal phenomena is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external phenomena is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of emptiness is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of great extent is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of ultimate reality is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of the unlimited is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonexclusion is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of inherent nature is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of all phenomena is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; [F.105.a] the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonentities is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of essential nature is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.509 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the applications of mindfulness are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the correct exertions are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the supports for miraculous ability are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the faculties are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the powers are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the branches of enlightenment are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; and the noble eightfold path is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears.

- 12.510 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the truths of the noble ones are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative concentrations are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the immeasurable attitudes are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the formless absorptions are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the eight liberations are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the nine serial steps of meditative absorption are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the extrasensory powers are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative stabilities are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the dhāraṇī gateways are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the ten powers of the tathāgatas [F.105.b] are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the four fearlessnesses are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; the four kinds of exact knowledge are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; great loving kindness is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; great compassion is uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears; and the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas are uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears.
- 12.511 “If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because that which is uncontaminated is a nonentity, and extinct. For this reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are not uncontaminated, but not because anything at all disappears.
- 12.512 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears.”
- 12.513 Śāradvatīputra asked, “Subhūti, what are all those phenomena that are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears?”
- 12.514 “Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “physical forms are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; perceptions are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; and consciousness is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears.
- 12.515 “Śāradvatīputra, the eyes are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the ears are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the nose is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the tongue is without affliction, but not because anything at all

disappears; the body is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; and the mental faculty is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears. Śāradvatīputra, sights are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; sounds are [F.106.a] without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; odors are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; tastes are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; tangibles are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental phenomena are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears. Śāradvatīputra, visual consciousness is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; auditory consciousness is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; olfactory consciousness is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; gustatory consciousness is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; tactile consciousness is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental consciousness is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears. Śāradvatīputra, visually compounded sensory contact is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; aurally compounded sensory contact is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; nasally compounded sensory contact is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; lingually compounded sensory contact is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; corporeally compounded sensory contact is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; and mentally compounded sensory contact is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears. Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by [F.106.b] corporeally compounded sensory contact are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; and feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.516      “Śāradvatīputra, the earth element is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the water element is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the fire element is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the wind element is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the space element is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; and the consciousness element is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.517 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, ignorance is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; consciousness is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; name and form are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the six sense fields are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; sensory contact is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; sensation is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; craving is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; grasping is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the rebirth process is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; birth is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; and aging and death are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.518 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of generosity is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of ethical discipline is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of tolerance is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; [F.107.a] the perfection of perseverance is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of meditative concentration is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; and the perfection of wisdom is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.519 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of internal phenomena is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external phenomena is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of emptiness is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of great extent is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of ultimate reality is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of the unlimited is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonexclusion is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of inherent nature is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of all phenomena is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonentities is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of essential nature is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears. [F.107.b]

12.520 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the applications of mindfulness are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the correct exertions are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the supports for miraculous ability are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the faculties are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the powers are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the branches of enlightenment are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; and the noble eightfold path is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.521 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the truths of the noble ones are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative concentrations are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the immeasurable attitudes are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the formless absorptions are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the eight liberations are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the nine serial steps of meditative absorption are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the extrasensory powers are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative stabilities are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the dhāraṇī gateways are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the ten powers of the tathāgatas are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the four fearlessnesses are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; the four kinds of exact knowledge [F.108.a] are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; great loving kindness is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears;

great compassion is without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears; and the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.522 “If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because that which is without affliction is a nonentity, and extinct. For this reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are without affliction, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.523 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are purified, but not because anything at all disappears.”

12.524 Śāradvatīputra asked, “Venerable Subhūti, what are all those phenomena that are purified, but not because anything at all disappears?”

12.525 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “physical forms are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; perceptions are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; and consciousness is purified, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.526 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the eyes are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the ears are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the nose is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the tongue is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the body is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; and the mental faculty is purified, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, sights are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; sounds are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; odors are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; tastes are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; tangibles are [F.108.b] purified, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental phenomena are purified, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visual consciousness is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; auditory consciousness is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; olfactory consciousness is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; gustatory consciousness is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; tactile consciousness is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental consciousness is purified, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visually compounded sensory contact is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; aurally compounded sensory contact is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; nasally compounded sensory contact is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; lingually compounded sensory contact is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; corporeally compounded sensory contact is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; and mentally compounded sensory contact is purified, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; and feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are purified, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.527 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the earth element is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the water element is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the fire element [F.109.a] is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the wind element is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the space element is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; and the consciousness element is purified, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.528 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, ignorance is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; consciousness is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; name and form are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the six sense fields are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; sensory contact is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; sensation is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; craving is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; grasping is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the rebirth process is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; birth is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; and aging and death are purified, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.529 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of generosity is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of ethical discipline is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of tolerance is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of perseverance is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of meditative concentration is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; and the perfection of wisdom is purified, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.530 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of internal phenomena is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external phenomena is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external [F.109.b] and internal phenomena is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of emptiness is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of great extent is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of ultimate reality is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of the unlimited is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonexclusion is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of inherent nature is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of all phenomena is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonentities is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of essential nature is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is purified, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.531 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the applications of mindfulness are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the correct exertions are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the supports for miraculous ability are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the faculties are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the powers are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the branches of enlightenment are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; and the noble eightfold [F.110.a] path is purified, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.532 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the truths of the noble ones are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative concentrations are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the immeasurable attitudes are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the formless absorptions are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the eight liberations are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the nine serial steps of meditative absorption are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the extrasensory powers are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative stabilities are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the dhāraṇī gateways are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the ten powers of the tathāgatas are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the four fearlessnesses are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; the four kinds of exact knowledge are purified, but not because anything at all disappears; great loving kindness is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; great compassion is purified, but not because anything at all disappears; and the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas are purified, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.533 “If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because that which is purified is a nonentity, and extinct. For this reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are purified, but not because anything at all disappears. [F.110.b] [B7]

12.534 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears.”

12.535 Śāradvatīputra asked, “Venerable Subhūti, what are all those phenomena that are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears?”

12.536 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “physical forms are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; perceptions are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; and consciousness is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.537 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the eyes are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the ears are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the nose is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the tongue is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the body is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; and the mental faculty is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, sights are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; sounds are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; odors are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; tastes are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; tangibles are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental phenomena are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visual consciousness is supramundane, [F.111.a]

but not because anything at all disappears; auditory consciousness is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; olfactory consciousness is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; gustatory consciousness is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; tactile consciousness is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental consciousness is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visually compounded sensory contact is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; aurally compounded sensory contact is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; nasally compounded sensory contact is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; lingually compounded sensory contact is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; corporeally compounded sensory contact is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; and mentally compounded sensory contact is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; and feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.538 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the earth element is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the water element is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the fire element is supramundane, but not [F.111.b] because anything at all disappears; the wind element is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the space element is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; and the consciousness element is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.539 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, ignorance is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; consciousness is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; name and form are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the six sense fields are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; sensory contact is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; sensation is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; craving is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; grasping is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the rebirth process is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; birth is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; and aging and death are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.540 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of generosity is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of ethical discipline is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of tolerance is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of perseverance is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of meditative concentration is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; and the perfection of wisdom is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.541 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of internal phenomena [F.112.a] is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external phenomena is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of emptiness is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of great extent is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of ultimate reality is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of the unlimited is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonexclusion is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of inherent nature is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of all phenomena is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonentities is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of essential nature is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.542 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the applications of mindfulness are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the correct exertions are [F.112.b] supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the supports for miraculous ability are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the faculties are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the powers are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the branches of enlightenment are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; and the noble eightfold path is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.543 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the truths of the noble ones are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative concentrations are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the immeasurable attitudes are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the formless absorptions are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the eight liberations are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the nine serial steps of meditative absorption are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the extrasensory powers are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative stabilities are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the dhāraṇī gateways are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the ten powers of the tathāgatas are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the four fearlessnesses are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; the four kinds of exact knowledge are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; great loving kindness is supramundane, but not because [F.113.a] anything at all disappears; great compassion is supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears; and the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.544 “If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because that which is supramundane is a nonentity, and extinct. For this reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are supramundane, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.545 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears.”

12.546 Śāradvatīputra asked, “Venerable Subhūti, what are all those phenomena that are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears?”

12.547 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “physical forms are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; perceptions are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; and consciousness is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.548 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the eyes are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the ears are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the nose is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the tongue is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the body is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; and the mental faculty is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, sights are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; sounds are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; odors are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; tastes are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; tangibles are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental phenomena are unconditioned, [F.113.b] but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visual consciousness is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; auditory consciousness is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; olfactory consciousness is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; gustatory consciousness is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; tactile consciousness is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; and mental consciousness is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visually compounded sensory contact is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; aurally compounded sensory contact is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; nasally compounded sensory contact is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; lingually compounded sensory contact is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; corporeally compounded sensory contact is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; and mentally compounded sensory contact is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; and feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.549 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the earth element is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the water element is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the fire element is unconditioned, but not [F.114.a] because anything at all disappears; the wind element is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the space element is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; and the consciousness element is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.550 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, ignorance is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; formative predispositions are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; consciousness is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; name and form are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the six sense fields are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; sensory contact is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; sensation is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; craving is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; grasping is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the rebirth process is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; birth is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; and aging and death are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.551 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of generosity is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of ethical discipline is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of tolerance is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of perseverance is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the perfection of meditative concentration is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; and the perfection of wisdom is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears.

- 12.552 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of internal phenomena is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external phenomena is [F.114.b] unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of emptiness is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of great extent is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of ultimate reality is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of the unlimited is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonexclusion is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of inherent nature is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of all phenomena is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of nonentities is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness of essential nature is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears.
- 12.553 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the applications of mindfulness are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the correct exertions are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the supports for miraculous ability are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the faculties are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the powers are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the branches of enlightenment are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; and the [F.115.a] noble eightfold path is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears.
- 12.554 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the truths of the noble ones are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative concentrations are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the immeasurable attitudes are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the formless absorptions are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the eight liberations are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the nine serial steps of meditative absorption are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the extrasensory powers are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the meditative stabilities are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the dhāraṇī gateways are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the ten powers of the tathāgatas are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the four fearlessnesses are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; the four kinds of exact knowledge are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; great loving kindness is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; great compassion is unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears; and the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.555 “If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because that which is unconditioned is a nonentity, and extinct. For this reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all phenomena are unconditioned, but not because anything at all disappears.

12.556 “Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, [F.115.b] all phenomena are not eternal<sup>602</sup> and they are not perishable.”

12.557 Śāradvatīputra asked, “Venerable Subhūti, why are all phenomena not eternal and not perishable?”

12.558 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “physical forms are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. Feelings are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. Perceptions are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. Formative predispositions are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. Consciousness is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature.

12.559 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the eyes are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. The ears are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. The nose is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The tongue is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The body is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The mental faculty is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature.

- 12.560 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, sights are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. Sounds are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. Odors are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. Tastes are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. Tangibles are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. Mental phenomena are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature.
- 12.561 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visual consciousness [F.116.a] is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. Auditory consciousness is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. Olfactory consciousness is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. Gustatory consciousness is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. Tactile consciousness is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. Mental consciousness is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature.
- 12.562 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visually compounded sensory contact is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. Aurally compounded sensory contact is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. Nasally compounded sensory contact is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. Lingually compounded sensory contact is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. Corporeally compounded sensory contact is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. Mentally compounded sensory contact is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature.
- 12.563 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. Feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. Feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. Feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. [F.116.b] Feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. Feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature.

12.564 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the earth element is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The water element is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The fire element is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The wind element is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The space element is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The consciousness element is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature.

12.565 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, ignorance is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. Formative predispositions are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. Consciousness is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. Name and form are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. The six sense fields are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. Sensory contact is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. Sensation is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. Craving is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. Grasping is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The rebirth process is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. [F.117.a] Birth is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. Aging and death are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature.

12.566 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of generosity is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The perfection of ethical discipline is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The perfection of tolerance is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The perfection of perseverance is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The perfection of meditative concentration is not eternal and it is not perishable.

If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The perfection of wisdom is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature.

12.567 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of internal phenomena is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The emptiness of external phenomena is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The emptiness of external and internal phenomena is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The emptiness of emptiness is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The emptiness of great extent is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The emptiness of ultimate reality is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The emptiness of conditioned phenomena is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The emptiness of the unlimited is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is not eternal [F.117.b] and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The emptiness of nonexclusion is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The emptiness of inherent nature is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The emptiness of all phenomena is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The emptiness of nonentities is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The emptiness of essential nature is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature.

12.568 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the applications of mindfulness are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. The correct exertions are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. The supports for miraculous ability are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. the faculties are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. the powers are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. The branches of enlightenment are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. The noble eightfold path is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, [F.118.a] it is because that is its inherent nature.

12.569 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the truths of the noble ones are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. The meditative concentrations are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. The immeasurable attitudes are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. The formless absorptions are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. The eight liberations are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. The nine serial steps of meditative absorption are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. The emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. The extrasensory powers are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. The meditative stabilities are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. The dhāraṇī gateways are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. The ten powers of the tathāgatas are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. The four fearlessnesses are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. The four kinds of exact knowledge are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. Great loving kindness is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. Great compassion is not eternal and it is not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is its inherent nature. The eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas are not eternal and they are not perishable. [F.118.b] If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature.

12.570 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, virtuous phenomena are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. Nonvirtuous phenomena are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. Conditioned phenomena are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. Unconditioned phenomena are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. Contaminated phenomena are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature. Uncontaminated phenomena are not eternal and they are not perishable. If you ask why, it is because that is their inherent nature.

12.571 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is for this reason that all phenomena are in their essential nature nonentities.

12.572 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, you said, ‘Why do you say, “Why have physical forms not come into being, why have feelings not come into being, why have perceptions not come into being, why have formative predispositions not come into being, and why has consciousness not come into being”?’<sup>603</sup> Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is so! If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because physical forms have not been brought about by conditions,<sup>604</sup> feelings have not been brought about by conditions, perceptions have not been brought about by conditions, formative predispositions have not been brought about by conditions, and consciousness has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings about physical forms, there is nothing that brings about feelings, there is nothing that brings about perceptions, there is nothing that brings about formative predispositions, and there is nothing that brings about consciousness.

12.573 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the eyes have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. The ears have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings [F.119.a] them about. The nose has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The tongue has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The body has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The mental faculty has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, sights have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. Sounds have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. Odors have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. Tastes have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. Tangibles have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. Mental phenomena have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about.

12.574 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visual consciousness has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. Auditory consciousness has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. Olfactory consciousness has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. Gustatory consciousness has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. Tactile consciousness has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. Mental consciousness has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about.

12.575 “Visually compounded sensory contact has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. [F.119.b] Aurally compounded sensory contact has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. Nasally compounded sensory contact has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. Lingually compounded sensory contact has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. Corporeally compounded sensory contact has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. Mentally compounded sensory contact has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about.

12.576 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. Feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. Feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. Feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. Feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. Feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about.

12.577 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the earth element has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The water element has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The fire element has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The wind element has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. [F.120.a] The space element has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The consciousness element has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about.

12.578 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, ignorance has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. Formative predispositions have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. Consciousness has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. Name and form have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. The six sense fields have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. Sensory contact has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. Sensation has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. Craving has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. Grasping has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The rebirth process has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. Birth has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. Aging and death have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about.

12.579 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of generosity has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The perfection of ethical discipline has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The perfection of tolerance has not been brought about by conditions. [F.120.b] If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The perfection of perseverance has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The perfection of meditative concentration has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The perfection of wisdom has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about.

12.580 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of internal phenomena has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The emptiness of external phenomena has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The emptiness of external and internal phenomena has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The emptiness of emptiness has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The emptiness of great extent has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The emptiness of ultimate reality has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The emptiness of conditioned phenomena has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The emptiness of unconditioned phenomena has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The emptiness of the unlimited has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The emptiness of nonexclusion has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The emptiness of inherent nature has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The emptiness of all phenomena has not been brought about [F.121.a] by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The emptiness of nonentities has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The emptiness of essential nature has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about.

12.581 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the applications of mindfulness have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. The correct exertions have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. The supports for miraculous ability have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. The faculties have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. The powers have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. The branches of enlightenment have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. The noble eightfold path has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about.

12.582 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the truths of the noble ones have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. The meditative concentrations have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. The immeasurable attitudes [F.121.b] have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. The formless absorptions have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. The liberations have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. The serial steps of meditative absorption have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. The emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. The extrasensory powers have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. The meditative stabilities have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. The dhāraṇī gateways have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. The ten powers of the tathāgatas have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. The four fearlessnesses have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. The four kinds of exact knowledge have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about. Great loving kindness has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. Great compassion has not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings it about. The eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas have not been brought about by conditions. If you ask why, it is because there is nothing that brings them about.

12.583 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is for this reason that physical forms have not come into being, feelings have not come into being, perceptions have not come into being, [F.122.a] formative predispositions have not come into being, and consciousness has not come into being.

12.584 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, you said, ‘Venerable Subhūti, why do you say, “Something that has not come into being is not physical forms, something that has not come into being is not feelings, something that has not come into being is not perceptions, something that has not come into being is not formative predispositions, and something that has not come into being is not consciousness”?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is so! If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because physical forms are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Feelings are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Perceptions are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Formative predispositions are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Consciousness is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state.

12.585 “The eyes are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The ears are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises [F.122.b] nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The nose is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The tongue is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The body is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The mental faculty is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state.

12.586 “Sights are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Sounds are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Odors are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Tastes are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Tangibles are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Mental phenomena are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature [F.123.a] neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state.

12.587 “Visual consciousness is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Auditory consciousness is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Olfactory consciousness is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Gustatory consciousness is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Tactile consciousness is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Mental consciousness is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state.

12.588 “Visually compounded sensory contact is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Aurally compounded sensory contact is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Nasally compounded sensory contact is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature [F.123.b] neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Lingually compounded sensory contact is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Corporeally compounded sensory contact is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Mentally compounded sensory contact is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state.

12.589     “Feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. [F.124.a] Feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state.

12.590     “The earth element is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The water element is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The fire element is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The wind element is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The space element is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The consciousness element is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state.

12.591 “Ignorance is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Formative predispositions are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. [F.124.b] Consciousness is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Name and form are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The six sense fields are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Sensory contact is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Sensation is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Craving is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Grasping is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The rebirth process is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Birth is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Aging and death are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor [F.125.a] perishes does not change its state.

12.592 “The perfection of generosity is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The perfection of ethical discipline is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The perfection of tolerance is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The perfection of perseverance is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The perfection of meditative concentration is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The perfection of wisdom is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. [B8]

12.593 “The emptiness of internal phenomena is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The emptiness of external phenomena is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes [F.125.b] does not change its state. The emptiness of external and internal phenomena is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The emptiness of emptiness is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The emptiness of great extent is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The emptiness of ultimate reality is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The emptiness of conditioned phenomena is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The emptiness of the unlimited is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The emptiness of nonexclusion is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises [F.126.a] nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The emptiness of inherent nature is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The emptiness of all phenomena is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The emptiness of nonentities is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The emptiness of essential nature is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state.

12.594 “The applications of mindfulness are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The correct exertions are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature [F.126.b] neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The supports for miraculous ability are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. the faculties are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. the powers are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The branches of enlightenment are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The noble eightfold path is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state.

12.595 “The truths of the noble ones are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The meditative concentrations are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The immeasurable attitudes are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The formless absorptions are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty [F.127.a] of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The eight liberations are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The nine serial steps of meditative absorption are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The extrasensory powers are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The meditative stabilities are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The dhāraṇī gateways are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The ten powers of the tathāgatas are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The four fearlessnesses are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises [F.127.b] nor perishes does not change its state. The four kinds of exact knowledge are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Great loving kindness is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. Great compassion is empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state. The eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas are empty of an inherent nature. That which is empty of an inherent nature neither arises nor perishes, and that which neither arises nor perishes does not change its state.

12.596 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is for this reason that something that has not come into being is not physical forms, something that has not come into being is not feelings, something that has not come into being is not perceptions, something that has not come into being is not formative predispositions, and something that has not come into being is not consciousness; that something that has not come into being is not the eyes, something that has not come into being is not the ears, something that has not come into being is not the nose, something that has not come into being is not the tongue, something that has not come into being is not the body, and something that has not come into being is not the mental faculty; that something that has not come into being is not sights, something that has not come into being is not sounds, something that has not come into being is not odors, something that has not come into being is not tastes, something that has not come into being is not tangibles, and something that has not come into being is not mental phenomena; that something [F.128.a] that has not come into being is not visual consciousness, something that has not come into being is not auditory consciousness, something that has not come into being is not olfactory consciousness, something that has not come into being is not gustatory consciousness, something that has not come into being is not tactile consciousness, and something that has not come into being is not mental consciousness; that something that has not come into being is not visually compounded sensory contact, something that has not come into being is not aurally compounded sensory contact, something that has not come into being is not nasally compounded sensory contact, something that has not come into being is not lingually compounded sensory contact, something that has not come into being is not corporeally compounded sensory contact, and something that has not come into being is not mentally compounded sensory contact; that something that has not come into being is not feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, something that has not come into being is not feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, something that has not come into being is not feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, something that has not come into being is not feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact, something that has not come into being is not feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact, and something that has not come into being is not feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact; that something that has not come into being is not the earth element, something that has not come into being is not the water element, something that has not come into being is not the fire element, something that has not come into being is not the wind element, something that has not come into being is not the space element, and something that has not come into being is not the consciousness element; that something that has not come into being is not [F.128.b] ignorance, something that has not come into being is not formative predispositions, something that has not come into being is not consciousness, something that has not come into being is not name and form, something that has not come into being is not the six sense fields, something that has not come into being is not sensory contact, something that has not come into being is not sensation, something that has not come into being is not craving, something that has not come into being is not grasping, something that has not come into being is not the rebirth process, something that has not come into being is not birth, and something that has not come into being is not aging and death; that something that has not come into being is not the perfection of generosity, something that has not come into being is not the perfection of ethical discipline, something that has not come into being is not the perfection of tolerance, something that has not come into being is not the perfection of perseverance, something that has not come into being is not the perfection of meditative concentration, and something that has not come into being is not the perfection of wisdom; that something that has not come into being is not the emptiness of internal phenomena, something that has not come into being is not the emptiness of external phenomena, something that has not come into being is not the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, something that has not come into being is not the emptiness of emptiness, something that has not come into being is not the emptiness of great extent, something that has not come into being is not the emptiness of ultimate reality, something that has not come into being is not the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, something that has not come into being is not the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, something that has not come into being is not the emptiness of the unlimited, something that has not come into being is not the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, something that has not come into being is not the emptiness of nonexclusion, [F.129.a] something that has not come into being is not the emptiness of inherent nature, something that has not come into being is not the emptiness of all phenomena, something that has not come into being is not the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, something that has not come into being is not the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, something that has not come into being is not the emptiness of nonentities, something that has not come into being is not the emptiness of essential nature, and something that has not come into being is not the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities; that something that has not come into being is not the applications of mindfulness, something that has not come into being is not the correct exertions, something that has not come into being is not the supports for miraculous ability, something that has not come into being is not the faculties, something that has not come into being is not the powers, something that has not come into being is not the branches of enlightenment, and something that has not come into being is not the noble eightfold path; and that something that has not come into being is not the truths of the noble ones, something that has not come into being is not the meditative concentrations, something that has not come into being is not the immeasurable attitudes, something that has not come into being is not the formless absorptions, something that has not come into being is not the eight liberations, something that has not come into being is not the nine serial steps of meditative absorption, something that has not come into being is not the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation, something that has not come into being is not the extrasensory powers, something that has not come into being is not the meditative stabilities, something that has not come into being is not the dhāraṇī gateways, [F.129.b] something that has not come into being is not the ten powers of the tathāgatas, something that has not come into being is not the four fearlessnesses, something that has not come into being is not the four kinds of exact knowledge, something that has not come into being is not great loving kindness, something that has not come into being is not great compassion, something that has not come into being is not the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas, something that has not come into being is not omniscience, something that has not come into being is not the knowledge of the aspects of the path, and something that has not come into being is not all-aspect omniscience.

12.597      “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, you also said, ‘Why do you say, “How then should one who has not come into being give teaching and instruction in the perfection of wisdom, which has also not come into being”?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because that which has not come into being is the perfection of wisdom, and that which is the perfection of wisdom has not come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the perfection of wisdom’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is for this reason that I said, 'How then should one who has not come into being give teaching and instruction in the perfection of wisdom, which has also not come into being?'

12.598 "Venerable Śāradvatīputra, you also said, 'Why do you say, "One cannot apprehend such bodhisattva great beings who are practicing for enlightenment as other than not having come into being"?' Venerable Śāradvatīputra, this is because, when bodhisattva great beings practice the perfection of wisdom, they do not observe that something that has not come into being is one thing and a bodhisattva another. Therefore, these two phenomena—'that which has not [F.130.a] come into being' and 'a bodhisattva'—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.599 "They do not observe physical forms as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—'that which has not come into being' and 'physical forms'—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe feelings as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—'that which has not come into being' and 'feelings'—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe perceptions as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—'that which has not come into being' and 'perceptions'—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe formative predispositions as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—'that which has not come into being' and 'formative predispositions'—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe consciousness as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—'that which has not come into being' and 'consciousness'—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.600 "They do not observe the eyes as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—'that which has not come into being' and 'the eyes'—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the ears as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—'that which has not come into being' and 'the ears'—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the nose as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—'that which has not come into being' and 'the nose'—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the tongue as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—'that which has not come into being' and 'the tongue'—are [F.130.b] without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the body as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—'that which has not come into being' and 'the body'—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the mental faculty as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the mental faculty’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.601 “They do not observe sights as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘sights’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe sounds as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘sounds’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe odors as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘odors’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe tastes as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘tastes’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe tangibles as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘tangibles’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe mental phenomena as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘mental phenomena’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.602 “They do not observe visual consciousness as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘visual consciousness’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe auditory consciousness as other than [F.131.a] not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘auditory consciousness’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe olfactory consciousness as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘olfactory consciousness’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe gustatory consciousness as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘gustatory consciousness’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe tactile consciousness as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘tactile consciousness’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe mental consciousness as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘mental consciousness’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.603 “They do not observe visually compounded sensory contact as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘visually compounded sensory contact’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe aurally compounded sensory contact as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘aurally compounded sensory contact’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe nasally compounded sensory contact as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘nasally compounded sensory contact’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe lingually compounded sensory contact [F.131.b] as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘lingually compounded sensory contact’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe corporeally compounded sensory contact as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘corporeally compounded sensory contact’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe mentally compounded sensory contact as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘mentally compounded sensory contact’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.604 “They do not observe feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and [F.132.a] ‘feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.605 “They do not observe the earth element as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the earth element’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the water element as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the water element’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the fire element as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the fire element’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the wind element as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the wind element’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the space element as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the space element’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the consciousness element as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the consciousness element’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.606 “They do not observe ignorance as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘ignorance’—are [F.132.b] without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe formative predispositions as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘formative predispositions’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe consciousness as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘consciousness’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe name and form as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘name and form’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the six sense fields as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the six sense fields’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe sensory contact as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘sensory contact’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe sensation as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘sensation’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe craving as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘craving’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe grasping as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘grasping’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the rebirth process as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the rebirth process’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe birth as other [F.133.a] than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘birth’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe aging and death as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘aging and death’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.607 “They do not observe the perfection of generosity as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the perfection of generosity’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the perfection of ethical discipline as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the perfection of ethical discipline’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the perfection of tolerance as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the perfection of tolerance’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the perfection of perseverance as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the perfection of perseverance’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the perfection of meditative concentration as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the perfection of meditative concentration’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the perfection of wisdom as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the perfection of wisdom’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.608 “They do not observe the emptiness of internal phenomena [F.133.b] as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the emptiness of internal phenomena’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the emptiness of external phenomena as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the emptiness of external phenomena’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the emptiness of external and internal phenomena as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the emptiness of external and internal phenomena’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the emptiness of emptiness as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the emptiness of emptiness’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the emptiness of great extent as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the emptiness of great extent’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the emptiness of ultimate reality as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the emptiness of ultimate reality’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the emptiness of conditioned phenomena as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the emptiness of conditioned phenomena’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the emptiness of the unlimited as other than not having come into being. [F.134.a] Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the emptiness of the unlimited’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the emptiness of nonexclusion as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the emptiness of nonexclusion’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the emptiness of inherent nature as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the emptiness of inherent nature’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the emptiness of all phenomena as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the emptiness of all phenomena’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the emptiness of nonentities as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the emptiness of nonentities’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the emptiness of essential nature [F.134.b] as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the emptiness of essential nature’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.609 “They do not observe the applications of mindfulness as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the applications of mindfulness’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the correct exertions as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the correct exertions’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the supports for miraculous ability as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the supports for miraculous ability’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the faculties as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the faculties’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the powers as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the powers’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the branches of enlightenment as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the branches of enlightenment’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the noble eightfold path as other than [F.135.a] not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the noble eightfold path’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.610 “They do not observe the truths of the noble ones as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the truths of the noble ones’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the meditative concentrations as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the meditative concentrations’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the immeasurable attitudes as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the immeasurable attitudes’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the formless absorptions as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the formless absorptions’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the liberations as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the liberations’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the serial steps of meditative absorption as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the serial steps of meditative absorption’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the emptiness, signlessness, [F.135.b] and wishlessness gateways to liberation’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the extrasensory powers as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the extrasensory powers’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the meditative stabilities as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the meditative stabilities’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the dhāraṇī gateways as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the dhāraṇī gateways’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the ten powers of the tathāgatas as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the powers of the tathāgatas’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the four fearlessnesses as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the fearlessnesses’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the four kinds of exact knowledge as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the kinds of exact knowledge’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe great loving kindness as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘great loving kindness’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe great compassion as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ [F.136.a] and ‘great compassion’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the distinct qualities of the buddhas’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.611 “They do not observe omniscience as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘omniscience’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe the knowledge of the aspects of the path as other than not having come into being. Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘the knowledge of the aspects of the path’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two. They do not observe all-aspect omniscience as other than not having come into being.

Therefore, these two phenomena—‘that which has not come into being’ and ‘all-aspect omniscience’—are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

12.612 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is for this reason that one cannot apprehend such bodhisattvas who are practicing for enlightenment as other than not having come into being.

12.613 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, you also said, ‘Why do you say, “If, when such teachings are given, the bodhisattva great beings are not afraid, not frightened, and not terrified, then these bodhisattva great beings are practicing the perfection of wisdom”?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because bodhisattva great beings observe all phenomena without activity.<sup>605</sup> They observe all phenomena to resemble a dream, observe all phenomena to resemble a magical [F.136.b] display, observe all phenomena to resemble a mirage, observe all phenomena to resemble an echo, observe all phenomena to resemble an optical aberration, and observe all phenomena to resemble a magical display. It is for this reason that when bodhisattva great beings are practicing the perfection of wisdom, they are not afraid, not frightened, and not terrified upon hearing this teaching.”

12.614 Then the venerable Subhūti said to the Blessed One, “Blessed Lord, when bodhisattva great beings practice the perfection of wisdom and investigate those phenomena accordingly, at that time they do not apprehend physical forms; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as ‘physical forms.’ At that time they do not apprehend feelings; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as ‘feelings.’ At that time they do not apprehend perceptions; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as ‘perceptions.’ At that time they do not apprehend formative predispositions; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as ‘formative predispositions.’ At that time they do not apprehend consciousness; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘consciousness.’

12.615 “At that time they do not apprehend the eyes; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as ‘the eyes.’ At that time they do not apprehend the ears; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as ‘the ears.’ At that time they do not apprehend the nose; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘the nose.’ At that time they do not apprehend the tongue; they do not grasp, [F.137.a] do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘the tongue.’ At that time they do not apprehend the body; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as 'the body.' At that time they do not apprehend the mental faculty; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as 'the mental faculty.'

12.616 "At that time they do not apprehend sights; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as 'sights.' At that time they do not apprehend sounds; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as 'sounds.' At that time they do not apprehend odors; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as 'odors.' At that time they do not apprehend tastes; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as 'tastes.' At that time they do not apprehend tangibles; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as 'tangibles.' At that time they do not apprehend mental phenomena; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as 'mental phenomena.'

12.617 At that time they do not apprehend visual consciousness; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as 'visual consciousness.' At that time they do not apprehend auditory consciousness; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as 'auditory consciousness.' At that time they do not apprehend olfactory consciousness; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as 'olfactory consciousness.' At that time they do not apprehend gustatory consciousness; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, [F.137.b] and do not designate it as 'gustatory consciousness.' At that time they do not apprehend tactile consciousness; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as 'tactile consciousness.' At that time they do not apprehend mental consciousness; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as 'mental consciousness.'

12.618 "At that time they do not apprehend visually compounded sensory contact; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as 'this is visually compounded sensory contact.' At that time they do not apprehend aurally compounded sensory contact; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as 'aurally compounded sensory contact.' At that time they do not apprehend nasally compounded sensory contact; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as 'nasally compounded sensory contact.' At that time they do not apprehend lingually compounded sensory contact; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as 'lingually compounded sensory contact.' At that time they do not apprehend corporeally compounded sensory contact; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as 'corporeally compounded sensory contact.' At that time they do not apprehend mentally compounded sensory contact; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as 'mentally compounded sensory contact.'

12.619 "At that time they do not apprehend feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as 'feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact.' At that time they do not apprehend feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as 'feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact.' [F.138.a] At that time they do not apprehend feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as 'feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact.' At that time they do not apprehend feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as 'feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact.' At that time they do not apprehend feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as 'feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact.' At that time they do not apprehend feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as 'feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact.'

12.620 "At that time they do not apprehend the earth element; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as 'the earth element.' At that time they do not apprehend the water element; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as 'the water element.' At that time they do not apprehend the fire element; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as 'the fire element.' At that time they do not apprehend the wind element; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as 'the wind element.' At that time they do not apprehend the space element; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as 'the space element.' At that time they do not apprehend the consciousness element; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as 'the consciousness element.'

12.621 “At that time they do not apprehend ignorance; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not [F.138.b] designate it as ‘ignorance.’ At that time they do not apprehend formative predispositions; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as ‘formative predispositions.’ At that time they do not apprehend consciousness; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘consciousness.’ At that time they do not apprehend name and form; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as ‘name and form.’ At that time they do not apprehend the six sense fields; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as ‘the six sense fields.’ At that time they do not apprehend sensory contact; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘sensory contact.’ At that time they do not apprehend sensation; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘sensation.’ At that time they do not apprehend craving; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘craving.’ At that time they do not apprehend grasping; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘grasping.’ At that time they do not apprehend the rebirth process; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘the rebirth process.’ At that time they do not apprehend birth; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘birth.’ At that time they do not apprehend aging and death; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as ‘aging and death.’

12.622 “Blessed Lord, when bodhisattva great beings practice the perfection of wisdom and investigate [F.139.a] those phenomena accordingly, at that time they do not apprehend the perfection of generosity; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘the perfection of generosity.’ At that time they do not apprehend the perfection of ethical discipline; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘the perfection of ethical discipline.’ At that time they do not apprehend the perfection of tolerance; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘the perfection of tolerance.’ At that time they do not apprehend the perfection of perseverance; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘the perfection of perseverance.’ At that time they do not apprehend the perfection of meditative concentration; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘the perfection of meditative concentration.’ At that time they do not apprehend the perfection of wisdom; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘the perfection of wisdom.’

12.623 “At that time they do not apprehend the emptiness of internal phenomena; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘the emptiness of internal phenomena.’ At that time they do not apprehend the emptiness of external phenomena; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘the emptiness of external phenomena.’ At that time they do not apprehend the emptiness of external and internal phenomena; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘the emptiness of external and internal phenomena.’ At that time they do not apprehend the emptiness of emptiness; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘the emptiness of emptiness.’ At that time they do not apprehend the emptiness of great extent; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, [F.139.b] are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘the emptiness of great extent.’ At that time they do not apprehend the emptiness of ultimate reality; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘the emptiness of ultimate reality.’ At that time they do not apprehend the emptiness of conditioned phenomena; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘the emptiness of conditioned phenomena.’ At that time they do not apprehend the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena.’ At that time they do not apprehend the emptiness of the unlimited; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘the emptiness of the unlimited.’ At that time they do not apprehend the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end.’ At that time they do not apprehend the emptiness of nonexclusion; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘the emptiness of nonexclusion.’ At that time they do not apprehend the emptiness of inherent nature; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘the emptiness of inherent nature.’ At that time they do not apprehend the emptiness of all phenomena; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘the emptiness of all phenomena.’ At that time they do not apprehend the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics.’ At that time they do not apprehend the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate [F.140.a] it 'the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended.' At that time they do not apprehend the emptiness of nonentities; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as 'the emptiness of nonentities.' At that time they do not apprehend the emptiness of essential nature; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as 'the emptiness of essential nature.' At that time they do not apprehend the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as 'the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities.'

12.624 "Blessed Lord, when bodhisattva great beings practice the perfection of wisdom and investigate those phenomena accordingly, at that time they do not apprehend the applications of mindfulness; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as 'the applications of mindfulness.' At that time they do not apprehend the correct exertions; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as 'the correct exertions.' At that time they do not apprehend the supports for miraculous ability; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as 'the supports for miraculous ability.' At that time they do not apprehend the faculties; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as 'the faculties.' At that time they do not apprehend the powers; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as 'the powers.' At that time they do not apprehend the branches of enlightenment; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as 'the branches of enlightenment.' [F.140.b] At that time they do not apprehend the noble eightfold path; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as 'the noble eightfold path.'

12.625 "At that time they do not apprehend the truths of the noble ones; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as 'the truths of the noble ones.' At that time they do not apprehend the meditative concentrations; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as 'the meditative concentrations.' At that time they do not apprehend the immeasurable attitudes; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as 'the immeasurable attitudes.' At that time they do not apprehend the formless absorptions; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as 'the formless absorptions.' At that time they do not apprehend the liberations; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as 'the eight liberations.' At that time they do not apprehend the serial steps of meditative absorption; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as ‘the nine serial steps of meditative absorption.’ At that time they do not apprehend the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as ‘the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation.’ At that time they do not apprehend the extrasensory powers; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as ‘the extrasensory powers.’ At that time they do not apprehend the meditative stabilities; they do not grasp, [F.141.a] do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as ‘the meditative stabilities.’ At that time they do not apprehend the dhāraṇī gateways; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as ‘the dhāraṇī gateways.’ At that time they do not apprehend the powers of the tathāgatas; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as ‘the ten powers of the tathāgatas.’ At that time they do not apprehend the fearlessnesses; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as ‘the four fearlessnesses.’ At that time they do not apprehend the kinds of exact knowledge; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as ‘the four kinds of exact knowledge.’ At that time they do not apprehend great loving kindness; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘great loving kindness.’ At that time they do not apprehend great compassion; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate it as ‘great compassion.’ At that time they do not apprehend the distinct qualities of the buddhas; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, are not fixated on, and do not designate them as ‘the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas.’ [B9]

12.626 “Moreover, Blessed Lord, when bodhisattva great beings practice the perfection of wisdom, they do not apprehend the meditative stabilities and the dhāraṇī gateways; they do not grasp, do not dwell on, [F.141.b] are not fixated on, and do not designate them as ‘the meditative stabilities and the dhāraṇī gateways.’ If you ask why, it is because, when bodhisattva great beings practice the perfection of wisdom, they do not observe physical forms, do not observe feelings, do not observe perceptions, do not observe formative predispositions, and do not observe consciousness; they do not observe the eyes, do not observe the ears, do not observe the nose, do not observe the tongue, do not observe the body, and do not observe the mental faculty; they do not observe sights, do not observe sounds, do not observe odors, do not observe tastes, do not observe tangibles, and do not observe mental phenomena; they do not observe visual consciousness, do not observe auditory consciousness, do not observe olfactory consciousness, do not observe gustatory consciousness, do not observe tactile consciousness, and do not observe mental consciousness; they do not observe visually compounded sensory contact, do not observe aurally compounded sensory contact, do not observe nasally compounded sensory contact, do not observe lingually compounded sensory contact, do not observe corporeally compounded sensory contact, and do not observe mentally compounded sensory contact; they do not observe feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, do not observe feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, do not observe feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, do not observe feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact, do not observe [F.142.a] feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact, and do not observe feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact; they do not observe the earth element, do not observe the water element, do not observe the fire element, do not observe the wind element, do not observe the space element, and do not observe the consciousness element; and they do not observe ignorance, do not observe formative predispositions, do not observe consciousness, do not observe name and form, do not observe the six sense fields, do not observe sensory contact, do not observe sensation, do not observe craving, do not observe grasping, do not observe the rebirth process, do not observe birth, and do not observe aging and death.

12.627 “They do not observe the perfection of generosity, do not observe the perfection of ethical discipline, do not observe the perfection of tolerance, do not observe the perfection of perseverance, do not observe the perfection of meditative concentration, and do not observe the perfection of wisdom; they do not observe the emptiness of internal phenomena, do not observe the emptiness of external phenomena, do not observe the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, do not observe the emptiness of emptiness, do not observe the emptiness of great extent, do not observe the emptiness of ultimate reality, do not observe the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, do not observe the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, do not observe the emptiness of the unlimited, [F.142.b] do not observe the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, do not observe the emptiness of nonexclusion, do not observe the emptiness of inherent nature, do not observe the emptiness of all phenomena, do not observe the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, do not observe the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, do not observe the emptiness of nonentities, do not observe the emptiness of essential nature, and do not observe the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities; they do not observe the applications of mindfulness, do not observe the correct exertions, do not observe the supports for miraculous ability, do not observe the faculties, do not observe the powers, do not observe the branches of enlightenment, and do not observe the noble eightfold path; they do not observe the truths of the noble ones, do not observe the meditative concentrations, do not observe the immeasurable attitudes, do not observe the formless absorptions, do not observe the eight liberations, do not observe the nine serial steps of meditative absorption, do not observe the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation, do not observe the extrasensory powers, do not observe the meditative stabilities, do not observe the dhāraṇī gateways, do not observe the ten powers of the tathāgatas, do not observe the four fearlessnesses, do not observe the four kinds of [F.143.a] exact knowledge, do not observe great loving kindness, do not observe great compassion, and do not observe the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas; and they do not observe omniscience, do not observe the knowledge of the aspects of the path, and do not observe all-aspect omniscience.

12.628     “If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because that nonarising of physical forms is not physical forms, therefore physical forms and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of physical forms is not physical forms. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of feelings is not feelings, therefore feelings and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of feelings is not feelings. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of perceptions is not perceptions, therefore perceptions and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of perceptions is not perceptions. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of formative predispositions is not formative predispositions, therefore formative predispositions and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because [F.143.b] nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of formative predispositions is not formative predispositions. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of consciousness is not consciousness, therefore consciousness and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of consciousness is not consciousness.

12.629 “Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the eyes is not the eyes, therefore the eyes and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the eyes is not the eyes. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the ears is not the ears, therefore the ears and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the ears is not the ears. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the nose is not the nose, therefore the nose and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the nose is not the nose. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the tongue is not the tongue, therefore the tongue and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If one were to ask [F.144.a] why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the tongue is not the tongue. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the body is not the body, therefore the body and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the body is not the body. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the mental faculty is not the mental faculty, therefore the mental faculty and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the mental faculty is not the mental faculty.

12.630 “Blessed Lord, that nonarising of sights is not sights, therefore sights and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of sights is not sights. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of sounds is not sounds, therefore sounds and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of sounds is not sounds. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of odors is not odors, therefore odors and nonarising [F.144.b] are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of odors is not odors. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of sounds is not sounds, therefore sounds and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of sounds is not sounds. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of tastes is not tastes, therefore tastes and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of tastes is not tastes. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of tangibles is not tangibles, therefore tangibles and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of tangibles is not tangibles. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of mental objects is not mental objects, therefore mental objects and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of mental objects is not mental objects.

12.631 “Blessed Lord, that nonarising of visual consciousness is not visual consciousness, therefore visual consciousness and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of visual consciousness [F.145.a] is not visual consciousness. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of auditory consciousness is not auditory consciousness, therefore auditory consciousness and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of auditory consciousness is not auditory consciousness. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of olfactory consciousness is not olfactory consciousness, therefore olfactory consciousness and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of olfactory consciousness is not olfactory consciousness. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of gustatory consciousness is not gustatory consciousness, therefore gustatory consciousness and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of gustatory consciousness is not gustatory consciousness. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of tactile consciousness is not tactile consciousness, therefore tactile consciousness and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, [F.145.b] is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of tactile consciousness is not tactile consciousness. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of mental consciousness is not mental consciousness, therefore mental consciousness and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of mental consciousness is not mental consciousness.

12.632 “Blessed Lord, that nonarising of visually compounded sensory contact is not visually compounded sensory contact, therefore visually compounded sensory contact and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of visually compounded sensory contact is not visually compounded sensory contact. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of aurally compounded sensory contact is not aurally compounded sensory contact, therefore aurally compounded sensory contact and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of aurally compounded sensory contact is not aurally compounded sensory contact. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of nasally compounded sensory contact is not nasally compounded sensory contact, therefore nasally compounded sensory contact and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, [F.146.a] is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of nasally compounded sensory contact is not nasally compounded sensory contact. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of lingually compounded sensory contact is not lingually compounded sensory contact, therefore lingually compounded sensory contact and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of lingually compounded sensory contact is not lingually compounded sensory contact. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of corporeally compounded sensory contact is not corporeally compounded sensory contact, therefore corporeally compounded sensory contact and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of corporeally compounded sensory contact is not corporeally compounded sensory contact. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of mentally compounded sensory contact is not mentally compounded sensory contact, therefore mentally compounded sensory contact and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of mentally compounded sensory contact is not mentally compounded sensory contact.

12.633 “Blessed Lord, that nonarising of feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, therefore feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If one were [F.146.b] to ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, therefore feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, therefore feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact, therefore feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of feelings conditioned by lingually compounded [F.147.a] sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact, therefore feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact, therefore feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact.

12.634 “Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the earth element is not the earth element, therefore the earth element and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the earth element is not the earth element. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the water element is not the water element, therefore the water element and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. [F.147.b] If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the water element is not the water element. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the fire element is not the fire element, therefore the fire element and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the fire element is not the fire element. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the wind element is not the wind element, therefore the wind element and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the wind element is not the wind element. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the space element is not the space element, therefore the space element and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two.

If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the space element is not the space element. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the consciousness element is not the consciousness element, therefore the consciousness element and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising [F.148.a] is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the consciousness element is not the consciousness element.

12.635 “Blessed Lord, that nonarising of ignorance is not ignorance, therefore ignorance and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of ignorance is not ignorance. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of formative predispositions is not formative predispositions, therefore formative predispositions and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of formative predispositions is not formative predispositions. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of consciousness is not consciousness, therefore consciousness and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of consciousness is not consciousness. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of name and form is not name and form, therefore name and form and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of name and form [F.148.b] is not name and form. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the six sense fields is not the six sense fields, therefore the six sense fields and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the six sense fields is not the six sense fields. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of sensory contact is not sensory contact, therefore sensory contact and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of sensory contact is not sensory contact. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of sensation is not sensation, therefore sensation and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of sensation is not sensation. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of craving is not craving, therefore craving and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of grasping is not grasping. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of grasping is not grasping, therefore grasping and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, [F.149.a] it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the rebirth process is not the rebirth process, therefore the rebirth process and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the rebirth process is not the rebirth process. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of birth is not birth, therefore birth and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of birth is not birth. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of aging and death is not aging and death, therefore aging and death and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of aging and death is not aging and death.

12.636 “Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the perfection of generosity is not the perfection of generosity, therefore the perfection of generosity and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the perfection of generosity [F.149.b] is not the perfection of generosity. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the perfection of ethical discipline is not the perfection of ethical discipline, therefore the perfection of ethical discipline and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the perfection of ethical discipline is not the perfection of ethical discipline. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the perfection of tolerance is not the perfection of tolerance, therefore the perfection of tolerance and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed

Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the perfection of tolerance is not the perfection of tolerance. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the perfection of perseverance is not the perfection of perseverance, therefore the perfection of perseverance and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the perfection of perseverance is not the perfection of perseverance. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the perfection of meditative concentration is not the perfection of meditative concentration, therefore the perfection of meditative concentration and nonarising are without duality and cannot be [F.150.a] divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the perfection of meditative concentration is not the perfection of meditative concentration. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the perfection of wisdom is not the perfection of wisdom, therefore the perfection of wisdom and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the perfection of wisdom is not the perfection of wisdom.

12.637 “Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the emptiness of internal phenomena is not the emptiness of internal phenomena, therefore the emptiness of internal phenomena and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the emptiness of internal phenomena is not the emptiness of internal phenomena. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the emptiness of external phenomena is not the emptiness of external phenomena, therefore the emptiness of external phenomena and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the emptiness of external phenomena is not the emptiness of external phenomena. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is not the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, therefore the emptiness of external and internal phenomena [F.150.b] and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is not the emptiness of external and internal phenomena. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the emptiness of emptiness is not the emptiness of emptiness, therefore the emptiness of emptiness and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the emptiness of emptiness is not the emptiness of emptiness. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the emptiness of great extent is not the emptiness of great extent, therefore the emptiness of great extent and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the emptiness of great extent is not the emptiness of great extent. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the emptiness of ultimate reality is not the emptiness of ultimate reality, therefore the emptiness of ultimate reality and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the emptiness of ultimate reality is not the emptiness of ultimate reality. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is not the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, therefore the [F.151.a] emptiness of conditioned phenomena and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is not the emptiness of conditioned phenomena. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is not the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, therefore the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is not the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the emptiness of the unlimited is not the emptiness of the unlimited, therefore the emptiness of the unlimited and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the emptiness of the unlimited is not the emptiness of the unlimited. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is not the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, therefore the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end [F.151.b] is not the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the emptiness of nonexclusion is not the emptiness of nonexclusion, therefore the emptiness of nonexclusion and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the emptiness of nonexclusion is not the emptiness of nonexclusion. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the emptiness of inherent nature is not the emptiness of inherent nature, therefore the emptiness of inherent nature and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the emptiness of inherent nature is not the emptiness of inherent nature. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the emptiness of all phenomena is not the emptiness of all phenomena, therefore the emptiness of all phenomena and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the emptiness of all phenomena is not the emptiness of all phenomena. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is not the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, therefore the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, [F.152.a] it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is not the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is not the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, therefore the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is not the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the emptiness of nonentities is not the emptiness of nonentities, therefore the emptiness of nonentities and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the emptiness of nonentities is not the emptiness of nonentities. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the emptiness of essential nature is not the emptiness of essential nature, therefore the emptiness of essential nature and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the emptiness of essential nature is not the emptiness of essential nature. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is not the [F.152.b] emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities, therefore the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is not the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities.

12.638 “Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the applications of mindfulness is not the applications of mindfulness, therefore the applications of mindfulness and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the applications of mindfulness is not the applications of mindfulness. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the correct exertions is not the correct exertions, therefore the correct exertions and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the correct exertions is not the correct exertions. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the supports for miraculous ability is not the supports for miraculous ability, therefore the supports for miraculous ability and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the supports for miraculous ability is not [F.153.a] the supports for miraculous ability. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the faculties is not the faculties, therefore the faculties and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the faculties is not the faculties. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the powers is not the powers, therefore the powers and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the powers is not the powers. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the branches of enlightenment is not the branches of enlightenment, therefore the branches of enlightenment and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the branches of enlightenment is not the branches of enlightenment. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the noble eightfold path is not the noble eightfold path, therefore the noble eightfold path and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not [F.153.b] something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the noble eightfold path is not the noble eightfold path.

12.639 “Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the truths of the noble ones is not the truths of the noble ones, therefore the truths of the noble ones and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the truths of the noble ones is not the truths of the noble ones. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the meditative concentrations is not the meditative concentrations, therefore the meditative concentrations and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the meditative concentrations is not the meditative concentrations. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the immeasurable attitudes is not the immeasurable attitudes, therefore the immeasurable attitudes and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the immeasurable attitudes is not the immeasurable attitudes. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the formless absorptions is not the formless absorptions, therefore the formless absorptions and nonarising are without duality and cannot [F.154.a] be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the formless absorptions is not the formless absorptions. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the liberations is not the liberations, therefore the liberations and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the liberations is not the liberations. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the serial steps of meditative absorption is not the serial steps of meditative absorption, therefore the serial steps of meditative absorption and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the serial steps of meditative absorption is not the serial steps of meditative absorption. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation is not the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation, therefore the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, [F.154.b] Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation is not the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the extrasensory powers is not the extrasensory powers, therefore the extrasensory powers and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the extrasensory powers is not the extrasensory powers. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the meditative stabilities is not the meditative stabilities, therefore the meditative stabilities and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the meditative stabilities is not the meditative stabilities. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the dhāraṇī gateways is not the dhāraṇī gateways, therefore the dhāraṇī gateways and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the dhāraṇī gateways is not the dhāraṇī gateways. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the powers of the tathāgatas is not the powers of the tathāgatas, therefore the powers of the tathāgatas [F.155.a] and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the powers of the tathāgatas is not the powers of the tathāgatas. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the fearlessnesses is not the fearlessnesses, therefore the fearlessnesses and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the fearlessnesses is not the fearlessnesses. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the kinds of exact knowledge is not the kinds of exact knowledge, therefore the kinds of exact knowledge and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the kinds of exact knowledge is not the kinds of exact knowledge. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of great loving kindness is not great loving kindness, therefore great loving kindness and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of great loving kindness is not great loving kindness. [F.155.b] Blessed Lord, that nonarising of great compassion is not great compassion, therefore great compassion and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of great compassion is not great compassion. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas is not the distinct qualities of the buddhas, therefore the distinct qualities of the buddhas and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the distinct qualities of the buddhas is not the distinct qualities of the buddhas.

12.640 “Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the real nature is not the real nature, therefore the real nature and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the real nature is not the real nature. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the reality of phenomena is not the reality of phenomena, therefore the reality of phenomena and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the reality of phenomena is not the reality of phenomena. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the realm of phenomena [F.156.a] is not the realm of phenomena, therefore the realm of phenomena and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the realm of phenomena is not the realm of phenomena. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the maturity of phenomena is not the maturity of phenomena, therefore the maturity of phenomena and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because

nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the maturity of phenomena is not the maturity of phenomena. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the very limit of reality is not the very limit of reality, therefore the very limit of reality and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the very limit of reality is not the very limit of reality. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the realm of the inconceivable is not the realm of the inconceivable, therefore the realm of the inconceivable and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the realm of the inconceivable is not the realm of the inconceivable. Blessed Lord, that [F.156.b] nonarising of omniscience is not omniscience, therefore omniscience and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of omniscience is not omniscience. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of the knowledge of the aspects of the path is not the knowledge of the aspects of the path, therefore the knowledge of the aspects of the path and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of the knowledge of the aspects of the path is not the knowledge of the aspects of the path. Blessed Lord, that nonarising of all-aspect omniscience is not all-aspect omniscience, therefore all-aspect omniscience and nonarising are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because nonarising is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the nonarising of all-aspect omniscience is not all-aspect omniscience. [B10]

12.641 “If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because that perishing of physical forms is not physical forms, therefore physical forms and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not [F.157.a] something different. For that reason, the perishing of physical forms is not physical forms. Blessed Lord, that perishing of feelings is not feelings, therefore feelings and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of feelings is not feelings. Blessed Lord, that perishing of perceptions is not perceptions, therefore perceptions and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of perceptions is not perceptions. Blessed Lord, that perishing of formative predispositions is not formative predispositions, therefore formative predispositions and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of formative predispositions is not formative predispositions. Blessed Lord, that perishing of consciousness is not consciousness, therefore consciousness and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of consciousness is not consciousness.

12.642 “Blessed Lord, that perishing of the eyes is not the eyes, therefore the eyes and perishing are without duality and cannot [F.157.b] be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the eyes is not the eyes. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the ears is not the ears, therefore the ears and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the ears is not the ears. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the nose is not the nose, therefore the nose and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the nose is not the nose. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the tongue is not the tongue, therefore the tongue and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the tongue is not the tongue. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the body is not the body, therefore the body and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the body is not the body. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the mental faculty is not the mental faculty, therefore the mental faculty and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed [F.158.a] Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the mental faculty is not the mental faculty.

12.643 “Blessed Lord, that perishing of sights is not sights, therefore sights and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of sights is not sights. Blessed Lord, that perishing of sounds is not sounds, therefore sounds and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of sounds is not sounds. Blessed Lord, that perishing of odors is not odors, therefore odors and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of odors is not odors. Blessed Lord, that perishing of sounds is not sounds, therefore sounds and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of sounds is not sounds. Blessed Lord, that perishing of tastes is not tastes, therefore tastes and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of tastes is not tastes. Blessed Lord, that perishing of tangibles is not tangibles, therefore tangibles and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of tangibles [F.158.b] is not tangibles. Blessed Lord, that perishing of mental objects is not mental objects, therefore mental objects and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of mental objects is not mental objects.

12.644 “Blessed Lord, that perishing of visual consciousness is not visual consciousness, therefore visual consciousness and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of visual consciousness is not visual consciousness. Blessed Lord, that perishing of auditory consciousness is not auditory consciousness, therefore auditory consciousness and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed

Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of auditory consciousness is not auditory consciousness. Blessed Lord, that perishing of olfactory consciousness is not olfactory consciousness, therefore olfactory consciousness and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of olfactory consciousness is not olfactory consciousness. Blessed Lord, that perishing of gustatory [F.159.a] consciousness is not gustatory consciousness, therefore gustatory consciousness and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of gustatory consciousness is not gustatory consciousness. Blessed Lord, that perishing of tactile consciousness is not tactile consciousness, therefore tactile consciousness and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of tactile consciousness is not tactile consciousness. Blessed Lord, that perishing of mental consciousness is not mental consciousness, therefore mental consciousness and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of mental consciousness is not mental consciousness.

12.645 “Blessed Lord, that perishing of visually compounded sensory contact is not visually compounded sensory contact, therefore visually compounded sensory contact and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of visually compounded sensory contact is not visually compounded sensory contact. Blessed Lord, [F.159.b] that perishing of aurally compounded sensory contact is not aurally compounded sensory contact, therefore aurally compounded sensory contact and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of aurally compounded sensory contact is not aurally compounded sensory contact. Blessed Lord, that perishing of nasally compounded sensory contact is not nasally compounded sensory contact, therefore nasally compounded sensory contact and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of nasally compounded sensory contact is not nasally compounded sensory contact. Blessed Lord, that perishing of lingually compounded sensory contact is not lingually compounded sensory contact, therefore lingually compounded sensory contact and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of lingually compounded sensory contact is not lingually compounded sensory contact. Blessed Lord, that perishing of corporeally compounded sensory contact is not corporeally compounded sensory contact, therefore corporeally compounded sensory contact and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of corporeally compounded sensory contact is not corporeally compounded sensory contact. Blessed Lord, that perishing of mentally compounded sensory contact is not mentally compounded sensory [F.160.a] contact, therefore mentally compounded sensory contact and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of mentally compounded sensory contact is not mentally compounded sensory contact.

12.646 “Blessed Lord, that perishing of feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, therefore feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact. Blessed Lord, that perishing of feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, therefore feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact. Blessed Lord, that perishing of feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, therefore feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, [F.160.b] is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact. Blessed Lord, that perishing of feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact, therefore feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact. Blessed Lord, that perishing of feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact, therefore feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact. Blessed Lord, that perishing of feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact, therefore feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact is not [F.161.a] feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact.

12.647 “Blessed Lord, that perishing of the earth element is not the earth element, therefore the earth element and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the earth element is not the earth element. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the water element is not the water element, therefore the water element and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the water element is not the water element. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the fire element is not the fire element, therefore the fire element and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the fire element is not the fire element. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the wind element is not the wind element, therefore the wind element and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the wind element is not the wind element. Blessed Lord, that perishing [F.161.b] of the space element is not the space element, therefore the space element and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the space element is not the space element. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the consciousness element is not the consciousness element, therefore the consciousness element and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the consciousness element is not the consciousness element.

12.648 “Blessed Lord, that perishing of ignorance is not ignorance, therefore ignorance and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of ignorance is not ignorance. Blessed Lord, that perishing of formative predispositions is not formative predispositions, therefore formative predispositions and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of formative predispositions is not formative predispositions. Blessed Lord, that perishing of consciousness is not consciousness, therefore consciousness and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, [F.162.a] Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of consciousness is not consciousness. Blessed Lord, that perishing of name and form is not name and form, therefore name and form and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of name and form is not name and form. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the six sense fields is not the six sense fields, therefore the six sense fields and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the six sense fields is not the six sense fields. Blessed Lord, that perishing of sensory contact is not sensory contact, therefore sensory contact and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of sensory contact is not sensory contact. Blessed Lord, that perishing of sensation is not sensation, therefore sensation and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of sensation [F.162.b] is not sensation. Blessed Lord, that perishing of craving is not craving, therefore craving and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of craving is not craving. Blessed Lord, that perishing of grasping is not grasping, therefore grasping and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of grasping is not grasping. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the rebirth process is not the rebirth process, therefore the rebirth process and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the rebirth process is not the rebirth process. Blessed Lord, that perishing of birth is not birth, therefore birth and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of birth is not birth. Blessed Lord, that perishing of aging and death is not aging and death, therefore aging and death and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not [F.163.a] many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of aging and death is not aging and death.

12.649 “Blessed Lord, that perishing of the perfection of generosity is not the perfection of generosity, therefore the perfection of generosity and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the perfection of generosity is not the perfection of generosity. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the perfection of ethical discipline is not the perfection of ethical discipline, therefore the perfection of ethical discipline and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the perfection of ethical discipline is not the perfection of ethical discipline. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the perfection of tolerance is not the perfection of tolerance, therefore the perfection of tolerance and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the perfection of tolerance is not the perfection of tolerance. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the perfection of perseverance is not the perfection of perseverance, therefore the perfection of perseverance and perishing are without duality and cannot [F.163.b] be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the perfection of perseverance is not the perfection of perseverance. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the perfection of meditative concentration is not the perfection of meditative concentration, therefore the perfection of meditative concentration and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the perfection of meditative concentration is not the perfection of meditative concentration. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the perfection of wisdom is not the perfection of wisdom, therefore the perfection of wisdom and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the perfection of wisdom is not the perfection of wisdom.

12.650 “Blessed Lord, that perishing of the emptiness of internal phenomena is not the emptiness of internal phenomena, therefore the emptiness of internal phenomena and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the emptiness of internal phenomena is not the emptiness of internal phenomena. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the emptiness of external phenomena is not the emptiness of external phenomena, therefore the emptiness of external phenomena and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the emptiness of external phenomena is not the emptiness of external phenomena. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is not the [F.164.a] emptiness of external and internal phenomena, therefore the emptiness of external and internal phenomena and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is not the emptiness of external and internal phenomena. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the emptiness of emptiness is not the emptiness of emptiness, therefore the emptiness of emptiness and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the emptiness of emptiness is not the emptiness of emptiness. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the emptiness of great extent is not the emptiness of great extent, therefore the emptiness of great extent and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the emptiness of great extent is not the emptiness of great extent. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the emptiness of ultimate reality is not the emptiness of ultimate reality, [F.164.b] therefore the emptiness of ultimate reality and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the emptiness of ultimate reality is not the emptiness of ultimate reality. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is not the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, therefore the emptiness of conditioned phenomena and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is not the emptiness of conditioned phenomena. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is not the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, therefore the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is not the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the emptiness of the unlimited is not the emptiness of the unlimited, therefore the emptiness of the unlimited and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the emptiness of the unlimited is not the emptiness of the unlimited. Blessed [F.165.a] Lord, that perishing of the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is not the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, therefore the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is not the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the emptiness of nonexclusion is not the emptiness of nonexclusion, therefore the emptiness of nonexclusion and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the emptiness of nonexclusion is not the emptiness of nonexclusion. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the emptiness of inherent nature is not the emptiness of inherent nature, therefore the emptiness of inherent nature and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the emptiness of inherent nature is not the emptiness of inherent nature. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the emptiness of all phenomena is not the emptiness of all phenomena, therefore the emptiness of all phenomena and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, [F.165.b] the perishing of the emptiness of all phenomena is not the emptiness of all phenomena. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is not the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, therefore the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is not the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is not the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, therefore the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is not the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the emptiness of nonentities is not the emptiness of nonentities, therefore the emptiness of nonentities and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the emptiness of nonentities is not the emptiness of nonentities. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the emptiness of essential nature is not the emptiness of essential nature, therefore the emptiness of essential nature and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, [F.166.a] is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the emptiness of essential nature is not the emptiness of essential nature. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is not the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities, therefore the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is not the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities.

12.651 “Blessed Lord, that perishing of the applications of mindfulness is not the applications of mindfulness, therefore the applications of mindfulness and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the applications of mindfulness is not the applications of mindfulness. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the correct exertions is not the correct exertions, therefore the correct exertions and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the correct exertions is not the correct exertions. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the supports for miraculous ability is not the supports for miraculous ability, therefore [F.166.b] the supports for miraculous ability and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the supports for miraculous ability is not the supports for miraculous ability. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the faculties is not the faculties, therefore the faculties and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different.

For that reason, the perishing of the faculties is not the faculties. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the powers is not the powers, therefore the powers and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the powers is not the powers. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the branches of enlightenment is not the branches of enlightenment, therefore the branches of enlightenment and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the branches of enlightenment is not the branches of enlightenment. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the noble eightfold path is not the noble eightfold path, [F.167.a] therefore the noble eightfold path and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the noble eightfold path is not the noble eightfold path.

12.652 “Blessed Lord, that perishing of the truths of the noble ones is not the truths of the noble ones, therefore the truths of the noble ones and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the truths of the noble ones is not the truths of the noble ones. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the meditative concentrations is not the meditative concentrations, therefore the meditative concentrations and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the meditative concentrations is not the meditative concentrations. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the immeasurable attitudes is not the immeasurable attitudes, therefore the immeasurable attitudes and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the immeasurable attitudes is not the immeasurable attitudes. Blessed Lord, [F.167.b] that perishing of the formless absorptions is not the formless absorptions, therefore the formless absorptions and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the formless absorptions is not the formless absorptions. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the liberations is not the liberations, therefore the liberations and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the liberations is not the liberations. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the serial steps of meditative absorption is not the serial steps of meditative absorption, therefore the serial steps of meditative absorption and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the serial steps of meditative absorption is not the serial steps of meditative absorption. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation is not the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation, therefore the emptiness, signlessness, [F.168.a] and wishlessness gateways to liberation and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation is not the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the extrasensory powers is not the extrasensory powers, therefore the extrasensory powers and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the extrasensory powers is not the extrasensory powers. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the meditative stabilities is not the meditative stabilities, therefore the meditative stabilities and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the meditative stabilities is not the meditative stabilities. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the dhāraṇī gateways is not the dhāraṇī gateways, therefore the dhāraṇī gateways and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the dhāraṇī [F.168.b] gateways is not the dhāraṇī gateways. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the powers of the tathāgatas is not the powers of the tathāgatas, therefore the powers of the tathāgatas and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the powers of the tathāgatas is not the powers of the tathāgatas. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the fearlessnesses is not the fearlessnesses, therefore the fearlessnesses and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the fearlessnesses is not the fearlessnesses. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the kinds of exact knowledge is not the kinds of exact knowledge, therefore the kinds of exact knowledge and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the kinds of exact knowledge is not the kinds of exact knowledge. Blessed Lord, that perishing of great loving kindness is not great loving kindness, therefore great loving kindness and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If one were to ask [F.169.a] why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of great loving kindness is not great loving kindness. Blessed Lord, that perishing of great compassion is not great compassion, therefore great compassion and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of great compassion is not great compassion. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas is not the distinct qualities of the buddhas, therefore the distinct qualities of the buddhas and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the distinct qualities of the buddhas is not the distinct qualities of the buddhas.

12.653 “Blessed Lord, that perishing of omniscience is not omniscience,<sup>606</sup> therefore omniscience and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of omniscience is not omniscience. Blessed Lord, that perishing of the knowledge of the aspects of the path is not the knowledge of the aspects of the path, therefore the knowledge of the aspects [F.169.b] of the path and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of the knowledge of the aspects of the path is not the knowledge of the aspects of the path. Blessed Lord, that perishing of all-aspect omniscience is not all-aspect omniscience, therefore all-aspect omniscience and perishing are without duality and cannot be divided into two. If you ask why, Blessed

Lord, it is because perishing is not one, is not two, is not many, and is not something different. For that reason, the perishing of all-aspect omniscience is not all-aspect omniscience. [B11]

12.654 “Furthermore, Blessed Lord, that which is called ‘physical forms’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline.<sup>607</sup> That which is called ‘feelings’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called ‘perceptions’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called ‘formative predispositions’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called ‘consciousness’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline.

12.655 “That which is called ‘the eyes’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called ‘the ears’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. [F.170.a] That which is called ‘the nose’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called ‘the tongue’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called ‘the body’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called ‘the mental faculty’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called ‘sights’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called ‘sounds’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called ‘odors’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called ‘tastes’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called ‘tangibles’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called ‘mental phenomena’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called ‘visual consciousness’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called ‘auditory consciousness’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called ‘olfactory consciousness’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called ‘gustatory consciousness’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called ‘tactile consciousness’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. [F.170.b] That which is called ‘mental consciousness’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called ‘visually compounded sensory contact’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called ‘aurally compounded sensory contact’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called ‘nasally compounded sensory contact’ is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'lingually compounded sensory contact' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'corporeally compounded sensory contact' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'mentally compounded sensory contact' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline.

12.656 "That which is called 'the earth element' [F.171.a] is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the water element' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the fire element' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the wind element' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the space element' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the consciousness element' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline.

12.657 "That which is called 'ignorance' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'formative predispositions' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'consciousness' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'name and form' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the six sense fields' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'sensory contact' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'sensation' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'craving' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'grasping' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the rebirth process' [F.171.b] is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'birth' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'aging and death' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline.

12.658 "That which is called 'the perfection of generosity' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the perfection of ethical discipline' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the perfection of tolerance' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the perfection of perseverance' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the perfection of meditative concentration' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the perfection of wisdom' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline.

12.659 "That which is called 'the emptiness of internal phenomena' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the emptiness of external phenomena' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the emptiness of external and internal phenomena' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the emptiness of emptiness' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the emptiness of great extent' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. [F.172.a] That which is called 'the emptiness of ultimate reality' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the emptiness of conditioned phenomena' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the emptiness of the unlimited' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the emptiness of nonexclusion' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the emptiness of inherent nature' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the emptiness of all phenomena' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the emptiness of nonentities' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the emptiness of essential nature' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline.

12.660 "That which is called 'the applications of mindfulness' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. [F.172.b] That which is called 'the correct exertions' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the supports for miraculous ability' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the faculties' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the powers' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the branches of enlightenment' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the noble eightfold path' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline.

12.661 "That which is called 'the truths of the noble ones' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the meditative concentrations' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the immeasurable attitudes' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the formless absorptions' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the liberations' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the serial steps of meditative absorption' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the extrasensory powers' [F.173.a] is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the meditative stabilities' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the dhāraṇī gateways' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the ten powers of the tathāgatas' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the four fearlessnesses' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the four kinds of exact knowledge' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'great compassion' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline.

12.662 "That which is called 'omniscience' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'the knowledge of the aspects of the path' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline. That which is called 'all-aspect omniscience' is counted a phenomenon without duality and without decline."

12.663 This completes the twelfth chapter from The Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand Lines.

13.

CHAPTER 13

13.1 Then the venerable Śāradvatīputra inquired of the venerable Subhūti, “Venerable Subhūti, when bodhisattva great [F.173.b] beings practice the perfection of wisdom, how do they investigate these phenomena? And, Venerable Subhūti, what is a bodhisattva? What is the perfection of wisdom? What is investigation?”

13.2 The venerable Śāradvatīputra having asked this, the venerable Subhūti then replied to him, “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, you said, ‘What is a bodhisattva?’ A being (sattva) is enlightenment (bodhi), and therefore is called a bodhisattva. With that enlightenment they know the aspects of all phenomena, but they are not attached to those phenomena. If you ask which phenomena they know the aspects of, they know the aspects of physical forms, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of feelings, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of perceptions, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of formative predispositions, but they are not attached to them; and they know the aspects of consciousness, but they are not attached to it.

13.3 “They know the aspects of the eyes, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of the ears, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of the nose, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the tongue, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the body, but they are not attached to it; and they know the aspects of the mental faculty, but they are not attached to it. They know the aspects of sights, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of sounds, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of odors, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of tastes, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of tangibles, but they are not attached to them; and they know the aspects of mental phenomena, but they are not attached to them. They know the aspects of visual consciousness, but they are not attached to it; they [F.174.a] know the aspects of auditory consciousness, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of olfactory consciousness, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of gustatory consciousness, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of tactile consciousness, but they are not attached to it; and they know the aspects of mental consciousness, but they are not attached to it. They know the aspects of visually compounded sensory contact, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of aurally compounded sensory contact, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of nasally compounded sensory contact, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of lingually compounded sensory contact, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of corporeally compounded sensory contact, but they are not attached to it; and they know the aspects of mentally compounded sensory contact, but they are not attached to it. They know the aspects of feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact, but they are not attached to them; and they know the aspects of feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact, but they are not attached to them.

13.4      “They know the aspects of the earth element, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the water element, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the fire element, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the wind element, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the space element, but they [F.174.b] are not attached to it; and they know the aspects of the consciousness element, but they are not attached to it.

13.5      “They know the aspects of ignorance, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of formative predispositions, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of consciousness, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of name and form, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of the six sense fields, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of sensory contact, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of sensation, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of craving, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of grasping, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the rebirth process, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of birth, but they are not attached to it; and they know the aspects of aging and death, but they are not attached to them.

13.6 “They know the aspects of the perfection of generosity, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the perfection of ethical discipline, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the perfection of tolerance, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the perfection of perseverance, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the perfection of meditative concentration, but they are not attached to it; and they know the aspects of the perfection of wisdom, but they are not attached to it.

13.7 “They know the aspects of the emptiness of internal phenomena, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the emptiness of external phenomena, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the emptiness of emptiness, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the emptiness of great extent, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the emptiness of ultimate reality, but they are not attached to it; [F.175.a] they know the aspects of the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the emptiness of the unlimited, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the emptiness of nonexclusion, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the emptiness of inherent nature, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the emptiness of all phenomena, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the emptiness of nonentities, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of the emptiness of essential nature, but they are not attached to it; and they know the aspects of the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities, but they are not attached to it.

13.8 “They know the aspects of the applications of mindfulness, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of the correct exertions, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of the supports for miraculous ability, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of the faculties, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of the powers, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of the branches of enlightenment, but they are not attached to them; and they know the aspects of the noble eightfold path, but they are not attached to it.

13.9 “They know the aspects of the truths of the noble ones, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of the meditative concentrations, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of the immeasurable attitudes, but they are not attached to them; [F.175.b] they know the aspects of the formless absorptions, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of the liberations, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of the nine serial steps of meditative absorption, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of the extrasensory powers, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of the meditative stabilities, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of the dhāraṇī gateways, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of the powers of the tathāgatas, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of the fearlessnesses, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of the kinds of exact knowledge, but they are not attached to them; they know the aspects of great loving kindness, but they are not attached to it; they know the aspects of great compassion, but they are not attached to it; and they know the aspects of the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas, but they are not attached to them.”

13.10 Śāradvatīputra asked, “Venerable Subhūti, what aspects do all phenomena come in?”

“Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied the venerable Subhūti, “the aspects, modes, and signs through which phenomena are shaped, namely, the conditioned and unconditioned phenomena, or sights, sounds, odors, tastes, and tangibles, or external and internal phenomena through which they are known—those, the aspects, modes, and signs through which they are shaped, are called ‘the aspects all phenomena come in.’”

13.11 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, you said, ‘What is the perfection of wisdom?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘wisdom gone to the other side’ is the far removed.<sup>608</sup> [F.176.a] If you ask from what it is far removed, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is far removed from the aggregates. That is why it is said to be far removed. It is far removed from the sensory elements. That is why it is said to be far removed. It is far removed from the sense fields. That is why it is said to be far removed. It is far removed from all afflicted mental states. That is why it is said to be far removed. It is far removed from all sorts of opinions. That is why it is said to be far removed. It is far removed from the six classes of living beings. That is why it is said to be far removed.

- 13.12        “It is far removed from the perfection of generosity, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the perfection of ethical discipline, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the perfection of tolerance, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the perfection of perseverance, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the perfection of meditative concentration, so it is said to be far removed; and far removed from the perfection of wisdom so it is said to be far removed.
- 13.13        “It is far removed from the emptiness of internal phenomena, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the emptiness of external phenomena, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the emptiness of emptiness, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the emptiness of great extent, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the emptiness of ultimate reality, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from [F.176.b] the emptiness of the unlimited, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the emptiness of nonexclusion, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the emptiness of inherent nature, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the emptiness of all phenomena, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the emptiness of nonentities, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the emptiness of essential nature, so it is said to be far removed; and far removed from the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities, so it is said to be far removed.
- 13.14        “It is far removed from the applications of mindfulness, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the correct exertions, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the supports for miraculous ability, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the faculties, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the powers, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the branches of enlightenment, so it is said to be far removed; and far removed from the noble eightfold path, so it is said to be far removed.
- 13.15        “It is far removed from the truths of the noble ones, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the meditative concentrations, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the immeasurable attitudes, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the formless [F.177.a] absorptions, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the liberations, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the serial steps of meditative absorption, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the extrasensory powers, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the meditative stabilities, so it is said to be far removed; and far removed from the dhāraṇī gateways, so it is said to be far removed.

13.16 “It is far removed from the powers of the tathāgatas, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the fearlessnesses, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the kinds of exact knowledge, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from great loving kindness, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from great compassion, so it is said to be far removed; and far removed from the distinct qualities of the buddhas, so it is said to be far removed.

13.17 “It is far removed from omniscience, so it is said to be far removed; far removed from the knowledge of the aspects of the path, so it is said to be far removed; and far removed from all-aspect omniscience, so it is said to be far removed. For this reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of wisdom is far removed.

13.18 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra you also said, ‘What is investigation?’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, here, when bodhisattva great beings practice the perfection of wisdom, [F.177.b] they do not investigate whether physical forms are ‘permanent’ or are ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether physical forms are ‘happiness’ or are ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether physical forms are ‘self’ or are ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether physical forms are ‘pleasant’ or are ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether physical forms are ‘empty’ or are ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether physical forms are ‘with signs’ or are ‘signless’; do not investigate whether physical forms are ‘wished for’ or are ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether physical forms are ‘at peace’ or are ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether physical forms are ‘void’ or are ‘not void.’

13.19 “They do not investigate whether feelings are ‘permanent’ or are ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether feelings are ‘happiness’ or are ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether feelings are ‘self’ or are ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether feelings are ‘pleasant’ or are ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether feelings are ‘empty’ or are ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether feelings are ‘with signs’ or are ‘signless’; do not investigate whether feelings are ‘wished for’ or are ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether feelings are ‘at peace’ or are ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether feelings are ‘void’ or are ‘not void.’

- 13.20 “They do not investigate whether perceptions are ‘permanent’ or are ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether perceptions are ‘happiness’ or are ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether perceptions are ‘self’ or are ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether perceptions are ‘pleasant’ or are ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether perceptions are ‘empty’ or are ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether perceptions are ‘with signs’ or are ‘signless’; do not investigate whether perceptions are ‘wished for’ or are ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether perceptions are ‘at peace’ or are [F.178.a] ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether perceptions are ‘void’ or are ‘not void.’
- 13.21 “They do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘permanent’ or are ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘happiness’ or are ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘self’ or are ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘pleasant’ or are ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘empty’ or are ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘with signs’ or are ‘signless’; do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘wished for’ or are ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘at peace’ or are ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘void’ or are ‘not void.’
- 13.22 “They do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘permanent’ or are ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘happiness’ or are ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘self’ or are ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘pleasant’ or are ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘empty’ or are ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘with signs’ or are ‘signless’; do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘wished for’ or are ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘at peace’ or are ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘void’ or are ‘not void.’
- 13.23 “They do not investigate whether consciousness is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether consciousness is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether consciousness is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether consciousness is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether consciousness is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether consciousness is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether consciousness is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether consciousness is ‘at peace’ or is ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether consciousness is ‘void’ or is ‘not void.’

- 13.24 “They do not investigate whether the eyes are ‘permanent’ or are ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the eyes are ‘happiness’ or are ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the eyes are ‘self’ or are ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the eyes are ‘pleasant’ or are ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether [F.178.b] the eyes are ‘empty’ or are ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the eyes are ‘with signs’ or are ‘signless’; do not investigate whether the eyes are ‘wished for’ or are ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether the eyes are ‘at peace’ or are ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether the eyes are ‘void’ or are ‘not void.’
- 13.25 “They do not investigate whether the ears are ‘permanent’ or are ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the ears are ‘happiness’ or are ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the ears are ‘self’ or are ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the ears are ‘pleasant’ or are ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether the ears are ‘empty’ or are ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the ears are ‘with signs’ or are ‘signless’; do not investigate whether the ears are ‘wished for’ or are ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether the ears are ‘at peace’ or are ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether the ears are ‘void’ or are ‘not void.’
- 13.26 “They do not investigate whether the nose is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the nose is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the nose is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the nose is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether the nose is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the nose is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether the nose is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether the nose is ‘at peace’ or is ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether the nose is ‘void’ or is ‘not void.’
- 13.27 “They do not investigate whether the tongue is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the tongue is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the tongue is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the tongue is ‘pleasant’ or is [F.179.a] ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether the tongue is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the tongue is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether the tongue is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether the tongue is ‘at peace’ or is ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether the tongue is ‘void’ or is ‘not void.’
- 13.28 “They do not investigate whether the body is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the body is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the body is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the body is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether the body is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the body is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether the body is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the body is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the body is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.29 "They do not investigate whether the mental faculty is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the mental faculty is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the mental faculty is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the mental faculty is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the mental faculty is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the mental faculty is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether the mental faculty is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the mental faculty is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the mental faculty is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.30 "They do not investigate whether sights are 'permanent' or are 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether sights are 'happiness' or are 'suffering'; [F.179.b] do not investigate whether sights are 'self' or are 'selfless'; do not investigate whether sights are 'pleasant' or are 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether sights are 'empty' or are 'not empty'; do not investigate whether sights are 'with signs' or are 'signless'; do not investigate whether sights are 'wished for' or are 'wishless'; do not investigate whether sights are 'at peace' or are 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether sights are 'void' or are 'not void.'

13.31 "They do not investigate whether sounds are 'permanent' or are 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether sounds are 'happiness' or are 'suffering'; do not investigate whether sounds are 'self' or are 'selfless'; do not investigate whether sounds are 'pleasant' or are 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether sounds are 'empty' or are 'not empty'; do not investigate whether sounds are 'with signs' or are 'signless'; do not investigate whether sounds are 'wished for' or are 'wishless'; do not investigate whether sounds are 'at peace' or are 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether sounds are 'void' or are 'not void.'

13.32 "They do not investigate whether odors are 'permanent' or are 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether odors are 'happiness' or are 'suffering'; do not investigate whether odors are 'self' or are 'selfless'; do not investigate whether odors are 'pleasant' or are 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether odors are 'empty' or are 'not empty'; do not investigate whether odors are 'with signs' or are 'signless'; do not investigate whether odors are 'wished for' or are 'wishless'; do not investigate whether odors are 'at peace' or are 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether odors are 'void' or are 'not void.'

- 13.33 “They do not investigate whether tastes are ‘permanent’ [F.180.a] or are ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether tastes are ‘happiness’ or are ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether tastes are ‘self’ or are ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether tastes are ‘pleasant’ or are ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether tastes are ‘empty’ or are ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether tastes are ‘with signs’ or are ‘signless’; do not investigate whether tastes are ‘wished for’ or are ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether tastes are ‘at peace’ or are ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether tastes are ‘void’ or are ‘not void.’
- 13.34 “They do not investigate whether tangibles are ‘permanent’ or are ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether tangibles are ‘happiness’ or are ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether tangibles are ‘self’ or are ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether tangibles are ‘pleasant’ or are ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether tangibles are ‘empty’ or are ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether tangibles are ‘with signs’ or are ‘signless’; do not investigate whether tangibles are ‘wished for’ or are ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether tangibles are ‘at peace’ or are ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether tangibles are ‘void’ or are ‘not void.’
- 13.35 “They do not investigate whether mental phenomena are ‘permanent’ or are ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether mental phenomena are ‘happiness’ or are ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether mental phenomena are ‘self’ or are ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether mental phenomena are ‘pleasant’ or are ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether mental phenomena are ‘empty’ or are ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether mental phenomena are ‘with signs’ or are ‘signless’; do not investigate whether mental phenomena are ‘wished for’ or are ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether mental phenomena are ‘at peace’ or are ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether mental phenomena are ‘void’ [F.180.b] or are ‘not void.’
- 13.36 “They do not investigate whether visual consciousness is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether visual consciousness is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether visual consciousness is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether visual consciousness is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether visual consciousness is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether visual consciousness is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether visual consciousness is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether visual consciousness is ‘at peace’ or is ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether visual consciousness is ‘void’ or is ‘not void.’
- 13.37 “They do not investigate whether auditory consciousness is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether auditory consciousness is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether auditory consciousness is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether auditory consciousness is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether auditory consciousness is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether auditory consciousness is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether auditory consciousness is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether auditory consciousness is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether auditory consciousness is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.38 "They do not investigate whether olfactory consciousness is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not [F.181.a] investigate whether olfactory consciousness is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether olfactory consciousness is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether olfactory consciousness is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether olfactory consciousness is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether olfactory consciousness is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether olfactory consciousness is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether olfactory consciousness is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether olfactory consciousness is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.39 "They do not investigate whether gustatory consciousness is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether gustatory consciousness is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether gustatory consciousness is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether gustatory consciousness is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether gustatory consciousness is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether gustatory consciousness is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether gustatory consciousness is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether gustatory consciousness is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether gustatory consciousness is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.40 "They do not investigate whether tactile consciousness is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether tactile consciousness is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether tactile consciousness [F.181.b] is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether tactile consciousness is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether tactile consciousness is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether tactile consciousness is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether tactile consciousness is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether tactile consciousness is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether tactile consciousness is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.41 “They do not investigate whether mental consciousness is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether mental consciousness is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether mental consciousness is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether mental consciousness is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether mental consciousness is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether mental consciousness is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether mental consciousness is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether mental consciousness is ‘at peace’ or is ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether mental consciousness is ‘void’ or is ‘not void.’

13.42 “They do not investigate whether visually compounded sensory contact is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether visually compounded sensory contact is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether visually compounded sensory contact is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether visually compounded sensory contact is ‘pleasant’ [F.182.a] or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether visually compounded sensory contact is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether visually compounded sensory contact is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether visually compounded sensory contact is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether visually compounded sensory contact is ‘at peace’ or is ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether visually compounded sensory contact is ‘void’ or is ‘not void.’

13.43 “They do not investigate whether aurally compounded sensory contact is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether aurally compounded sensory contact is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether aurally compounded sensory contact is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether aurally compounded sensory contact is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether aurally compounded sensory contact is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether aurally compounded sensory contact is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether aurally compounded sensory contact is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether aurally compounded sensory contact is ‘at peace’ or is ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether aurally compounded sensory contact is ‘void’ or is ‘not void.’

13.44 “They do not investigate whether nasally compounded sensory contact is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether nasally compounded sensory contact is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether nasally compounded sensory contact is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether nasally compounded sensory contact is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether nasally compounded sensory contact is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether nasally compounded sensory contact is [F.182.b] 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether nasally compounded sensory contact is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether nasally compounded sensory contact is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether nasally compounded sensory contact is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.45 "They do not investigate whether lingually compounded sensory contact is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether lingually compounded sensory contact is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether lingually compounded sensory contact is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether lingually compounded sensory contact is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether lingually compounded sensory contact is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether lingually compounded sensory contact is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether lingually compounded sensory contact is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether lingually compounded sensory contact is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether lingually compounded sensory contact is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.46 "They do not investigate whether corporeally compounded sensory contact is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether corporeally compounded sensory contact is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether corporeally compounded sensory contact is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether corporeally compounded sensory contact is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether corporeally compounded sensory contact is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether corporeally compounded sensory contact is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether corporeally compounded sensory contact is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether corporeally compounded sensory contact is [F.183.a] 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether corporeally compounded sensory contact is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.47 "They do not investigate whether mentally compounded sensory contact is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether mentally compounded sensory contact is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether mentally compounded sensory contact is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether mentally compounded sensory contact is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether mentally compounded sensory contact is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether mentally compounded sensory contact is 'with signs' or is

'signless'; do not investigate whether mentally compounded sensory contact is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether mentally compounded sensory contact is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether mentally compounded sensory contact is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.48 "They do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are 'permanent' or are 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are 'happiness' or are 'suffering'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are 'self' or are 'selfless'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are 'pleasant' or are 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are 'empty' or are 'not empty'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are 'with signs' or are 'signless'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are 'wished for' or are 'wishless'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are [F.183.b] 'at peace' or are 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are 'void' or are 'not void.'

13.49 "They do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are 'permanent' or are 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are 'happiness' or are 'suffering'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are 'self' or are 'selfless'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are 'pleasant' or are 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are 'empty' or are 'not empty'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are 'with signs' or are 'signless'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are 'wished for' or are 'wishless'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are 'at peace' or are 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are 'void' or are 'not void.'

13.50 "They do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are 'permanent' or are 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are 'happiness' or are 'suffering'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are 'self' or are 'selfless'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are 'pleasant' or are 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are 'empty' or are 'not empty'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are 'with signs' or are 'signless'; do not investigate [F.184.a] whether feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are 'wished for' or are 'wishless'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are 'at peace' or are 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are 'void' or are 'not void.'

13.51 "They do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are 'permanent' or are 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are 'happiness' or are 'suffering'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are 'self' or are 'selfless'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are 'pleasant' or are 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are 'empty' or are 'not empty'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are 'with signs' or are 'signless'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are 'wished for' or are 'wishless'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are 'at peace' or are 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are 'void' or are 'not void.'

13.52 "They do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are 'permanent' or are 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are 'happiness' or are 'suffering'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are 'self' or are 'selfless'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are 'pleasant' or are 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact [F.184.b] are 'empty' or are 'not empty'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are 'with signs' or are 'signless'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are 'wished for' or are 'wishless'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are 'at peace' or are 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are 'void' or are 'not void.'

13.53 "They do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are 'permanent' or are 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are 'happiness' or are 'suffering'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are 'self' or are 'selfless'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are 'pleasant' or are 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are 'empty' or are 'not empty'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are 'with signs' or are 'signless'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are 'wished for' or are 'wishless'; do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are 'at peace' or are 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are 'void' or are 'not void.'

13.54 "They do not investigate whether the earth element is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the earth element is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the earth element [F.185.a] is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the earth element is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the earth element is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the earth element is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether the earth element is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the earth element is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the earth element is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.55 "They do not investigate whether the water element is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the water element is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the water element is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the water element is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the water element is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the water element is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether the water element is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the water element is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the water element is 'void' or is 'not void.'

- 13.56 “They do not investigate whether the fire element is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the fire element is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the fire element is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the fire element is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether the fire element is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the fire element is ‘with signs’ or is [F.185.b] ‘signless’; do not investigate whether the fire element is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether the fire element is ‘at peace’ or is ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether the fire element is ‘void’ or is ‘not void.’
- 13.57 “They do not investigate whether the wind element is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the wind element is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the wind element is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the wind element is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether the wind element is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the wind element is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether the wind element is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether the wind element is ‘at peace’ or is ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether the wind element is ‘void’ or is ‘not void.’
- 13.58 “They do not investigate whether the space element is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the space element is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the space element is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the space element is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether the space element is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the space element is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether the space element is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether the space element is ‘at peace’ or is ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether the space element is ‘void’ or is ‘not void.’
- 13.59 “They do not investigate whether the consciousness element [F.186.a] is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the consciousness element is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the consciousness element is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the consciousness element is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether the consciousness element is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the consciousness element is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether the consciousness element is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether the consciousness element is ‘at peace’ or is ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether the consciousness element is ‘void’ or is ‘not void.’

- 13.60 “They do not investigate whether ignorance is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether ignorance is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether ignorance is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether ignorance is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether ignorance is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether ignorance is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether ignorance is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether ignorance is ‘at peace’ or is ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether ignorance is ‘void’ or is ‘not void.’
- 13.61 “They do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘permanent’ or are ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘happiness’ or are ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘self’ or are ‘selfless’; [F.186.b] do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘pleasant’ or are ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘empty’ or are ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘with signs’ or are ‘signless’; do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘wished for’ or are ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘at peace’ or are ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether formative predispositions are ‘void’ or are ‘not void.’
- 13.62 “They do not investigate whether consciousness is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether consciousness is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether consciousness is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether consciousness is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether consciousness is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether consciousness is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether consciousness is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether consciousness is ‘at peace’ or is ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether consciousness is ‘void’ or is ‘not void.’
- 13.63 “They do not investigate whether name and form are ‘permanent’ or are ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether name and form are ‘happiness’ or are ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether name and form are ‘self’ or are ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether name and form are ‘pleasant’ or are ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether name and form are ‘empty’ or are ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether name and form are ‘with signs’ or are ‘signless’; do not investigate whether name and form are ‘wished for’ or are ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether name and form [F.187.a] are ‘at peace’ or are ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether name and form are ‘void’ or are ‘not void.’

- 13.64 “They do not investigate whether the six sense fields are ‘permanent’ or are ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the six sense fields are ‘happiness’ or are ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the six sense fields are ‘self’ or are ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the six sense fields are ‘pleasant’ or are ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether the six sense fields are ‘empty’ or are ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the six sense fields are ‘with signs’ or are ‘signless’; do not investigate whether the six sense fields are ‘wished for’ or are ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether the six sense fields are ‘at peace’ or are ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether the six sense fields are ‘void’ or are ‘not void.’
- 13.65 “They do not investigate whether sensory contact is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether sensory contact is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether sensory contact is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether sensory contact is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether sensory contact is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether sensory contact is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether sensory contact is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether sensory contact is ‘at peace’ or is ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether sensory contact is ‘void’ or is ‘not void.’
- 13.66 “They do not investigate whether sensation is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether sensation is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether sensation is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether sensation is ‘pleasant’ [F.187.b] or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether sensation is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether sensation is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether sensation is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether sensation is ‘at peace’ or is ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether sensation is ‘void’ or is ‘not void.’
- 13.67 “They do not investigate whether craving is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether craving is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether craving is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether craving is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether craving is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether craving is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether craving is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether craving is ‘at peace’ or is ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether craving is ‘void’ or is ‘not void.’
- 13.68 “They do not investigate whether grasping is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether grasping is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether grasping is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether grasping is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether grasping is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether grasping is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether grasping is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether grasping is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether grasping is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.69 "They do not investigate whether the rebirth process is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the rebirth process [F.188.a] is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the rebirth process is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the rebirth process is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the rebirth process is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the rebirth process is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether the rebirth process is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the rebirth process is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the rebirth process is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.70 "They do not investigate whether birth is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether birth is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether birth is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether birth is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether birth is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether birth is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether birth is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether birth is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether birth is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.71 "They do not investigate whether aging and death are 'permanent' or are 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether aging and death are 'happiness' or are 'suffering'; do not investigate whether aging and death are 'self' or are 'selfless'; do not investigate whether aging and death are 'pleasant' or are 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether aging and death are 'empty' or are 'not empty'; do not investigate whether aging and death are 'with signs' or are 'signless'; do not investigate whether aging and death are 'wished for' or are 'wishless'; do not investigate whether aging and death are [F.188.b] 'at peace' or are 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether aging and death are 'void' or are 'not void.' [B12]

13.72 "They do not investigate whether the perfection of generosity is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the perfection of generosity is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the perfection of generosity is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the perfection of generosity is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the perfection of generosity is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the perfection of generosity is 'with signs' or is

'signless'; do not investigate whether the perfection of generosity is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the perfection of generosity is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the perfection of generosity is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.73 "They do not investigate whether the perfection of ethical discipline is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the perfection of ethical discipline is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the perfection of ethical discipline is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the perfection of ethical discipline is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the perfection of ethical discipline is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the perfection of ethical discipline is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether the perfection of ethical discipline is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether [F.189.a] the perfection of ethical discipline is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the perfection of ethical discipline is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.74 "They do not investigate whether the perfection of tolerance is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the perfection of tolerance is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the perfection of tolerance is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the perfection of tolerance is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the perfection of tolerance is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the perfection of tolerance is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether the perfection of tolerance is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the perfection of tolerance is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the perfection of tolerance is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.75 "They do not investigate whether the perfection of perseverance is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the perfection of perseverance is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the perfection of perseverance is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the perfection of perseverance is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the perfection of perseverance is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the perfection of perseverance is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether the perfection of perseverance is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the perfection of perseverance is [F.189.b] 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the perfection of perseverance is 'void' or is 'not void.'

- 13.76 “They do not investigate whether the perfection of meditative concentration is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the perfection of meditative concentration is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the perfection of meditative concentration is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the perfection of meditative concentration is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether the perfection of meditative concentration is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the perfection of meditative concentration is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether the perfection of meditative concentration is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether the perfection of meditative concentration is ‘at peace’ or is ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether the perfection of meditative concentration is ‘void’ or is ‘not void.’
- 13.77 “They do not investigate whether the perfection of wisdom is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the perfection of wisdom is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the perfection of wisdom is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the perfection of wisdom is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether the perfection of wisdom is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the perfection of wisdom is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether the perfection of wisdom is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether the perfection of wisdom is ‘at peace’ or is ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate [F.190.a] whether the perfection of wisdom is ‘void’ or is ‘not void.’
- 13.78 “They do not investigate whether the emptiness of internal phenomena is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of internal phenomena is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of internal phenomena is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of internal phenomena is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of internal phenomena is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of internal phenomena is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of internal phenomena is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of internal phenomena is ‘at peace’ or is ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether the emptiness of internal phenomena is ‘void’ or is ‘not void.’
- 13.79 “They do not investigate whether the emptiness of external phenomena is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of external phenomena is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of external phenomena is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of external phenomena is ‘pleasant’ or is

'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of external phenomena is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of external phenomena is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of external phenomena is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of external phenomena is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the emptiness of external phenomena is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.80 "They do not investigate whether the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is 'self' [F.190.b] or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.81 "They do not investigate whether the emptiness of emptiness is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of emptiness is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of emptiness is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of emptiness is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of emptiness is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of emptiness is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of emptiness is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of emptiness is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the emptiness of emptiness is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.82 "They do not investigate whether the emptiness of great extent is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of great extent is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of great extent is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of great extent is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of great extent is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate [F.191.a] whether the emptiness of great extent is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of great extent is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of great extent is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the emptiness of great extent is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.83 "They do not investigate whether the emptiness of ultimate reality is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of ultimate reality is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of ultimate reality is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of ultimate reality is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of ultimate reality is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of ultimate reality is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of ultimate reality is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of ultimate reality is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the emptiness of ultimate reality is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.84 "They do not investigate whether the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether [F.191.b] the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.85 "They do not investigate whether the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is 'void' or is 'not void.'

- 13.86 “They do not investigate whether the emptiness of the unlimited is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of the unlimited is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of the unlimited is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of the unlimited is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of the unlimited is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of the unlimited is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of the unlimited is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of the unlimited is ‘at peace’ or is ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether the emptiness of the unlimited is ‘void’ [F.192.a] or is ‘not void.’
- 13.87 “They do not investigate whether the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is ‘at peace’ or is ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is ‘void’ or is ‘not void.’
- 13.88 “They do not investigate whether the emptiness of nonexclusion is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of nonexclusion is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of nonexclusion is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of nonexclusion is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of nonexclusion is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of nonexclusion is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of nonexclusion is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of nonexclusion is ‘at peace’ or is ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether the emptiness of nonexclusion is ‘void’ or [F.192.b] is ‘not void.’

- 13.89 “They do not investigate whether the emptiness of inherent nature is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of inherent nature is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of inherent nature is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of inherent nature is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of inherent nature is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of inherent nature is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of inherent nature is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of inherent nature is ‘at peace’ or is ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether the emptiness of inherent nature is ‘void’ or is ‘not void.’
- 13.90 “They do not investigate whether the emptiness of all phenomena is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of all phenomena is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of all phenomena is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of all phenomena is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of all phenomena is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of all phenomena is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of all phenomena is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of all phenomena is ‘at peace’ or is ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether the emptiness of all phenomena is ‘void’ or is ‘not void.’
- 13.91 “They do not investigate whether the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not [F.193.a] investigate whether the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is ‘at peace’ or is ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is ‘void’ or is ‘not void.’
- 13.92 “They do not investigate whether the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.93 "They do not investigate whether the emptiness of nonentities is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of nonentities is 'happiness' [F.193.b] or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of nonentities is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of nonentities is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of nonentities is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of nonentities is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of nonentities is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of nonentities is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the emptiness of nonentities is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.94 "They do not investigate whether the emptiness of essential nature is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of essential nature is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of essential nature is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of essential nature is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of essential nature is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of essential nature is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of essential nature is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of essential nature is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the emptiness of essential nature is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.95 "They do not investigate whether the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities [F.194.a] is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is 'with signs' or is

'signless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.96 "They do not investigate whether the applications of mindfulness are 'permanent' or are 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the applications of mindfulness are 'happiness' or are 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the applications of mindfulness are 'self' or are 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the applications of mindfulness are 'pleasant' or are 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the applications of mindfulness are 'empty' or are 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the applications of mindfulness are 'with signs' or are 'signless'; do not investigate whether the applications of mindfulness are 'wished for' or are 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the applications of mindfulness are 'at peace' or are 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the applications of mindfulness are 'void' or are 'not void.'

13.97 "They do not investigate whether the correct exertions are 'permanent' or are 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the correct exertions are 'happiness' or are 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the correct exertions are 'self' or are 'selfless'; [F.194.b] do not investigate whether the correct exertions are 'pleasant' or are 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the correct exertions are 'empty' or are 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the correct exertions are 'with signs' or are 'signless'; do not investigate whether the correct exertions are 'wished for' or are 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the correct exertions are 'at peace' or are 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the correct exertions are 'void' or are 'not void.'

13.98 "They do not investigate whether the supports for miraculous ability are 'permanent' or are 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the supports for miraculous ability are 'happiness' or are 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the supports for miraculous ability are 'self' or are 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the supports for miraculous ability are 'pleasant' or are 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the supports for miraculous ability are 'empty' or are 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the supports for miraculous ability are 'with signs' or are 'signless'; do not investigate whether the supports for miraculous ability are 'wished for' or are 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the supports for miraculous ability are 'at peace' or are 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the supports for miraculous ability are 'void' or are 'not void.'

- 13.99 “They do not investigate whether the faculties are ‘permanent’ or are ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the faculties are ‘happiness’ or are ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the faculties are ‘self’ or are ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the faculties are ‘pleasant’ or are ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether the faculties are [F.195.a] ‘empty’ or are ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the faculties are ‘with signs’ or are ‘signless’; do not investigate whether the faculties are ‘wished for’ or are ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether the faculties are ‘at peace’ or are ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether the faculties are ‘void’ or are ‘not void.’
- 13.100 “They do not investigate whether the powers are ‘permanent’ or are ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the powers are ‘happiness’ or are ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the powers are ‘self’ or are ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the powers are ‘pleasant’ or are ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether the powers are ‘empty’ or are ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the powers are ‘with signs’ or are ‘signless’; do not investigate whether the powers are ‘wished for’ or are ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether the powers are ‘at peace’ or are ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether the powers are ‘void’ or are ‘not void.’
- 13.101 “They do not investigate whether the branches of enlightenment are ‘permanent’ or are ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the branches of enlightenment are ‘happiness’ or are ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the branches of enlightenment are ‘self’ or are ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the branches of enlightenment are ‘pleasant’ or are ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether the branches of enlightenment are [F.195.b] ‘empty’ or are ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the branches of enlightenment are ‘with signs’ or are ‘signless’; do not investigate whether the branches of enlightenment are ‘wished for’ or are ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether the branches of enlightenment are ‘at peace’ or are ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether the branches of enlightenment are ‘void’ or are ‘not void.’
- 13.102 “They do not investigate whether the noble eightfold path is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the noble eightfold path is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the noble eightfold path is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the noble eightfold path is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether the noble eightfold path is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the noble eightfold path is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether the noble eightfold path is ‘wished for’ or is ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether the noble eightfold path is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the noble eightfold path is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.103 "They do not investigate whether the truths of the noble ones are 'permanent' or are 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the truths of the noble ones are 'happiness' or are 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the truths of the noble ones are 'self' or are 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the truths of the noble ones are 'pleasant' or are 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether [F.196.a] the truths of the noble ones are 'empty' or are 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the truths of the noble ones are 'with signs' or are 'signless'; do not investigate whether the truths of the noble ones are 'wished for' or are 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the truths of the noble ones are 'at peace' or are 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the truths of the noble ones are 'void' or are 'not void.'

13.104 "They do not investigate whether the meditative concentrations are 'permanent' or are 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the meditative concentrations are 'happiness' or are 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the meditative concentrations are 'self' or are 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the meditative concentrations are 'pleasant' or are 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the meditative concentrations are 'empty' or are 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the meditative concentrations are 'with signs' or are 'signless'; do not investigate whether the meditative concentrations are 'wished for' or are 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the meditative concentrations are 'at peace' or are 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the meditative concentrations are 'void' or are 'not void.'

13.105 "They do not investigate whether the immeasurable attitudes are 'permanent' or are 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the immeasurable attitudes are 'happiness' or are 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the immeasurable attitudes are 'self' or are 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the immeasurable attitudes are 'pleasant' or are 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the immeasurable attitudes are 'empty' or are 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the immeasurable attitudes are 'with signs' or are [F.196.b] 'signless'; do not investigate whether the immeasurable attitudes are 'wished for' or are 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the immeasurable attitudes are 'at peace' or are 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the immeasurable attitudes are 'void' or are 'not void.'

13.106 "They do not investigate whether the formless absorptions are 'permanent' or are 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the formless absorptions are 'happiness' or are 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the formless absorptions are 'self' or are 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the formless absorptions are 'pleasant' or are 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the formless absorptions are 'empty' or are 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the formless absorptions are 'with signs' or are 'signless'; do not investigate whether the formless absorptions are 'wished for' or are 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the formless absorptions are 'at peace' or are 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the formless absorptions are 'void' or are 'not void.'

13.107 "They do not investigate whether the liberations are 'permanent' or are 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the liberations are 'happiness' or are 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the liberations are 'self' or are 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the liberations are 'pleasant' or are 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the liberations are 'empty' or are 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the liberations [F.197.a] are 'with signs' or are 'signless'; do not investigate whether the liberations are 'wished for' or are 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the liberations are 'at peace' or are 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the liberations are 'void' or are 'not void.'

13.108 "They do not investigate whether the serial steps of meditative absorption are 'permanent' or are 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the serial steps of meditative absorption are 'happiness' or are 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the serial steps of meditative absorption are 'self' or are 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the serial steps of meditative absorption are 'pleasant' or are 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the serial steps of meditative absorption are 'empty' or are 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the serial steps of meditative absorption are 'with signs' or are 'signless'; do not investigate whether the serial steps of meditative absorption are 'wished for' or are 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the serial steps of meditative absorption are 'at peace' or are 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the serial steps of meditative absorption are 'void' or are 'not void.'

13.109 "They do not investigate whether the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are 'permanent' or are 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are 'happiness' or are 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the emptiness, [F.197.b] signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are 'self' or are 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are 'pleasant' or are 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are 'empty' or are 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are 'with signs' or are 'signless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are 'wished for' or are 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are 'at peace' or are 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are 'void' or are 'not void.'

13.110 "They do not investigate whether the extrasensory powers are 'permanent' or are 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the extrasensory powers are 'happiness' or are 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the extrasensory powers are 'self' or are 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the extrasensory powers are 'pleasant' or are 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the extrasensory powers are 'empty' or are 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the extrasensory powers are 'with signs' or are 'signless'; do not investigate whether the extrasensory powers are 'wished for' or are 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the extrasensory powers are 'at peace' or are 'not at peace'; and do not [F.198.a] investigate whether the extrasensory powers are 'void' or are 'not void.'

13.111 "They do not investigate whether the meditative stabilities are 'permanent' or are 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the meditative stabilities are 'happiness' or are 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the meditative stabilities are 'self' or are 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the meditative stabilities are 'pleasant' or are 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the meditative stabilities are 'empty' or are 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the meditative stabilities are 'with signs' or are 'signless'; do not investigate whether the meditative stabilities are 'wished for' or are 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the meditative stabilities are 'at peace' or are 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the meditative stabilities are 'void' or are 'not void.'

13.112 "They do not investigate whether the dhāraṇī gateways are 'permanent' or are 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the dhāraṇī gateways are 'happiness' or are 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the dhāraṇī gateways are 'self' or are 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the dhāraṇī gateways are 'pleasant' or are 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the dhāraṇī gateways are 'empty' or are 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the dhāraṇī gateways are 'with signs' or are 'signless'; do not investigate whether the dhāraṇī gateways are 'wished for' or are 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the dhāraṇī gateways are 'at peace' or are 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the dhāraṇī gateways are 'void' or are 'not void.'

- 13.113 “They do not investigate whether the powers of the tathāgatas are ‘permanent’ or are ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether [F.198.b] the powers of the tathāgatas are ‘happiness’ or are ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the powers of the tathāgatas are ‘self’ or are ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the powers of the tathāgatas are ‘pleasant’ or are ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether the powers of the tathāgatas are ‘empty’ or are ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the powers of the tathāgatas are ‘with signs’ or are ‘signless’; do not investigate whether the powers of the tathāgatas are ‘wished for’ or are ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether the powers of the tathāgatas are ‘at peace’ or are ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether the powers of the tathāgatas are ‘void’ or are ‘not void.’
- 13.114 “They do not investigate whether the fearlessnesses are ‘permanent’ or are ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the fearlessnesses are ‘happiness’ or are ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the fearlessnesses are ‘self’ or are ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the fearlessnesses are ‘pleasant’ or are ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether the fearlessnesses are ‘empty’ or are ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the fearlessnesses are ‘with signs’ or are ‘signless’; do not investigate whether the fearlessnesses are ‘wished for’ or are ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether the fearlessnesses are ‘at peace’ or are ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether the fearlessnesses are ‘void’ or are ‘not void.’
- 13.115 “They do not investigate whether the kinds of exact knowledge are ‘permanent’ or are ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether the kinds of exact knowledge are ‘happiness’ [F.199.a] or are ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether the kinds of exact knowledge are ‘self’ or are ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether the kinds of exact knowledge are ‘pleasant’ or are ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether the kinds of exact knowledge are ‘empty’ or are ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether the kinds of exact knowledge are ‘with signs’ or are ‘signless’; do not investigate whether the kinds of exact knowledge are ‘wished for’ or are ‘wishless’; do not investigate whether the kinds of exact knowledge are ‘at peace’ or are ‘not at peace’; and do not investigate whether the kinds of exact knowledge are ‘void’ or are ‘not void.’
- 13.116 “They do not investigate whether great loving kindness is ‘permanent’ or is ‘impermanent’; do not investigate whether great loving kindness is ‘happiness’ or is ‘suffering’; do not investigate whether great loving kindness is ‘self’ or is ‘selfless’; do not investigate whether great loving kindness is ‘pleasant’ or is ‘unpleasant’; do not investigate whether great loving kindness is ‘empty’ or is ‘not empty’; do not investigate whether great loving kindness is ‘with signs’ or is ‘signless’; do not investigate whether great loving kindness is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether great loving kindness is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether great loving kindness is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.117 "They do not investigate whether great compassion is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether great compassion is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether great compassion is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether great compassion is [F.199.b] 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether great compassion is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether great compassion is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether great compassion is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether great compassion is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether great compassion is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.118 "They do not investigate whether the distinct qualities of the buddhas are 'permanent' or are 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the distinct qualities of the buddhas are 'happiness' or are 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the distinct qualities of the buddhas are 'self' or are 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the distinct qualities of the buddhas are 'pleasant' or are 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the distinct qualities of the buddhas are 'empty' or are 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the distinct qualities of the buddhas are 'with signs' or are 'signless'; do not investigate whether the distinct qualities of the buddhas are 'wished for' or are 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the distinct qualities of the buddhas are 'at peace' or are 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the distinct qualities of the buddhas are 'void' or are 'not void.'

13.119 "They do not investigate whether omniscience is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether omniscience is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether omniscience is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether omniscience is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether omniscience is [F.200.a] 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether omniscience is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether omniscience is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether omniscience is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether omniscience is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.120 "They do not investigate whether the knowledge of the aspects of the path is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether the knowledge of the aspects of the path is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether the knowledge of the aspects of the path is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether the knowledge of the aspects of the path is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether the knowledge of the aspects of the path is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; do not investigate whether the knowledge of the aspects of the path is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether the knowledge of the aspects of the path is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether the knowledge of the aspects of the path is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether the knowledge of the aspects of the path is 'void' or is 'not void.'

13.121 "They do not investigate whether all-aspect omniscience is 'permanent' or is 'impermanent'; do not investigate whether all-aspect omniscience is 'happiness' or is 'suffering'; do not investigate whether all-aspect omniscience is 'self' or is 'selfless'; do not investigate whether all-aspect omniscience is 'pleasant' or is 'unpleasant'; do not investigate whether all-aspect omniscience is 'empty' or is 'not empty'; [F.200.b] do not investigate whether all-aspect omniscience is 'with signs' or is 'signless'; do not investigate whether all-aspect omniscience is 'wished for' or is 'wishless'; do not investigate whether all-aspect omniscience is 'at peace' or is 'not at peace'; and do not investigate whether all-aspect omniscience is 'void' or is 'not void.' " [B13]

13.122 Śāradvatīputra then asked, "Venerable Subhūti, why do you say, 'The nonarising of physical forms is not physical forms, the nonarising of feelings is not feelings, the nonarising of perceptions is not perceptions, the nonarising of formative predispositions is not formative predispositions, and the nonarising of consciousness is not consciousness?'

13.123 "Venerable Subhūti, why do you say, 'The nonarising of the eyes is not the eyes, the nonarising of the ears is not the ears, the nonarising of the nose is not the nose, the nonarising of the tongue is not the tongue, that nonarising of the body is not the body, and the nonarising of the mental faculty is not the mental faculty?'

13.124 "Venerable Subhūti, why do you say, 'The nonarising of sights is not sights, the nonarising of sounds is not sounds, the nonarising of odors is not odors, the nonarising of tastes is not tastes, the nonarising of tangibles is not tangibles, and the nonarising of mental phenomena [F.201.a] is not mental phenomena?'

13.125 "Venerable Subhūti, why do you say, 'The nonarising of visual consciousness is not visual consciousness, the nonarising of auditory consciousness is not auditory consciousness, the nonarising of olfactory consciousness is not olfactory consciousness, the nonarising of gustatory consciousness is not gustatory consciousness, the nonarising of tactile consciousness is not tactile consciousness, and the nonarising of mental consciousness is not mental consciousness?'

- 13.126 “Venerable Subhūti, why do you say, ‘The nonarising of visually compounded sensory contact is not visually compounded sensory contact, the nonarising of aurally compounded sensory contact is not aurally compounded sensory contact, the nonarising of nasally compounded sensory contact is not nasally compounded sensory contact, the nonarising of lingually compounded sensory contact is not lingually compounded sensory contact, the nonarising of corporeally compounded sensory contact is not corporeally compounded sensory contact, and the nonarising of mentally compounded sensory contact is not mentally compounded sensory contact?’
- 13.127 “Venerable Subhūti, why do you say, ‘The nonarising of feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, the nonarising of feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, the nonarising of feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, the nonarising of feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact, the nonarising of feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact [F.201.b] is not feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact, and the nonarising of feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact?’
- 13.128 “Venerable Subhūti, why do you say, ‘The nonarising of the earth element is not the earth element, the nonarising of the water element is not the water element, the nonarising of the fire element is not the fire element, the nonarising of the wind element is not the wind element, the nonarising of the space element is not the space element, and the nonarising of the consciousness element is not the consciousness element?’
- 13.129 “Venerable Subhūti, why do you say, ‘The nonarising of ignorance is not ignorance, the nonarising of formative predispositions is not formative predispositions, the nonarising of consciousness is not consciousness, the nonarising of name and form is not name and form, the nonarising of the six sense fields is not the six sense fields, the nonarising of sensory contact is not sensory contact, the nonarising of sensation is not sensation, the nonarising of craving is not craving, the nonarising of grasping is not grasping, the nonarising of the rebirth process is not the rebirth process, the nonarising of birth is not birth, and the nonarising of aging and death is not aging and death?’

- 13.130 “Venerable Subhūti, why do you say, ‘The nonarising of the perfection of generosity is not the perfection of generosity, the nonarising of the perfection of ethical discipline is not the perfection of ethical discipline, [F.202.a] the nonarising of the perfection of tolerance is not the perfection of tolerance, the nonarising of the perfection of perseverance is not the perfection of perseverance, the nonarising of the perfection of meditative concentration is not the perfection of meditative concentration, and the nonarising of the perfection of wisdom is not the perfection of wisdom?’
- 13.131 “Venerable Subhūti, why do you say, ‘The nonarising of the emptiness of internal phenomena is not the emptiness of internal phenomena, the nonarising of the emptiness of external phenomena is not the emptiness of external phenomena, the nonarising of the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is not the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the nonarising of the emptiness of emptiness is not the emptiness of emptiness, the nonarising of the emptiness of great extent is not the emptiness of great extent, the nonarising of the emptiness of ultimate reality is not the emptiness of ultimate reality, the nonarising of the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is not the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the nonarising of the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is not the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, the nonarising of the emptiness of the unlimited is not the emptiness of the unlimited, the nonarising of the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is not the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, the nonarising of the emptiness of nonexclusion is not the emptiness of nonexclusion, the nonarising of the emptiness of inherent nature is not the emptiness of inherent nature, the nonarising of the emptiness of all phenomena is not the emptiness of all phenomena, the nonarising of the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is not the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, the nonarising of the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is not the emptiness of [F.202.b] that which cannot be apprehended, the nonarising of the emptiness of nonentities is not the emptiness of nonentities, the nonarising of the emptiness of essential nature is not the emptiness of essential nature, and the nonarising of the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is not the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities?’
- 13.132 “Venerable Subhūti, why do you say, ‘The nonarising of the applications of mindfulness is not the applications of mindfulness, the nonarising of the correct exertions is not the correct exertions, the nonarising of the supports for miraculous ability is not the supports for miraculous ability, the nonarising of the faculties is not the faculties, the nonarising of the powers is not the powers, the nonarising of the branches of enlightenment is not the branches of enlightenment, the nonarising of the noble eightfold path is not the noble eightfold path, the nonarising of the truths of the noble ones is not the truths of the noble ones, the nonarising of the meditative concentrations is not the meditative concentrations, the nonarising of the immeasurable attitudes is not the immeasurable attitudes, the nonarising of the formless absorptions is not the formless absorptions, the nonarising of the liberations is not the liberations, the nonarising of the serial steps of meditative absorption is not the serial steps of meditative absorption, the nonarising of the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness [F.203.a] gateways to liberation is not the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation, the nonarising of the extrasensory powers is not the extrasensory powers, the nonarising of the meditative stabilities is not the meditative stabilities, the nonarising of the dhāraṇī gateways is not the dhāraṇī gateways, the nonarising of the powers of the tathāgatas is not the powers of the tathāgatas, the nonarising of the fearlessnesses is not the fearlessnesses, the nonarising of the kinds of exact knowledge is not the kinds of exact knowledge, the nonarising of great loving kindness is not great loving kindness, the nonarising of great compassion is not great compassion, and the nonarising of the distinct qualities of the buddhas is not the distinct qualities of the buddhas?

13.133 “Venerable Subhūti, why do you say, ‘The nonarising of omniscience is not omniscience, the nonarising of the knowledge of the aspects of the path is not the knowledge of the aspects of the path, and the nonarising of all-aspect omniscience is not all-aspect omniscience’?”

13.134 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “physical forms are empty of physical forms, and that which is empty is not physical forms, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of physical forms is not physical forms. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings are empty of feelings, and that which is empty is not feelings, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of feelings is not feelings. Venerable [F.203.b] Śāradvatīputra, perceptions are empty of perceptions, and that which is empty is not perceptions, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of perceptions is not perceptions. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, formative predispositions are empty of formative predispositions, and that which is empty is not formative predispositions, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of formative predispositions is not formative predispositions. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, consciousness is empty of consciousness, and that which is empty is not consciousness, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of consciousness is not consciousness.

13.135 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the eyes are empty of the eyes, and that which is empty is not the eyes, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the eyes is not the eyes. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the ears are empty of the ears, and that which is empty is not the ears, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the ears is not the ears. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the nose is empty of the nose, and that which is empty is not the nose, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the nose is not the nose. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the tongue is empty of the tongue, and that which is empty is not the tongue, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the tongue is not the tongue. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the body is empty of the body, and that which is empty is not the body, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the body is not the body. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the mental faculty is empty of the mental faculty, and that which is empty is not the mental faculty, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason [F.204.a] the nonarising of the mental faculty is not the mental faculty.

13.136 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, sights are empty of sights, and that which is empty is not sights, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of sights is not sights. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, sounds are empty of sounds, and that which is empty is not sounds, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of sounds is not sounds. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, odors are empty of odors, and that which is empty is not odors, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of odors is not odors. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, tastes are empty of tastes, and that which is empty is not tastes, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of tastes is not tastes. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, tangibles are empty of tangibles, and that which is empty is not tangibles, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of tangibles is not tangibles. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, mental phenomena are empty of mental phenomena, and that which is empty is not mental phenomena, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of mental phenomena is not mental phenomena.

13.137 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visual consciousness is empty of visual consciousness, and that which is empty is not visual consciousness, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of visual consciousness is not visual consciousness. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, auditory consciousness is empty of auditory consciousness, and that which is empty is not auditory consciousness, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of auditory consciousness

[F.204.b] is not auditory consciousness. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, olfactory consciousness is empty of olfactory consciousness, and that which is empty is not olfactory consciousness, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of olfactory consciousness is not olfactory consciousness. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, gustatory consciousness is empty of gustatory consciousness, and that which is empty is not gustatory consciousness, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of gustatory consciousness is not gustatory consciousness. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, tactile consciousness is empty of tactile consciousness, and that which is empty is not tactile consciousness, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of tactile consciousness is not tactile consciousness. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, mental consciousness is empty of mental consciousness, and that which is empty is not mental consciousness, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of mental consciousness is not mental consciousness.

13.138 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visually compounded sensory contact is empty of visually compounded sensory contact, and that which is empty is not visually compounded sensory contact, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of visually compounded sensory contact is not visually compounded sensory contact. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, aurally compounded sensory contact is empty of aurally compounded sensory contact, and that which is empty is not aurally compounded sensory contact, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of aurally compounded sensory contact is not aurally compounded sensory contact. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, [F.205.a] nasally compounded sensory contact is empty of nasally compounded sensory contact, and that which is empty is not nasally compounded sensory contact, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of nasally compounded sensory contact is not nasally compounded sensory contact. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, lingually compounded sensory contact is empty of lingually compounded sensory contact, and that which is empty is not lingually compounded sensory contact, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of lingually compounded sensory contact is not lingually compounded sensory contact. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, corporeally compounded sensory contact is empty of corporeally compounded sensory contact, and that which is empty is not corporeally compounded sensory contact, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of corporeally compounded sensory contact is not corporeally compounded sensory contact. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, mentally compounded sensory contact is empty of mentally compounded sensory contact, and that which is empty is not mentally compounded sensory contact, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of mentally compounded sensory contact is not mentally compounded sensory contact.

13.139 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are empty of feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, and that which is empty is not feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are empty of feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, and that which is empty is not feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason [F.205.b] the nonarising of feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are empty of feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, and that which is empty is not feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are empty of feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact, and that which is empty is not feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are empty of feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact, and that which is empty is not feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are empty of feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact, and that which is empty is not feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact.

13.140 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the earth element is empty of the earth element, and that which is empty is not the earth element, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising [F.206.a] of the earth element is not the earth element. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the water element is empty of the water element, and that which is empty is not the water element, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the water element is not the water element. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the fire element is empty of the fire element, and that which is empty is not the fire element, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the fire element is not the fire element. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the wind element is empty of the wind element, and that which is empty is not the wind element, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the wind element is not the wind element. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the space element is empty of the space element, and that which is empty is not the space element, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the space element is not the space element. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the consciousness element is empty of the consciousness element, and that which is empty is not the consciousness element, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the consciousness element is not the consciousness element.

13.141 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, ignorance is empty of ignorance, and that which is empty is not ignorance, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of ignorance is not ignorance. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, formative predispositions are empty of formative predispositions, and that which is empty is not formative predispositions, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason [F.206.b] the nonarising of formative predispositions is not formative predispositions. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, consciousness is empty of consciousness, and that which is empty is not consciousness, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of consciousness is not consciousness. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, name and form are empty of name and form, and that which is empty is not name and form, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of name and form is not name and form. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the six sense fields are empty of the six sense fields, and that which is empty is not the six sense fields, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the six sense fields is not the six sense fields. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, sensory contact is empty of sensory contact, and that which is empty is not sensory contact, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of sensory contact is not sensory contact. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, sensation is empty of sensation, and that which is empty is not sensation, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of sensation is not sensation. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, craving is empty of craving, and that which is empty [F.207.a] is not craving, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of craving is not craving. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, grasping is empty of grasping, and that which is empty is not grasping, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of grasping is not grasping. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the rebirth process is empty of the rebirth process, and that which is empty is not the rebirth process, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the rebirth process is not the rebirth process. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, birth is empty of birth, and that which is empty is not birth, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of birth is not birth. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, aging and death are empty of aging and death, and that which is empty is not aging and death, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of aging and death is not aging and death.

13.142 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of generosity is empty of the perfection of generosity, and that which is empty is not the perfection of generosity, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the perfection of generosity is not the perfection of generosity. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of ethical discipline is empty of the perfection of ethical discipline, and that which is empty is not the perfection of ethical discipline, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the perfection of ethical discipline is not the perfection of ethical discipline. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of tolerance is empty of the perfection of tolerance, and that which is empty is not the perfection of tolerance, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the perfection of tolerance is not the perfection of tolerance. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of perseverance is empty of the perfection of perseverance, and that which is empty is not the perfection of perseverance, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the perfection of perseverance is [F.207.b] not the perfection of perseverance. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of meditative concentration is empty of the perfection of meditative concentration, and that which is empty is not the perfection of meditative concentration, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the perfection of meditative concentration is not the perfection of meditative concentration. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of wisdom is empty of the perfection of wisdom, and that which is empty is not the perfection of wisdom, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the perfection of wisdom is not the perfection of wisdom.

13.143 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of internal phenomena is empty of the emptiness of internal phenomena, and that which is empty is not the emptiness of internal phenomena, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the emptiness of internal phenomena is not the emptiness of internal phenomena. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of external phenomena is empty of the emptiness of external phenomena, and that which is empty is not the emptiness of external phenomena, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the emptiness of external phenomena is not the emptiness of external phenomena. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is empty of the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, and that which is empty is not the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is not the emptiness of external and internal phenomena. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of emptiness is empty of the emptiness of emptiness, and that which is empty is not the emptiness of emptiness, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the emptiness of emptiness is not the emptiness of emptiness. Venerable [F.208.a] Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of great extent is empty of the emptiness of great extent, and that which is empty is not the emptiness of great extent, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the emptiness of great extent is not the emptiness of great extent. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of ultimate reality is empty of the emptiness of ultimate reality, and that which is empty is not the emptiness of ultimate reality, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the emptiness of ultimate reality is not the emptiness of ultimate reality. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is empty of the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, and that which is empty is not the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is not the emptiness of conditioned phenomena. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is empty of the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, and that which is empty is not the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is not the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of the unlimited is empty of the emptiness of the unlimited, and that which is empty is not the emptiness of the unlimited, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the emptiness of the unlimited is not the emptiness of the unlimited. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is empty of the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, and that which is empty is not the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising [F.208.b] of the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is not the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of nonexclusion is empty of the emptiness of nonexclusion, and that which is empty is not the emptiness of nonexclusion, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the emptiness of nonexclusion is not the emptiness of nonexclusion. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of inherent nature is empty of the emptiness of inherent nature, and that which is empty is not the emptiness of inherent nature, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the emptiness of inherent nature is not the emptiness of inherent nature. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of all phenomena is empty of the emptiness of all phenomena, and that which is empty is not the emptiness of all phenomena, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the emptiness of all phenomena is not the emptiness of all phenomena. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is empty of the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, and that which is empty is not the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is not the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is empty of the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, and that which is empty is not the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is not the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of nonentities is empty of the emptiness of nonentities, and that which is empty is not the emptiness of nonentities, nor does it arise. Venerable [F.209.a] Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the emptiness of nonentities is not the emptiness of nonentities. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of essential nature is empty of the emptiness of essential nature, and that which is empty is not the emptiness of essential nature, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the emptiness of essential nature is not the emptiness of essential nature. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is empty of the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities, and that which is empty is not the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is not the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities.

13.144 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the applications of mindfulness are empty of the applications of mindfulness, and that which is empty is not the applications of mindfulness, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the applications of mindfulness is not the applications of mindfulness. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the correct exertions are empty of the correct exertions, and that which is empty is not the correct exertions, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the correct exertions is not the correct exertions. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the supports for miraculous ability are empty of the supports for miraculous ability, and that which is empty is not the supports for miraculous ability, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the supports for miraculous ability is not the supports for miraculous ability. Venerable [F.209.b] Śāradvatīputra, the faculties are empty of the faculties, and that which is empty is not the faculties, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the faculties is not the faculties. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the powers are empty of the powers, and that which is empty is not the powers, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the powers is not the powers. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the branches of enlightenment are empty of the branches of enlightenment, and that which is empty is not the branches of enlightenment, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the branches of enlightenment is not the branches of enlightenment. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the noble eightfold path is empty of the noble eightfold path, and that which is empty is not the noble eightfold path, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the noble eightfold path is not the noble eightfold path.

13.145 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the truths of the noble ones are empty of the truths of the noble ones, and that which is empty is not the truths of the noble ones, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the truths of the noble ones is not the truths of the noble ones. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the meditative concentrations are empty of the meditative concentrations, and that which is empty is not the meditative concentrations, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising [F.210.a] of the meditative concentrations is not the meditative concentrations. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the immeasurable attitudes are empty of the immeasurable attitudes, and that which is empty is not the immeasurable attitudes, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the immeasurable attitudes is not the immeasurable attitudes. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the formless absorptions are empty of the formless absorptions, and that which is empty is not the formless absorptions, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the formless absorptions is not the formless absorptions. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the liberations are empty of the liberations, and that which is empty is not the liberations, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the liberations is not the liberations. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the serial steps of meditative absorption are empty of the serial steps of meditative absorption, and that which is empty is not the serial steps of meditative absorption, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the serial steps of meditative absorption is not the serial steps of meditative absorption. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are empty of the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation, and that which is empty is not the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation, nor does it arise. [F.210.b] Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation is not the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the extrasensory powers are empty of the extrasensory powers, and that which is empty is not the extrasensory powers, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the extrasensory powers is not the extrasensory powers. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the meditative stabilities are empty of the meditative stabilities, and that which is empty is not the meditative stabilities, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the meditative stabilities is not the meditative stabilities. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the dhāraṇī gateways are empty of the dhāraṇī gateways, and that which is empty is not the dhāraṇī gateways, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the dhāraṇī gateways is not the dhāraṇī gateways. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the powers of the tathāgatas are empty of the powers of the tathāgatas, and that which is empty is not the powers of the tathāgatas, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the powers of the tathāgatas is not the powers of the tathāgatas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the fearlessnesses are empty of the fearlessnesses, and that which is empty is not the fearlessnesses, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the fearlessnesses is not the fearlessnesses. [F.211.a] Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the kinds of exact knowledge are empty of the kinds of exact knowledge, and that which is empty is not the kinds of exact knowledge, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the kinds of exact knowledge is not the kinds of exact knowledge. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, great loving kindness is empty of great loving kindness, and that which is empty is not great loving kindness, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of great loving kindness is not great loving kindness. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, great compassion is empty of great compassion, and that which is empty is not great compassion, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of great compassion is not great compassion. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the distinct qualities of the buddhas are empty of the distinct qualities of the buddhas, and that which is empty is not the distinct qualities of the buddhas, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of the distinct qualities of the buddhas is not the distinct qualities of the buddhas.

13.146 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, omniscience is empty of omniscience, and that which is empty is not omniscience, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of omniscience is not omniscience. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the knowledge of the aspects of the path is empty of the knowledge of the aspects of the path, and that which is empty is not the knowledge of the aspects of the path, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason [F.211.b] the nonarising of the knowledge of the aspects of the path is not the knowledge of the aspects of the path. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all-aspect omniscience is empty of all-aspect omniscience, and that which is empty is not all-aspect omniscience, nor does it arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the nonarising of all-aspect omniscience is not all-aspect omniscience.”

13.147 Śāradvatīputra then asked, “Venerable Subhūti, why do you say, ‘The perishing of physical forms is not physical forms, the perishing of feelings is not feelings, the perishing of perceptions is not perceptions, the perishing of formative predispositions is not formative predispositions, and the perishing of consciousness is not consciousness?’

13.148 “ ‘The perishing of the eyes is not the eyes, the perishing of the ears is not the ears, the perishing of the nose is not the nose, the perishing of the tongue is not the tongue, the perishing of the body is not the body, and the perishing of the mental faculty is not the mental faculty?’

- 13.149 “ ‘The perishing of sights is not sights, the perishing of sounds is not sounds, the perishing of odors is not odors, the perishing of tastes is not tastes, the perishing of tangibles is not tangibles, and the perishing of mental phenomena is not mental phenomena?’
- 13.150 “ ‘The perishing of visual consciousness is not visual consciousness, the perishing of auditory consciousness is not auditory consciousness, the perishing of olfactory consciousness is not olfactory consciousness, the perishing of gustatory consciousness is not gustatory consciousness, the perishing of tactile consciousness is not tactile consciousness, [F.212.a] and the perishing of mental consciousness is not mental consciousness?’
- 13.151 “ ‘The perishing of visually compounded sensory contact is not visually compounded sensory contact, the perishing of aurally compounded sensory contact is not aurally compounded sensory contact, the perishing of nasally compounded sensory contact is not nasally compounded sensory contact, the perishing of lingually compounded sensory contact is not lingually compounded sensory contact, the perishing of corporeally compounded sensory contact is not corporeally compounded sensory contact, and the perishing of mentally compounded sensory contact is not mentally compounded sensory contact?’
- 13.152 “ ‘The perishing of feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, the perishing of feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, the perishing of feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, the perishing of feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact, the perishing of feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact, and the perishing of feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact?’
- 13.153 “ ‘The perishing of the earth element is not the earth element, the perishing of the water element is not the water element, the perishing of the fire element is not the fire element, the perishing of the wind element is not the wind element, the perishing of the space element is not the space element, and the perishing of the consciousness element is not the consciousness element?’
- 13.154 “ ‘The perishing of ignorance [F.212.b] is not ignorance, the perishing of formative predispositions is not formative predispositions, the perishing of consciousness is not consciousness, the perishing of name and form is not

name and form, the perishing of the six sense fields is not the six sense fields, the perishing of sensory contact is not sensory contact, the perishing of sensation is not sensation, the perishing of craving is not craving, the perishing of grasping is not grasping, the perishing of the rebirth process is not the rebirth process, the perishing of birth is not birth, and the perishing of aging and death is not aging and death?’

13.155 “ ‘The perishing of the perfection of generosity is not the perfection of generosity, the perishing of the perfection of ethical discipline is not the perfection of ethical discipline, the perishing of the perfection of tolerance is not the perfection of tolerance, the perishing of the perfection of perseverance is not the perfection of perseverance, the perishing of the perfection of meditative concentration is not the perfection of meditative concentration, and the perishing of the perfection of wisdom is not the perfection of wisdom?’

13.156 “ ‘The perishing of the emptiness of internal phenomena is not the emptiness of internal phenomena, the perishing of the emptiness of external phenomena is not the emptiness of external phenomena, the perishing of the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is not the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the perishing of the emptiness of emptiness is not the emptiness of emptiness, the perishing of the emptiness of great extent is not the emptiness of great extent, the perishing of the [F.213.a] emptiness of ultimate reality is not the emptiness of ultimate reality, the perishing of the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is not the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the perishing of the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is not the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, the perishing of the emptiness of the unlimited is not the emptiness of the unlimited, the perishing of the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is not the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, the perishing of the emptiness of nonexclusion is not the emptiness of nonexclusion, the perishing of the emptiness of inherent nature is not the emptiness of inherent nature, the perishing of the emptiness of all phenomena is not the emptiness of all phenomena, the perishing of the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is not the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, the perishing of the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is not the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, the perishing of the emptiness of nonentities is not the emptiness of nonentities, the perishing of the emptiness of essential nature is not the emptiness of essential nature, and the perishing of the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is not the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities?’

13.157 “The perishing of the applications of mindfulness is not the applications of mindfulness, the perishing of the correct exertions is not the correct exertions, the perishing of the supports for miraculous ability is not the supports for miraculous ability, the perishing of the faculties is not the faculties, the perishing of the powers is not the powers, the perishing of the branches of enlightenment is not the branches of enlightenment, the perishing of the noble eightfold path is not [F.213.b] the noble eightfold path, the perishing of the truths of the noble ones is not the truths of the noble ones, the perishing of the meditative concentrations is not the meditative concentrations, the perishing of the immeasurable attitudes is not the immeasurable attitudes, the perishing of the formless absorptions is not the formless absorptions, the perishing of the liberations is not the liberations, the perishing of the serial steps of meditative absorption is not the serial steps of meditative absorption, the perishing of the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation is not the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation, the perishing of the extrasensory powers is not the extrasensory powers, the perishing of the meditative stabilities is not the meditative stabilities, the perishing of the dhāraṇī gateways is not the dhāraṇī gateways, the perishing of the powers of the tathāgatas is not the powers of the tathāgatas, the perishing of the fearlessnesses is not the fearlessnesses, the perishing of the kinds of exact knowledge is not the kinds of exact knowledge, the perishing of great loving kindness is not great loving kindness, the perishing of great compassion is not great compassion, and the perishing of the distinct qualities of the buddhas is not the distinct qualities of the buddhas?’

13.158 “The perishing of omniscience is not [F.214.a] omniscience, the perishing of the knowledge of the aspects of the path is not the knowledge of the aspects of the path, and the perishing of all-aspect omniscience is not all-aspect omniscience’?” [B14]

13.159 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “it is because all those phenomena—the perishing, the physical forms, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the feelings, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the perceptions, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the formative predispositions, and that which cannot be divided into two; and the perishing, the consciousness, and that which cannot be divided into two—are neither conjoined nor disjoined, and are immaterial, impossible to indicate, unobstructed, and have only one defining characteristic, which is to say, they are without defining characteristics.

13.160     “All those phenomena—the perishing, the eyes, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing the ears, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the nose, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the tongue, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the body, and that which cannot be divided into two; and the perishing, the mental faculty, and that which cannot be divided into two—are neither conjoined nor disjoined, and are immaterial, impossible to indicate, unobstructed, and have only [F.214.b] one defining characteristic, which is to say, they are without defining characteristics. All those phenomena—the perishing, the sights, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the sounds, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the odors, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the tastes, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the tangibles, and that which cannot be divided into two; and the perishing, the mental phenomena, and that which cannot be divided into two—are neither conjoined nor disjoined, and are immaterial, impossible to indicate, unobstructed, and have only one defining characteristic, which is to say, they are without defining characteristics. All those phenomena—the perishing, the visual consciousness, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the auditory consciousness, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the olfactory consciousness, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the gustatory consciousness, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the tactile consciousness, and that which cannot be divided into two; and the perishing, the mental consciousness, and that which cannot be divided into two—are neither conjoined nor disjoined, and are immaterial, impossible to indicate, unobstructed, and have only one defining characteristic, which is to say, they are without defining characteristics. All those phenomena—the perishing, the visually compounded sensory contact, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the aurally compounded sensory contact, [F.215.a] and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the nasally compounded sensory contact, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the lingually compounded sensory contact, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the corporeally compounded sensory contact, and that which cannot be divided into two; and the perishing, the mentally compounded sensory contact, and that which cannot be divided into two—are neither conjoined nor disjoined, and are immaterial, impossible to indicate, unobstructed, and have only one defining characteristic, which is to say, they are without defining characteristics. All those phenomena—the perishing, the feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact, and that which cannot be divided into two; and the perishing, the feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact, and that which cannot be divided into two—are neither conjoined nor disjoined, and are immaterial, impossible to indicate, unobstructed, and have only one defining characteristic, which is to say, they are without defining characteristics.

13.161 “All those phenomena—the perishing, the earth element, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, [F.215.b] the water element, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the fire element, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the wind element, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the space element, and that which cannot be divided into two; and the perishing, the consciousness element, and that which cannot be divided into two—are neither conjoined nor disjoined, and are immaterial, impossible to indicate, unobstructed, and have only one defining characteristic, which is to say, they are without defining characteristics.

13.162 “All those phenomena—the perishing, the ignorance, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the formative predispositions, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the consciousness, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the name and form, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the six sense fields, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the sensory contact, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the sensation, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the craving, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the grasping, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the rebirth process, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the birth, and that which cannot be divided into two; and the perishing, [F.216.a] the aging and death, and that which cannot be divided into two—are neither conjoined nor disjoined, and are immaterial, impossible to indicate, unobstructed, and have only one defining characteristic, which is to say, they are without defining characteristics.

13.163 “All those phenomena—the perishing, the perfection of generosity, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the perfection of ethical discipline, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the perfection of tolerance, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the perfection of perseverance, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the perfection of meditative concentration, and that which cannot be divided into two; and the perishing, the perfection of wisdom, and that which cannot be divided into two—are neither conjoined nor disjoined, are immaterial, and impossible to indicate, unobstructed, and have only one defining characteristic, which is to say, they are without defining characteristics.

13.164 “All those phenomena—the perishing, the emptiness of internal phenomena, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the emptiness of external phenomena, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the emptiness of emptiness, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the emptiness of great extent, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the emptiness of ultimate reality, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, [F.216.b] the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the emptiness of the unlimited, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the emptiness of nonexclusion, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the emptiness of inherent nature, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the emptiness of all phenomena, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the emptiness of nonentities, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the emptiness of essential nature, and that which cannot be divided into two; and the perishing, the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities, and that which cannot be divided into two—are neither conjoined nor disjoined, and are immaterial, impossible to indicate, unobstructed, and have only one defining characteristic, which is to say, they are without defining characteristics.

13.165 “All those phenomena—the perishing, the applications of mindfulness, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the correct exertions, and that which cannot be divided into two; [F.217.a] the perishing, the supports for miraculous ability, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the faculties, and that which cannot be divided into two;

the perishing, the powers, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the branches of enlightenment, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the noble eightfold path, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the truths of the noble ones, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the meditative concentrations, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the immeasurable attitudes, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the formless absorptions, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the liberations, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the serial steps of meditative absorption, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the extrasensory powers, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the meditative stabilities, and that which cannot be divided into two; and the perishing, the dhāraṇī gateways, and that which cannot be divided into two—are neither conjoined nor [F.217.b] disjoined, and are immaterial, impossible to indicate, unobstructed, and have only one defining characteristic, which is to say, they are without defining characteristics.

13.166 “All those phenomena—the perishing, the powers of the tathāgatas, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the fearlessnesses, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the kinds of exact knowledge, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the great loving kindness, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the great compassion, and that which cannot be divided into two; and the perishing, the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas, and that which cannot be divided into two—are neither conjoined nor disjoined, and are immaterial, impossible to indicate, unobstructed, and have only one defining characteristic, which is to say, they are without defining characteristics.

13.167 “All those phenomena—the perishing, the fruit of having entered the stream, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the fruit of once-returner, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the fruit of non-returner, and that which cannot be divided into two; the perishing, the arhatship, and that which cannot be divided into two; and the perishing, the individual enlightenment, and that which cannot be divided into two—are neither conjoined nor disjoined, and are immaterial, impossible to indicate, unobstructed, and have only one defining characteristic, which is to say, they are without defining characteristics.

- 13.168 “All those phenomena—the perishing, [F.218.a] the knowledge of the aspects of the path, and that which cannot be divided into two, and the perishing, the all-aspect omniscience, and that which cannot be divided into two—are neither conjoined nor disjoined, and are immaterial, impossible to indicate, unobstructed, and have only one defining characteristic, which is to say, they are without defining characteristics.
- 13.169 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for that reason the perishing of physical forms is not physical forms, the perishing of feelings is not feelings, the perishing of perceptions is not perceptions, the perishing of formative predispositions is not formative predispositions, and the perishing of consciousness is not consciousness.
- 13.170 “The perishing of the eyes is not the eyes, the perishing of the ears is not the ears, the perishing of the nose is not the nose, the perishing of the tongue is not the tongue, the perishing of the body is not the body, and the perishing of the mental faculty is not the mental faculty. The perishing of sights is not sights, the perishing of sounds is not sounds, the perishing of odors is not odors, the perishing of tastes is not tastes, the perishing of tangibles is not tangibles, and the perishing of mental phenomena is not mental phenomena. The perishing of visual consciousness is not visual consciousness, the perishing of auditory consciousness is not auditory consciousness, the perishing of olfactory consciousness is not olfactory consciousness, the perishing of gustatory consciousness is not gustatory consciousness, the perishing of tactile consciousness is not tactile [F.218.b] consciousness, and the perishing of mental consciousness is not mental consciousness. The perishing of visually compounded sensory contact is not visually compounded sensory contact, the perishing of aurally compounded sensory contact is not aurally compounded sensory contact, the perishing of nasally compounded sensory contact is not nasally compounded sensory contact, the perishing of lingually compounded sensory contact is not lingually compounded sensory contact, the perishing of corporeally compounded sensory contact is not corporeally compounded sensory contact, and the perishing of mentally compounded sensory contact is not mentally compounded sensory contact. The perishing of feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, the perishing of feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, the perishing of feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, the perishing of feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact, the perishing of feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact, and the perishing of feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact is not feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact.

13.171 “The perishing of the earth element is not the earth element, the perishing of the water element is not the water element, the perishing of the fire element is not the fire element, the perishing of the wind element is not the wind element, the perishing of the space element is not the space element, and the perishing of the consciousness element is not the consciousness element.

13.172 “The perishing [F.219.a] of ignorance is not ignorance, the perishing of formative predispositions is not formative predispositions, the perishing of consciousness is not consciousness, the perishing of name and form is not name and form, the perishing of the six sense fields is not the six sense fields, the perishing of sensory contact is not sensory contact, the perishing of sensation is not sensation, the perishing of craving is not craving, the perishing of grasping is not grasping, the perishing of the rebirth process is not the rebirth process, the perishing of birth is not birth, and the perishing of aging and death is not aging and death.

13.173 “The perishing of the perfection of generosity is not the perfection of generosity, the perishing of the perfection of ethical discipline is not the perfection of ethical discipline, the perishing of the perfection of tolerance is not the perfection of tolerance, the perishing of the perfection of perseverance is not the perfection of perseverance, the perishing of the perfection of meditative concentration is not the perfection of meditative concentration, and the perishing of the perfection of wisdom is not the perfection of wisdom.

13.174 “The perishing of the emptiness of internal phenomena is not the emptiness of internal phenomena, the perishing of the emptiness of external phenomena is not the emptiness of external phenomena, the perishing of the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is not the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, the perishing of the emptiness of emptiness is not the emptiness of emptiness, the perishing of the emptiness of great extent is not the emptiness of great extent, the perishing of the emptiness of ultimate [F.219.b] reality is not the emptiness of ultimate reality, the perishing of the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is not the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, the perishing of the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is not the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, the perishing of the emptiness of the unlimited is not the emptiness of the unlimited, the perishing of the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is not the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, the perishing of the emptiness of nonexclusion is not the emptiness of nonexclusion, the perishing of the emptiness of inherent nature is not the emptiness of inherent nature, the perishing of the emptiness of all phenomena is not the emptiness of all phenomena, the perishing of the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is not the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, the perishing of the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is not the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, the perishing of the emptiness of nonentities is not the emptiness of nonentities, the perishing of the emptiness of essential nature is not the emptiness of essential nature, and the perishing of the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is not the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities.

13.175 “The perishing of the applications of mindfulness is not the applications of mindfulness, the perishing of the correct exertions is not the correct exertions, the perishing of the supports for miraculous ability is not the supports for miraculous ability, the perishing of the faculties is not the faculties, the perishing of the powers is not the powers, the perishing of the branches of enlightenment is not the branches of enlightenment, the perishing of the noble eightfold path is not the [F.220.a] noble eightfold path, the perishing of the truths of the noble ones is not the truths of the noble ones, the perishing of the meditative concentrations is not the meditative concentrations, the perishing of the immeasurable attitudes is not the immeasurable attitudes, the perishing of the formless absorptions is not the formless absorptions, the perishing of the liberations is not the liberations, the perishing of the serial steps of meditative absorption is not the serial steps of meditative absorption, the perishing of the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation is not the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation, the perishing of the extrasensory powers is not the extrasensory powers, the perishing of the meditative stabilities is not the meditative stabilities, the perishing of the dhāraṇī gateways is not the dhāraṇī gateways, the perishing of the powers of the tathāgatas is not the powers of the tathāgatas, the perishing of the fearlessnesses is not the fearlessnesses, the perishing of the kinds of exact knowledge is not the kinds of exact knowledge, the perishing of great loving kindness is not great loving kindness, the perishing of great compassion is not great compassion, and the perishing of the distinct qualities of the buddhas is not the distinct qualities of the buddhas.

13.176 “The perishing of omniscience is not omniscience, the perishing of the knowledge [F.220.b] of the aspects of the path is not the knowledge of the aspects of the path, and the perishing of all-aspect omniscience is not all-aspect omniscience.”

13.177 Śāradvatīputra then asked, “Subhūti, why do you say, ‘That which is called “physical forms” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “feelings” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “perceptions” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “formative predispositions” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “consciousness” is counted a phenomenon without duality.

13.178 “ ‘That which is called “the eyes” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the ears” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the nose” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the tongue” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the body” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the mental faculty” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “sights” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “sounds” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “odors” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “tastes” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “tangibles” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “mental phenomena” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “visual consciousness” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “auditory consciousness” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “olfactory consciousness” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “gustatory consciousness” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “tactile [F.221.a] consciousness” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “mental consciousness is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “visually compounded sensory contact” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “aurally compounded sensory contact” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “nasally compounded sensory contact” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “lingually compounded sensory contact” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “corporeally compounded sensory contact” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “mentally compounded sensory contact” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact” is counted a phenomenon without duality.

13.179 “ That which is called “the earth element” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the water element” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the fire element” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the wind element” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the space element” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the consciousness element” [F.221.b] is counted a phenomenon without duality.

13.180 “ That which is called “ignorance” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “formative predispositions” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “consciousness” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “name and form” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the six sense fields” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “sensory contact” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “sensation” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “craving” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “grasping” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the rebirth process” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “birth” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “aging and death” is counted a phenomenon without duality.

13.181 “ That which is called “the perfection of generosity” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the perfection of ethical discipline” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the perfection of tolerance” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the perfection of perseverance” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the perfection of meditative concentration” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the perfection of wisdom” is counted a phenomenon without duality.

13.182 “ That which is called “the emptiness of internal phenomena” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the emptiness of external phenomena” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the emptiness of external and internal phenomena” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the emptiness of emptiness" [F.222.a] is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the emptiness of great extent" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the emptiness of ultimate reality" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the emptiness of conditioned phenomena" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the emptiness of the unlimited" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the emptiness of nonexclusion" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the emptiness of inherent nature" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the emptiness of all phenomena" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the emptiness of nonentities" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the emptiness of essential nature" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities" is counted a phenomenon without duality.

13.183 " "That which is called "the applications of mindfulness" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the correct exertions" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the supports for miraculous ability" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the faculties" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the powers" [F.222.b] is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the branches of enlightenment" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the noble eightfold path" is counted a phenomenon without duality.

13.184 " "That which is called "the truths of the noble ones" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the meditative concentrations" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the immeasurable attitudes" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the formless absorptions" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the liberations" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the serial steps of meditative absorption" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called "the extrasensory powers" is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the meditative stabilities” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the dhāraṇī gateways” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the ten powers of the tathāgatas” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the four fearlessnesses” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the four kinds of exact knowledge” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “great compassion” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas” is counted a phenomenon without duality.

13.185 “That which is called [F.223.a] “omniscience” is counted a phenomenon without duality. That which is called “the knowledge of the aspects of the path” is counted a phenomenon without duality. And that which is called “all-aspect omniscience” is counted a phenomenon without duality?”

13.186 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “it is because physical forms are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is physical forms, and physical forms themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘physical forms’ is counted as without duality. It is because feelings are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is feelings, and feelings themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘feelings’ is counted as without duality. It is because perceptions are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is perceptions, and perceptions themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘perceptions’ is counted as without duality. It is because formative predispositions are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is formative predispositions, and formative predispositions themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘formative predispositions’ is counted as without duality. It is because consciousness is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is consciousness, and consciousness itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘consciousness’ is counted as without duality.

13.187 “It is because the eyes are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself [F.223.b] is the eyes, and the eyes themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘the eyes’ is counted as without duality. It is because the ears are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the ears, and the ears themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘the ears’ is counted as without duality. It is because the nose is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the nose, and the nose itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the nose' is counted as without duality. It is because the tongue is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the tongue, and the tongue itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the tongue' is counted as without duality. It is because the body is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the body, and the body itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the body' is counted as without duality. It is because the mental faculty is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the mental faculty, and the mental faculty itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the mental faculty' is counted as without duality.

13.188 "It is because sights are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is sights, and sights themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'sights' is counted as without duality. It is because sounds are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is sounds, and sounds themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'sounds' [F.224.a] is counted as without duality. It is because odors are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is odors, and odors themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'odors' is counted as without duality. It is because tastes are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is tastes, and tastes themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'tastes' is counted as without duality. It is because tangibles are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is tangibles, and tangibles themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'tangibles' is counted as without duality. It is because mental phenomena are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is mental phenomena, and mental phenomena themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'mental phenomena' is counted as without duality.

13.189 "It is because visual consciousness is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is visual consciousness, and visual consciousness itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'visual consciousness' is counted as without duality. It is because auditory consciousness is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is auditory consciousness, and auditory consciousness itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'auditory consciousness' is counted as without duality. It is because olfactory consciousness is not one thing and [F.224.b] nonarising another. Nonarising itself is olfactory consciousness, and olfactory consciousness itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'olfactory consciousness' is counted as without duality. It is because gustatory consciousness is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is gustatory consciousness, and gustatory consciousness itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'gustatory consciousness' is counted as without duality. It is because tactile consciousness is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is tactile consciousness, and tactile consciousness itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'tactile consciousness' is counted as without duality. It is because mental consciousness is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is mental consciousness, and mental consciousness itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'mental consciousness' is counted as without duality.

13.190 "It is because visually compounded sensory contact is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is visually compounded sensory contact, and visually compounded sensory contact itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'visually compounded sensory contact' is counted as without duality. It is because aurally compounded sensory contact is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is aurally compounded sensory contact, and aurally compounded sensory contact itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'aurally compounded sensory contact' [F.225.a] is counted as without duality. It is because nasally compounded sensory contact is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is nasally compounded sensory contact, and nasally compounded sensory contact itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'nasally compounded sensory contact' is counted as without duality. It is because lingually compounded sensory contact is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is lingually compounded sensory contact, and lingually compounded sensory contact itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'lingually compounded sensory contact' is counted as without duality. It is because corporeally compounded sensory contact is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is corporeally compounded sensory contact, and corporeally compounded sensory contact itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'corporeally compounded sensory contact' is counted as without duality. It is because mentally compounded sensory contact is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is mentally compounded sensory contact, and mentally compounded sensory contact itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'mentally compounded sensory contact' is counted as without duality.

13.191 "It is because feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, and feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact' is counted as without duality. It is because feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are not one thing and nonarising another. [F.225.b] Nonarising itself is feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, and feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact' is counted as without duality. It is because feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, and feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact' is counted as without duality. It is because feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact, and feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact' is counted as without duality. It is because feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact, and feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact' is counted as without duality. It is because feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact, and feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact' is counted as without duality.

13.192 “It is because the earth element [F.226.a] is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the earth element, and the earth element itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘the earth element’ is counted as without duality. It is because the water element is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the water element, and the water element itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘the water element’ is counted as without duality. It is because the fire element is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the fire element, and the fire element itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘the fire element’ is counted as without duality. It is because the wind element is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the wind element, and the wind element itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘the wind element’ is counted as without duality. It is because the space element is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the space element, and the space element itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘the space element’ is counted as without duality. It is because the consciousness element is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the consciousness element, and the consciousness element itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘the consciousness element’ is counted as without duality.

13.193 “It is because ignorance is not one thing [F.226.b] and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is ignorance, and ignorance itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘ignorance’ is counted as without duality. It is because formative predispositions are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is formative predispositions, and formative predispositions themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘formative predispositions’ is counted as without duality. It is because consciousness is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is consciousness, and consciousness itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘consciousness’ is counted as without duality. It is because name and form are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is name and form, and name and form themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘name and form’ is counted as without duality. It is because the six sense fields are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the six sense fields, and the six sense fields themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘the six sense fields’ is counted as without duality. It is because sensory contact is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is sensory contact, and sensory contact itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘sensory contact’ is counted as without duality. It is because sensation is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is sensation, and sensation itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘sensation’ is counted as without duality. It is because craving is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is craving, and craving itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, [F.227.a] that which is called ‘craving’ is counted as without duality. It is because grasping is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is grasping, and grasping itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘grasping’ is counted as without duality. It is because the rebirth process is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the rebirth process, and the rebirth process itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘the rebirth process’ is counted as without duality. It is because birth is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is birth, and birth itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘birth’ is counted as without duality. It is because aging and death are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is aging and death, and aging and death themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘aging and death’ is counted as without duality.

13.194 “It is because the perfection of generosity is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the perfection of generosity, and the perfection of generosity itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘the perfection of generosity’ is counted as without duality. It is because the perfection of ethical discipline [F.227.b] is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the perfection of ethical discipline, and the perfection of ethical discipline itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘the perfection of ethical discipline’ is counted as without duality. It is because the perfection of tolerance is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the perfection of tolerance, and the perfection of tolerance itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘the perfection of tolerance’ is counted as without duality. It is because the perfection of perseverance is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the perfection of perseverance, and the perfection of perseverance itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘the perfection of perseverance’ is counted as without duality. It is because the perfection of meditative concentration is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the perfection of meditative concentration, and the perfection of meditative concentration itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the perfection of meditative concentration' is counted as without duality. It is because the perfection of wisdom is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the perfection of wisdom, and the perfection of wisdom itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the perfection of wisdom' is counted as without duality. [F.228.a] [B15]

13.195 "It is because the emptiness of internal phenomena is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the emptiness of internal phenomena, and the emptiness of internal phenomena itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the emptiness of internal phenomena' is counted as without duality. It is because the emptiness of external phenomena is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the emptiness of external phenomena, and the emptiness of external phenomena itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the emptiness of external phenomena' is counted as without duality. It is because the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, and the emptiness of external and internal phenomena itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the emptiness of external and internal phenomena' is counted as without duality. It is because the emptiness of emptiness is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the emptiness of emptiness, and the emptiness of emptiness itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the emptiness of emptiness' is counted as without duality. It is because the emptiness of great extent is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the emptiness of great extent, and the emptiness of great extent itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the emptiness of great extent' is counted as without duality. It is because the emptiness of ultimate reality is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the emptiness of ultimate reality, and the emptiness of ultimate reality itself is nonarising. For that reason, [F.228.b] Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the emptiness of ultimate reality' is counted as without duality. It is because the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, and the emptiness of conditioned phenomena itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the emptiness of conditioned phenomena' is counted as without duality. It is because the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, and the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena' is counted as without duality. It is because the emptiness of the unlimited is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the emptiness of the unlimited, and the emptiness of the unlimited itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the emptiness of the unlimited' is counted as without duality. It is because the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, and the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end' is counted as without duality. It is because the emptiness of nonexclusion is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the emptiness of nonexclusion, and the emptiness of nonexclusion itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the emptiness of nonexclusion' [F.229.a] is counted as without duality. It is because the emptiness of inherent nature is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the emptiness of inherent nature, and the emptiness of inherent nature itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the emptiness of inherent nature' is counted as without duality. It is because the emptiness of all phenomena is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the emptiness of all phenomena, and the emptiness of all phenomena itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the emptiness of all phenomena' is counted as without duality. It is because the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, and the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics' is counted as without duality. It is because the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, and the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended' is counted as without duality. It is because the emptiness of nonentities is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the emptiness of nonentities, and the emptiness of nonentities itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the emptiness of nonentities' is counted as without duality. It is because the emptiness of essential nature is not one thing [F.229.b] and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the emptiness of essential nature, and the emptiness of essential nature itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the emptiness of essential nature' is counted as without duality. It is because the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities, and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities' is counted as without duality.

13.196 "It is because the applications of mindfulness are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the applications of mindfulness, and the applications of mindfulness themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the applications of mindfulness' is counted as without duality. It is because the correct exertions are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the correct exertions, and the correct exertions themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the correct exertions' is counted as without duality. It is because the supports for miraculous ability are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the supports for miraculous ability, and the supports for miraculous ability themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the supports for miraculous ability' is counted as without duality. It is because the faculties are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is [F.230.a] the faculties, and the faculties themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the faculties' is counted as without duality. It is because the powers are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the powers, and the powers themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the powers' is counted as without duality. It is because the branches of enlightenment are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the branches of enlightenment. and the branches of enlightenment themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the branches of enlightenment' is counted as without duality. It is because the noble eightfold path is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the noble eightfold path, and the noble eightfold path itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the noble eightfold path' is counted as without duality.

13.197 "It is because the truths of the noble ones are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the truths of the noble ones, and the truths of the noble ones themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the truths of the noble ones' is counted as without duality. It is because the meditative concentrations are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the meditative concentrations, and the meditative concentrations themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the meditative [F.230.b] concentrations' is counted as without duality. It is because the immeasurable attitudes are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the immeasurable attitudes, and the immeasurable attitudes themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the immeasurable attitudes' is counted as without duality. It is because the formless absorptions are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the formless absorptions, and the formless absorptions themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the formless absorptions' is counted as without duality. It is because the liberations are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the liberations, and the liberations themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the liberations' is counted as without duality. It is because the serial steps of meditative absorption are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the serial steps of meditative absorption, and the serial steps of meditative absorption themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the serial steps of meditative absorption' is counted as without duality. It is because the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the emptiness, signlessness, [F.231.a] and wishlessness gateways to liberation, and the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation' is counted as without duality. It is because the extrasensory powers are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the extrasensory powers, and the extrasensory powers themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the extrasensory powers' is counted as without duality. It is because the meditative stabilities are not one thing and nonarising another.

Nonarising itself is the meditative stabilities, and the meditative stabilities themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘the meditative stabilities’ is counted as without duality. It is because the dhāraṇī gateways are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the dhāraṇī gateways, and the dhāraṇī gateways themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘the dhāraṇī gateways’ is counted as without duality.

13.198 “It is because the powers of the tathāgatas are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the powers of the tathāgatas, and the powers of the tathāgatas themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘the powers of the tathāgatas’ is counted as without duality. It is because the fearlessnesses are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the fearlessnesses, [F.231.b] and the fearlessnesses themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘the fearlessnesses’ is counted as without duality. It is because the kinds of exact knowledge are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the kinds of exact knowledge, and the kinds of exact knowledge themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘the kinds of exact knowledge’ is counted as without duality. It is because great loving kindness is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is great loving kindness, and great loving kindness itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘great loving kindness’ is counted as without duality. It is because great compassion is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is great compassion, and great compassion itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘great compassion’ is counted as without duality. It is because the distinct qualities of the buddhas are not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the distinct qualities of the buddhas, and the distinct qualities of the buddhas themselves are nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘the distinct qualities of the buddhas’ is counted as without duality.

13.199 “It is because the fruit of having entered the stream is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the fruit of having entered the stream, and the fruit of having entered the stream itself is nonarising. For that reason, [F.232.a] Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘the fruit of having entered the stream’ is counted as without duality. It is because the fruit of once-returner is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the fruit of once-returner, and the fruit of once-returner itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called ‘the fruit of once-returner’ is counted as without duality. It is because the fruit of non-returner is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the fruit of non-returner, and the fruit of non-returner itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the fruit of non-returner' is counted as without duality. It is because arhatship is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is arhatship, and arhatship itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'arhatship' is counted as without duality. It is because individual enlightenment is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is individual enlightenment, and individual enlightenment itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'individual enlightenment' is counted as without duality. It is because the knowledge of the aspects of the path is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is the knowledge of the aspects of the path, and the knowledge of the aspects of the path itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'the knowledge of the aspects of the path' is counted as without duality. [F.232.b] It is because all-aspect omniscience is not one thing and nonarising another. Nonarising itself is all-aspect omniscience, and all-aspect omniscience itself is nonarising. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that which is called 'all-aspect omniscience' is counted as without duality."

13.200 Venerable Subhūti then said to the Blessed One, "Blessed Lord, when bodhisattva great beings practice the perfection of wisdom and investigate those phenomena accordingly, then, because of utter purity, they see the nonarising of physical forms, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of feelings, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of perceptions,, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of formative predispositions,, and because of utter purity they see the nonarising of consciousness.

13.201 "Because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the eyes, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the ears, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the nose, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the tongue, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the body, and because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the mental faculty. Because of utter purity they see the nonarising of sights, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of sounds, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of odors, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of tastes, because of utter purity [F.233.a] they see the nonarising of tangibles, and because of utter purity they see the nonarising of mental phenomena. Because of utter purity they see the nonarising of visual consciousness, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of auditory consciousness, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of olfactory consciousness, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of gustatory consciousness, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of tactile consciousness, and because of utter purity they see the nonarising of mental consciousness. Because of utter purity they see the nonarising of visually compounded sensory contact, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of aurally compounded sensory contact, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of nasally compounded sensory contact, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of lingually compounded sensory contact, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of corporeally compounded sensory contact, and because of utter purity they see the nonarising of mentally compounded sensory contact. Because of utter purity they see the nonarising of feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact, [F.233.b] and because of utter purity they see the nonarising of feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact.

13.202 “Because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the earth element, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the water element, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the fire element, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the wind element, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the space element, and because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the consciousness element.

13.203 “Because of utter purity they see the nonarising of ignorance, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of formative predispositions, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of consciousness, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of name and form, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the six sense fields, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of sensory contact, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of sensation, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of craving, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of grasping, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the rebirth process, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of birth, and because of utter purity they see the nonarising of aging and death.

13.204 “Because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the perfection of generosity, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the perfection of ethical discipline, [F.234.a] because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the perfection of tolerance, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the perfection of perseverance, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the perfection of meditative concentration, and because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the perfection of wisdom.

13.205 “Because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the emptiness of internal phenomena, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the emptiness of external phenomena, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the emptiness of emptiness, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the emptiness of great extent, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the emptiness of ultimate reality, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the emptiness of the unlimited, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the emptiness of nonexclusion, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the emptiness of inherent nature, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the emptiness of all phenomena, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, [F.234.b] because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the emptiness of nonentities, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the emptiness of essential nature, and because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities.

13.206 “Because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the applications of mindfulness, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the correct exertions, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the supports for miraculous ability, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the faculties, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the powers, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the branches of enlightenment, and because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the noble eightfold path.

13.207 “Because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the truths of the noble ones, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the meditative concentrations, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the immeasurable attitudes, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the formless absorptions, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the liberations, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the serial steps of meditative absorption, because of utter purity they see the

nonarising of the emptiness, [F.235.a] signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the extrasensory powers, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the meditative stabilities, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the dhāraṇī gateways, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the powers of the tathāgatas, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the fearlessnesses, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the kinds of exact knowledge, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of great loving kindness, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of great compassion, and because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas.

13.208 “Because of utter purity they see the nonarising of omniscience, because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the knowledge of the aspects of the path, and because of utter purity they see the nonarising of all-aspect omniscience.

13.209 “Because of utter purity they see the nonarising of ordinary persons, and because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the attributes of ordinary persons. Because of utter purity they see the nonarising of those who have entered the stream, and because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the attributes of those who have entered the stream. Because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the once-returners, and because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the attributes of the once-returners. Because of utter [F.235.b] purity they see the nonarising of the non-returners, and because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the attributes of the non-returners. Because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the arhats, and because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the attributes of the arhats. Because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the pratyekabuddhas, and because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the attributes of the pratyekabuddhas. Because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the bodhisattvas, and because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the attributes of the bodhisattvas. And because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the buddhas, and because of utter purity they see the nonarising of the attributes of the buddhas.”

13.210 Venerable Śāradvatīputra then said to Venerable Subhūti, “Venerable Subhūti, as I understand the meaning of your words, physical forms are nonarising, feelings are nonarising, perceptions are nonarising, formative predispositions are nonarising, and consciousness is nonarising.

13.211 “The eyes are nonarising, the ears are nonarising, the nose is nonarising, the tongue is nonarising, the body is nonarising, and the mental faculty is nonarising; sights are nonarising, sounds are nonarising, odors are nonarising, tastes are nonarising, tangibles are nonarising, and mental

phenomena are nonarising; visual consciousness is nonarising, auditory consciousness is nonarising, olfactory consciousness is nonarising, gustatory consciousness is nonarising, tactile consciousness is nonarising, and mental consciousness is nonarising; visually compounded sensory contact [F.236.a] is nonarising, aurally compounded sensory contact is nonarising, nasally compounded sensory contact is nonarising, lingually compounded sensory contact is nonarising, corporeally compounded sensory contact is nonarising, and mentally compounded sensory contact is nonarising; and feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are nonarising, feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are nonarising, feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are nonarising, feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are nonarising, feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are nonarising, and feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are nonarising.

13.212 “The earth element is nonarising, the water element is nonarising, the fire element is nonarising, the wind element is nonarising, the space element is nonarising, and the consciousness element is nonarising.

13.213 “Ignorance is nonarising, formative predispositions are nonarising, consciousness is nonarising, name and form are nonarising, the six sense fields are nonarising, sensory contact is nonarising, sensation is nonarising, craving is nonarising, grasping is nonarising, the rebirth process is nonarising, birth is nonarising, and aging and death are nonarising.

13.214 “The perfection of generosity is nonarising, the perfection of ethical discipline is nonarising, the perfection of tolerance is nonarising, the perfection of perseverance is nonarising, the perfection of meditative concentration is nonarising, and the perfection of wisdom is nonarising.

13.215 “The emptiness of internal phenomena is nonarising, the emptiness of external phenomena is nonarising, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is nonarising, the emptiness of emptiness is nonarising, the emptiness of great extent is nonarising, the emptiness of ultimate reality is nonarising, the emptiness of [F.236.b] conditioned phenomena is nonarising, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is nonarising, the emptiness of the unlimited is nonarising, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is nonarising, the emptiness of nonexclusion is nonarising, the emptiness of inherent nature is nonarising, the emptiness of all phenomena is nonarising, the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is nonarising, the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is nonarising, the emptiness of nonentities is nonarising, the emptiness of essential nature is nonarising, and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is nonarising.

- 13.216 “The applications of mindfulness are nonarising, the correct exertions are nonarising, the supports for miraculous ability are nonarising, the faculties are nonarising, the powers are nonarising, the branches of enlightenment are nonarising, and the noble eightfold path is nonarising.
- 13.217 “The truths of the noble ones are nonarising, the four meditative concentrations are nonarising, the four immeasurable attitudes are nonarising, the four formless absorptions are nonarising, the eight liberations are nonarising, the nine serial steps of meditative absorption are nonarising, the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are nonarising, the extrasensory powers are nonarising, the meditative stabilities are nonarising, the dhāraṇī gateways are nonarising, the ten powers of the tathāgatas are nonarising, the four fearlessnesses are nonarising, the four kinds of exact knowledge are nonarising, great loving kindness is nonarising, great compassion is nonarising, and the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas are nonarising.
- 13.218 “Omniscience is nonarising, the knowledge of the aspects of the path is nonarising, and all-aspect omniscience is nonarising. [F.237.a]
- 13.219 “Ordinary persons are nonarising, and the attributes of ordinary persons are nonarising; those who have entered the stream are nonarising, and the attributes of those who have entered the stream are nonarising; the once-returners are nonarising, and the attributes of the once-returners are nonarising; the non-returners are nonarising, and the attributes of the non-returners are nonarising; the arhats are nonarising, and the attributes of the arhats are nonarising; the pratyekabuddhas are nonarising, and the attributes of the pratyekabuddhas are nonarising; the bodhisattvas are nonarising, and the attributes of the bodhisattvas are nonarising; and the buddhas are nonarising, and the attributes of the buddhas are nonarising.
- 13.220 “If that is so, Venerable Subhūti—if physical forms do not arise, feelings do not arise, perceptions do not arise, formative predispositions do not arise, and consciousness does not arise; the eyes do not arise, the ears do not arise, the nose does not arise, the tongue does not arise, the body does not arise, and the mental faculty does not arise; sights do not arise, sounds do not arise, odors do not arise, tastes do not arise, tangibles do not arise, and mental phenomena do not arise; visual consciousness does not arise, auditory consciousness does not arise, olfactory consciousness does not arise, gustatory consciousness does not arise, tactile consciousness does not arise, and mental consciousness does not arise; visually compounded sensory contact does not arise, aurally compounded sensory contact does not arise, nasally compounded sensory contact does not arise, lingually compounded sensory contact does not arise, corporeally compounded sensory contact does not arise, and mentally compounded sensory contact does not arise; feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact do not arise, feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact do not arise, feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact [F.237.b] do not arise, feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact do not arise, feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact do not arise, and feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact do not arise; the earth element does not arise, the water element does not arise, the fire element does not arise, the wind element does not arise, the space element does not arise, and the consciousness element does not arise; ignorance does not arise, formative predispositions do not arise, consciousness does not arise, name and form do not arise, the six sense fields do not arise, sensory contact does not arise, sensation does not arise, craving does not arise, grasping does not arise, the rebirth process does not arise, birth does not arise, and aging and death do not arise; the perfection of generosity does not arise, the perfection of ethical discipline does not arise, the perfection of tolerance does not arise, the perfection of perseverance does not arise, the perfection of meditative concentration does not arise, and the perfection of wisdom does not arise; the emptiness of internal phenomena does not arise, the emptiness of external phenomena does not arise, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena does not arise, the emptiness of emptiness does not arise, the emptiness of great extent does not arise, the emptiness of ultimate reality does not arise, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena does not arise, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena does not arise, the emptiness of the unlimited does not arise, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end does not arise, the emptiness of nonexclusion does not arise, the emptiness of inherent nature does not arise, the emptiness of all phenomena does not arise, the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics does not arise, the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended does not arise, the emptiness of nonentities does not arise, the emptiness of essential nature does not arise, and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities does not arise; the applications of mindfulness do not arise, [F.238.a] the correct exertions do not arise, the supports for miraculous ability do not arise, the faculties do not arise, the powers do not arise, the branches of enlightenment do not arise, and the noble eightfold path does not arise; the truths of the noble ones do not arise, the meditative concentrations do not arise, the immeasurable attitudes do not arise, the formless absorptions do not arise, the eight liberations do not arise, the nine serial steps of meditative absorption do not arise, the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation do not arise, the extrasensory powers do not arise, the meditative stabilities do not arise, the dhāraṇī gateways do not arise, the ten powers of the tathāgatas do not arise, the four fearlessnesses do not arise, the four kinds of exact knowledge do not arise, great loving kindness does not arise, great compassion does not arise, and the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas do not arise; omniscience does not arise, the knowledge of the aspects of the path does not arise, and all-aspect omniscience does not arise; ordinary persons do not arise and the attributes of ordinary persons do not arise; those who have entered the stream do not arise and the attributes of those who have entered the stream do not arise; the once-returners do not arise and the attributes of the once-returners do not arise; the non-returners do not arise and the attributes of the once-returners do not arise; the arhats do not arise and the attributes of the arhats do not arise; the pratyekabuddhas do not arise and the attributes of the pratyekabuddhas do not arise; the bodhisattvas do not arise and the attributes of the bodhisattvas do not arise; and the buddhas do not arise and the attributes of the buddhas [F.238.b] do not arise—then indeed those in the vehicle of the śrāvakas would have already attained the fruit of having entered the stream, the fruit of once-returner, the fruit of non-returner, and arhatship. Those in the vehicle of the pratyekabuddhas, too, would have already attained their individual enlightenment, and the bodhisattva great beings would have already attained all-aspect omniscience. The five classes of beings would not be differentiated. And bodhisattva great beings would have already attained the fivefold enlightenment.<sup>609</sup>

13.221 “Venerable Subhūti, if all phenomena are nonarising, why should those who have entered the stream cultivate the path in order to abandon the three fetters? Why should the once-returners cultivate the path in order to attenuate desire, hatred, and delusion? Why should the non-returners cultivate the path in order to abandon the five fetters associated with the inferior?<sup>610</sup> Why should arhats cultivate the path in order to abandon the five fetters associated with the superior? Why should followers of the vehicle of the pratyekabuddhas cultivate the path for the sake of individual enlightenment? Why should bodhisattva great beings undergo sufferings and practice the difficult practices for the sake of beings? Why should the tathāgatas fully awaken to unsurpassed, perfectly complete enlightenment? Why should the tathāgatas turn the wheel of the Dharma?”

13.222 Venerable Subhūti then said to Venerable Śāradvatīputra, “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that a nonarising phenomenon has an attainment, or a realization.<sup>611</sup> I do not hold that in nonarising there are those [F.239.a] who have entered the stream, nor do I hold that there is the fruit of having entered the stream. I do not hold that in nonarising there are once-returners, nor do I hold that there is the fruit of once-returners. I do not hold that in nonarising there are non-returners, nor do I hold that there is the fruit of non-returners. I do not hold that in nonarising there are arhats, nor do I hold that there is arhatship. I do not hold that in nonarising there are pratyekabuddhas, nor do I hold that there is individual enlightenment.

13.223 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not accept that bodhisattvas are undertaking difficult practices, or that bodhisattva great beings practice with the idea of difficulty. And why? Because it is not possible, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for bodhisattva great beings who entertain the idea of difficulty to work for the welfare of infinite, countless beings. Rather, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is by developing the perception that they are their father, developing the perception that they are their mother, developing the perception that they are their child, and developing the perception that they are themselves that they can work for the welfare of infinite, countless beings. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, bodhisattva great beings must produce this thought: ‘Just as “the self, the self” is said but is nonexistent and cannot be apprehended at all in any way at all, I must produce that thought in just such a way about all inner and outer phenomena as well.’

13.224 “If they produce such an idea, the idea of difficulty does not arise. And why? Because bodhisattva great beings do not appropriate<sup>612</sup> and do not apprehend any phenomenon as anything at all in any way at all.

13.225 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that in nonarising there are tathāgatas, nor do I hold that there is unsurpassed, perfectly complete enlightenment. There is no attainment [F.239.b] or being attained by a nonarising phenomenon in accordance with the tathāgatas having turned the wheel of the Dharma.”<sup>613</sup>

13.226 Śāradvatīputra then asked, “Venerable Subhūti, do you hold that a nonarising attainment is attained by an arising phenomenon, or do you hold that an arising attainment is attained by a nonarising phenomenon?”<sup>614</sup>

13.227 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “I do not hold that a nonarising attainment is being attained by an arising phenomenon, nor do I hold that an arising attainment is attained by a nonarising phenomenon.”

13.228 “Well then, Venerable Subhūti, is there no attainment? Is there no clear realization?” asked Śāradvatīputra.

13.229 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “there is indeed an attainment and there is a clear realization, but not as those two.<sup>615</sup> Venerable Śāradvatīputra, an attainment or a clear realization is designated by worldly convention. Those who have entered the stream, or once-returners, or non-returners, or arhats, or pratyekabuddhas, or bodhisattvas, or buddhas are also designated by worldly convention. Ultimately, however, an attainment, or a clear realization, or those who have entered the stream, or once-returners, or non-returners, or arhats, or pratyekabuddhas, or bodhisattvas, or buddhas are not designated.”

13.230 “Venerable Subhūti, just as an attainment and a clear realization exist as worldly conventions, similarly, are the five classes of beings also different as worldly conventions, but not ultimately?” asked Śāradvatīputra.

13.231 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that is so!” replied Subhūti. “Just as attainment and clear realization exist as worldly conventions, similarly, the five classes of beings also are differentiated as worldly conventions, but not ultimately. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, [F.240.a] it is because, ultimately, there is no action and no maturation of an action, no arising and no ceasing, and no defilement and no purification.”

13.232 “Venerable Subhūti, does a phenomenon that has not arisen arise, or does a phenomenon that has arisen arise?” asked Śāradvatīputra.

13.233 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “I do not hold that phenomena that have not arisen arise, nor do I hold that phenomena that have arisen arise.”

13.234 “Venerable Subhūti, what phenomena that have not arisen do you hold not to arise?” asked Śāradvatīputra. [B16]

13.235 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “I do not hold that physical forms that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that feelings that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that perceptions that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that formative predispositions that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that consciousness that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises.

13.236 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the eyes that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the ears that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the nose that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the tongue that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the body that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the mental faculty that has not arisen, [F.240.b] which is empty of essential nature, arises.

13.237 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that sights that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that sounds that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that odors that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that tastes that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that tangibles that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that mental phenomena that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise.

13.238 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that visual consciousness that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that auditory consciousness that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that olfactory consciousness that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that gustatory consciousness that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that tactile consciousness that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that mental consciousness that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises.

13.239 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that visually compounded sensory contact that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that aurally compounded sensory contact that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that nasally compounded sensory contact that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that lingually compounded [F.241.a] sensory contact that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that corporeally compounded sensory contact that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that mentally compounded sensory contact that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises.

13.240 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise.

13.241 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold the earth element that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the water element that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the fire element that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the wind element that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the space element that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the consciousness element that has not arisen, which is empty [F.241.b] of essential nature, arises.

13.242 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that ignorance that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that formative predispositions that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that consciousness that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that name and form that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the six sense fields that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that sensory contact that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that sensation that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that craving that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that grasping that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the rebirth process that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that birth that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that aging and death that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise.

13.243 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the perfection of generosity that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the perfection of ethical discipline that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the perfection of tolerance that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the perfection of perseverance that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable [F.242.a] Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the perfection of meditative concentration that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the perfection of wisdom that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises.

13.244 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of internal phenomena that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of external phenomena that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of external and internal phenomena that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of emptiness that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of great extent that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of ultimate reality that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of conditioned phenomena that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of the unlimited that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of nonexclusion that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of inherent nature that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of all phenomena that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, [F.242.b] I do not hold that the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of nonentities that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of essential nature that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises.

13.245 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the applications of mindfulness that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the correct exertions that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the supports for miraculous ability that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the faculties that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the powers that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the branches of enlightenment that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the noble eightfold path that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises.

13.246 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the truths of the noble ones that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the meditative concentrations that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the immeasurable attitudes that have not arisen, which are empty [F.243.a] of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the formless absorptions that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the liberations that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the serial steps of meditative absorption that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the extrasensory powers that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the meditative stabilities that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the dhāraṇī gateways that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the powers of the tathāgatas that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the fearlessnesses that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the kinds of exact knowledge that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that great loving kindness that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that great compassion that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the distinct qualities of the buddhas that have not arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise.

13.247 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold [F.243.b] that the fruit of having entered the stream that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the fruit of once-returned that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the fruit of non-returned that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that arhatship that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that individual enlightenment that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the knowledge of the aspects of the path that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that all-aspect omniscience that has not arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises.”

13.248 Śāradvatīputra asked, “Venerable Subhūti, what phenomena that have arisen do you hold not to arise?”

13.249 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “I do not hold that physical forms that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that feelings that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that perceptions that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that formative predispositions that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that consciousness that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises.

13.250 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the eyes that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the ears that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the nose that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the tongue that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. [F.244.a] Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the body that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the mental faculty that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises.

- 13.251 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that sights that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that sounds that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that odors that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that tastes that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that tangibles that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that mental phenomena that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise.
- 13.252 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that visual consciousness that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that auditory consciousness that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that olfactory consciousness that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that gustatory consciousness that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that tactile consciousness that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that mental consciousness that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises.
- 13.253 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that visually compounded sensory contact that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that aurally compounded sensory contact that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that nasally compounded sensory contact that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, [F.244.b] arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that lingually compounded sensory contact that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that corporeally compounded sensory contact that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that mentally compounded sensory contact that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises.
- 13.254 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise.

13.255 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold the earth element that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the water element that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the fire element that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the wind element that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the space element that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the consciousness element that has arisen, [F.245.a] which is empty of essential nature, arises.

13.256 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that ignorance that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that formative predispositions that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that consciousness that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that name and form that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the six sense fields that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that sensory contact that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that sensation that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that craving that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that grasping that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the rebirth process that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that birth that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that and aging and death that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise.

13.257 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the perfection of generosity that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the perfection of ethical discipline that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the perfection of tolerance that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the perfection of perseverance that has arisen, which is empty of essential [F.245.b] existence, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the perfection of meditative concentration that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that and the perfection of wisdom that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises.

13.258 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of internal phenomena that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of external phenomena that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of external and internal phenomena that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of emptiness that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of great extent that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of ultimate reality that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of conditioned phenomena that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of the unlimited that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of nonexclusion that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of inherent nature that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of all phenomena that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable [F.246.a] Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of nonentities that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of essential nature that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises.

Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises.

13.259 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the applications of mindfulness that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the correct exertions that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the supports for miraculous ability that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the faculties that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the powers that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the branches of enlightenment that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the noble eightfold path that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises.

13.260 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the truths of the noble ones that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the meditative concentrations that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the immeasurable attitudes that have arisen, which are empty of [F.246.b] essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the formless absorptions that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the liberations that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the serial steps of meditative absorption that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the extrasensory powers that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the meditative stabilities that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the dhāraṇī gateways that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the powers of the tathāgatas that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the fearlessnesses that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the kinds of exact knowledge that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that great loving kindness that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that great compassion that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the distinct qualities of the buddhas that have arisen, which are empty of essential nature, arise.

13.261 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the fruit of having entered the stream that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, [F.247.a] I do not hold that the fruit of once-returner that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the fruit of non-returner that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that arhatship that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that individual enlightenment that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that the knowledge of the aspects of the path that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not hold that all-aspect omniscience that has arisen, which is empty of essential nature, arises.”

13.262 Venerable Śāradvatīputra asked, “Venerable Subhūti, does arising arise? Or else, does nonarising arise?”

13.263 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “arising does not arise, nor does nonarising arise. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because both phenomena that arise and phenomena that are nonarising are neither conjoined nor disjoined, and are immaterial, impossible to indicate, unobstructed, and have only one defining characteristic, which is to say, they are without defining characteristics. For that reason, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, arising does not arise, nor does nonarising arise.”

13.264 Venerable Śāradvatīputra asked, “Venerable Subhūti, if you have the confidence that inspires you to say ‘phenomena that have not arisen, phenomena that have not arisen,’ well then, Venerable Subhūti, do you also have the confidence that inspires you to say there is no arising of phenomena that have not arisen?”

13.265 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “you say, ‘You have the confidence that inspires you to say “phenomena that have not arisen, phenomena that have not arisen.”’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I do not have the confidence that inspires me to say ‘phenomena that have not arisen, phenomena that [F.247.b] have not arisen.’ Venerable Śāradvatīputra, I also do not have the confidence that inspires me to say there is no arising of phenomena that have not arisen. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because all the phenomena—the phenomenon that has not arisen, the nonarising, the confidence that inspires speech, the sayings, and the failure

- to arise<sup>616</sup>— are neither conjoined nor disjoined, and are immaterial, impossible to indicate, unobstructed, and have only one defining characteristic, which is to say, they are without defining characteristics.”
- 13.266 Śāradvatīputra asked, “Venerable Subhūti, is a statement a nonarising, is a confidence that inspires the statement also a nonarising, and is a phenomenon also a nonarising? Are those phenomena about which there is a confidence that inspires speaking also a nonarising?”
- 13.267 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is so!” replied Subhūti. “The statement has not arisen. The confidence that inspires speaking has not arisen. The phenomenon has not arisen. Those phenomena about which there is a confidence that inspires speaking also have not arisen.<sup>617</sup> If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because physical forms are nonarising, feelings are nonarising, perceptions are nonarising, formative predispositions are nonarising, and consciousness is nonarising.
- 13.268 “The eyes are nonarising, the ears are nonarising, the nose is nonarising, the tongue is nonarising, the body is nonarising, and the mental faculty is nonarising; sights are nonarising, sounds are nonarising, odors are nonarising, tastes are nonarising, tangibles are nonarising, and mental phenomena is nonarising; visual consciousness is nonarising, auditory consciousness is nonarising, olfactory consciousness is nonarising, gustatory consciousness is nonarising, tactile consciousness is nonarising, and mental consciousness is nonarising; visually compounded sensory contact is nonarising, aurally compounded sensory contact is nonarising, nasally compounded sensory contact is [F.248.a] nonarising, lingually compounded sensory contact is nonarising, corporeally compounded sensory contact is nonarising, and mentally compounded sensory contact is nonarising; and feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are nonarising, feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are nonarising, feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are nonarising, feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are nonarising, feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are nonarising, and feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are nonarising.
- 13.269 “The earth element is nonarising, the water element is nonarising, the fire element is nonarising, the wind element is nonarising, the space element is nonarising, and the consciousness element is nonarising.
- 13.270 “Ignorance is nonarising, formative predispositions are nonarising, consciousness is nonarising, name and form are nonarising, the six sense fields are nonarising, sensory contact is nonarising, sensation is nonarising, craving is nonarising, grasping is nonarising, the rebirth process is nonarising, birth is nonarising, and aging and death are nonarising.

- 13.271 “The perfection of generosity is nonarising, the perfection of ethical discipline is nonarising, the perfection of tolerance is nonarising, the perfection of perseverance is nonarising, the perfection of meditative concentration is nonarising, and the perfection of wisdom is nonarising.
- 13.272 “The emptiness of internal phenomena is nonarising, the emptiness of external phenomena is nonarising, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is nonarising, the emptiness of emptiness is nonarising, the emptiness of great extent is nonarising, the emptiness of ultimate reality is nonarising, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is nonarising, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is nonarising, the emptiness of the unlimited is nonarising, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is nonarising, the emptiness of nonexclusion is nonarising, the emptiness of inherent nature is nonarising, the emptiness of all phenomena is nonarising, the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is nonarising, the [F.248.b] emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is nonarising, the emptiness of nonentities is nonarising, the emptiness of essential nature is nonarising, and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is nonarising.
- 13.273 “The applications of mindfulness are nonarising, the correct exertions are nonarising, the supports for miraculous ability are nonarising, the faculties are nonarising, the powers are nonarising, the branches of enlightenment are nonarising, and the noble eightfold path is nonarising.
- 13.274 “The truths of the noble ones are nonarising, the meditative concentrations are nonarising, the immeasurable attitudes are nonarising, the formless absorptions are nonarising, the liberations are nonarising, the serial steps of meditative absorption are nonarising, the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are nonarising, the extrasensory powers are nonarising, the meditative stabilities are nonarising, the dhāraṇī gateways are nonarising, the powers of the tathāgatas are nonarising, the fearlessnesses are nonarising, the kinds of exact knowledge are nonarising, great loving kindness is nonarising, great compassion is nonarising, and the distinct qualities of the buddhas are nonarising.
- 13.275 “And the fruit of having entered the stream is nonarising, the fruit of once-returned is nonarising, the fruit of non-returned is nonarising, arhatship is nonarising, individual enlightenment is nonarising, the knowledge of the aspects of the path is nonarising, and all-aspect omniscience is nonarising.
- 13.276 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for this reason the statement is nonarising, the confidence that inspires speaking is nonarising, and the phenomenon is nonarising. Those phenomena about which there is a confidence that inspires speaking are also nonarisings.”

- 13.277 Śāradvatīputra said, “Venerable Subhūti, you should rightly be established as supreme among those who teach the Dharma! If you ask [F.249.a] why, it is because however the elder Subhūti is questioned, he is not impeded by it.”
- 13.278 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “it is the reality of things that however those śrāvakas of the Blessed One, who have not taken any phenomenon as a support, are questioned, they are not impeded by it. If you ask why, it is because all phenomena are without any support.”<sup>618</sup>
- 13.279 Śāradvatīputra asked, “Venerable Subhūti, how is it that all phenomena are without any support?”
- 13.280 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “physical forms are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, perceptions are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, formative predispositions are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, consciousness is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both.
- 13.281 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the eyes are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the ears are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the nose is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable [F.249.b] Śāradvatīputra, the tongue is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the body is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the mental faculty is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both.

13.282 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, sights are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, sounds are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, odors are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, tastes are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, tangibles are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, mental phenomena are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both.

13.283 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visual consciousness is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, auditory consciousness is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. [F.250.a] Venerable Śāradvatīputra, olfactory consciousness is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, gustatory consciousness is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, tactile consciousness is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, mental consciousness is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both.

13.284 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, visually compounded sensory contact is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, aurally compounded sensory contact is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, nasally compounded sensory contact is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, lingually compounded sensory contact is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, corporeally compounded sensory contact is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, mentally compounded sensory contact is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended [F.250.b] in the absence of both.

13.285 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both.

13.286 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the earth element is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the water element is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the fire element is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the wind element is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, [F.251.a] and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the space element is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the consciousness element is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both.

13.287 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, ignorance is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, formative predispositions are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, consciousness is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, name and form are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the six sense fields are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, sensory contact is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, sensation is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, craving is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, grasping [F.251.b] is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the rebirth process is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, birth is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, aging and death are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both.

13.288 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of generosity is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of ethical discipline is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of tolerance is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of perseverance is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of meditative concentration is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of wisdom is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both.

13.289 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of internal phenomena is empty of an inherent nature, so it [F.252.a] has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of external phenomena is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of emptiness is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of great extent is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of ultimate reality is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of the unlimited is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, [F.252.b] the emptiness of nonexclusion is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of inherent nature is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of all phenomena is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of nonentities is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of essential nature is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both.

13.290 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the applications of mindfulness are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the correct exertions are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. [F.253.a] Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the supports for miraculous ability are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the faculties are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the powers are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the branches of enlightenment are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the noble eightfold path is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both.

13.291 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the truths of the noble ones are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the meditative concentrations are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the immeasurable attitudes are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the formless absorptions are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the liberations are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended [F.253.b] in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the serial steps of meditative absorption are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the extrasensory powers are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the meditative stabilities are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the dhāraṇī gateways are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the powers of the tathāgatas are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the fearlessnesses are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the kinds of exact knowledge are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, great loving kindness is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, great [F.254.a] compassion is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the distinct qualities of the buddhas are empty of an inherent nature, so they have no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and they cannot be apprehended in the absence of both.

- 13.292 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the fruit of having entered the stream is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the fruit of once-returner is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the fruit of non-returner is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, arhatship is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, individual enlightenment is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the knowledge of the aspects of the path is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all-aspect omniscience is empty of an inherent nature, so it has no support in internal phenomena, no support in external phenomena, and it cannot be apprehended in the absence of both.
- 13.293 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that is the reason that all phenomena have no supports because they are empty of an inherent nature. [F.254.b] [B17]
- 13.294 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, bodhisattva great beings who practice the six perfections should refine<sup>619</sup> physical forms in that manner; they should refine feelings, should refine perceptions, should refine formative predispositions, and should refine consciousness; they should refine the eyes, should refine the ears, should refine the nose, should refine the tongue, should refine the body, and should refine the mental faculty; they should refine sights, should refine sounds, should refine odors, should refine tastes, should refine tangibles, and should refine mental phenomena; they should refine visual consciousness, should refine auditory consciousness, should refine olfactory consciousness, should refine gustatory consciousness, should refine tactile consciousness, and should refine mental consciousness; they should refine visually compounded sensory contact, should refine aurally compounded sensory contact, should refine nasally compounded sensory contact, should refine lingually compounded sensory contact, should refine corporeally compounded sensory contact, and should refine mentally compounded sensory contact; they should refine feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, should refine feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, should refine feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, should refine feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact, should refine feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact, and should refine feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact; they should [F.255.a] refine the earth element, should refine the water element, should refine the fire element, should refine the wind element, should refine the space element, and should refine the consciousness element; they should refine ignorance, should refine formative predispositions, should refine consciousness, should refine name and form, should refine the six sense fields, should refine sensory contact, should refine sensation, should refine craving, should refine grasping, should refine the rebirth process, should refine birth, and should refine aging and death; they should refine the perfection of generosity, should refine the perfection of ethical discipline, should refine the perfection of tolerance, should refine the perfection of perseverance, should refine the perfection of meditative concentration, and should refine the perfection of wisdom; they should refine the emptiness of internal phenomena, should refine the emptiness of external phenomena, should refine the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, should refine the emptiness of emptiness, should refine the emptiness of great extent, should refine the emptiness of ultimate reality, should refine the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, should refine the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, should refine the emptiness of the unlimited, should refine the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, should refine the emptiness of nonexclusion, should refine the emptiness of inherent nature, should refine the emptiness of all phenomena, should refine [F.255.b] the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, should refine the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, should refine the emptiness of nonentities, should refine the emptiness of essential nature, and should refine the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities; they should refine the applications of mindfulness, should refine the correct exertions, should refine the supports for miraculous ability, should refine the faculties, should refine the powers, should refine the branches of enlightenment, and should refine the noble eightfold path; they should refine the truths of the noble ones, should refine the meditative concentrations, should refine the immeasurable attitudes, should refine the formless absorptions, should refine the liberations, should refine the serial steps of meditative absorption, should refine the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation, should refine the extrasensory powers, should refine the meditative stabilities, should refine the dhāraṇī gateways, should refine the powers of the tathāgatas, should refine the fearlessnesses, should refine the kinds of exact knowledge, should refine great loving kindness, should refine great compassion, and should refine the distinct qualities of the buddhas; and they should refine omniscience, should refine the knowledge of the aspects of the path, and they should refine all-aspect omniscience.”

13.295 Venerable Śāradvatīputra then asked Venerable [F.256.a] Subhūti, “Venerable Subhūti, when bodhisattva great beings practice the six perfections, how do they refine the path to enlightenment?”

13.296 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “the perfection of generosity is mundane and it is supramundane. The perfection of ethical discipline is mundane and is supramundane. The perfection of tolerance is mundane and is supramundane. The perfection of perseverance is mundane and is supramundane. The perfection of meditative concentration is mundane and is supramundane. And the perfection of wisdom is mundane and is supramundane.”

13.297 Śāradvatīputra asked, “Venerable Subhūti, what is the mundane perfection of generosity? What is the supramundane perfection of generosity?”

13.298 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “here bodhisattva great beings are givers and, having become liberal donors, they offer food to virtuous ascetics, brahmin priests, the destitute, the starving, travelers, and beggars who are in need of food. They offer drink to those in need of drink, vehicles to those in need of vehicles, clothing to those in need of clothing, flowers to those in need of flowers, garlands to those in need of garlands, incense to those in need of incense, unguents to those in need of unguents, lodgings to those in need of lodgings, bedding and mats to those in need of bedding and mats, resources to those in need of resources, medications to those in need of medications, up to they offer whatever other resources humans might need. They offer a son to those in need of a son. They offer a daughter to those in need of a daughter. They offer a wife to those in need of a wife. [F.256.b] They offer a kingdom to those in need of a kingdom. They offer their head to those in need of a head. They offer a limb and a vital organ to those in need of a limb and a vital organ. They offer flesh, blood, and marrow to those in need of flesh, blood, and marrow. While taking things as a support, they practice liberality, thinking, ‘I am giving. They are receiving. This is generosity. I am without miserliness. I am a liberal donor. I give away everything. I am doing as the lord buddhas command. I am practicing the perfection of generosity.’ Having given these gifts, making common cause with all beings, by way of apprehending something they dedicate the merit to unsurpassed, perfectly complete enlightenment, dedicating with the

- thought, 'Through this fruit of my gift may these beings in this very lifetime become happy and, without having appropriated anything,<sup>620</sup> attain the final nirvāṇa.'
- 13.299 "They give gifts while attached by three attachments.<sup>621</sup> If you ask what these three are, they are the perception of self, the perception of others, and the perception of giving. Attached by these three attachments they give gifts.
- 13.300 "This is called the mundane perfection of generosity. If you ask why it is called the mundane perfection of generosity, it is because it does not move beyond, is not superior to, and does not transcend the mundane. Therefore it is called the mundane perfection of generosity.
- 13.301 "If you ask what, between them, is the supramundane perfection of generosity, it is so called because of the purity of the three spheres. If you ask what the purity of the three spheres is, here, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, when bodhisattva great beings offer gifts, they do not apprehend a self, they do not apprehend [F.257.a] a recipient, they do not apprehend giving, and they do not delight in the maturation. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, this is the purity of the three spheres of bodhisattva great beings.
- 13.302 "Moreover, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, bodhisattva great beings giving gifts bestow the giving on all beings, but they do not apprehend those beings. They dedicate the merit to unsurpassed, perfectly complete enlightenment without observing even the slightest mental image. This, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, is called the 'supramundane perfection of generosity.' If you ask why it is called the mundane perfection of generosity, it is because it moves beyond, is superior to, and transcends the mundane. Therefore it is called the supramundane perfection of generosity.
- 13.303 "Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of ethical discipline is mundane and is supramundane. If you ask what, between them, is the mundane perfection of ethical discipline, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, here bodhisattva great beings maintain ethical discipline, maintaining it while taking things as a support, thinking, 'I maintain ethical discipline for the sake of all beings. This is ethical discipline. I am doing as the lord buddhas command.' Maintaining ethical discipline in this manner, making common cause with all beings, by way of apprehending something they dedicate the merit to unsurpassed, perfectly complete enlightenment, dedicating with the thought, 'Through this fruit of my ethical discipline may these beings in this very lifetime become happy and, without having appropriated anything, attain the final nirvāṇa.'
- 13.304 "They maintain ethical discipline while attached by the three attachments of the perception of self, [F.257.b] the perception of others, and the perception of ethical discipline. This is called the mundane perfection of

- ethical discipline. If you ask why it is called the mundane perfection of ethical discipline, it is because it does not move beyond, is not superior to, and does not transcend the mundane. Therefore it is called mundane.
- 13.305 “If you ask what, between them, is the supramundane perfection of ethical discipline, it is so called because of the purity of the three spheres. If you ask what the purity of the three spheres is, here, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, when bodhisattva great beings maintain ethical discipline, they do not apprehend a self, they do not apprehend beings, they do not apprehend ethical discipline, and they do not delight in the maturation. Moreover, bodhisattva great beings bestow ethical discipline on all beings, but they do not apprehend those beings. They dedicate the merit to unsurpassed, perfectly complete enlightenment without observing even the slightest mental image. This, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, is called the supramundane perfection of ethical discipline because it moves beyond, is superior to, and transcends the mundane. Therefore it is called supramundane.
- 13.306 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of tolerance is mundane and is supramundane. If you ask what, between them, is the mundane perfection of tolerance, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, here bodhisattva great beings cultivate tolerance, cultivating it while taking things as a support, thinking, ‘I cultivate tolerance for the sake of all beings. This is tolerance. I am doing as the lord buddhas command.’ Making common cause with all beings, by way of apprehending that tolerance, they dedicate the merit to unsurpassed, perfectly [F.258.a] complete enlightenment, dedicating with the thought, ‘Through this fruit of my tolerance may these beings in this very lifetime become happy and, without having appropriated anything, attain the final nirvāṇa.’
- 13.307 “They cultivate tolerance while attached by the three attachments of the perception of self, the perception of others, and the perception of tolerance. This is called the mundane perfection of tolerance because it does not move beyond, is not superior to, and does not transcend the mundane. Therefore it is called mundane.
- 13.308 “If you ask what, between them, is the supramundane perfection of tolerance, it is so called because of the purity of the three spheres. If you ask what the purity of the three spheres is, here, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, when bodhisattva great beings cultivate tolerance, they do not apprehend a self, they do not apprehend beings, they do not apprehend tolerance, and they do not delight in the maturation. Moreover, bodhisattva great beings bestow tolerance on all beings, but they do not apprehend those beings. They dedicate the merit to unsurpassed, perfectly complete enlightenment without observing even the slightest mental image. This is the supramundane perfection of tolerance because it moves beyond, is superior to, and transcends the mundane. Therefore it is called supramundane.

13.309 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of perseverance is mundane and is supramundane. If you ask what, between them, is the mundane perfection of perseverance, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, here bodhisattva great beings undertake perseverance, undertaking it while taking things as a support, thinking, ‘I undertake perseverance for the sake of all beings. This is the body. This is the mind. This is perseverance. I am doing [F.258.b] as the lord buddhas command. I am practicing the perfection of perseverance.’ Making common cause with all beings, by way of apprehending that perseverance, they dedicate the merit to unsurpassed, perfectly complete enlightenment, dedicating with the thought, ‘Through this fruit of my perseverance may these beings in this very lifetime become happy and, without having appropriated anything, attain the final nirvāṇa.’

13.310 “They undertake perseverance while attached by the three attachments of the perception of self, the perception of others, and the perception of perseverance. This is called the mundane perfection of perseverance because it does not move beyond, is not superior to, and does not transcend the mundane. Therefore it is called mundane.

13.311 “If you ask what, between them, is the supramundane perfection of perseverance, it is so called because of the purity of the three spheres. If you ask what the purity of the three spheres is, here, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, when bodhisattva great beings undertake perseverance, they do not apprehend a self, they do not apprehend beings, they do not apprehend perseverance, and they do not delight in the maturation. Moreover, bodhisattva great beings bestow perseverance on all beings, but they do not apprehend those beings. They dedicate the merit to unsurpassed, perfectly complete enlightenment without observing even the slightest mental image. This is called the supramundane perfection of perseverance because it moves beyond, is superior to, and transcends the mundane. Therefore it is called supramundane.

13.312 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of meditative concentration is mundane and is supramundane. If you ask what, between them, is the mundane [F.259.a] perfection of meditative concentration, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, here bodhisattva great beings enter into absorption in meditative concentration, entering into absorption while taking things as a support, thinking, ‘I enter into absorption in meditative concentration for the sake of all beings. This is meditative concentration. I am doing as the lord buddhas command.’ Making common cause with all beings, by way of apprehending entry into absorption in that meditative concentration, they dedicate the merit to unsurpassed, perfectly complete enlightenment, dedicating with the thought, 'Through this fruit of my meditative concentration may these beings in this very lifetime become happy and, without having appropriated anything, attain the final nirvāṇa.'

13.313 "They enter into absorption in meditative concentration while attached by the three attachments of the perception of self, the perception of others, and the perception of meditative concentration. This is called the mundane perfection of perseverance because it does not move beyond, is not superior to, and does not transcend the mundane. Therefore it is called mundane.

13.314 "If you ask what, between them, is the supramundane perfection of perseverance, it is so called because of the purity of the three spheres. If you ask what the purity of the three spheres is, here, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, when bodhisattva great beings enter into absorption in meditative concentration, they do not apprehend a self, they do not apprehend beings, they do not apprehend meditative concentration, and they do not delight in the maturation. Moreover, bodhisattva great beings bestow meditative concentration on all beings, but they do not apprehend those beings. They dedicate the merit to unsurpassed, perfectly complete enlightenment without observing even the slightest mental image. This is called the supramundane perfection [F.259.b] of meditative concentration because it moves beyond, is superior to, and transcends the mundane. Therefore it is called supramundane.

13.315 "Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of wisdom is mundane and is supramundane. If you ask what, between them, is the mundane perfection of wisdom, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, here bodhisattva great beings cultivate wisdom, cultivating it while taking things as a support. By way of apprehending something, for the sake of self and others they confess all wrongdoing, rejoice in all merits, and request all the buddhas to teach.<sup>622</sup> Without skillful means they dedicate all those roots of virtue to unsurpassed, perfectly complete enlightenment, thinking, 'I cultivate wisdom for the sake of all beings. This is wisdom. I am doing as the lord buddhas command.' Making common cause with all beings, by way of apprehending that cultivation of wisdom, they dedicate the merit to unsurpassed, perfectly complete enlightenment, dedicating with the thought, 'Through this fruit of my wisdom may these beings in this very lifetime become happy and, without having appropriated anything, attain the final nirvāṇa.'

13.316 "They cultivate wisdom while attached by the three attachments of the perception of self, the perception of others, and the perception of wisdom. This is called the mundane perfection of wisdom because it does not move beyond, is not superior to, and does not transcend the mundane. Therefore it is called mundane.

- 13.317 “If you ask what, among them, is the supramundane perfection of wisdom, it is so called because of the purity of the three spheres. If you ask what the purity of the three spheres is, here, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, [F.260.a] when bodhisattva great beings cultivate wisdom, they do not apprehend a self, they do not apprehend beings, they do not apprehend wisdom, and they do not delight in the maturation. Moreover, bodhisattva great beings bestow wisdom on all beings, but they do not apprehend those beings. They dedicate the merit to unsurpassed, perfectly complete enlightenment without observing even the slightest mental image. This is called the supramundane perfection of wisdom because it moves beyond, is superior to, and transcends the mundane. Therefore it is called the supramundane perfection of wisdom.
- 13.318 “So it is, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, that bodhisattva great beings practice the six perfections and refine the path to enlightenment.”
- 13.319 Śāradvatīputra asked, “Venerable Subhūti, what is the bodhisattva great beings’ path to enlightenment?”
- 13.320 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “the perfection of generosity is the bodhisattva great beings’ path to enlightenment, the perfection of ethical discipline is the bodhisattva great beings’ path to enlightenment, the perfection of tolerance is the bodhisattva great beings’ path to enlightenment, the perfection of perseverance is the bodhisattva great beings’ path to enlightenment, the perfection of meditative concentration is the bodhisattva great beings’ path to enlightenment, and the perfection of wisdom is the bodhisattva great beings’ path to enlightenment.
- 13.321 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the emptiness of internal phenomena is the bodhisattva great beings’ path to enlightenment, the emptiness of external phenomena is the bodhisattva [F.260.b] great beings’ path to enlightenment, the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is the bodhisattva great beings’ path to enlightenment, the emptiness of emptiness is the bodhisattva great beings’ path to enlightenment, the emptiness of great extent is the bodhisattva great beings’ path to enlightenment, the emptiness of ultimate reality is the bodhisattva great beings’ path to enlightenment, the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is the bodhisattva great beings’ path to enlightenment, the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is the bodhisattva great beings’ path to enlightenment, the emptiness of the unlimited is the bodhisattva great beings’ path to enlightenment, the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is the bodhisattva great beings’ path to enlightenment, the emptiness of nonexclusion is the bodhisattva great beings’ path to enlightenment, the emptiness of inherent nature is the bodhisattva great beings’ path to enlightenment, the emptiness of all phenomena is the bodhisattva great beings’ path to enlightenment, the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment, the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment, the emptiness of nonentities is the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment, the emptiness of essential nature is the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment, and the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment.

13.322 "Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the four applications of mindfulness are the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment, the four correct exertions [F.261.a] are the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment, the four supports for miraculous ability are the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment, the five faculties are the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment, the five powers are the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment, the seven branches of enlightenment are the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment, and the noble eightfold path is the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment.

13.323 "Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the four truths of the noble ones are the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment, the four meditative concentrations are the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment, the four immeasurable attitudes are the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment, the four formless absorptions are the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment, the eight liberations are the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment, the nine serial steps of meditative absorption are the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment, the emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness gateways to liberation are the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment, the five extrasensory powers are the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment, all the meditative stabilities are the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment, all the dhāraṇī gateways are the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment, the ten powers of the tathāgatas are the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment, the four fearlessnesses are the bodhisattva [F.261.b] great beings' path to enlightenment, the four kinds of exact knowledge are the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment, great loving kindness is the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment, great compassion is the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment, and, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas are the bodhisattva great beings' path to enlightenment."

13.324 "Excellent, excellent, Subhūti!" said Śāradvatīputra. "Of which perfection is this<sup>623</sup> the power?"

13.325 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra,” replied Subhūti, “this is the power of the perfection of wisdom. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because the perfection of wisdom is the generator of all virtuous attributes—the attributes of the śrāvakas, the attributes of the pratyekabuddhas, the attributes of the bodhisattvas, and the attributes of the buddhas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the perfection of wisdom is the one that fully incorporates and perfectly incorporates<sup>624</sup> all virtuous attributes—the attributes of the śrāvakas, the attributes of the pratyekabuddhas, the attributes of the bodhisattvas, and the attributes of the buddhas. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the tathāgatas, arhats, completely perfect buddhas of the past fully awakened to unsurpassed, perfectly complete enlightenment having practiced just this perfection of wisdom. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, the tathāgatas, arhats, completely perfect buddhas of the future will fully awaken to unsurpassed, perfectly complete enlightenment having practiced just this perfection of wisdom. And, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, all the tathāgatas, arhats, completely perfect buddhas who are residing and maintaining themselves at the present time, [F.262.a] in the world systems of the ten directions, are also fully awakening to unsurpassed, perfectly complete enlightenment having practiced just this perfection of wisdom.

13.326 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, if, when this perfection of wisdom is explained, bodhisattva great beings do not become unsure and do not become perplexed, then, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that these bodhisattva great beings, without apprehending anything, thus practice this practice<sup>625</sup> in order to offer sanctuary to all beings and in order not to forsake any beings, and one should know that these bodhisattva great beings are inseparable from the attention that pays attention to great compassion.”

13.327 Śāradvatīputra said, “Venerable Subhūti, if you hold that those who practice this practice—that is to say, those who are inseparable from the attention that pays attention to great compassion—are bodhisattva great beings, in that case, Venerable Subhūti, all beings would be bodhisattvas. If you ask why, Venerable Subhūti, it is because all beings are inseparable from attention.”<sup>626</sup>

13.328 “Excellent, excellent, Venerable Śāradvatīputra!” replied Subhūti. “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, just that reality you had in mind when you thought, ‘I will question this, I will question this,’ you have expressed in a true statement and have fully grasped. If you ask why, Venerable Śāradvatīputra, it is because one should know that that attention is nonexistent because beings are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because beings are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because beings are without an essential nature, [F.262.b] one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of beings, one should know that that attention is void because beings are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening<sup>627</sup> because beings will not fully awaken.

13.329 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because physical forms are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because physical forms are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because physical forms are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of physical forms, one should know that that attention is void because physical forms are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because physical forms will not fully awaken.

13.330 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because feelings are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because feelings are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because feelings are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of feelings, one should know that that attention is void because feelings are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because feelings will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because perceptions are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because perceptions are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because perceptions are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of perceptions, one should know that that attention is void [F.263.a] because perceptions are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because perceptions will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because formative predispositions are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because formative predispositions are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because formative predispositions are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of formative predispositions, one should know that that attention is void because formative predispositions are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because formative predispositions will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because consciousness is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because consciousness is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because consciousness is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of consciousness, one should know that that attention is void because consciousness is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because consciousness will not fully awaken.

13.331 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the eyes are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the eyes are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the eyes are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the eyes, one should know that that attention is void because the eyes are void, and one should know that that attention [F.263.b] will not cause full awakening because the eyes will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the ears are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the ears are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the ears are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the ears, one should know that that attention is void because the ears are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the ears will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the nose is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the nose is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the nose is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the nose, one should know that that attention is void because the nose is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the nose will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the tongue is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the tongue is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the tongue is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the tongue, one should know that that attention is void because the tongue is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the tongue will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the body [F.264.a] is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the body is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the body is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the body, one should know that that attention is void because the body is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the body will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the mental faculty is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the mental faculty is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the mental faculty is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the mental faculty, one should know that that attention is void because the mental faculty is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the mental faculty will not fully awaken.

13.332 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because sights are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because sights are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because sights are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of sights, one should know that that attention is void because sights are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because sights will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, [F.264.b] one should know that that attention is nonexistent because sounds are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because sounds are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because sounds are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of sounds, one should know that that attention is void because sounds are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because sounds will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because odors are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because odors are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because odors are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of odors, one should know that that attention is void because odors are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because odors will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because tastes are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because tastes are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because tastes are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of tastes, one should know that that attention is void because tastes are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because tastes will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because tangibles are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because tangibles are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because tangibles are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention [F.265.a] because of the emptiness of tangibles, one should know that that attention is void because tangibles are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because tangibles will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because mental phenomena are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because mental phenomena are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because mental phenomena are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of mental phenomena, one should know that that attention is void because mental phenomena are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because mental phenomena will not fully awaken.

13.333 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because visual consciousness is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because visual consciousness is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because visual consciousness is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of visual consciousness, one should know that that attention is void because visual consciousness is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because visual consciousness will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because auditory consciousness is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because auditory consciousness is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because auditory consciousness is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness [F.265.b] of that attention because of the emptiness of auditory consciousness, one should know that that attention is void because auditory consciousness is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because auditory consciousness will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because olfactory consciousness is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because olfactory consciousness is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because olfactory consciousness is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of olfactory consciousness, one should know that that attention is void because olfactory consciousness is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because olfactory consciousness will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because gustatory consciousness is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because gustatory consciousness is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because gustatory consciousness is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of gustatory consciousness, one should know that that attention is void because gustatory consciousness is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because gustatory consciousness will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because tactile consciousness is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because tactile consciousness is a nonentity, one should know that that attention [F.266.a] is without an essential nature because tactile consciousness is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of tactile consciousness, one should know that that attention is void because tactile consciousness is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because tactile consciousness will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because mental consciousness is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because mental consciousness is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because mental consciousness is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of mental consciousness, one should know that that attention is void because mental consciousness is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because mental consciousness will not fully awaken.

13.334 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because visually compounded sensory contact is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because visually compounded sensory contact is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because visually compounded sensory contact is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of visually compounded sensory contact, one should know that that attention is void because visually compounded sensory contact is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because visually compounded sensory contact will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent [F.266.b] because aurally compounded sensory contact is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because aurally compounded sensory contact is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because aurally compounded sensory contact is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of aurally compounded sensory contact, one should know that that attention is void because aurally compounded sensory contact is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because aurally compounded sensory contact will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because nasally compounded sensory contact is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because nasally compounded sensory contact is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because nasally compounded sensory contact is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of nasally compounded sensory contact, one should know that that attention is void because nasally compounded sensory contact is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because nasally compounded sensory contact will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because lingually compounded sensory contact is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because lingually compounded sensory contact is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because lingually compounded sensory contact is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of lingually compounded sensory contact, one should know that that attention is void because lingually compounded sensory contact is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because lingually compounded sensory contact [F.267.a] will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because corporeally compounded sensory contact is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because corporeally compounded sensory contact is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because corporeally compounded sensory contact is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of corporeally compounded sensory contact, one should know that that attention is void because corporeally compounded sensory contact is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because corporeally compounded sensory contact will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because mentally compounded sensory contact is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because mentally compounded sensory contact is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because mentally compounded sensory contact is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of mentally compounded sensory contact, one should know that that attention is void because mentally compounded sensory contact is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because mentally compounded sensory contact will not fully awaken.

13.335 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of [F.267.b] feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact, one should know that that attention is void because feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because feelings conditioned by visually compounded sensory contact will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact, one should know that that attention is void because feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because feelings conditioned by aurally compounded sensory contact will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact, one should know that that attention is void because feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because feelings conditioned by nasally compounded sensory contact will not fully awaken. [F.268.a] Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact, one should know that that attention is void because feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because feelings conditioned by lingually compounded sensory contact will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact, one should know that that attention is void because feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because feelings conditioned by corporeally compounded sensory contact will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because [F.268.b] feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact, one should know that that attention is void because feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because feelings conditioned by mentally compounded sensory contact will not fully awaken. [B18]

13.336 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the earth element is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the earth element is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the earth element is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the earth element, one should know that that attention is void because the earth element is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the earth element will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the water element is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the water element is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the water element is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the water element, one should know that that attention is void because the water element is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the water element will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, [F.269.a] one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the fire element is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the fire element is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the fire element is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the fire element, one should know that that attention is void because the fire element is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the fire element will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the wind element is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the wind element is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the wind element is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the wind element, one should know that that attention is void because the wind element is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the wind element will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the space element is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the space element is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the space element is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the space element, one should know that that attention is void because the space element is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the space element will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent [F.269.b] because the consciousness element is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the consciousness element is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the consciousness element is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the consciousness element, one should know that that attention is void because the consciousness element is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the consciousness element will not fully awaken.

13.337 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because ignorance is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because ignorance is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because ignorance is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of ignorance, one should know that that attention is void because ignorance is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because ignorance will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because formative predispositions are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because formative predispositions are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because formative predispositions are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of formative predispositions, one should know that that attention is void because formative predispositions are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because formative predispositions will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because consciousness is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity [F.270.a] because consciousness is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because consciousness is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of consciousness, one should know that that attention is void because consciousness is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because consciousness will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because name and form are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because name and form are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because name and form are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of name and form, one should know that that attention is void because name and form are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because name and form will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the six sense fields are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the six sense fields are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the six sense fields are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the six sense fields, one should know that that attention is void because the six sense fields are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the six sense fields will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because sensory contact is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity [F.270.b] because sensory contact is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because sensory contact is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of sensory contact, one should know that that attention is void because sensory contact is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because sensory contact will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because sensation is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because sensation is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because sensation is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of sensation, one should know that that attention is void because sensation is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because sensation will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because craving is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because craving is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because craving is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of craving, one should know that that attention is void because craving is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because craving will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because grasping is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because grasping is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because grasping is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness [F.271.a] of that attention because of the emptiness of grasping, one should know that that attention is void because grasping is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because grasping will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the rebirth process is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the rebirth process is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the rebirth process is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the rebirth process, one should know that that attention is void because the rebirth process is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the rebirth process will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because birth is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because birth is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because birth is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of birth, one should know that that attention is void because birth is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because birth will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because aging and death are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because aging and death are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because aging and death are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of aging and death, one should know that that attention is void because aging and death are void, [F.271.b] and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because aging and death will not fully awaken.

13.338 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the perfection of generosity is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the perfection of generosity is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the perfection of generosity is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the perfection of generosity, one should know that that attention is void because the perfection of generosity is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the perfection of generosity will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the perfection of ethical discipline is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the perfection of ethical discipline is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the perfection of ethical discipline is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the perfection of ethical discipline, one should know that that attention is void because the perfection of ethical discipline is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the perfection of ethical discipline will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the perfection of tolerance is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the perfection of tolerance is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the perfection of tolerance is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention [F.272.a] because of the emptiness of the perfection of tolerance, one should know that that attention is void because the perfection of tolerance is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the perfection of tolerance will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the perfection of perseverance is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the perfection of perseverance is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the perfection of perseverance is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the perfection of perseverance, one should know that that attention is void because the perfection of perseverance is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the perfection of perseverance will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the perfection of meditative concentration is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the perfection of meditative concentration is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the perfection of meditative concentration is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the perfection of meditative concentration, one should know that that attention is void because the perfection of meditative concentration is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the perfection of meditative concentration will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent [F.272.b] because the perfection of wisdom is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the perfection of wisdom is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the perfection of wisdom is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the perfection of wisdom, one should know that that attention is void because the perfection of wisdom is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the perfection of wisdom will not fully awaken.

13.339 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the emptiness of internal phenomena is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the emptiness of internal phenomena is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the emptiness of internal phenomena is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the emptiness of internal phenomena, one should know that that attention is void because the emptiness of internal phenomena is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the emptiness of internal phenomena will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the emptiness of external phenomena is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the emptiness of external phenomena is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the emptiness of external phenomena is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the emptiness of external phenomena, one should know that that attention is void because the emptiness of external phenomena is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the emptiness of external phenomena will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because [F.273.a] the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the emptiness of external and internal phenomena, one should know that that attention is void because the emptiness of external and internal phenomena is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the emptiness of external and internal phenomena will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the emptiness of emptiness is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the emptiness of emptiness is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the emptiness of emptiness is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the emptiness of emptiness, one should know that that attention is void because the emptiness of emptiness is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the emptiness of emptiness will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the emptiness of great extent is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the emptiness of great extent is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the emptiness of great extent is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the emptiness of great extent, one should know that that attention is void because the emptiness of great extent is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the emptiness [F.273.b] of great extent will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the emptiness of ultimate reality is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the emptiness of ultimate reality is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the emptiness of ultimate reality is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the emptiness of ultimate reality, one should know that that attention is void because the emptiness of ultimate reality is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the emptiness of ultimate reality will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the emptiness of conditioned phenomena, one should know that that attention is void because the emptiness of conditioned phenomena is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the emptiness of conditioned phenomena will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, [F.274.a] one should know that that attention is void because the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the emptiness of unconditioned phenomena will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the emptiness of the unlimited is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the emptiness of the unlimited is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the emptiness of the unlimited is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the emptiness of the unlimited, one should know that that attention is void because the emptiness of the unlimited is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the emptiness of the unlimited will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, one should know that that attention is void because the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the emptiness of nonexclusion [F.274.b] is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the emptiness of nonexclusion is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the emptiness of nonexclusion is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the emptiness of nonexclusion, one should know that that attention is void because the emptiness of nonexclusion is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the emptiness of nonexclusion will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the emptiness of inherent nature is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the emptiness of inherent nature is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the emptiness of inherent nature is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the emptiness of inherent nature, one should know that that attention is void because the emptiness of inherent nature is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the emptiness of inherent nature will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the emptiness of all phenomena is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the emptiness of all phenomena is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the emptiness of all phenomena is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the emptiness of all phenomena, one should know that that attention is void because the emptiness of all phenomena is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the emptiness [F.275.a] of all phenomena will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, one should know that that attention is void because the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, one should know that that attention is void because the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the emptiness of nonentities is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the emptiness of nonentities is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the emptiness of nonentities is without an essential nature, one should know [F.275.b] the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the emptiness of nonentities, one should know that that attention is void because the emptiness of nonentities is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the emptiness of nonentities will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the emptiness of essential nature is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the emptiness of essential nature is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the emptiness of essential nature is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the emptiness of essential nature, one should know that that attention is void because the emptiness of essential nature is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the emptiness of essential nature will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities, one should know that that attention is void because the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities will not fully awaken.

13.340 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent [F.276.a] because the applications of mindfulness are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the applications of mindfulness are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the applications of mindfulness are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the applications of mindfulness, one should know that that attention is void because the applications of mindfulness are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the applications of mindfulness will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the correct exertions are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the correct exertions are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the correct exertions are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the correct exertions, one should know that that attention is void because the correct exertions are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the correct exertions will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the supports for miraculous ability are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the supports for miraculous ability are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the supports for miraculous ability are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the supports for miraculous ability, one should know that that attention is void because the supports for miraculous ability are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the supports [F.276.b] for miraculous ability will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the faculties are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the faculties are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the faculties are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the faculties, one should know that that attention is void because the faculties are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the faculties will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the powers are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the powers are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the powers are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the powers, one should know that that attention is void because the powers are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the powers will not fully awaken. [F.277.a] Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the noble eightfold path is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the noble eightfold path is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the noble eightfold path is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the noble eightfold path, one should know that that attention is void because the noble eightfold path is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the noble eightfold path will not fully awaken.

13.341 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the truths of the noble ones are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the truths of the noble ones are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the truths of the noble ones are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the truths of the noble ones, one should know that that attention is void because the truths of the noble ones are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the truths of the noble ones will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the meditative concentrations are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the meditative concentrations are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the meditative concentrations are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the meditative concentrations, one should know [F.277.b] that that attention is void because the meditative concentrations are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the meditative concentrations will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the immeasurable attitudes are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the immeasurable attitudes are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the immeasurable attitudes are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the immeasurable attitudes, one should know that that attention is void because the immeasurable attitudes are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the immeasurable attitudes will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the formless absorptions are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the formless absorptions are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the formless absorptions are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the formless absorptions, one should know that that attention is void because the formless absorptions are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the formless absorptions will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the liberations are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the liberations are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the liberations [F.278.a] are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the liberations, one should know that that attention is void because the liberations are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the liberations will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the serial steps of meditative absorption are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the serial steps of meditative absorption are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the serial steps of meditative absorption are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the serial steps of meditative absorption, one should know that that attention is void because the serial steps of meditative absorption are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the serial steps of meditative absorption will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because emptiness is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because emptiness is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because emptiness is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of emptiness, one should know that that attention is void because emptiness is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because emptiness will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because signlessness is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because signlessness is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because signlessness is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of signlessness, one should know that that attention is void because signlessness is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because signlessness will not fully awaken.

Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because wishlessness is nonexistent, [F.278.b] one should know that that attention is a nonentity because wishlessness is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because wishlessness is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of wishlessness, one should know that that attention is void because wishlessness is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because wishlessness will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the extrasensory powers are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the extrasensory powers are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the extrasensory powers are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the extrasensory powers, one should know that that attention is void because the extrasensory powers are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the extrasensory powers will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the meditative stabilities are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity [F.279.a] because the meditative stabilities are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the meditative stabilities are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the meditative stabilities, one should know that that attention is void because the meditative stabilities are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the meditative stabilities will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the dhāraṇī gateways are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the dhāraṇī gateways are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the dhāraṇī gateways are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the dhāraṇī gateways, one should know that that attention is void because the dhāraṇī gateways are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the dhāraṇī gateways will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the powers of the tathāgatas are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the powers of the tathāgatas are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the powers of the tathāgatas are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the powers of the tathāgatas, one should know that that attention is void because the powers of the tathāgatas are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the powers of the tathāgatas will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one [F.279.b] should know that that attention is nonexistent because the fearlessnesses are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the fearlessnesses are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the fearlessnesses are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the fearlessnesses, one should know that that attention is void because the fearlessnesses are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the fearlessnesses will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the kinds of exact knowledge are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the kinds of exact knowledge are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the kinds of exact knowledge are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the kinds of exact knowledge, one should know that that attention is void because the kinds of exact knowledge are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the kinds of exact knowledge will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because great loving kindness is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because great loving kindness is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because great loving kindness is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of great loving kindness, one should know that that attention is void because great loving kindness is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because great loving kindness will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because great compassion is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because great compassion is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because great compassion is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of great compassion, one should know that that attention is void because great compassion is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening [F.280.a] because great compassion will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the distinct qualities of the buddhas are nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the distinct qualities of the buddhas are nonentities, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the distinct qualities of the buddhas are without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the distinct qualities of the buddhas, one should know that that attention is void because the distinct qualities of the buddhas are void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the distinct qualities of the buddhas will not fully awaken.

13.342 Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because omniscience is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because omniscience is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because [F.280.b] omniscience is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of omniscience, one should know that that attention is void because omniscience is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because omniscience will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because the knowledge of the aspects of the path is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because the knowledge of the aspects of the path is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because the knowledge of the aspects of the path is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of the knowledge of the aspects of the path, one should know that that attention is void because the knowledge of the aspects of the path is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because the knowledge of the aspects of the path will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent because all-aspect omniscience is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because all-aspect omniscience is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because all-aspect omniscience is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of all-aspect omniscience, one should know that that attention is void because all-aspect omniscience is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because all-aspect omniscience will not fully awaken. Venerable Śāradvatīputra, one should know that that attention is nonexistent [F.281.a] because enlightenment is nonexistent, one should know that that attention is a nonentity because enlightenment is a nonentity, one should know that that attention is without an essential nature because enlightenment is without an essential nature, one should know the emptiness of that attention because of the emptiness of enlightenment, one should know that that attention is void because enlightenment is void, and one should know that that attention will not cause full awakening because enlightenment will not fully awaken.

13.343 “Venerable Śāradvatīputra, for this reason one should know that bodhisattva great beings are indeed inseparable from paying attention to great compassion.”

13.344 The Blessed One then congratulated Venerable Subhūti: “Excellent, Subhūti, excellent. The perfection of wisdom should be taught to bodhisattva great beings just as you, Subhūti, through the mighty power of the tathāgatas, teach it. Bodhisattva great beings should indeed train in the perfection of wisdom, just as you teach it.”

13.345 When Venerable Subhūti had spoken this chapter of the perfection of wisdom,<sup>628</sup> this world system of the great trichilocosm shook in six ways. That is to say, it shook, shuddered, and juddered. It rocked, reeled, and tottered. It quivered, careened, and convulsed. It trembled, throbbed, and quaked. It rumbled, roared, and thundered. It faltered, lurched, and staggered.<sup>629</sup> As its eastern sides plunged down, its western sides reared up; as its eastern sides reared up, its western sides plunged down; [F.281.b] as its northern sides plunged down, its southern sides reared up; as its northern sides reared up, its southern sides plunged down; as its center plunged down, its edges reared up; and as its edges plunged down, its center reared up.

13.346 At that time, the Blessed One smiled. Then Venerable Subhūti asked the Blessed One, “Blessed Lord, what is the reason and what are the circumstances for your smile?”

13.347 Venerable Subhūti having asked this, the Blessed One then said to him, “Subhūti, just as I teach the perfection of wisdom in this world system of Patient Endurance, in immeasurable and countless world systems of the eastern direction, too, the tathāgatas, arhats, perfectly complete buddhas teach this very perfection of wisdom to bodhisattva great beings. Subhūti, just as I teach the perfection of wisdom in this world system of Patient Endurance, in immeasurable and countless world systems of the southern direction, too, the tathāgatas, arhats, perfectly complete buddhas teach this very perfection of wisdom to bodhisattva great beings. Subhūti, just as I teach the perfection of wisdom in this world system of Patient Endurance, in immeasurable and countless world systems of the western direction, too, the tathāgatas, arhats, perfectly complete buddhas teach this very perfection of wisdom to bodhisattva great beings. Subhūti, just as I teach the perfection of wisdom [F.282.a] in this world system of Patient Endurance, in immeasurable and countless world systems of the northern direction, too, the tathāgatas, arhats, perfectly complete buddhas teach this very perfection of wisdom to bodhisattva great beings. Subhūti, just as I teach the perfection of wisdom in this world system of Patient Endurance, in immeasurable and countless world systems of the northeastern intermediate direction, too, the tathāgatas, arhats, perfectly complete buddhas teach this very perfection of wisdom to bodhisattva great beings. Subhūti, just as I teach the perfection of wisdom in this world system of Patient Endurance, in immeasurable and countless world systems of the southeastern intermediate direction, too, the tathāgatas, arhats, perfectly complete buddhas teach this very perfection of wisdom to bodhisattva great beings. Subhūti, just as I teach the perfection of wisdom in this world system of Patient Endurance, in immeasurable and countless world systems of the southwestern intermediate direction, too, the tathāgatas, arhats, perfectly complete buddhas teach this very perfection of wisdom to bodhisattva great beings. Subhūti, just as I teach the perfection of wisdom in this world system of Patient Endurance, in immeasurable [F.282.b] and countless world systems of the northwestern intermediate direction, too, the tathāgatas, arhats, perfectly complete buddhas teach this very perfection of wisdom to bodhisattva great beings. Subhūti, just as I teach the perfection of wisdom in this world system of Patient Endurance, in immeasurable and countless world systems of the direction of the nadir, too, the tathāgatas, arhats, perfectly complete buddhas teach this very perfection of wisdom to bodhisattva great beings. Subhūti, just as I teach the perfection of wisdom in this world system of Patient Endurance, in immeasurable and countless world systems of the direction of the zenith, too, the tathāgatas, arhats, perfectly complete buddhas teach this very perfection of wisdom to bodhisattva great beings.”

13.348 When this teaching on the perfection of wisdom was being delivered, twelve billion gods and human beings developed the tolerance for phenomena that are nonarising, Also, when the blessed lord buddhas taught this perfection of wisdom in world systems in all the ten directions, an immeasurable, countless number of beings set their minds on unsurpassed, perfectly complete enlightenment.

13.349 This completes the thirteenth chapter, “Subhūti,” from The Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand Lines.

ab.

ABBREVIATIONS

- Bṭ1* Anonymous/Daṃṣṭrāsena. shes rab kyi pha rol tu phyin pa 'bum gyi rgya cher 'grel (Śatasāhasrikāprajñāpāramitābṛhaṭṭikā) [Bṛhaṭṭikā]. Toh 3807, Degé Tengyur vols. 91–92 (shes phyin, na, pa).
- Bṭ3* Vasubandhu/Daṃṣṭrāsena. 'phags pa shes rab kyi pha rol tu phyin pa 'bum dang / nyi khri lnga sgong pa dang / khri brgyad stong pa rgya cher bshad pa (Āryasatasāhasrikāpañcaviṃśatisāhasrikāṣṭādaśa-sāhasrikāprajñāpāramitābṛhaṭṭikā) [Bṛhaṭṭikā]. Degé Tengyur vol. 93 (shes phyin, pha), folios 1b–292b.
- C* Choné (co ne) Kangyur and Tengyur.
- D* Degé (sde dge) Kangyur and Tengyur.
- Edg* Edgerton, Franklin. Buddhist Hybrid Sanskrit Dictionary. New Haven, 1953.
- Eight* Conze, Edward. The Perfection of Wisdom in Eight Thousand Lines & Thousand Its Verse Summary. Bolinas, Calif.: Four Seasons Foundation, 1973.
- Ghoṣa* Ghoṣa, Pratāpachandra, ed. Śatasāhasrikā Prajñāpāramitā. Asiatic Society of Bengal. Calcutta, 1902–14.
- Gilgit* Gilgit Buddhist Manuscripts (revised and enlarged compact facsimile edition). Vol. 1. by Raghu Vira and Lokesh Chandra. Bibliotheca Indo-Buddhica Series No. 150. Delhi 110007: Sri Satguru Publications, a division of Indian Books Center, 1995.
- K* Peking (pe cing) 1684/1692 Kangyur
- LSPW* Conze, Edward. The Large Sutra on Perfection Wisdom. Berkeley and Los Angeles, California: University of California Press, 1975. First paperback printing, 1984.
- MW* Monier-Williams, Monier. A Sanskrit-English dictionary: Etymologically and Philologically Arranged with Special Reference to Cognate Indo-European Languages. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1899.

- Mpps* Lamotte, Étienne. Le Traité de la Grande Vertu de Sagesse de Nāgārjuna (Mahāprajñā-pāramitā-śāstra). Vol. I and II: Bibliothèque du Muséon, 18. Louvain: Institut Orientaliste, 1949; reprinted 1967. Vol III, IV and V: Publications de l'Institut Orientaliste de Louvain, 2, 12 and 24. Louvain: Institut Orientaliste, 1970, 1976 and 1980.
- Mpps* Gelongma Karma Migme Chodron. The Treatise on the Great Virtue of Wisdom of Nāgārjuna. Gampo Abbey Nova Scotia, 2001. English translation of Étienne Lamotte (1949–80).
- Mvy* Mahāvoyutpatti (bye brag tu rtogs par byed pa chen po). Toh. 4346, Degé Tengyur vol. 306 (bstan bcos sna tshogs, co), folios 1b-131a.
- N* Narthang (snar thang) Kangyur and Tengyur.
- PSP* Pañcaviṃśatisāhasrikā Prajñāpāramitā. Edited by Takayasu Kimura. Tokyo: Sankibo Busshorin 2007–9 (1-1, 1-2), 1986 (2-3), 1990 (4), 1992 (5), 2006 (6-8). Available online (input by Klaus Wille, Göttingen) at GRETIL \(http://grettil.sub.uni-goettingen.de/grettil.html#orgb860d6d\).
- S* Stok Palace (stog pho brang bris ma) Kangyur.
- Skt* Sanskrit.
- Tib* Tibetan.
- Toh* Tōhoku Imperial University A Complete Catalogue of the Tibetan Buddhist Canons. (bkah-hgyur and bstan-hgyur). Edited by Ui, Hakuju; Suzuki, Munetada; Kanakura, Yenshō; and Taka, Tōkan. Tohoku Imperial University, Sendai, 1934.
- Z* Zacchetti, Stefano. In Praise of the Light. Bibliotheca Philologica et Philosophica Buddhica, Vol. 8. The International Research Institute for Advanced Buddhology. Tokyo: Soka University, 2005.
- le'u* shes rab kyi pha rol tu phyin pa stong phrag nyi shu lnga pa (Pañcaviṃśatisāhasrikāprajñāpāramitā) [Haribhadra's "Eight Chapters"].
brgyad Toh 3790, vols. 82–84 (shes phyin, ga, nga, ca). Citations are from ma the 1976–79 Karmapae chodhey gyalwae sungrab partun khang edition, first the Tib. vol. letter in italics, followed by the folio and line number.

n.

NOTES

- n.1 Evidence mentioned in the traditional histories for the same teaching to have been recorded in sūtras of different length is that the interlocutors are the same, and that all versions contain the same prophecy made about Gaṅgadevī, related in chapter 43 of the present text. See Butön, folios 73.b–74.a.
- n.2 The six “mother” Prajñāpāramitā sūtras (yum drug), so called because they include all eight implicit topics of the Abhisamayālaṅkāra, are the five long sūtras (in one hundred thousand, twenty-five thousand, eighteen thousand, ten thousand, and eight thousand lines, Toh 8–12), along with the Verse Summary (Ratnaguṇasaṅcayaḡāthā, Toh 13), which is said to have been taught subsequently in the Magadha dialect.
- n.3 Butön, folio 99.b; translation in Stein and Zangpo, p. 229.
- n.4 See The Perfection of Wisdom in Twenty-Five Thousand Lines (Toh 9) introduction (<https://read.84000.co/translation/toh9.html#introduction>), and The Perfection of Wisdom in Eighteen Thousand Lines (Toh 10) introduction (<https://read.84000.co/translation/toh10.html#introduction>).
- n.5 See the 84000 Knowledge Base page on the Degé Kangyur’s Perfection of Wisdom section (<https://read.84000.co/knowledgebase/perfection-wisdom-kangyur.html>).
- n.6 See Falk 2011; Falk and Karashima (2012 and 2013); and Salomon 2018, pp. 335–58.
- n.7 This hypothesis, favored by most modern scholars as well as by traditional Nepalese exegetes, is also supported by the fact that one of the seven Chinese translations of the Eight Thousand, the Dao xing jing (道行經), or Dao xing banruo jing (道行般若經; Taishō 224), was the earliest ever of the Prajñāpāramitā texts to be translated (by Lokakṣema and others in 179 CE)—a century before the first “long” group of sūtras was brought to China from Khotan. Nevertheless, traditional scholarship in both China and Tibet favored the idea that the Eight Thousand was an abridgement or extract of the long sūtras. See Zacchetti 2015, p. 177.

- n.8 See von Hinüber 2014 and Zacchetti 2015, p. 187. Critical editions of parts of the manuscript have been published by Conze (1962 and 1974), Zacchetti (2005), and Choong (2006).
- n.9 See Conze 1978, pp. 34–35 and 40, and Conze 1974.
- n.10 See Zacchetti 2005, pp. 19–22.
- n.11 See Suzuki and Nagashima 2015.
- n.12 Since the longer texts are prose works, “line” (śloka) in this context is simply a unit of measure of thirty-two syllables, rather than implying a verse couplet as in some other contexts.
- n.13 According to Zacchetti (2015, p. 176), the mentions come in a list of Prajñāpāramitā scriptures at the beginning of the Jin’gang xian lun (金剛仙論, Taishō 1512 (<https://cbetaonline.dila.edu.tw/en/T1512>)).
- n.14 This point was emphasized by Zacchetti (2005, pp. 42–50), and is further discussed in Zacchetti 2015, pp. 185–87.
- n.15 Da banruoboreboluomiduo jing (大般若波羅蜜多經, Taishō 220 (<https://cbetaonline.dila.edu.tw/en/T0220>)).
- n.16 For a more detailed account of the successive Chinese translations of The Perfection of Wisdom in Twenty-Five Thousand Lines, see the introduction to The Perfection of Wisdom in Twenty-Five Thousand Lines (Toh 9), i.11–i.21.
- n.17 More so than the Sanskrit of the Twenty-Five Thousand matches the Tibetan of the Kangyur version, for the case of the Twenty-Five Thousand is complicated by the existence of two different versions in Tibetan, one in the Kangyur (Toh 9) and the other in the Tengyur (Toh 3790); the Sanskrit matches the “eight-chapter” Tengyur version most closely. For more detail, see the introduction to The Perfection of Wisdom in Twenty-Five Thousand Lines (Toh 9), i.35–i.39.
- n.18 See Martin 2012. The blog posts of Dan Martin (Yerushalmi) on the topic of these early, imperial period translations have been most helpful in our explorations of it. Note that the word bla, which has many possible connotations, could also be understood as meaning “early” or “primary.” In Ngawang Zangpo 2010, bla 'bum is rendered “Master Copy.”

- n.19 Although given the clan name Nyang (nyang) in Butön’s History, in the Padma Kathang (pad+ma bka' thang, a fourteenth-century treasure text revealed by Orgyen Lingpa), and in a number of later works, other early texts say he was of the Lang (rlangs or sometimes glang) family. Alaksha Tendar mentions both clan names (folio 5.b). Khampa Gocha was among the earliest ordained Tibetan monks (but not one of the “seven men who were tested”). He is also sometimes referred to as Lang Khampa Lotsāwa, and may (according to Amyé Shab) be the same person as Lang Sugata Gocha (rlangs su ga ta go cha) or Lang Déwarsheka Gocha Sungpa (rlangs bde bar gshegs pa go cha bsrungs pa); see van der Kuijp 2013, pp. 178–79.
- n.20 Butön, folio 146.a. See also Nishioka, p. 68, # 105.
- n.21 A draft translation of the relevant passage is provided by Martin 2012.
- n.22 Rongtönpa, folios 3.a–3.b; Minling Terchen, folio 198.a; Alaksha Tendar, folios 5.b–6.b; Kongtrul, p. 227.
- n.23 Degé dkar chag, chapter 2, folios 88.b–89.a; chapter 3, 2.2.12; chapter 4, folios 117.a–117.b.
- n.24 Narthang dkar chag rgyas pa, folio 24.a et seq., or Pedurma vol. 106, pp. 113–18 (the latter being considerably easier to read). See bibliography entry under Olkha Lelung Lobsang Trinlé.
- n.25 The Narthang catalog agrees on folio 24.a, but the summarized list of six manuscripts on folio 25.a (see below) suggests that the first translation was made in the reign of Tridé Tsuktsen, Tri Songdetsen’s father.
- n.26 The Tibetan word dum bu, literally “piece” or “portion” is used in these descriptions, and although it may denote volumes, the meaning may be some other physical division into parts.
- n.27 According to most accounts, although Rongtönpa’s (folio 3.a) could be read as referring rather to the queen’s blood being used. The Tibetan mtshal (meaning “vermilion,” or just “red”) added to khrag (“blood”) most likely serves simply as an honorific, or denotes red ink made with blood, or might possibly even imply that vermilion was added to blood to make red ink.
- n.28 See the introduction to The Aparimitāyurjñāna Sūtra (2) (Toh 675), i.8.
- n.29 See van Schaik 2002.

- n.30 The translations of these often-cryptic names are tentative. They are made on the assumption that each starts with a king's name or moniker.
- n.31 The Tibetan bye in this name could also be understood to mean "sand" or "million."
- n.32 Presumed to be Namdé Ösung (gnam sde 'od srungs), a son of Langdarma; for details see Dungkar's dictionary, p. 1217.
- n.33 Narthang catalog, folio 25.a. The mention of here of a "Darma" sponsoring the production of a Hundred Thousand, if it refers to Langdarma, is one among other pieces of historical evidence suggesting that Langdarma may not have been as hostile to Buddhism as the widespread traditional account relates.
- n.34 Rongtönpa, folios 3.b.5–4.a.2.
- n.35 We have so far been unable to identify this person further, or the period in which he lived; his revised version seems to be anterior to Ngok's revision, but the chronology needs further investigation.
- n.36 Rongtönpa had already said earlier (folio 3.a) that there were many copies of even the first, shortest translation to be found in Central Tibet. Indeed, Martin 2012 reports on the finding in Drepung by the contemporary Tibetan scholar Kawa Sherab Sangpo of one such "red manuscript" four-volume set.
- n.37 Narthang catalog, folio 25.a.7.
- n.38 Rongtönpa, folios 4.a.6–4.b.6.
- n.39 Degé Kangyur dkar chag, F.117.a. The absorptions mentioned in the dkar chag are (1) shes rab sgron ma, (2) snang ba gsal ba, and (3) zla ba'i sgron me.
- n.40 Rongtönpa, folio 5.a.4.
- n.41 Rongtönpa, folios 3.b–4.a. One clue that the seventeen versions he mentions belong to the imperial period and precede Ngok's revision is that the tenth was produced by Lhalung Pelkyi Dorje (lha lung dpal gyi rdo rje), presumably the same as the well-known ninth-century figure said to have assassinated Langdarma (see Treasury of Lives (<https://treasuryoflives.org/biographies/view/Lhalung-Pelgyi-Dorje/9618>)).
- n.42 Narthang catalog, folio 25.a.7. From the sequence of the passage concerned it would seem that this version must have appeared before the time of the thirteenth-century Chomden Rikpai Raltri (bcom ldan rig pa'i ral gri, 1227– 1305). The best known Yarlung Jowo is Shākya Rinchen Dé, fifteenth-century author notably of a history, but not known for his work on the editing or production of Kangyurs. He is therefore probably not the person referred to here, nor is it likely to be the famous Yarlung Lotsāwa Drakpa Gyaltsen (1242–1346). Another Yarlungpa is mentioned as a Narthang scholar who may have been responsible for an early Tengyur or its catalog. See Schaeffer and van der Kuijp 2009, p. 36, and Almogi 2021, pp. 177–78.

- n.43 Rongtönpa, folio 5.b.
- n.44 Neither of the two copies of the Hemis Kangyur, the fifth of the Kangyurs that add the extra chapters, is complete enough at the end of the final volume to show whether or not there was a colophon.
- n.45 'di ni bsam yas dang lha sa'i rig zing mtshams mi 'da' la sogs pa la gtugs nas/ zhus dag lan bcu drug byas pa'i rgyan gong gi 'bum nag mtshams mi 'da' la phyi mo byas nas/ dag par gtugs pa'i 'bum sdig ma 'dres zhes bya ba'i gser 'bum bcu gnyis dum/ lo tsa ba chen po thams cad mkhyen pa bu ston rin chen grub kyi thugs dam la phyi mo bgyis nas/ mkhas chen rin chen rgyal mtshan pas bzhengs pa la ma phyi bgyis pa'o. In Tibetan literature overall, such a large number of figures with the name Rinchen Gyaltsen are recorded that it would be difficult to identify this one with certainty. However, if the moniker “great scholar” is taken as a specific one, there was a fifteenth-century scholar at Sangphu referred to as mkhas dbang rin chen rgyal mtshan.
- n.46 On the differences between the Kangyur and Tengyur versions, see the introduction to The Perfection of Wisdom in Twenty-Five Thousand Lines, i.35–i.39.
- n.47 See the introduction to The Perfection of Wisdom in Twenty-Five Thousand Lines, i.111–i.113.
- n.48 In the Twenty-Five Thousand, ch. 26 has the title “The Hells,” and ch. 27 “The Purity of All the Dharmas.”
- n.49 The reservation here is that, at a fine-grain level, the Abhisamayālamkāra only fits the order of the Twenty-Five Thousand fully in the version of the sūtra in the Tengyur (Toh 3790) and not in the Kangyur version (Toh 9); see n.46.
- n.50 On Smṛtijñānakīrti, see his biography in Treasury of Lives (<https://treasuryoflives.org/biographies/view/Smrtijñānakīrti/P4849>).
- n.51 For an explanation of these various names (a complex topic), see i.7–i.13.
- n.52 This commentary has been translated and published by 84000, and will be linked to the present text. See The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of

Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines (<https://read.84000.co/translation/toh3808.html>) (Toh 3808), 2022; details of its authorship attribution, etc., can be found in the introduction.

- n.53 This commentary (Toh 3807) is currently being translated by 84000 and, when ready, will be linked to the present text. For its authorship attribution, see as follows: Denkarma folio 5.a; see also Hermann-Pfandt 514. Phangthangma, p. 54; see also Kawagoe 767. Chomden Rikpai Raltri, folio 70.b.3; see also Schaeffer and van der Kuijp 2009, p. 263. Butön, folio 156.a.
- n.54 For details of these Tibetan lineages of prajñāpāramitā study, see Kongtrul, pp. 227–28, translated in Stein and Zangpo 2013, pp. 258–60; see also Brunnhölzl 2010, vol. 1, pp. 43–46.
- n.55 Dolpopa explicitly emphasized the importance, in his opinion, of the Byhaṭṭīkā commentarial tradition over that of the Abhisamayālaṅkāra.
- n.56 bka' yang dag pas, here and in the Twenty-Five Thousand, is one Tibetan rendering in the canonical texts of the Skt. samyagājñā, the other being the more widespread yang dag pa'i shes pas (“by perfect understanding”), as in the equivalent phrase in the Eighteen Thousand, 1.2 and as recommended in Mahāvīyūtpatti 1087. See also The Jewel Cloud (Toh 231), 1.2 and n.21. Vetter, p. 67, n. 53, says it “deviates from the translation” of it as a verb (kun shes pa, “fully understand”).
- n.57 Bṭ1: “It means thus, in the order explained above, those who possess the inspired eloquence that was unimpeded are simply in possession of the good quality of being extremely skillful at the ‘inexhaustible’ many types of means for teaching the doctrine to beings.” Vetter, p. 29, n. 66, says “one would rather expect a kṣaya belonging to pratisaṃvoid,” suggesting as an alternative translation “had comprehended the teaching, the inexhaustible mode of the detailed and thorough knowledges.”
- n.58 Edgerton s.v. kuhana: “hypocrisy, specifically display of behavior designed to stimulate laymen to give gifts.”
- n.59 “Realized and integrated” renders rtogs pa khong du chud pa. Cp. Kimura, 1–1:1, gambhīradharmakṣāntipāraṅgatair; Ghoṣa, Gilgit gambhīradharmakṣāntiparamagatim gatair, “gone to the furthest state that is a forbearance for the profound ultimate attribute.”
- n.60 By contrast, Bṭ1 renders this compound “they had overcome karma and afflicted mental states so they had overcome the hostile forces” and says it “means they had eliminated the enemy—karma and afflicted mental states.”

- n.61 Bṭ1: “ ‘Difficult for all śrāvakas and pratyekabuddhas to understand’ teaches that śrāvakas and pratyekabuddhas cannot understand the knowledge, aspiration, and range of practice of those bodhisattvas.” So too Vetter, p. 70.
- n.62 The correct reading is uncertain. Kimura, 1–1:1 anantakalpakoṭīniḥsaraṇakuśalair; Gilgit 1v2–3 (Zacchetti, p. 366; Vetter, p. 72), anantakalpa(ko)[ṭī]nirdeśajñāna-nirḥsaraṇakuśalair; Ghoṣa p. 4 anantakalpakoṭīnirdeśajñātibhiḥ saraṇyākuśalair? Edg s.v. niḥsaraṇa, citing Mvy 853, which cites this same passage (like Kimura) only with niḥsaraṇa (as in Bṭ3, 20a4 (1.110), nges par ’byung ba), suggests ye shes kyi (not *ye shes kyi*s) might go with ’byung ba; cp. yid ’byung ba (nirvid) (“disgust,” “renunciation”) in the sense of a mental emancipation from something otherwise believed to be real and a problem. Bṭ1, p. 650, also has kyi ’byung (“of”) and, like Bṭ3, says the ’byung ba here rendered “emancipation” means just that the bodhisattvas “have finished with and gone beyond” eons of teaching and working for beings, so, because of their practice of perseverance, at this level are effortless.
- n.63 This and the next are in an inverted order in D, which has not been followed here.
- n.64 Here and in the Twenty-Five Thousand, D reads shes pa phra ba, whereas the Ten Thousand has phra ba mkhyen pa. The Long Explanation (Toh 3808 1.123) here lists various aspects of this “subtle knowledge” or “knowledge that engages in subtlety” (which it renders as ye shes phra ba) with regard to conduct and so forth.
- n.65 Gilgit (Zacchetti, p. 367) and Ghoṣa, p. 5, pratītyanirdeśakuśalair; Vetter: “skilled in teaching dependent on the audience.” The brten pa rtogs pa is a don ’gyur. Emend Urga bden pa to brten pa. Bṭ1 glosses bden pa (emend to brten pa) rtogs pa with gzhan gyis rtogs par bya ba’i phyir bstan pa.
- n.66 Gilgit, Ghoṣa omit. Bṭ1 glosses it with “...stopping those actions and afflicted mental states of self and others through skillful means.”
- n.67 Bṭ1: “They do not ultimately view such scriptural doctrine as an existing thing, but conventionally, on account of their skill in the ‘ways of the doctrine,’ the various forms of teaching the levels and perfections and dharmas on the side of awakening and so on, they are fearless and are not scared, whatever the audience, when they differentiate and teach those doctrines.”
- n.68 This renders Gilgit yathātmyāvatarāṇakuśalaiḥ. Bṭ1 says this “teaches the skill in entry into the range of the knowledge of the tathāgatas. The range of the knowledge of the tathāgatas, furthermore, is twofold: the correct comprehension of the ultimate nature of things and the correct comprehension of the conventional nature of things. As for the correct comprehension of the ultimate nature, ultimately all phenomena are simply just the true nature, beyond causal signs and ideas. As for the correct comprehension of the conventional nature, it is the unsurpassed conduct of the blessed buddhas—bringing beings to maturity, purifying a buddhafiield, and so on. That is the meaning of being skilled in bringing about correct comprehension of the range of the tathāgatas.”

- n.69      Ghoṣa, p. 6, sarvabuddhotpādopasaṅkramaṅakuśalair; Bṭ1, p. 660: “This is teaching that having traveled to whichever world system in which the buddhas appear, they are skilled in worshipping and serving them.”
- n.70      Ghoṣa, p. 6, aparimitabuddhādhyeṣaṅakuśalair; Bṭ1, p. 660: “This means that having gone into the presence of all those blessed lord buddhas, as many as there are, maintaining themselves in innumerable, immeasurable world systems, they request them to turn the wheel of the Dharma, and request those thinking to enter into final nirvāṇa to stay for a long time.”
- n.71      Bṭ1, p. 661: “This teaches that they possess the result from having completed the meditative stabilities that are the cause of the extrasensory powers. It means they are skilled, through the power of having earlier meditated on many types of meditative stabilities, at reveling in the various types of miraculous powers and working in various ways for the welfare of beings.”
- n.72      Ghoṣa, p. 6, and Kimura, 1–1:1, Sārthavāha. This is also the form found in the Twenty-Five Thousand.
- n.73      This name is not attested, except perhaps in Gilgit, 1v11, where the illegible letter that Zacchetti, p. 367, n. 6, renders as pā (following Ghoṣa’s bhadrapāla) may in fact be ba.
- n.74      Here and in the following the names have been rendered as ending in -mati in accord with the Tib blo gros, not as expected with the Skt possessive ending -matin.
- n.75      mthu dam pas rnam par gnon pa in place of rab kyi rtsal gyis rnam par gnon pa.
- n.76      Ghoṣa, p. 6; Kimura, 1–1:2, has Anupamacintin.
- n.77      Gilgit, 2r3, Vyūharāja (rnam par bkod pa’i rgyal po).
- n.78      dgongs pa is honorific for dran pa; cf. Bṭ1, p. 662, dran pa mngon du gzhtag pa bstan pa’i phyir.

- n.79 'phrul gyi spyan is the pre-reform translation of divyacakṣus ("divine eye").
- n.80 For all the parts of the body mentioned in this paragraph, the Tib reads 'od zer bye ba khrag khrig brgya stong drug cu drug cu. The translation does not repeat drug cu ("sixty") because it signifies that sets of that number of rays of light are emitted from each one of the paired parts of his body or individual members in the list. Ghoṣa omits ṣaṣṭiṣaṣṭi each time.
- n.81 On the specific number hundred thousand ten million billion see the enumeration spelled out in detail, beginning from one and going up to an anabhilāpyānabhilāpya, below (2.164).
- n.82 In both the Skt and Tib, in each of the six sets of three words the same verb is used with the same prefixes indicating greater intensity.
- n.83 This reading (also in the Twenty-Five Thousand and the Tengyur version of the Twenty-Five Thousand) appears to render mṛduka and snigdha not literally, but in accord with what they are attempting to convey; cf. Mppś (English translation), pp. 376–77, "the Buddha first shows his miraculous power to the beings of the trisāhasramahāsāhasralokadhātu; then, when their minds are softened (mṛduka, snigdha), he preaches the Dharma to them. This is why he shakes the earth in six ways." Bṭ1, p. 667: "Even when it shakes in six ways, beings do not become alarmed, scared, and so on, and the mountains, ground, vegetation, and so on become easily traversable, verdant, and delightful." On nyams su bde ba cf. Negi s.v. nyams bde ba.
- n.84 log par ltung / lhung ba, vinipāta.
- n.85 This D reading, absent from K, N, and so on, is supported by both Ghoṣa and Gilgit and in large part by the Eighteen Thousand.
- n.86 This renders Ghoṣa, p. 21, prakṛtyātmabhāvah (prakṛtyā ātmabhāvah), literally "his own body, in its basic nature." Cf. Kimura, 1–1:6, ātmabhāvam prakṛtam, "an ordinary body" (Zacchetti, pp. 266–67, n. 202, citing Lamotte, vol. 1, p. 517, "corps ordinaire").
- n.87 This renders Ghoṣa, p. 21, śuddhāvāsakāyikādevanikāyā ābhāsvarā brahmakāyikāḥ; cp. Kimura, 1–1:6, śubhākṛtsnā ābhāsvarā brahmakāyikā. Here and in the Twenty-Five Thousand the name kun snang dang ba (ābhāsvara) refers to the third of the three divisions of the gods of the second meditative concentration in the form realm. The rendering 'od gsal ba (ābhāsvara) is more frequent; dang ba is perhaps gdangs for svara. That the order is unusual here is corroborated by the detailed explanation in Mppś (English translation), pp. 409–12.

- n.88 Nakamura (2014, p. 516) renders these “strewing [flowers] near [to Buddha], strewing [flowers] in front [of Buddha] and strewing [flowers] all around [Buddha].” The Tib says, literally, “strew down on, strew over, and strew right over.”
- n.89 Again, in each of the three words the same verb is used with prefixes indicating greater intensity. Ghoṣa, p. 22, lambante sma pralambante sma abhipralambante sma.
- n.90 This is the spelling, not bṛha(t) in Ghoṣa (the only place these divisions are attested to our knowledge).
- n.91 A literal rendering is “in the form of a youth” (kumārabhūta). Bṛ1, pp. 674–74: They are “bodhisattvas seated in the presence of the Blessed One Śākyamuni, among whom some naturally have few attachments and from first producing the thought are celibate and have completed the ten levels, and some are bodhisattvas who have attained a standing on the eighth level and above free from effort and conceptualization. They are like young princes, and they are suitable to be given the empowerment as the regent (rḡyal tshab) of a blessed lord buddha, a Dharma king, because they are standing at the level of a successor of a Dharma king.”
- n.92 der nyams par gyur ta re renders Ghoṣa, p. 30, ma tatra kṣanethāḥ.
- n.93 “Since” renders upādāya, rendered phyir in Tib, in the sense that the perfection comes after what is preceded by it (phyi ru).
- n.94 “False imagination” renders yongs su rtog pa. Kimura, 1–1:28, vikṣiptacittān; Ghoṣa, p. 56, avikṣepāśaṅkaraṇatām (“no disturbance and nothing that makes you anxious”); Gilgit (Zacchetti), p. 376, dhyānamadānāsvādanatām, and the Twenty-Five Thousand and the Eighteen Thousand, which share the same reading, all differ.
- n.95 Emend skye ba, “birth,” to C skyo ba (Ghoṣa, Kimura, Gilgit udvega), “disillusionment.”
- n.96 Kimura, 1–1:29, aśuci (“uncleanliness”).
- n.97 This renders advaya (in all editions of the Hundred Thousand) in place of Ghoṣa, Kimura, and Gilgit anvaya; Twenty-Five Thousand, ka 28a7 (2.5), rjes su 'gro ba; Eighteen Thousand, ka 12a5 (2.4), and Bṛ1, p. 703, rjes su rtogs pa.
- n.98 Ghoṣa yathāruta; Gilgit yathāva(t); Bṛ1, p. 705, and Bṛ3 4.55: “have an understanding and knowledge of all the languages and speech of hell beings, animals, ghosts, gods, humans, and Brahmā deities.”

- n.99 Cf. the entry on vitakka by Bhikkhu Anālayo in Encyclopedia of Buddhism, edited by G.P. Malalasekera et al, vol. 8 (2009), pp. 14–15 s.v. vitakka and jhāna. The “initial application of mind” (Tib rnam par rtog pa; Skt vitarka) and “sustained application of mind” (Tib rnam par dpyod pa; Skt vicāra) are necessary before reaching the stillness of the second meditative concentration. These are not gross conceptual states that give rise to lust or hatred. The author makes a rather nice association of the two terms with the way the mind works when somebody is going to say something. It may be fully articulated within the mind before it is said, or it may not be. In both cases there is a deep mental effort, as it were, not a gross level of thinking, necessary to get out what you want to say, and in that sense there is a level of effort in the first concentration absent on the higher levels.
- n.100 This renders PSP, 1–1:30, anājñātāmājñāsyāmīndriya, “the faculty of coming to understand what one has not yet understood” (cf. Abhidharmakośa 2.4), but both Ghoṣa and Gilgit have ājñāsyāmītīndriya, “the ‘I will come to know’ faculty.”
- n.101 The translators read ājñātāvīndriya.
- n.102 Ghoṣa, p. 67, and Gilgit sarvōākāraṅvaropetaṃ sarvōājñāñānam abhisamboddhukāmena. Cp. Kimura, 1–1:30 (le’u brgyad ma, 27b7), which has been edited to perfectly fit with the Abhisamayālaṅkāra: sarvōājñātām jñānena darśanena cāvalokyātikramitukāmena bodhisattvena mahāsattvena prajñāpāramitā bhāvayitavyā, mārgajñātām paripūrāyitukāmena sarvōākārajñātām anuprāptukāmena.
- n.103 Bṭ1, p. 722: “This teaches the result of the bodhisattvas’ knowledge of all aspects of the path, because bodhisattvas perfect the knowledge of all aspects of the path, and having understood the thoughts and behavior of beings, establish what is beneficial for beings.”
- n.104 The explanation at Bṭ3 4.80 and Bṭ1, p. 722, reads the compound sarvavāsanānusaṃdhikleśaprahāṇa as a dvandva to mean “abandon all propensities, connections, and afflicted mental states”: “It teaches the result of the knowledge, furnished with the best of all aspects, of a knower of all aspects. Propensities left by action, propensities left by afflicted mental states, and propensities left by life [Bṭ3 “birth”] are the three sorts of propensities; connections to action, connections to afflicted mental states, and connections to life are the three sorts of connections, because the connections on account of dependent origination are three. The meaning is that they ‘want to abandon’ all ‘propensities,’ all ‘connections,’ and all ‘afflicted mental states.’”

" See The Precious Discourse on the Blessed One's Extensive Wisdom That Leads to Infinite Certainty (Toh 99), 3.162, and Mppś (English translation) vol. 5, p. 2029, n. 399.

- n.105 This scripture sometimes says "five" and sometimes "six" extrasensory powers (abhijñā). Bṭ1 says the sixth is "knowledge of the extinction of contaminants /inflows."
- n.106 Bṭ1, p. 725: "It says this because bodhisattvas are focused on the welfare of all beings. So, because they have to work for their welfare, they correctly understand what thoughts they are thinking and what conduct they have faith in and so on."
- n.107 This differs slightly from both the Twenty-Five Thousand 2.9, and the Eighteen Thousand 2.7. Cf. PSP, 1–1:32, and le'u brgyad ma, ga 28b7 ff.
- n.108 Only D Hundred Thousand has this reading, supported by Z, p. 377, sthātukāmena; the Twenty-Five Thousand, Eighteen Thousand, and le'u brgyad ma have spyod.
- n.109 This renders spos.
- n.110 Domits.
- n.111 Ghoṣa, Gilgit, and PSP omit.
- n.112 At Twenty-Five Thousand 2.19 the same Tib is rendered into English as "all worlds within the whole infinity of the realm of phenomena and the very reaches of the realm of space."
- n.113 This renders snying po byang chub. The bodhimaṇḍapa is the "choice ring" (like the cream, which is the essence of the milk, that makes a rim on a bucket) within which enlightenment occurs.
- n.114 sems bskyed pa gcig gis. In other instances in the text, sems bskyed pa (cittotpāda) has been interpreted as an abbreviated form of the technical term byang chub kyi sems bskyed pa (bodhicittotpāda), and thus sems bskyed pa has been rendered "setting of the mind on enlightenment," but in the present context this term seems more likely to mean simply "just by having the thought."
- n.115 Bṭ1, p. 732: "Who want to understand the ultimate and conventional aspect and defining characteristic of all conditioned and unconditioned phenomena." The Twenty-Five Thousand, ka 32a3 (2.26), adds de bzhin nyid.

- n.116 Bṭ1, p. 732: “It is true that there is no difference in the real nature but it is still divided threefold on account of a differentiation of its basis and the entry into it. The entry into it is threefold because of the entry into by the bodhisattvas’ knowledge of all aspects of paths, the blessed lord buddhas’ all-aspect omniscience, and the śrāvakas’ and pratyekabuddhas’ omniscience. Among them, the thoroughly established nature of inner and outer phenomena such as forms and sounds and so on is called ‘the real nature of all phenomena’; the unmistakable real nature, the one and only real nature, suchness, the unchanging real nature, and the genuine, definitive real nature are the real nature of all phenomena, and are simply synonyms for the unmistakable realization by the bodhisattvas’ knowledge of all aspects of paths. So, it is teaching that they want to comprehend by entering into it with the bodhisattvas’ knowledge of all aspects of paths.”
- n.117 Alternatively, the dharmadhātu is the “dharma constituent” under which rubric all phenomena are subsumed. Bṭ1, p. 733: “The essential nature of the dharmakāya (‘body of qualities /ultimate attributes’) is the basis of all the dharmas (‘qualities’), the powers, the fearlessnesses, and so on, of a buddha, hence it is called the ‘realm of phenomena /dharma constituent.’ So it is saying that those who want to comprehend such a realm of phenomena /dharma constituent by entering into it as knowers of a tathāgata’s all-aspect omniscience should train in the perfection of wisdom.”
- n.118 Bṭ1, p. 733: “The nirvāṇa without any remaining aggregates of the śrāvakas and pratyekabuddhas is called the suchness at the very limit of reality. So it means that those who want to comprehend such a suchness at the very limit of reality by entering into it with a śrāvaka’s or pratyekabuddha’s omniscience should train in the perfection of wisdom. It is teaching that they want to attain the qualities of an eighth-level bodhisattva.”
- n.119 This renders asaṃkhyeya and aprameya, two fabulously high numbers.
- n.120 Ghoṣa oṣadhi.
- n.121 This renders the Tib literally, but it makes better sense to take the earlier words in the Skt compounds (which both end in saṃcaya, “collection”)—the trees and so on, and the rocks and so on—as incorporated in the last words (“forests” and “land”).
- n.122 “Such that” renders the zhes (*iti) at the end; the Twenty-Five Thousand supplies ‘dod pas, “wanting” or “wishing that.”
- n.123 The translators read eva in place of Ghoṣa, p. 90, evam. “Based on” renders gnas pas (niśrāya).

- n.124 The translators perhaps read a form of saṃbhū in place of Ghoṣa, p. 91, samāpad.
- n.125 Alternatively, sarvadharmmaprajñānatānupalambhayogena means “by way of not apprehending a wisdom that knows all phenomena.”
- n.126 Bṭ1, p. 736: “The attributes (guṇa, yon tan) are twofold: ultimate attributes and conventional attributes. The ultimate attribute is the intrinsically pure nature of the dharma body. The conventional attributes are the powers, fearlessnesses, eighteen distinct qualities, and so on.
- n.127 Bṭ1, p. 736: “ ‘Conditioned phenomena’ (saṃskṛta) are made (kṛta) from the coming together and assembly (saṃ-) of causes and conditions. There are contaminated and uncontaminated ones. Of them, the contaminated are phenomena included in the three realms. The uncontaminated are in essence the path of the noble ones. The correct knowledge of those phenomena in their ultimate and conventional modes insofar as it has got to the limit of, has comprehended, them, is ‘perfection’ that has ‘gone beyond.’ ”
- n.128 Bṭ1, p. 736: “The contaminated are form and so on, those in regard to which afflicted mental states arise. The uncontaminated are the levels, the perfections, the nirvāṇas and so on, which is to say, those in regard to which afflicted mental states do not emerge.”
- n.129 Bṭ1, p. 737: “Virtuous phenomena are nonattachment, nonconfusion, nonhatred and so on. Nonvirtuous phenomena are attachment, confusion, hatred and so on.”
- n.130 Bṭ1, p. 737: “Ordinary phenomena are from the end of the level of practice on account of belief on down. Extraordinary phenomena are from the first level on up to the buddha level.”
- n.131 Bṭ1, p. 737: “The material phenomena appear and are to be seen and are obstructing. Immaterial phenomena (without form) do not appear and are not to be seen and are not obstructing.”
- n.132 Bṭ1, p. 737: “Determinate phenomena—phenomena that can be prophesied/are objects of moral inquiry (vyākṛta)—are what are suitable to be prophesied, such as, ‘With a thought without attachment, without hatred, and without confusion, the practices of generosity, discipline, and so on cause obtaining a high status and many enjoyments.’ and so on. Indeterminate phenomena—phenomena that are cannot be prophesied /are not objects of moral inquiry—are the results of the practice of art and music and so on, in regard to which there is no certainty at all about whether they will bring happiness or suffering.”

- n.133 Bṭ1, p. 737: “The phenomena that are certain (niyata) are the certainties of being in a śrāvaka, a pratyekabuddha, or a bodhisattva lineage. Phenomena that are not certain are those that come about relative to spiritual friends and bad friends.”
- n.134 Bṭ1, pp. 737–38: “The phenomena to do with escaping (’byung ba, Ghoṣa, Gilgit nairyānika) are those with the nature of escaping from the three realms: the śrāvaka results of stream enterer and so on; the levels of bodhisattvas, the first level and so on; the thirty-seven dharmas on the side of awakening [note that Āryavimuktisena (Pensa, p. 20) only lists this]; and the perfections and so on that serve to cause the attainment of nirvāṇa. Those to do with no escaping are the opposite of these, the phenomena that serve to cause saṃsāra.” “To do with escaping” or “causes emergence” is the definition of the truth of the path, the fourth of the four truths of the noble ones.
- n.135 Bṭ1, p. 738: “The phenomena that aid getting worse (’grib pa’i tshul can; Ghoṣa, Gilgit hānabhāgīya) are afflictive obscurations and obscurations to knowledge. Phenomena [that aid getting] better (khyad par gyi tshul can, viśeṣabhāgīya) are those that serve to counteract those two obscurations.”
- n.136 “Attributes,” used here in place of “phenomena,” renders the same word (chos, dharma).
- n.137 Bṭ1, p. 738: “The phenomena of ordinary beings are the experiences (spyod pa) of the mistaken view of the impermanent as permanent, suffering as happiness, the unclean as clean, and the selfless as a self. The phenomena of the noble ones are the opposite of those: the views of impermanence, suffering, uncleanliness, and selflessness.”
- n.138 Bṭ1, p. 738: “The phenomena of those in training are the phenomena from stream enterer to non-returner, and of those not in training—the phenomenon that is the result of a worthy one.”
- n.139 Bṭ1, p. 738: “The phenomena of śrāvakas are the entry in, and so on, by way of the four truths of the noble ones, and the phenomena of pratyekabuddhas are the entry in, and so on, by way of the realization of dependent origination.”
- n.140 Bṭ1, p. 738: “The phenomena of bodhisattvas are a bodhisattva’s practices from the level of practice on account of belief up to the tenth level. The phenomena of buddhas are in the form of the result of those included in the buddha level: the five transcendental knowledges, the powers, the fearlessnesses, and so on.”

- n.141 Bṭ1, p. 739: “ ‘Want to go beyond all phenomena’ summarizes all the phenomena spoken of before, which is to say, the correct realization of the ultimate and conventional characteristic marks of all the phenomena spoken of before.”
- n.142 “The very limit of nonarising” renders ma skye ba’i mthar phyin pa; Ghoṣa, Gilgit anutpattikoṭim anuprāptukāmena. Bṭ1: “These are explaining that bodhisattvas at the tenth level, in order to attain the good quality of realizing the ultimate characteristic mark of all the phenomena spoken of earlier, have to practice the perfection of wisdom, which is to say, the ultimate characteristic mark is called ‘suchness,’ ‘the very limit of nonarising,’ and ‘the very limit of reality.’ It means they want to go to the very limit of those.”
- n.143 Bṭ1, p. 739: “Because of their transcendental knowledge, force, and miraculous power, the bodhisattvas abiding on the tenth level are distinguished as superior to śrāvakas and pratyekabuddhas, so being the main, the supreme, the best ones they ‘have precedence.’ So, those who want to attain such a quality should train in the perfection of wisdom. That is the meaning.”
- n.144 Bṭ1, pp. 739–40: “Through their force of the empowerment and miraculous powers attained by bodhisattvas on the tenth level, even in one moment, minute, and second, they have the capacity to offer unsurpassed, inconceivable service.”
- n.145 nang gi ’khor du ’gyur pa, =adhyātmaparivāra? Ghoṣa atyantaparivāra, Gilgit abhyantaparivāra. Bṭ1, p. 740: “Bodhisattvas on the tenth level, because they are obstructed by a single birth on the buddha level and because they are simply a cut of the sheerest cloth (dar las chod pa tsam) away from the transcendental knowledge of a knower of all, are close by in the circle of a buddha, so they are ‘in the intimate retinue.’ ”
- n.146 Bṭ1, p. 740: “Because bodhisattvas on the tenth level have become like buddhas, they are the place worshiped and respected by those among the gods who have the greatest force and magical power—Indra, Brahmā, and so on. So it means wanting to have a retinue of many like those.
- n.147 Gilgit (Zacchetti, p. 383): dane ’navagr̥hītcittena.
- n.148 Bṭ1, p. 741: “The bodhisattvas at the tenth level are unobstructed when it comes to explaining the doctrine and applying themselves to the welfare of beings. What they apply themselves to is achieved so it is not in vain. Their establishing beings in the five bases of meritorious action is not in vain.”

- n.149 Tib sngon gyi sbyor ba dang ldan pa is a literal rendering of pūrvavayogasahagatā (caryā), “together with, connected with the past” (= “formerly”).
- n.150 Gilgit, p. 383, ṛddhividhivikurvitam; Ghoṣa, p. 99, ṛddhivikurvitum.
- n.151 “Retain” renders yang dag par gzung, sandhāraya (“to bear [in mind] perfectly”).
- n.152 Tib dbyang kyis bsnyad pa; literally “the melodious narrations.”
- n.153 This renders Tib ched du brjod pa literally. Skt udāna also means those statements made by all the buddhas (about impermanence, attachment, the path, and so on) that cause pleasure to rise up in the hearer.
- n.154 Ghoṣa sattvebhyo 'kṣuṇṇadharmmaṃ deśayeyaṃ (“a doctrine that has not been stomped down on”); Gilgit omits. Tib kṣud (“to tread down on”). Bṭ1, p. 745: “Having taught that those who want to obtain the qualities and greatness of bodhisattvas on the tenth level should then persevere at the perfection of wisdom, to teach that those who want to obtain the qualities and greatness of buddhas should persevere at the perfection of wisdom, it says ‘who want to train in the tathāgatas’ way of carrying themselves’ and so on...An ‘elephant’ is nāga in Sanskrit and nāga also refers to the best, the most excellent, the chief [MW s.v. nāga, “the best or most excellent of any kind”], and also refers to an elephant, a snake, and a buddha. In this context, the manner or method of the seeing of the blessed lord buddhas is to ‘look down as an elephant looks.’ [The following is also at Bṭ3 4.175] They do not look up at what is above, look down at what is below, look to the sides at what is to the right or left, twist their neck to look at what is behind, concentrate to look at what is far off, or look without concentrating at what is close by. This says that however they are carrying themselves and however they are looking, they ‘look down as an elephant looks’ because they look at all beings and all dharmas in all world systems.”
- n.155 The meditative stability “that has stretched out like a lion” or “yawned like a lion” is described in detail in 8.443.
- n.156 Bṭ1, p. 746: This “teaches the result of bringing to maturity. Having trampled with an overwhelming presence, through the force of that they have established [beings] in the good doctrine; they have brought them to maturity.”

- n.157 Here and below, the reference to “thousand-spoked wheels” on the soles of the feet is a reference to the image or motif of a thousand-spoked wheel on the soles of the Buddha’s feet.
- n.158 Add brjod du med pa’am; Ghoṣa anabhilāpya.
- n.159 These are the names in Ghoṣa. Edgerton s.v. vṛhatphala treats vṛha(t) as an alternative for br̥hat (“big”).
- n.160 Delete shing (“tree”) that is not supported by either Gilgit bodhimaṇḍam upasamkkrameyam or Ghoṣa, p. 113, bodhimaṇḍam upasaṅkramyayām, and makes better sense of the following paragraph where both have bodhivṛkṣatale (“on the ground of the Bodhi tree”). Kimura 1–1:49 keeps bodhimaṇḍadrūmamūlam (“foot of the tree at the seat of enlightenment”) for both and changes the verb from “approach” to “spread out the mat at.”
- n.161 These are the names in Ghoṣa. Edgerton s.v. vṛhatphala treats vṛha(t) as an alternative for br̥hat (“big”).
- n.162 This is problematic. “Is without an entourage of queens” is supported by Gilgit 16v5 bodhisattvasyāmaithunasamyoga-prasthānatāyai and made explicit by Haribhadra at PSP, 1–1:52, maithunadharmaparivarjanena (“given up his entourage of queens”), and most tellingly the following lhag bcas (te) that strongly suggests the reason for the gods being overjoyed. Alternatively, keeping in mind the dbul bar bya’o rendered “we will give” [the begging bowls] just above, it may have the sense of “we will have presented them an entourage of queens,” supported by Ghoṣa, p. 116, bodhisattvasya maithunasamyogaprasthānatāyai. Here the la don (de la) and the absence of a byed sgra (-s) ending on the word preceding dbul might support this alternative translation, based on the thought that, of the twelve deeds, the gods are overjoyed at the marriage deed of Śākyamuni as the prince Siddhārtha prior to the great renunciation. Cf. Bṛ1, pp. 749–50: “ ‘Still, in order to establish beings in awakening these [bodhisattvas] practice celibacy. They do not engage in any sexual acts,’ and so on, teaches the pure aspiration and pure behavior of bodhisattvas practicing like that. As for ‘Blessed One, do bodhisattva great beings definitely have a father, a mother, a wife, sons, and daughters?’ and so on, having given the above description of the good qualities of the bodhisattvas, following on from the sons and daughters of good families having made the commitment to be the mother and father and so on of those bodhisattvas, and the Four Great Kings making the commitment to supply the entourage of queens, in response to Śāradvatī-putra’s inquiry about whether bodhisattvas definitely have to have girls and so on, the Blessed One explains that actual bodhisattvas do not enjoy the five sorts of sense objects out of attachment, but abiding in conventional truth, without attachment, and with skillful means, through the four ways of gathering a retinue they gather beings together and use the five sorts of sense objects in order to establish them in the doctrine.”

- n.163 “Enjoyment” renders rnam par spyod pa. Ghoṣa, p. 117, and Gilgit, p. 387, vihārapratilabhda.
- n.164 K and N, supported by Ghoṣa and Gilgit, only have these first two alternatives, probably supported by Bṭ1, p. 750: “teaches that...‘they practice,’ and ‘they do not practice’ cannot ultimately be apprehended.” The translation here follows D that is Eighteen Thousand.
- n.165 Alternatively, “physical forms are not empty of emptiness, and emptiness is not other than form.”
- n.166 The Skt versions have darśana (“the seeing”); Tib mthong ba could also mean that. “Not really exist” renders yod pa ma yin pa (asat).
- n.167 Here sgyu ma (“illusion”) is rendering kṛtrimaṃ, more usually bcos ma (“fabricated,” “artificial”).
- n.168 Z, p. 206, n. 45: “Because naming is artificial in the cases of (of: with regard to) each single dharma; they [i.e. the states described in the preceding paragraph], having been imagined, are designated with an accidental appellation that is falsely imagined, and on the basis of [this] appellation they are clung to.”
- n.169 This renders mngon par zhen. Although this is the expected translation, here and in the Twenty-Five Thousand the translators usually render forms of abhiniviś with mngon par ’chags. An alternative translation: “From convention they are settled down on as real.”
- n.170 An alternative translation: “They do not falsely project them, and they are not settled down on as real.”
- n.171 Gilgit, 18r9–10; Ghoṣa omits.
- n.172 The translators render svabhāva by ngo bo here to differentiate it from prakṛti; just below where the distinction is not necessary, they use rang bzhin for svabhāva. Ghoṣa, p. 129, anutpādaprakṛtikāḥ svabhāvaśūnyāḥ.
- n.173 The translators render the gerundives in -tava by bzla’o and here, the future first person singular -syāmi, with bzla bar bya’o.

- n.174 The Twenty-Five Thousand, ka 47a (2.95), has byang chub (“path of enlightenment”). Bṭ1 (p. 755) glosses “bodhisattva” as “enlightenment.”
- n.175 “Practice” renders chos (dharma).
- n.176 This is also the reading in the Stok Twenty-Five Thousand, ka 61b2; the Eighteen Thousand, supported by Ghoṣa, p. 132; and Z, p. 391. Kimura and the D Twenty-Five Thousand differ.
- n.177 “There are” renders yod pas, likely a rendering of āgamyā (“thanks to”).
- n.178 In the translation of the Twenty-Five Thousand, “discerned” takes yod pa to be the Tib translation of Gilgit, Kimura, and Ghoṣa’s prajñāyante.
- n.179 Z suggests “metaphorically” as a translation for paryāyeṇa (rnam grangs kyis). In the Twenty-Five Thousand this is rendered “in a manner.”
- n.180 LSPW uses “endeavor” and “join” for yuj and its derivatives; brtson does mean “to endeavor, make an effort,” but as Z notes, Kumārajīva’s Chinese translation of this includes the meaning “compliant with,” that is, fitting, or logically established.
- n.181 “Flowing along together” renders lhan cig kun tu rgyu (saha samavasaratīti).
- n.182 “Does not obstruct” renders thogs par byed pa (rūpayati) (more usually gzugs su yod pa/rung ba), the Abhidharma definition of form; each of the following is the definition of the respective aggregate.
- n.183 “Without conjunction or disjunction” (’du ba dang ’bral ba) (=there is nothing together and there is nothing apart) renders ayogāvīyoga (a secondary formation from yuj cognate with English “yoke,” and from which English gets the loan word “yoga”). The passive past participle yukta of the same root (yuj) has been rendered “engaged.” The sense of yuj is of different things coming or being together. The Tib renders yoga/viyoga here with the nonvoluntary/intransitive forms of coming/being together and separating/being separate. In the immediately following sections yojayati (“they cause X to engage with Y” or “they associate X with Y”) is a causal formed from the same root. The Tib renders it with the voluntary/transitive form of ’du (bsdud) and the voluntary/transitive ’byed (“to make separate”).
- n.184 “Yogic practice” renders rnal ’byor, yoga.
- n.185 Bṭ1, pp. 761–62: “From ‘Śāradvatīputra, bodhisattva great beings who practice accordingly are said to engage with the perfection of wisdom, but, even though they practice the perfection of wisdom in that manner, they do not observe that they are either “engaged” or “not engaged” with physical forms’ up to ‘In this way, Śāradvatīputra, because all phenomena are without conjunction or disjunction, bodhisattva great beings are said to engage with the perfection of wisdom’ is an explanation presenting in a different form their entering into the defining mark of engagement on account of having abandoned the notion that they are engaging or not engaging, because they themselves have no notion that they are those who are doing something and because they do not have the wrong view of a self. From ‘Moreover, Śāradvatīputra, when bodhisattva great beings practice the perfection of wisdom, they neither cause emptiness to engage with nor to disengage from emptiness,’ up to ‘They neither cause wishlessness to engage with nor to disengage from wishlessness, nor the yogic practice of wishlessness’ is the three gateways to liberation. It teaches the defining mark of engaging as the abandonment of the notion of causing engagement or causing disengagement. Were there to be some attribute ‘emptiness’ that is an existent thing it might be possible to cause engagement and cause disengagement with something other than that emptiness, but because some attribute ‘emptiness’ that is an existent thing is not established at all they do not cause emptiness to engage with emptiness, nor disengage from it. Take ‘nor the yogic practice of emptiness with the emptiness meditative stability. It is saying that the meditative stability that is an existent thing also does not exist, so they do not cause the meditative stability to engage with it or disengage from it. Construe signlessness and wishlessness in the same way. ‘If you ask why, it is because there is neither conjunction nor disjunction in emptiness,’ and so on, teach the reason why the three gateways to liberation are not existent things.” Cf. Bṭ3 4.293.

- n.186 “Enter into” (jug) and the immediately following “understanding” (khong du chud) both render forms of the same verb avatā (Z, p. 394; PSP 1–1:66).
- n.187 This means the emptiness of the defining marks particular to specific dharmas. This emptiness comes after “the emptiness of all phenomena” in the list of emptinesses. Bṭ1, p. 762: “It teaches that they neither engage with nor disengage from the five aggregates and so on, because their own intrinsic defining characteristics are not established.”
- n.188 “Associate with” (sbyor) and the earlier “cause to engage” (bsdud) render the same word yojayati, a causal form of yuj. Each of the phenomena, starting with physical forms, is a basis for designating a “bodhisattva.” The negation is of the bodhisattva, at any level, and when enlightened, causing the engagement of any of the phenomena, that are the basis on which they are labeled a person, with its definition, for instance, or with a particular time period and so on.

- n.189 Z, p. 394 (22v11), [try]adhvasamatāśūnyatām upādāya. Ghoṣa, p. 168, “because of the sameness of the [three] times” (adhvasamānatā upādāya); PSP, 1–1:67, “because of the emptiness of time” (adhvaśūnyatām upādāya).
- n.190 PSP, 1–1:67, evaṃ yujyamānaḥ; Gilgit, Ghoṣa evaṃ yukta (Eighteen Thousand, ka 31b3 (3.36), brston), “engage.”
- n.191 Ghoṣa, p. 168, and Z, p. 395 sarvajñatā; the Twenty-Five Thousand’s rnam pa thams cad mkhyen pa is Kimura, 1–1:67, sarvākārajñatā.
- n.192 Here, and in all the following, the eva (Tib nyid: “the very,” “the actual”) has not been rendered separately in English.
- n.193 Ghoṣa, p. 175, adhyātmaśūnyatām eva. It is not possible to write stong pa nyid nyid in Tib.
- n.194 This is the reading in all versions, including the S Hundred Thousand, ka 180a7. It is also the reading in the following mtshan ma med pa section. In the smon pa med pa section that follows that, however, it reverts to listing all the fruits, starting from the fruit of having entered the stream, and leaves out “omniscience” (sarvajñatā).
- n.195 “Stable” and “unstable,” or “secure” and “insecure,” render sāra and durbala. The Eighteen Thousand, 33a7 (3.41), has snying po can and nyam chung ba, “strong” or “weak.”
- n.196 Gilgit, 24v8, but with nopaiti; the Eighteen Thousand, 33b2 (3.42), has khas mi len (“does not assert”) (since the plural “bodhisattva great beings” is used, this is “do not assert”) in place of mi dmigs pa (“does not apprehend”). Ghoṣa omits.
- n.197 Gilgit, 25r4–5, and the Eighteen Thousand, 3.43 put “the emptiness of nonarising” after “the emptiness of all phenomena” in the list of emptinesses. (In the Eighteen Thousand these are actually rendered “the emptiness of all dharmas” followed by “the emptiness of the unproduced.”) They both, together with Ghoṣa, p. 250, omit “the emptiness of nonceasing.” Kimura, 1–1:72, tacks on the emptinesses of bhāva, abhāva, svabhāva, and parabhāva in place of these two emptinesses. The order in the list, from “the perfection of generosity” down to “the very limit of reality,” is problematic.

- n.198 “Different sorts of miraculous ability,” the different kinds of them, or performances of them, renders rdzu 'phrul gyi rnam pa; Ghoṣa, p. 252, and Kimura, 1–1:72, ṛddhividhi.
- n.199 This renders Ghoṣa, p. 252, sarvākāraṇi sarvābhijñā upalapsyate, not as “all extrasensory powers” but as “extrasensory powers that know all.”
- n.200 “Have been born” renders skyes par gyur pa (upapanna).
- n.201 The reading here, Gilgit, 25v4–5, pradakṣiṇībhavanti (mthun par 'grub po), is discussed by Z, p. 232, n. 142; Bṭ1, p. 772, glosses “without being falsely imagined” as “establish without hesitation or doubt.”
- n.202 Dutt, p. 55, and Ghoṣa, p. 256, doṣa; Z, p. 398, roga (“sickness”).
- n.203 Bṭ1, p. 774, says “conjoin” and “separate,” and “come together” and not come together” are synonyms.
- n.204 Here the “phenomenon” (dharma) is a property—specifically, something’s emptiness—and the “phenomena” in “realm of phenomena” means the totality of all those properties taken together. Everything (confusingly called sarvadharmāḥ, “all phenomena,” by which is meant sarvadharmiṇaḥ, “all things that have a property”) has the property of, or is qualified by, its emptiness.
- n.205 This borrows from Z’s translation, p. 359, n. 178.
- n.206 The Twenty-Five Thousand, 2.155, renders this, “This is because they do not observe anything at all by which anything could be comprehended, and also because they do not engage with the notion that the realm of phenomena is empty, and nor do they engage with the notion that it is not empty.” Taking the thing that has a phenomenon = property (dharma), or the thing that has a property/phenomenon (dharmin) as the realm of phenomena, and taking empty and not empty as the possible properties qualifying it, in the absence of the thing being qualified (or because the thing being qualified and the qualification are ultimately the same) they could not “associate” or join the two together.
- n.207 It is not clear whether the emphasis is on the fact that beings, as the object of empathy, are unproduced, or that bodhisattvas as practitioners of the perfection of wisdom are unproduced, an ambiguity retained in LSPW and Z’s translation “through the fact of the nonproduction of a being.” The Twenty-Five Thousand, 2.160, has “based on [the truth that] beings are nonarising.”

- n.208 Gilgit, 27r9, and Kimura 1–1:79. Ghoṣa, p. 266, has “perfection of wisdom” in place of “emptiness.”
- n.209 This renders ārāgayati, bsnyen bkur byed par ’gyur.
- n.210 This last statement from PSP, 1–1: 80, tasyāpi pañutarāṇīndriyāṇi bhavanti, is only found in D. All the other editions of the Hundred Thousand, as well as D Twenty-Five Thousand, ka 2.163, omit. Gilgit, 27v7, and Ghoṣa, p. 266, omit.
- n.211 PSP, 1–1: 80, avipramuṣita; LSPW, “of which he never loses sight”; Ghoṣa, p. 267, avipranaṣṭa.
- n.212 This is a slightly abbreviated version of the passage associated with the (candidate for) stream enterer at PSP, 1–1: 81: santi śāradvatīputra bodhisattvā mahāsattvāḥ prajñāpāramitāyāṃ caranto ghaṇamānā vyāyachchantāḥ sattva-paripākāyopāyakauśalyabalena srotaṅgāpattiphalaṃ sākṣātkurvanti, na ca tena manyante (where ghaṇamānā vyāyachchantāḥ? is rendered at le’u brgyad ma, ga 69a1–2, as sbyor ba la brtson par byed pa la, “persevering at the practice”). This is omitted from Gilgit, Ghoṣa, the other editions of the Kangyur, and from the Twenty-Five Thousand, 2.165, and the Eighteen Thousand, 3.59.
- n.213 tshe’i tshul bzhin du gnas, literally “remaining in the mode of a life”; the Eighteen Thousand, 3.66, has “for as long as they live.”
- n.214 Gilgit, 29r1. Cp. Ghoṣa, p. 271, probably a mistake.
- n.215 Kimura, 1–1:82, tataś cyut[v?]ā; Ghoṣa, p. 271, and Gilgit, 29r5, omit.
- n.216 Tib rnam par mnan pa means “to press down on,” but Gilgit, 29b4-5, viṣkadya viṣkandya; Ghoṣa, p. 273, viṣkadya; Kimura, 1–1, avaskandakena. The Eighteen Thousand, ka 40b2 (3.75), thod rgal du means “leaping above.”
- n.217 PSP, 1–1: 84, cakravartino bhūtvā; Twenty-Five Thousand 2.187 omits.
- n.218 PSP, 1–1: 84, maṇimuktāsuvārṇarūpyapavāda.
- n.219 Ghoṣa, p. 276, and Gilgit, 30r6.
- n.220 le’u brgyad ma, ga 72a1–5, and PSP 1–1: 84–85: yāvad daśakuśalakarmapathēṣu sattvān pratiṣṭhāpya brahmakāyikeṣu yāvad akaniṣṭhēṣu deveṣūpapadyamānā nānā-buddhakṣetreṣv anuttarāṃ samyaksambodhim abhisambudhyante. ity akaniṣṭhaparamaḥ. santi śāradvatīputra bodhisattvā mahāsattvā ye catvāri dhyānāni niṣpādyā dhyānebhyaḥ parihīṇāḥ prathamam dhyānam āsādyā (the translators read āsvādyā, ro myongs) brahmakāyikeṣu deveṣūpapadyante, te punar dhyānāni niṣpādyākaniṣṭhēṣūpapadyā nānābuddhakṣetreṣv anuttarāṃ samyaksambodhim abhisambudhyante. iti plutah. santi sāradvatīputra bodhisattvā mahāsattvā ye brahmalokāc cyutvā śuddhāvāseṣūpapadyante, te śuddhāvāsānām ekaṃ vā dve vā sthāne vilāṅghyākaniṣṭheṣu deveṣūpapadya nānābuddhakṣetreṣv anuttarāṃ samyaksaṃbodhim abhisambudhyante. Haribhadra connects this with the first two of the three akaniṣṭhaparama (“those intent on Akaniṣṭha”), namely, the pluta (“floaters”) and ardhapluta (“floaters over half”). This is omitted from Gilgit, Ghoṣa, the other editions of the Kangyur, and the Twenty-Five Thousand and Eighteen Thousand.

- n.221 This line takes up again from the le’u brgyad ma, ga 72b5, and PSP, 1-1: 85 ekajātipratibaddhās ca bodhisattvā mahāsattvās tatra tatra buddhakṣetreṣūpapadya nānābuddhakṣetreṣv anuttarāṃ samyaksaṃbodhim abhisambudhyante, which Haribhadra connects with the sarvasthānacyuta (“those who die in every place”), the third of the three divisions of the akaniṣṭhaparama (“those intent on Akaniṣṭha”). The reader is supposed to connect this last sentence with all ten directions. It is omitted from Gilgit, Ghoṣa, the other editions of the Hundred Thousand in the Kangyur, and from the Twenty-Five Thousand and Eighteen Thousand, as are the following two paragraphs also found at PSP, 1-1: 86, and the le’u brgyad ma, ga 72b6-7.
- n.222 D has omitted the snyoms par ’jug pa (PSP, 1-1: 86, dhyānārūpyasamāpattīr) as has le’u brgyad ma, ga 72b6, where this is rendered gzugs med par sgrub par byed pa.
- n.223 Cf. Ghoṣa, p. 280, and Gilgit, 30v9, durgativinipātaṃ prapātanti; PSP, 1-1: 86, apāyadurgativinipāteṣu; and le’u brgyad ma, ga 73a7, ngan song ngan ’gro log par ltung ba rnam su.
- n.224 Alternatively, “Śāradvatīputra, there are bodhisattva great beings standing in the six perfections who illuminate the darkness of beings with wrong views with the illumination of the buddhadharmas, and they never separate themselves from the illumination of the buddhadharmas up until they fully awaken to unsurpassed, perfect, complete awakening.”
- n.225 This is PSP, 1-1: 87-88. Haribhadra, having connected the immediately preceding passage with “candidates for arhatship” (arhattvapratipannaka), connects this with pratyekabuddhas. Again, it is omitted from Gilgit, Ghoṣa, the other editions of the Kangyur, and the Twenty-Five Thousand 2.197 and Eighteen Thousand 3.96.
- n.226 Ghoṣa, p. 281, and Gilgit, 31r5, ayaṃ śāradvatīputra bodhisattvānāṃ mahāsattvānāṃ [sam]udayo buddhadharmmeṣu. PSP, 1-1: 87, omits.

- n.227 “Basic” means an immorality not contingent on a prior commitment to a code of conduct.
- n.228 Ghoṣa, p. 286, ātmabhāva; alternatively, “become possessed of the sort of personality.”
- n.229 According to traditional Indian cosmology, our human world of Patient Endurance (sahāloka dhātu, mi mjed ’jig rten gyi khams) is said to comprise four continents (caturdvīpa, gling bzhi), namely Pūrvavideha (lus ’phags) in the east, Jambudvīpa in the south, Aparagodānīya (ba glang spyod) in the west, and Uttarakuru (sgra mi snyan) in the north. A single world system (cakravāla) extends from the realms of the hells, anguished spirits, and animals, through the human abodes, and through the celestial domains of the six god realms belonging to the realm of desire, the seventeen god realms of the realm of form, and the four activity fields of the realm of formlessness. In association with the four meditative concentrations, this single world system multiplies incrementally: the thousandfold world system (sāhasraloka dhātu, stong ’gi ’jig rten gyi khams) comprises one thousand such parallel worlds, the millionfold world system (dvīsāhasramadhyamaloka dhātu, stong gnyis pa ’jig rten gyi khams ’bring po) one thousand of those, and the great billionfold world (trisāhasra-mahāsāhasraloka dhātu, stong sum gyi stong chen po’i ’jig rten gyi khams) one thousand of those yet again. For an analysis of the divergent traditions associated with this cosmology, see Kloetzli 1983, pp. 23–90.
- n.230 “All within range” has been added to the English translation here and below to make the meaning easier to understand.
- n.231 “Know” is supplied from Kimura 1–1:94–5; Ghoṣa, p. 297, jānāti / yat kañcit samudayadharmmaṃ sarvaṃ taṃ nirodhadharmmeti viditvā.
- n.232 This is the forbearance (kṣānti, bzod pa) for the truth that phenomena are nonarising, the realization that whatever the attainment, it has no intrinsic nature. An alternative translation is “receptiveness.”
- n.233 This is the vow, while sitting under the Bodhi tree at the site of awakening, not to arise from meditation until perfectly and completely awakened.
- n.234 Gilgit, 34r12, and Dutt āsannasthāyin. Twenty-Five Thousand, ka 75a3 (2.230); Eighteen Thousand, ka 48b5, (3.123); and le’u brgyad ma, ga 81a7, nye bar gnas. Ghoṣa, p. 300, āsattvasthāyin; Edg, s.v. āsattvasthāyin, “abiding until the coming into existence” of the buddhas.
- n.235 Here, “in their final rebirth” renders srid pa tha ma pa, caramabhavika. A srid pa (bhava) is “an existence”; elsewhere rendered “process of rebirth” or just “existence.”

- n.236 Ghoṣa, p. 301, janayitrī (“genetrix”).
- n.237 Edg, s.v. pratyanubhavati (2) says “uncertain whether mg. is experiences, enjoys ... or gets”; cf. Daśabhūmikasūtra (Rahder, pp. 34–36).
- n.238 The reading here has “broad” (yangs pa) without the Twenty-Five Thousand, ka 77a4-5, (2.236) “narrow” (dog pa'i sems la dog dog pa'i sems).
- n.239 Gilgit, 35v2, has “collected” and “distracted” (saṃkṣipta and vikṣipta), and “circumscribed” and “expanded” (parīta and vipula), followed by “has gotten bigger” (mahadgata) and “immeasurable” (apramāṇa), apparently as opposites. The Twenty-Five Thousand 2.236 renders “has gotten bigger” (che bar gyur pa) by “evolving.” Kimura, 1–1:99, does not have apramāṇa.
- n.240 This renders rnam pa dang bcas (sākāra) gtan tshigs dang bcas (Kimura, 1–1:100, sādr̥ṣa; Gilgit, 35v11, sodeśa; Ghoṣa, p. 304, soddeśa) ngan rtags dang bcas (sadoṣa?). The Twenty-Five Thousand 2.237 accepts the variant reading found in KPD, vol. 26, n. 2 (Yongle and Peking), don rtags (sanirdeśaṃ), and renders it “indications.”
- n.241 Bṭ1, p. 807: “Take ‘unlimited’ (ananta) with having forsaken the two limits (extremes) of superimposition and overnegation. They do not superimpose that there is ultimately an existent thing, and do not conventionally overnegate as nonexistence. ‘Because their minds are unattached (anaṅvagr̥hītacittatām upādāya)’ means they do not have a wrong view of, or settle down on, all three—the giver, the recipient, and the material gift— as existent things. Put it together as this: when they give without superimposing and overnegating, and when the three circles [i.e., the giver, the recipient, and the material gift] are purified, they cleanse the path to the knowledge of all aspects.”
- n.242 Emend (or read) the Twenty-Five Thousand, ka 80b5 (2.245), dben to (or as) dpen.
- n.243 Ghoṣa, p. 308, and Gilgit, 37r11–12, yathāprāvṛtaiś cīvarair bhagavantam abhicchādayanti sma; Kimura, 1–1:103, yathāvṛtaiś cīvarair abhicchādayām āsur. Tib renders abhicchādaya with yon du gsol ba, in the sense of making a payment for a received teaching. The sense of the Skt abhicchāday (“to cover”) is to cover or shower someone with gifts. All the Skt versions have nuns (bhikṣuṇī, dge slong ma) rather than monks, which makes good sense.
- n.244 The Skt editions all have Mahāketu, not Mahāśrī; dpal is not attested as rendering ketu (the expected rendering is the Eighteen Thousand, ka 53b3 (3.- 147), me tog) in any of the reference works consulted. It is presumably an old translation, but has been translated literally.

- n.245 In the Daśabhūmika, myi sgul ba (Acala?) is the rendering not of Akṣobhya but of Avicālya.
- n.246 This is a literal translation. The Twenty-Five Thousand (2.248) renders this, “Let us generate the merits through which we will be reborn in those buddhafiels.”
- n.247 Emend D thug to K thub; Gilgit, 38r6, anavamardanīya; Ghoṣa, p. 311, anavamṛdya; Lokesh Candra, Sanskrit Tibetan Dictionary, International Academy of Indian Culture, 2007, s.v. anavamṛdya.
- n.248 Tib de’i slad du is an honorific form of de’i phyir that means both “because of/on account of that/those” and “to that end” (Twenty-Five Thousand 2.255 (ka 82b4)) depending on context. Gilgit, 38r6, and Kimura, 1–1:105, tair; Eighteen Thousand, ka 54b (4.2), de dag gis, Large Sutra, p. 93; Ghoṣa, p. 311, tena.
- n.249 Twenty-Five Thousand 2.265 omits.
- n.250 Bṭ1, p. 812: “For the happiness of perfect separation” means, at the time of nirvāṇa, excellently separated from both afflictive obstruction and obstruction to knowing; Edgerton, s.v. visaṃyoga.
- n.251 Twenty-Five Thousand 2.272 renders these “coral flowers, large coral flowers, crocuses, and mangosteen leaves.”
- n.252 In place of dpung pa’i rus pa, Eighteen Thousand 6.16 has lag pa, “arm.”
- n.253 It is “outer” in the sense of the environment seen from the perspective of a perceiving subject.
- n.254 Emend kyis to kyi.
- n.255 Ghoṣa, p. 334, tadyathāpi nāma subhūte atītānāṃ buddhānāṃ bhagavatāṃ yāvad eva nāma mātraṃ tiṣṭhati; Kimura, 1–1:114, omits.
- n.256 The “phenomena” are the aggregates, sense fields, and sensory elements listed in the previous paragraphs. To not “mentally construct” or “conceptualize” any phenomenon means without projecting onto any of them an intrinsic nature or absolute truth. The earlier list of phenomena is now expanded to include all the dharmas, including those associated with bodhisattvas and buddhas.

- n.257 Ghoṣa, p. 372, samyakprahāṇabhāvanāyai supports reading phyir as a dative of purpose but it accidentally omits smṛtyupasthāna.
- n.258 Ghoṣa, p. 381, tathā hi te sarvavadharmmā na saṃvidyante / yañ cābhiniṣeta / yena vābhiniṣeta / yatra vābhiniṣeta. Bṭ1, p. 823: “This means that the name that might be attached, the attachment on account of which it might be attached, and the thing that it might be attached to—they all do not ultimately exist.”
- n.259 Again, this rendering of skyon med pa incorporates the creative etymology of nyāma from ni plus āma (“raw”). If derived from niyāma it is “the secure state of a bodhisattva.”
- n.260 See 3.4, when Subhūti asks his opening questions.
- n.261 Bṭ1, p. 825, glosses “in physical forms” (gzugs la, rūpe) and “in a bodhisattva” with “basis and based on” (gzhi dang gnas).
- n.262 gzugs med pa zhig; PSP, 1-1: 132, arūpo, Ghoṣa, p. 382, ārūpi.
- n.263 In the Tibetan corresponding to this paragraph, both for this text and for the Twenty-Five Thousand (3.180), the many instances of Sanskrit dhātu have been translated as the Tibetan dbyings rather than *kham*s, which would be much more usual in the context of the basic constituents of a sentient being including the sensory elements, etc. We have nevertheless interpreted chos kyi dbyings (dharmadhātu) in this passage as referring to the sensory element of mental phenomena rather than to the “realm of phenomena” in its wider sense; see the glossary definition for “realm of phenomena.” It is not clear why the Tibetan translators preferred the term dbyings here.
- n.264 Ghoṣa, p. 471, and Kimura, 1–1:146, prajñāpayitum is rendered gdags (“to designate”) but can be rendered literally by “make known”; a prajñāpti (gdags pa) is a “designation,” “representation,” or “concept.”
- n.265 byang chub kyi sems, Gilgit, 472, bodhicitta, in place of the Twenty-Five Thousand’s (3.181) byang chub sems dpa’i sems (“the mind of bodhisattvas”). Kimura, 1–1:147, omits.
- n.266 Here the Twenty-Five Thousand (4.2) adds na ba, “ill health.”
- n.267 “Shoulder ornament” renders dpung rgyan (keyūm), “upper arm bracelet,” which is a royal insignia of victory.
- n.268 skyon chen po. le’u brgyad ma has rtse mo’i skyon; the Eighteen Thousand has skyon gyi spyi gtsug. Edg, s.v. mūdhāma, comments on Ghoṣa’s reading skyon med pa, nyāma. Note that when nyāma is understood as niyāma it means “secure,” “fixed,” “definite.”

- n.269 Here “immaturity,” skyon chen po (mūdhāma), is contrasted with the “maturity,” skyon med pa (nyāma, niyāma), that comes below.
- n.270 “Maturity” renders skyon med pa.
- n.271 Alternatively, dharmatṛṣṇā may mean “craving for the dharmas” listed below.
- n.272 “Impediment” renders gcod pa; Gilgit, 52v12, nīcaraṇa?
- n.273 All the Tib editions of the Hundred Thousand omit sems; Ghoṣa, Kimura, and Gilgit all have citta, as does the Twenty-Five Thousand (“mindsets of the śrāvakas and pratyekabuddhas”).
- n.274 The absence of thams cad shes pa here, not just from D but from all the other versions (including gser bri ma, kha 79a) is noteworthy. Below (kha 9b (5.389)) thams cad shes pa is included in the list.
- n.275 Alternatively, “a direct eyewitness to the attributes who witnesses with the body,” as in the Vṛtti of Ārya Vimuktisena (Pensa edition, p. 44): “Non-returners who have attained the cessation absorption are called those who witness with the body because they witness a nirvāṇa-like dharma with their body. Why do they witness with their body? Because it is produced based on the body, since they are without thought (cittābhāva).”
- n.276 “Without afflicted mental states” renders araṇa; raṇa generally means “conflict,” so a more literal translation of araṇa would be “without conflict.” The translation reflects the Tibetan, which is nyon mongs pa med pa.
- n.277 “Even” renders kyang (api). “Those” is only added because of the requirements of English syntax, but this reading is corroborated by Gilgit, 53r10: śrāvakabhūmāv api śikṣitukāmenāyūṣmansubhūte iyaṃ eva prajñāpāramitā prayatnataḥ, etc. However, Kimura, 1–1:155, śrāvakabhūmāv api āyūṣman subhūte śikṣitukāmena bodhisattvena mahāsattvena iyaṃ eva prajñāpāramitā; Ghoṣa, p. 503, śrāvakabhūmāv api śikṣitukāmenāyūṣman subhūte bodhisattvena mahāsattvena; and the Eighteen Thousand (7.30) explicitly say “bodhisattva great beings,” a reading with substantively different implications.
- n.278 This is the same as Eighteen Thousand 8.1; Twenty-Five Thousand 5.1 omits.
- n.279 This renders Gilgit, 53v3, and Ghoṣa, p. 504, na sthitaṃ na viṣṭhitaṃ nādhiṣṭhitaṃ, literally “do not stand, do not not stand, and do not stand above.” Kimura, 1-1:156, differs. Bṭ1, p. 851, explains the three words as follows: “ ‘Blessed Lord, even those names are unstable, intangible, and powerless’ and so on. Even those names bodhisattva and perfection of wisdom are not real bases fit to be spoken, so it is teaching the elimination of the two extremes of ‘stable’ and ‘unstable.’ Were a real basis to exist, there are two alternatives: it would, as a conditioned phenomenon like a physical form and so on, be stable in a place or region, or, as an unconditioned phenomenon like space and so on, not be stable in a place or region. Hence, it is teaching that, insofar as those names are without real bases, they are not stable, and hence they are also not not stable. ‘Intangible’ means they are not even unstable. ‘Powerless’ means they are not, having eliminated both the extremes of stable and unstable, powerful [=super-stable (adhithita)], stable, as a real basis that is not stable and is not not stable. Thus, having briefly taught the elimination of the overreification and overnegation from the perspective of both a bodhisattva and a perfection of wisdom that have or do not have a real basis, and the practice separated from grasping at the two extremes of the name bodhisattva and the name perfection of wisdom being stable and not stable,” etc.

- n.280 The order of terms beginning with “realm of phenomena” is the order found at Ghoṣa, p. 544, and Kimura, 1–1:159 (dharmadhātu, tathāgata / tathatā, bhūtakoti, dharmasthititā, dharmmaniṣmatā). Twenty-Five Thousand 5.12 follows the order at Kimura, 1–2:56, but with dharmadhātu given twice in the same list.
- n.281 The reading in Ghoṣa is kiṃ na tad ity ucyate (“Why is it not called that?”), and na should probably be emended to ca.
- n.282 Twenty-Five Thousand, ka 130a (5.13), has btags par bstan (“teach to be a designation”) in place of brtags par bstan.
- n.283 Here “reason” renders don gyi dbang. It intends the nexus between a basis of designation (in this case all the phenomena beginning with physical forms) and a thing designated (in this case the bodhisattva, or, more exactly, the term bodhisattva), each avoiding overreification and overnegation, respectively.
- n.284 Twenty-Five Thousand, ka 135a (5.22), adds the meditative stabilities and the extrasensory powers here; Ghoṣa, p. 565, omits.
- n.285 N, K; D omits.
- n.286 Bṭ1, p. 878: “There, in ‘they should not dwell in syllables,’ they should not dwell by viewing the syllables, the seed syllables a and so on, as existent things. ‘They should not dwell in syllable accomplishments.’ Syllable accomplishment is the production of the knowledge that causes the realization of the meaning, anutpāda ('nonproduction'), after resorting to the seed syllable a, and so on, used as a dhāraṇī. This teaches that they should not stand there either. That dhāraṇī knowledge is a product of such explanations as 'a is the door to all dharmas because they are unproduced from the very beginning.' That statement of the seed syllable, furthermore, becomes a condition for full awakening when certain bodhisattva great beings with sharp faculties resort to and have meditated on the single meaning of nonproduction. It becomes a condition for full awakening when those with middling faculties resort to two syllables and have become familiar with two statements. And it becomes a condition for full awakening when many statements become a condition for full awakening when those with dull faculties resort to them and have become familiar with them. Hence it says 'they should not dwell in singular expressions, dual expressions, or plural expressions.' "

- n.287 "The notion that physical forms are impermanent" renders Ghoṣa, p. 568, rūpam anityam iti.
- n.288 The inclusion of thams cad shes pa nyid in the list here is noteworthy. Ghoṣa, p. 601, omits.
- n.289 The list omits thams cad shes pa nyid ("omniscience").
- n.290 "Investigate" renders Ghoṣa, p. 613, vyūpaparikṣa. The Tibetan is brtag (the future tense form of rtog pa). For an alternate rendering, see Twenty-Five Thousand 5.49: "determine that all phenomena are the emptiness ... determine that there is no mental wandering."
- n.291 D tshad ma mchis par nges pa. Ghoṣa, p. 613, niyata (nges pa). The "immeasurable" here is enlightenment.
- n.292 Ghoṣa, p. 615, and Kimura, 1–1:172, sarvvajñajñāne.
- n.293 The list omits thams cad shes pa nyid.
- n.294 LSPW, p. 135; Twenty-Five Thousand 5.55; le'u brgyad ma, ga 145b1; PSP, 1-1: 173; and Ghoṣa, p. 633, apārapāragatām.
- n.295 Ghoṣa, p. 681, satatasamitam (khor zug rtag par); cf. Jäschke s.v. khor mo yug.
- n.296 Bṭ1, p. 904: "Because of philosophical error they have a philosophical view of, and are intent on [or believe in], a physical form that is an existing thing. Because of perceptual error, they grasp the mental image of good or bad and so on. Because of mental error they are attached to [or settle down on] and possess the functioning reality (dn̄gos po) of physical form. ‘They engage in the conditioning of physical forms.’ This means that when they thus, because of such philosophical error, perceptual error, and mental error, see a physical form that is an existing thing and practice like that, they make a physical form a conditioned thing that will arise and cease and so on and do not practice the perfection of wisdom.” Bṭ3 4.612, explaining the three in the different order found at Eighteen Thousand, ka 88a (9.6), says: “ ‘Possess’ (gnas, adhisthā), ‘form a notion’ (kun tu shes, saṃjñā), and ‘believe’ (mos, adhimuc) in form. They ‘possess’ because of mental (citta) error, ‘form a notion’ (‘du shes, saṃjñā) because of perceptual error, and ‘believe’ (lta ba, dr̄ṣṭi) because of philosophical error.” See also Bṭ3, n.592.

- n.297 “Actualize” renders mngon du bya ba. Ghoṣa, p. 764, sākṣāt karttuṃ (“directly witness”).
- n.298 This renders the Tib based on Gilgit, 59v10–11, and Ghoṣa, p. 765, where there are just the separate statements (rūpaṃ) na carati and (rūpaṃ) asya nimitte na carati. Alternatively, the lhag bcas in mi spyod de and the cing in mi spyod cing may suggest “they do not engage with physical forms, which is to say (de), they do not engage with mental images of physical forms; (cing) they do not engage with the notion that physical forms are permanent,” and so on, making clear that permanence and so on are the nimittas.
- n.299 The eighteen sensory elements (dhātu) begin here because the set of twelve sense fields (āyatana), which come after the five aggregates (skandha), are complete.
- n.300 The presence of thams cad shes pa nyid (sarvajñatā) here is noteworthy.
- n.301 The translators evidently read upalabh in place of upe or understood upe as upalabh. The Mvy does not attest dmigs as a translation of upe in any of its forms.
- n.302 This renders de; Twenty-Five Thousand, ka 152a (6.14), cing. Cf. Gilgit, 60r11–12, anupādattā; Ghoṣa, p. 825, and Kimura, 1–1:182, (tena) anupāttaḥ.
- n.303 Twenty-Five Thousand 6.16 has ngo bo nyid med pa (“are without intrinsic nature”).
- n.304 Alternatively, “assured of the crest of the victory banner.”
- n.305 This meditative stability named excellently well established and the following meditative stabilities named well-engaging king of meditative stabilities, diffusion of light rays, without mistakes, because of the diffusion of light rays not making mistakes, and power of effort (rab tu bde bar gnas pa, ting nge 'dzin gyi rgyal po bde bar 'jug pa, 'od zer rab tu 'gyed pa, 'khrul pa med pa, 'od zer rab tu 'gyed pas 'khrul pa med par byed pa, and brtson pa'i stobs) are probably the result of a cascade of copying errors. They are missing from the list in the Twenty-Five Thousand; from Gilgit, 60v4–5, Ghoṣa, p. 826, and Kimura, 1–1:183; and are not found in the Mvy. In the later list (8.109) they are missing from Ghoṣa, p. 1267, and are omitted from the Choné Kangyur.

- n.306 Eighteen Thousand 7.8, rājamudra. Missing from the Twenty-Five Thousand's list, and from Gilgit, 60v6, Ghoṣa, p. 826, and Kimura, 1–1:183.
- n.307 Eighteen Thousand 7.8, trimaṇḍalapariśuddha. Missing from the list in the Twenty-Five Thousand, and from Gilgit, 60v6, Ghoṣa, p. 826, and Kimura, 1–1:183.
- n.308 This and the next are missing from the list in the Twenty-Five Thousand. They may simply be intended or accidental alternative renderings of simha-vijṛmbhita, which can mean a lion's yawn and a lion's stretch. Mvy gives forms of prasṛ like prasāraṇa ("spreading," "stretching out," "extending") for forms of rkyong, and gives glal as rendering forms of (vi)jṛmbh.
- n.309 Myv attests both snrel zhi and snrel gzhi. Mvy snrel zhi snyoms par 'jug pa renders vyāstakrantakasamāpatti. dag yig gsar bsgrigs, Zi ling: Mtsho sngon mi rigs dpe bskrun khang, 2003, glosses this as "crowning" (thod rgal ba'i don), equating vyatyasta with vyāstakrantaka = vyākrantaka or vyutkrānta.
- n.310 This is missing from the list in the Twenty-Five Thousand, and from Gilgit 60v7–8, Ghoṣa p. 826, and Kimura 1-1:183.
- n.311 This is missing from the list in the Twenty-Five Thousand.
- n.312 Skt MSS have śuddhāvāsa (pure abode) or śuddhābhāsa (pure illumination); however, Kimura gives śuddhasāra in a later list, and this is the reading adopted here.
- n.313 This is missing from the list in the Twenty-Five Thousand.
- n.314 This renders D jig pa, C 'jigs pa ("fearless"), also in the Twenty-Five Thousand, perhaps reading vibhaya in place of Gilgit, 60v10, and Ghoṣa vivarṇa; Kimura viṅṛta.
- n.315 This is missing from the list in the Twenty-Five Thousand.
- n.316 This is missing from the list in the Twenty-Five Thousand. Gilgit, Ghoṣa, and Kimura omit.

- n.317 This renders dharmodgata (chos kyis 'phags pa); cf. the Twenty-Five Thousand's chos kyis 'phags pa, g.1083.
- n.318 This and the following two meditative stabilities are missing the list in the Twenty-Five Thousand, and from Gilgit, Ghoṣa, and Kimura.
- n.319 This, rnam par nges pa (**viniścaya*), and the following meditative stability are missing from the list in the Twenty-Five Thousand.
- n.320 Alternatively, where objective supports have been cut off. Gilgit, 60v14, āraṃbanaccheda; Ghoṣa, p. 831, and Kimura, 1–1:184, āvāraṇa (“obscuration”).
- n.321 This meditative stability named entering into names and signs and the following named free from activity are missing from the list in the Twenty-Five Thousand.
- n.322 nges par gnas pa, Kimura (consistently with tathatā) sthitaniścita. Cf. the Twenty-Five Thousand and Eighteen Thousand, ka 152ab (15.105), sems med par gnas pa, and Ghoṣa, p. 832, sthitaniścitta, (abiding without mentation).
- n.323 This renders gnas su bya ba med pa, niradhiṣṭhāna (without anything to serve as a foundation).
- n.324 This is missing from list in the Twenty-Five Thousand.
- n.325 This compound is rendered slightly differently in the Twenty-Five Thousand (g.213).
- n.326 This and the next six meditative stabilities are missing from the list in the Twenty-Five Thousand. The name of the bodhisattva Ratnagarbha is rendered rin chen snying po (“Jewel Heart”).
- n.327 This renders mngon par dmigs pa med pa; alternatively, without a manifest objective support.
- n.328 This is missing from the list in the Twenty-Five Thousand.
- n.329 This is missing from the list in the Twenty-Five Thousand.
- n.330 This and the next four are missing from the list in the Twenty-Five Thousand.
- n.331 This differs slightly from the name in the list in the Twenty-Five Thousand (g.-1116).
- n.332 This and the next two are missing from the list in the Twenty-Five Thousand.
- n.333 This assumes kun tu rtoḡ pa is derived not from saṃkḷp but from saṃvīkṣ.

- n.334 This is missing from the list in the Twenty-Five Thousand.
- n.335 I.e., of all phenomena.
- n.336 “Fixated” renders chags par bya ba, Ghoṣa p. 842 abhiniviṣṭāḥ.
- n.337 Skt vid means both “exist” and “know”; saṃvid has the same two meanings, perhaps intensified (“completely exist” or “completely know”). In Skt, therefore, the sentence means, at one and the same time: “As they are not known, so are they known. Thus, not being known, one says ‘ignorance,’ ” and, “As they do not exist, so do they exist. Thus, not existing, one says ‘not existing.’ ”
- n.338 Ghoṣa, p. 863, adds “great loving kindness” here.
- n.339 Gn1, p. 916: “when ordinary foolish people mistakenly see the nonexistent as existent they imagine and become fixated on all sorts of various things.”
- n.340 Ghoṣa, p. 877, niryāti (“are not emancipated in” or “do not go forth to”); Kimura, 1–1:190, niryāsyati. The Tib ’byung ba has been rendered both by “go forth [to]” and by “emancipated [in],” depending on the context.
- n.341 Ghoṣa, p. 905, saṃjñāsamajñāprajñaptivyavahārah. Āryavimuktisena (Pensa 69, translated Sparham vol. 1, p. 75) says, “A saṃjñā (=notion, name) is the word for the causal sign (nimitta) of something; a samajñā (=symbol, denomination, literally ‘same knowledge’) is the word for the knowledge ‘me’ that goes in tandem with (sameta) the something (as in ‘I see the form with my eye,’ etc.). A prajñapti (=designation) is the representation (vijñāpana) within which there is settling on known and knowledge as object and subject. A vyavahāra (term, conventional expression) is [the Bodhisattva as mere] different (vividha) activity (vyavahāra) connected with things received or not received from others.”
- n.342 “Denomination” renders nāmaprajñapti, ming du gdags pa; cp. dharmaprajñapti (“designation for something”). The idea is that a name, as much as the named, is also just designated.
- n.343 “Are in their essential nature no essence” renders dngos po ma mchis pa’i rang bzhin, abhāvasvabhāvaḥ. In the list of emptinesses this abhāvasvabhāvaḥ is consistently rendered dngos po med pa’i ngo bo nyid (“essential nature of nonentities”).
- n.344 “Find agreeable” renders mos pa (rocana); Conze has “find pleasure in.”

- n.345 Cp. Ghoṣa, p. 923, tasyā yā teṣāṃ sarvovākārajñatāpratisaṃyuktānāṃ manasikārāṇāṃ anutsarjanatā anikṣiptadhuratā iyaṃ bodhisattvasya mahāsattvasya vīryapāramitā.
- n.346 “Deny any opportunity for ... to impede” (bgegs su 'gyur ba ... skabs [alternatively] go mi 'byed pa, na ... tad; avakāsaṃ dadati ... ye paripanthakārāḥ).
- n.347 This renders the past passive participle in active voice. Literally it says they have “been fully taken hold of” (yongs su zin pa, parigṛhīta), which in this context means that the bodhisattvas have been guided or mentored by a learned compassionate guru teaching the two truths, and by skillful means and great compassion (saṃparigraha). Cf. Abhisamayālaṅkāra 1.37.
- n.348 Here the first “unconditioned” renders asaṃskṛta and the second anabhisamskāra (“not an enactment”). Ghoṣa, p. 994, asaṃskṛta-śūnyatānabhisamskāreti.
- n.349 Gilgit, 66r11, smṛtyupasthānabhāvatāyai dharmam deśayati; Ghoṣa, p. 1001, accidentally omits this statement here but attaches it to the end of the rest of the correct exertions and so on; Kimura, 1–2:11, omits.
- n.350 Ghoṣa, p. 1036, as expected, has mahāmaitrī (“great loving kindness”) here, but both D and S omit it.
- n.351 The Hundred Thousand and the Twenty-Five Thousand both render Kimura, 1–2:12, apaḡatasarvovākārajñatāpratisaṃyuktair manasikāraiḥ praññāpāramitāṃ bhāvayati upalabhate, tayā ca praññāpāramitayā manyate, literally “bereft of attentions connected with all-aspect omniscience they contemplate the perfection of wisdom and apprehend it, and on account of that perfection of wisdom give rise to conceit.”
- n.352 Ghoṣa praññāpāramitāyāṃ carann anupāyakuśalo veditavyaḥ.
- n.353 ngo bo dmigs pa.
- n.354 This renders Ghoṣa, p. 1185, virecayati vichandayati; cp. Kimura, 1–2:14, just vivecayati.
- n.355 rang bzor byas pa (“made up by [the forgers] themselves”); Ghoṣa, p. 1185, kuvitarkā (“from bad ideas”); Kimura and Gilgit, 67a5, kavikṛtāny (“composed by poets”).
- n.356 Kimura, 1–2:14; Ghoṣa, p. 1186; and Gilgit, 67.9, upadiś, ācakṣ. Although here, and at Twenty-Five Thousand, ka 175b (7.57), bdud (māra) is qualified by the plural marker dag, only in the Twenty-Five Thousand are those doing the revealing and explaining qualified by the plural marker 'di dag ni. The reading here (except for the first plural marker) follows the Skt that has the evil associate not teaching others that such fake buddhas are indeed fake, not the fake buddhas not revealing themselves to be fake.

- n.357 The Choné and Yungdrung versions of the Hundred Thousand omit these five aggregates, as do all other versions, including S. Twenty-Five Thousand 7.61 starts with mig, “eyes.”
- n.358 Here 'dems is an incompleated voluntary form of gdam; Ghōṣa, p. 1190, avadaty anuśāsti.
- n.359 “Basis” (gnas) and “word” (tshig) both render pada. “Actual entity denoted by / that is a word” renders padārtha. “Is without a basis / footing / place” renders padam na vidyate. Cf. Kimura, 1–2:17, padam na vidyate nopalabhyate (“a basis does not exist and cannot be apprehended”). The Sanskrit terms padārtha and its negative or opposite apadārtha are crucial to an understanding of the text. The Sanskrit pada, starting from its basic meaning of a footstep or track, also means a mark, standpoint, token, portion, sign, a matter, or a word; artha (or ārtha) has an even wider range of meanings including aim, purpose, cause, motive, use, object, and meaning. The Tibetan translators of this text and of the Hundred Thousand have rendered the two compounds as tshig gi don and tshig gi don med pa, of which the literal translations in English might be “the meaning of the word” and “the absence of meaning of the word.” However, don here must be understood as referring not to “meaning” in the sense of a definition of some kind, but rather to the actual thing denoted by the word. Note that the Tibetan of the Eighteen Thousand (11.2 et seq.) renders the two compounds gzhi'i don and gzhi med pa'i don, i.e., using a different interpretation of pada and a different analysis of the second compound.
- n.360 The Twenty-Five Thousand omits these six elements, as does Ghōṣa, p. 1195, and Bṭ1, na p. 946.
- n.361 Here “without any basis” renders padam na vidyate, “because ... are nonexistent” renders avidyamānatvāt, and “there is no actual entity denoted by the word” renders padārtho na vidyate.
- n.362 This is the twentieth of the twenty “sub-eons” making up the third (eon of destruction) of the four subdivisions of a “great eon” (mahākalpa). The other three major divisions of a great eon are the eon of arising, of duration, and (after the eon of destruction), of voidness.

- n.363 “False” renders asadbhūtātā (a-sadbhūta-tā = yang dag pa ma yin pa), rendered into Tib here as myed pa yang dag pa nyid (= asad-bhūta-tā), literally “the fact that they are really nonexistent.”
- n.364 “Bases [of meritorious deeds] from having carried out one’s assigned duty” tentatively renders nyams su blang ba dang ldan pa’i [bsod nams kyi las kyi] dnogs po, based on Ghoṣa, p. 1258, vaiyāvṛttasahagatam; cf. Edgerton vaiyāpatya. Although Gilgit, 70r2, and PSP, 1-2: 24, upāyakauśalam is supported by Eighteen Thousand 11.36 and le’u brgyad ma, ga 181b5, thabs mkhas pa (“skillful in what is connected with one’s assigned duties”), Ghoṣa’s auśadhika (“[bases of meritorious deeds] to do with medicines”) is a good reading.
- n.365 “Verbal abuse” renders zhe gcod pa (elsewhere tshig tsub pa) (paruṣa/pāruṣya). Shouting at the person so much it upsets them.
- n.366 “Perverse pride” renders log pa’i nga rgyal, mithyāmāna. bod rgya tshig mdzod chen mo, s.v. log pa’i nga rgyal, “being full of oneself because of seeing what is bad in oneself as good.”
- n.367 “Indeterminate” renders lung du ma bstan pa, “not taught in the scripture [as virtuous or nonvirtuous].”
- n.368 This translation is based on the catasraḥ arūpyasamāpattaya[h] (Gilgit 70r8). Tib gzugs myed pa bzhir skyes pa (“born in the four formless states”) appears to be a mistaken reading of samāpatti as meaning utpatti.
- n.369 Earlier (2.13) the translators rendered these terms slightly differently.
- n.370 Earlier (2.12) the translators again have rendered these terms slightly differently.
- n.371 “With certainty” renders nges pa (niyata) in the sense of destined to progress to and attain their respective goals. Bṭ1, p. 959: “Thus it says ‘beings with certainty’ of the great number of beings, each ascertained as being in different lineages.” “Lead ... to consummation” renders phul byed par ’gyur bas (agrātām kariṣyati); cf. LSPW, pp. 168–69, “cause to achieve ... the highest.” Edgerton s.v. kṛ says “Sometimes the Caus. of  $\sqrt{kṛ}$  is used for the simple verb or without a causal signification.” This would then mean “is the culmination.” The first way of rendering this means the Blessed One thinks bodhisattvas are called great beings because they bring all the beings destined to different goals to the culmination or highest state (phul, agrātā). The second means he thinks they are called great beings because they are the foremost or the culmination of all those progressing to different goals. Cf. Abhisamayālaṅkāra 1.42 that glosses this part of the Sūtra with samuddeśa (“the motivating aims”) and says the first of the aims is sarvasattvāgratācitta (“[setting] the mind on the consummation of all beings”).

- n.372 “Equanimity” (sems mnyam pa nyid, samacittatā) here means a mind that sees all beings in the same way.
- n.373 “Unadulterated” (ma ’dres pa, avyavakīrṇa) means not influenced by the thoughts of personal freedom that śrāvakas and pratyekabuddhas have.
- n.374 Gilgit, 71r14, ekanaya.
- n.375 “On top of that” renders gong du. Ghoṣa mahāsattvenāttaryavaṃ [uttaram evaṃ?] cittam.
- n.376 “Led to consummation” renders phul du ’gyur pa as meaning phul byed du ’gyur pa based on Ghoṣa, p. 1266, sarvasattvānām agryatām kārayiṣyati. Literally, the Tib suggests it is the mind of the bodhisattva that is in the consummate state, rather than being in that state because of leading all beings to it.
- n.377 “Practice and engage in having an appreciation” renders mos pa’i rnal ’byor la brtson pa, ārāmatāyogānuuyukta; alternatively, (Eighteen Thousand, ka 118b (11.67)) “be preoccupied with delight (kun tu dga’ ba’i) in.” Āryavimuktisena (AAV, cf. Sparham 2006–11 vol. 3, p. 69) says, “It uses both the word yoga and anuyoga (“yoga that follows”) to indicate [those who] practice (yoga), and then again engage in (anuyoga) the truth of suffering and origin, and the truth of cessation and path, respectively, in a temporal sequence.”
- n.378 On the meditative stabilities at this point, omitted from Ghoṣa, p. 1267, see n.-305.
- n.379 Ghoṣa, K, N, and C omit.
- n.380 Ghoṣa, K, N, and C omit.
- n.381 Alternatively, “that has followed the stream” (śroto’ nugata).
- n.382 This renders seng ge rnam par bsgying pa. Emend Ghoṣa, p. 1267, siṃhavikrīḍita to siṃhavijṛṃbhita.
- n.383 Ghoṣa, K, N, and C omit this and the following one.
- n.384 Ghoṣa, K, N, and C omit.
- n.385 Alternatively, nyon mongs pa, raṇa means “conflict.”

- n.386 Ghoṣa, K, N, and C omit.
- n.387 Ghoṣa, K, N, and C omit.
- n.388 Ghoṣa again has vivarṇa.
- n.389 Ghoṣa, K, N, and C omit.
- n.390 Ghoṣa, K, N, and C omit.
- n.391 Ghoṣa, K, N, and C omit this and the following two meditative stabilities.
- n.392 Ghoṣa, K, N, and C omit this and the following meditative stability.
- n.393 Again, Ghoṣa, p. 1268, reads āvaraṇa (“obscuration”) in place of ālambana.
- n.394 Ghoṣa, K, N, and C omit this and the following meditative stability.
- n.395 Ghoṣa, p. 1268, sthitaniścitta.
- n.396 Ghoṣa, K, N, and C omit this **sthitaniścita*.
- n.397 Ghoṣa, K, N, and C omit.
- n.398 Ghoṣa, K, N, and C omit.
- n.399 Ghoṣa, K, N, and C omit this and the next six meditative stabilities.
- n.400 K, N, and C omit. Ghoṣa, p. 1269, sarvāākāravāropeta.
- n.401 Following this in the earlier list 6.163 (kha 184b) but missing here is flash of lightning that does not cause pain.
- n.402 Ghoṣa, K, N, and C omit.
- n.403 This and the preceding one are the meditative stabilities at Ghoṣa, p. 835, araṇa-samavasaraṇa, and araṇa-saraṇa-sarvva-samavasaraṇa. Here the list at Ghoṣa, p. 1269, has only araṇasarvasamarasaraṇe!
- n.404 Ghoṣa, K, N, and C omit this and the next four meditative stabilities.
- n.405 D adds another meditative stability called dispelling the defects of speech here. Ghoṣa, K, N, and C omit it.
- n.406 Ghoṣa, K, N, and C omit this and the next two meditative stabilities.
- n.407 The sentence found here in Twenty-Five Thousand 8.64 is, “So if one were to ask why, it is because that mind is not mind and there is indeed no attachment to that which is not mind” (de ci’i phyir zhe na / ‘di ltar sems ni sems ma mchis pa ste/ sems ma mchis pa de la yangs chags pa med do). This is cited below (8.144).

- n.408 Here “physical forms would therefore be without attachment” (gzugs kyang chags pa myed do, rūpam asaktam) means that physical forms are not things that anybody could get attached to.
- n.409 K, N. D omits “great loving kindness.”
- n.410 In both the Eight Thousand (W83) and Twenty-Five Thousand (PSP, 1-2: 33) Subhūti says the line cited here: acittatoāt tatrāpi citte asakta iti; Lhasa Kangyur brgyad stong 17a7, sams med pa'i phyir sems de la ma chags shing [yongs su ma zin]. The earlier line in the Twenty-Five Thousand (ka 192a6 (8.64)) differs slightly: de ci'i phyir zhe na/ 'di ltar sems ni sems ma mchis pa ste/ sems ma mchis pa de la yangs chags pa med do (“So if you ask why, it is because that mind is not mind and there is indeed no attachment to that which is not mind”). Either this line has dropped out earlier from the Eighteen Thousand and the Hundred Thousand, or this is a cross-reference to another scripture.
- n.411 “Nonexistent physical forms” renders gzugs myed pa, construing the compound arūpam as a tatpuruṣa (in Whitney’s nomenclature, a “descriptive compound”). The negative prefix a- is descriptive of rūpam, hence “a nonexistent form” is a type of form. Bṭ1 says: “It teaches that there the nonexistent mind is called nonexistent mind because of the nonexistence, in the mind of the realm of phenomena, the intrinsic defining characteristic of which is a thoroughly established phenomenon, of imaginary mind. In ‘but nonexistent physical forms also would be without attachment to physical forms,’ the nonexistent physical forms are called nonexistent physical forms because the physical forms of the realm of phenomena, the intrinsic defining characteristics of which are thoroughly established phenomena, are not imaginary existent physical forms. Hence, nonexistent physical forms, the intrinsic nature of which are thoroughly established phenomena, are ‘without attachment to’ imaginary ‘physical forms.’ If the compound were to be construed as a bahuvrihi (‘possessive compound’) it would mean ‘[physical form, ultimately, the emptiness of it] in which there is no physical form.’ ”
- n.412 “Mounted upon” renders yang dag par gnas pa. Both the Hundred Thousand, the Twenty-Five Thousand, and the Eighteen Thousand render Kimura, 1–2:44, and Ghoṣa, p. 1329 samārūḍha as yang dag par gnas; also, earlier, Kimura 1–2:33, Ghoṣa, p. 1298, and Gilgit, 74r9, samārūḍha. The Hundred Thousand and the Twenty-Five Thousand also appear to render this word occasionally by gnas alone; le'u brgyad ma, ga 200a1, zhugs, and ga 200a2, 'dzeg pa;

Abhisamayālaṅkāra, 1.45d, adhirohini; and mngon rtogs rgyan, ka 4a6, 'dzegs.

- n.413 Ghōṣa, p. 1303, adhivāsanatā; Gilgit, 73v9, omits. Kimura, 1–2:35, has vyupaparīkṣaṇā, as does Ghōṣa, p. 1325, below, rendered at 8.233 (F.109.a) just by rtog pa. Āryavimuktisena (AAV, Sparham 2006–11 vol. 1, p. 95): “They have perfection of patience armor when they endure, find pleasure in, and thoroughly investigate the dharmas of the knowledge of all aspects (they endure it at the initial occurrence, find pleasure from the second instant, etc., and thoroughly investigate by investigating from various angles).”
- n.414 “Overwhelm” renders zil gyis gnon (abhibhū); alternatively, “eclipse” or “tower over.”
- n.415 Ghōṣa, p. 1311, udānam udānayanti / nāmadheyañ ca kīrttayanti śabdān udīrayanti / ghoṣam anuśrāvayanti.
- n.416 Cf. 8.83.
- n.417 This is the same as 8.83.
- n.418 Ghōṣa, p. 1315, ākāśākāraliṅganimittaili.
- n.419 Ghōṣa, p. 1324, brjod, ākhyā (“describe”); 'chad, deśaya (“explain”); ston, prakāśaya (“teach”); 'grel, visarjaya (“interpret”); rnam par 'byed, uttāntīkṛ (“analyze”); gsal bar byed, vivañc (“elucidate”).
- n.420 Ghōṣa, p. 1325, has sarvajñatā (“omniscience”) in place of “meditative concentrations,” and pariṇāmayati (“dedicate [the merits] to”) in place of “descend to.”
- n.421 “Definitively discern” renders rab tu rtog (pratyavekṣ); alternatively, “understand analytically,” “contemplate.”
- n.422 Bṭ1, p. 1014: “the mind is ‘undistracted’ by grasping at signs with respect to all phenomena, and absorbed.”
- n.423 In both Skt and Tib the subject of the verb “engage” (pravṛt, 'jug) is “understanding”; thus, literally, this says “understanding does not engage with.”
- n.424 “Undivided” renders ma 'dres pa, avyavakīrṇa; literally “not mixed with anything else.”

- n.425 Here the translators render bhāvanāvibhāvanā by bsgom par rnam par bsgom pa. LSPW, p. 184, “a development in the sense of annihilation,” renders le’u brgyad ma, ga 200b1, bsgom pa rnam par gzhiḡ pa’i don du; the Eighteen Thousand renders it variously as “investigation” or “disintegration” of meditation.
- n.426 Cf. 1.10.
- n.427 K, N. D omits the eighteen emptinesses.
- n.428 This is related to the earlier list that was introduced by de ni (Ghoṣa, p. 1401, yad)—all the phenomena that are ultimately unfettered and unliberated (the portal of the Dharma)—the objects in which the bodhisattvas “dwell.”
- n.429 Ghoṣa, p. 1405, niyojayiṣyati; Kimura, 1–2:58, parinirvāpayiṣyaty.
- n.430 Below, 10.1, this question “because of just what” (ci tsam gyis na) is introduced simply by “how” (ji ltar na).
- n.431 “Go forth” renders ’byung (niryā). It also means “to emerge from,” “to be emancipated from,” “escape,” and, later in this text, “the absence of a vehicle.”
- n.432 “Nature” here renders prakṛti, rendered “inherent nature” when one in the list of emptinesses.
- n.433 This translates D without emendation. Bṭ1, pp. 1034–35, says “ ‘the emptiness of that emptiness that is the emptiness of phenomena.’ That emptiness that is the emptiness when you say ‘phenomena are empty’ is also nonexistent as an inherent nature of emptiness, so, it, empty of an inherent nature, is called ‘the emptiness of emptiness.’ ” K, N have de in place of D des. Cf. Gilgit, 83v7–8, tatra katamā śūnyatā śūnyatayā sarvadharmāṇāṃ śūnyatā / tayā śūnyatayā śūnyā śūnyatā iyam ucyate śūnyatāśūnyatā, “Here, what is the emptiness of the emptiness on account of the emptiness of all phenomena? The emptiness empty of that emptiness. This is called ‘the emptiness of emptiness.’ ”
- n.434 This definition of a physical form (rūpa) relates the word to a causal form of the verb rup; MW “to suffer violent pain.”
- n.435 “Poisonous” renders gdug pa; Ghoṣa, p. 1410, āṣṭviṣa (“snake poison”).
- n.436 “Gateway to arising” renders skye ba’i sgo (=āpattidvāra?); cf. Ghoṣa, p. 1410, āpaddvāra (“gateway to misfortune”).
- n.437 “Not growing fainthearted” renders thub pa myed pa (anavasadya).

- n.438 “Becoming completely collected” renders yang dag par ’dus pa (saṃgraha).
- n.439 “Emergence” renders ’byung ba. Ghoṣa’s nairyāṇika is the definition of the truth of the path that “causes emergence” in the sense that it causes emancipation. It is not likely that ’byung ba here means actual emancipation.
- n.440 “A liberation” renders rnam par grol ba (vimokṣa), of which there are eight. It is defined as “liberating” (rnam par ’grel pa, vimocanā).
- n.441 The translators read niścita (“ascertained”) in place of Ghoṣa nicita.
- n.442 “Direct perception” renders mngon sum (pratyakṣa); alternatively, in reference to the object of knowledge, pratyakṣa means “directly appearing,” “obvious.”
- n.443 “Union” renders ’dus pa (sāmyogika); Eighteen Thousand, ka 146a (15.29), ’dus pa las byung ba’i chos (“a phenomenon that has arisen from a union”) is a better translation.
- n.444 These four render bhāva (“entity”), abhāva (“nonentity”), svabhāva (“essential entity” or, more literally, “entity from itself”), and parabhāva (“entity on account of something else”), respectively.
- n.445 It is noteworthy here that the Tibetan translators render Ghoṣa, p. 1411, svabhāva ucyate prakṛtir aviparītaṃ as rang bzhin zhes bya ba ni ngo bo nyid ma nor ba, using rang bzhin to render svabhāva and ngo bo nyid to render prakṛti, the opposite of the usual usage of these two Tibetan terms in this text.
- n.446 “Ranges over” renders spyod. The translators perhaps read anucarati in place of Ghoṣa, p. 1415; Kimura, 1–2:65; and Gilgit, 85r4, anubhavati (“experiences”).
- n.447 Ghoṣa, p. 1415; Kimura, 1–2:66; Gilgit, 85r8; and the Eighteen Thousand, ka 148b, omit this meditative stability; the Twenty-Five Thousand, 226a (8.248), has “all phenomena are sealed with the unchanging seal.”
- n.448 Ghoṣa, p. 1416, yatra samādhau niyatvā na bhidyate (“having become certain with respect to this meditative stability they are not split apart”); Eighteen Thousand 15.45 “meditative stabilities are not broken apart.” Cf. Kimura, 1–2:66, “are not split apart by any meditative stability.” Bṭ1, pp. 1044–45, “because it is not destroyed by the sides opposing...”
- n.449 Ghoṣa, Kimura rājasupraṭiṣṭhānena (“like a king who has been well consecrated”).
- n.450 There is no explanation of this in Bṭ1.

- n.451 “Well-founded” renders ’dzugs; in the earlier lists ’jug and ’jugs.
- n.452 There is no explanation of this and the following two meditative stabilities in Bṭ1.
- n.453 Gilgit, 85v3, mudram[=ām] ādhārayati. Bṭ1, p. 1047: “ ‘If, among them, you ask what is the meditative stability named sealed with the seal, abiding in that meditative stability they are sealed with the seal of all meditative stabilities.’ When they are absorbed in that meditative stability they realize that the import of all the meditative stabilities is that all phenomena are, from the beginning, unarisen, and because it does not deviate from that meaning as it has been realized, like affixing a seal it is called ‘sealed with the seal.’ ”
- n.454 There is no explanation of this in the Twenty-Five Thousand or Bṭ1, and Ghoṣa, p. 1417; Kimura, 1–2:67; and Gilgit, 85v5, omit it.
- n.455 Bṭ1, p. 1048: “ ‘If, among them, you ask what is the meditative stability named permeation of space, abiding in that meditative stability space is permeated extensively with all the meditative stabilities.’ It is called ‘permeation of space’ because, when they are absorbed in this meditative stability, space is permeated with the forces and various miraculous displays of all the meditative stabilities, or, because the force of this meditative stability, like space, expands and permeates all meditative stabilities.”
- n.456 Ghoṣa, p. 1417; Gilgit, 85v6; and Kimura, 1–2:67, omits. Bṭ1, p. 1048: “ ‘If, among them, you ask what is the meditative stability named vajra maṇḍala, abiding in that meditative stability they apprehend the maṇḍalas of all meditative stabilities.’ It is called ‘vajra maṇḍala’ because, when they are absorbed in this meditative stability, there is the achievement of the collection of meditative stabilities, which, like a vajra, cannot be pierced by hindrances like Māra and so on. Take ‘maṇḍala’ here in this context as a collection or many gathered together.”
- n.457 The other lists, and Bṭ1, omit this meditative stability. Ghoṣa, p. 1417, and Gilgit, 85v6, have raṇajaha here; Kimura, 1–2:67, differs.
- n.458 “Slip in” renders ’dzul. There is no explanation of this meditative stability in Bṭ1.
- n.459 There is no explanation of this meditative stability in Bṭ1.
- n.460 Jäschke, s.v. lham me (snang), lhan ne (snang), and lhang nge (snang), all as different forms of the same word meaning “clear and distinct.”

- n.461   Ghoṣa, p. 1418, and Gilgit, 85v9, yatra samādhau sthitasya na cittam na cetasikā dharmmā pravarttante.
- n.462   There is no explanation of this meditative stability in Bṭ1.
- n.463   There is no explanation of this and the next meditative stability in Bṭ1.
- n.464   There is no explanation of this and the next meditative stability in Bṭ1.
- n.465   Ghoṣa, p. 1420, samantāloko nāma; Bṭ1 kun tu lta ba (“total seeing,” “observing everything”).
- n.466   There is no explanation of this and the next two meditative stabilities in Bṭ1.
- n.467   There is no explanation of this and the next meditative stability in Bṭ1.
- n.468   Kimura, 1–2:71; there is no explanation of this and the next meditative stability in Bṭ1.
- n.469   This reading is corroborated by the explanation at Bṭ1, pp. 1061–62, and Gilgit, 86v11, cāraṇa na samanupaśyati.
- n.470   There is no explanation of this meditative stability in Bṭ1.
- n.471   There is no explanation of this meditative stability in Bṭ1.
- n.472   “Stretch” renders rgyud (Bṭ1, p. 1064, rgyu?), apparently for pariccheda.
- n.473   There is no explanation of this meditative stability in Bṭ1.
- n.474   There is no explanation of this and the next seven meditative stabilities in Bṭ1.
- n.475   The S Hundred Thousand, nga 137a4–5, Kimura, Ghoṣa, Gilgit, the Twenty-Five Thousand, the Eighteen Thousand, and Bṭ1 all have this and following meditative stability in a different order.
- n.476   There is no explanation of this in Bṭ1.
- n.477   Here the Skt dhāraṇīmati also means “possessing dhāraṇīs.”
- n.478   Bṭ1, p. 1069: “Take ‘contradiction’ as obstruction on the side opposing meditative stability; take ‘refutation’ as hindrance that blocks meditative stability.”
- n.479   S Hundred Thousand, nga 137a4–5, gdung ba med pa’i glog gi ’od (“nonafflictive lightning light”). Bṭ1, p. 1071, gives an explanation. Kimura, 1–2:74; Ghoṣa, p. 1425; and Gilgit, 87v10, all omit, and have mahāvvyūha for the next entry, rgyan chen po.

- n.480 There is no explanation of this in Bṭ1.
- n.481 Bṭ1, p. 1073: “They do not even apprehend the foundation of all meditative stabilities—the transcendental knowledge that is the transformation of the basis-of-all consciousness (kun gzhi rnam par shes pa) devoid and purified of the object that is grasped and the subject that grasps.”
- n.482 There is no explanation of this and the next four meditative stabilities in Bṭ1.
- n.483 Again, D includes a second meditative stability here, dispelling defects of speech, with exactly the same explanation. There is no explanation of it in Bṭ1.
- n.484 There is no explanation of this and the next two meditative stabilities in Bṭ1.
- n.485 This renders Gilgit, 88r13, saṃghāṭīcīvarapātradharaṇe. The Sanskrit saṃghāṭīcīvara is rendered sbyar ma, more usually rnam sbyar (as at Eighteen Thousand ka 156a, (16.5)). The idea is that when they go out to beg with a begging bowl, they also wear uttarāsaṅga. The modern Tibetan chos gos (“religious garb”) that renders cīvara (“the robes”) usually refers exclusively to the outer robe (uttarāsaṅga).
- n.486 The klama in Ghōṣa, p. 1429, śayitanidrāklamapratiṅodite is rendered mya myo (perhaps rmya, “to feel dull,” “to lose energy”).
- n.487 A more literal translation is “... mindful when breathing in, they are mindful, fully aware ‘I am breathing in.’ ”
- n.488 “Epidermal skin, inner skin, flesh” renders bags pa (= pags pa), glog pa (= slog pa), and sha. Ghōṣa, p. 1439 tvak carma māṃsā. The differences likely derive from observations of the outer covering of a body made while skinning an animal.
- n.489 “Viscera” renders nang grol. Eighteen Thousand ka 157a1 (16.9) glang pa (Mvy audarīyaka, “pertaining to the abdomen”); Ghōṣa, p. 1431, udarayantram (?) suggests the abdominal walls. Kimura, 1–2:77, udaraṇi (“stomach”).
- n.490 “Filthy excretions” renders dri ma (malā), explained by Monier-Williams, s.v. malā, as “any bodily excretion or secretion.”
- n.491 rab rib snang ba, perhaps reading timirabhāsa in place of Ghōṣa, p. 1434, tirobhūtāni (“indistinct”), and Kimura, 1–2:80, tirovārṣikāṇi, which might be rendered “in which the years have disappeared.”

- n.492 Cf. Ghoṣa, p. 1434, pūtīni cūrṇakajātāni pṛthivyāṃ pāṃśunā samasamībhūtāni. Tib zogs (ma) renders pūti; samasamībhūtāni, “have become the same and equal to.”
- n.493 “Scrutiny” renders dpyod pa (mīmāṃsā), which refers to the investigation of a topic.
- n.494 “Analysis of phenomena” renders dharmapṛavicaya (chos rnam par ’byed pa), which is another word for “wisdom” (prajñā).
- n.495 “Understood analytically” renders pratyavekṣ, here rendered just by rtog; Edgerton s.v. pratyavekṣaṇā, “intellectual mastery.”
- n.496 Bṭ1, p. 1090: “Having thus understood analytically that all phenomena are empty of their own defining characteristics and signless, they are not attached to and do not wish for anything at all. They cultivate a single-pointed stability of mind without ‘conditioning’ afflictive states of mind—karma that becomes the cause for birth in the three realms in order to obtain the pleasures of the three realms in future lives when reborn in the three realms. This is ‘called the meditative stability of wishlessness.’ ”
- n.497 In the enumeration of the eleven knowledges in the second chapter (2.10-2-11), the eighth knowledge is “knowledge of nonduality.”
- n.498 “Continuum of suffering existence” renders the Tib srid pa’i rgyud.
- n.499 Ghoṣa, p. 1441, yat pratipakṣajñānaṃ; Kimura, 1-2:82, yat pratipatparijayajñānaṃ; Gilgit, 90v6-7, yat pratipajñānaṃ paricayajñānaṃ. LC gives yongs su byang ba as well as ’dris pa as translations of parijaya (“mastery”).
- n.500 “Transcendental knowledge” renders the Tib ye shes.
- n.501 Cf. ka 40.a and ga 62.a. The Tib translation here of ājñāta as yongs su shes pas pas rtogs pa is apparently based on ājñāta, “fully comprehended/er,” and vid, “knower, realizer,” in place of the possessive -vin.
- n.502 Bṭ1, p. 1093: “Take ‘have not appeared’ (anavabhāsa) as the nonapprehending and absence of appearing of imaginary phenomena—object grasped and subject grasping and so on—when entering into the first level from the level of practice on account of belief (adhimuktīcaryābhūmi).”
- n.503 “Those with physical forms observe physical forms” renders the Tib gzugs can gyis gzugs rnam mthong ba. Alternatively, and more interpretively, this might be rendered “those with [perceptions of] physical forms observe physical forms.”

- n.504 Bṭ1, p. 1101: “The knowledge of whatever good and bad actions that beings did in the past, whatever ones they are doing in the present, and whatever ones they will do in the future by way of body, speech, and mind, as well as the nonerroneous knowledge of whatever maturations will come about from them, is called ‘the power of knowing the maturations of actions.’ ‘The undertakings of actions’ refers to what is experienced as pleasant in the present and as suffering in the future, or what is experienced as unpleasant at the present time but will be experienced as pleasant in the future. ‘The aspect of location’ refers to the places where the actions of beings were done and the objects [on which the actions were carried out], and the places where the maturations will come about and the objects [that will be experienced]. This is ‘as it pertains to place.’ (This is not a quote in the text.) ‘The aspect of cause’ refers to the cause of doing the action—a mind with associated virtuous roots or a mind with associated nonvirtuous roots. This is ‘as it pertains to cause.’ (Again, not sure why this is in quotation marks.)”
- n.505 In most lists of the ten powers, the polysemous term dhātu (*kham*s) is interpreted to mean the constituents or constitution of individual beings rather than the realms of saṃsāra. Bṭ1, p. 1102: “Because they dwell in and are based on the transient world, a being is called ‘a world.’ Take ‘constituent’ as the disposition or the basic nature of a being. The śrāvakas and pratyekabuddhas do not know the inconceivably many and various types of dispositions or basic natures of beings. Tathāgatas, having decisively known without error the dispositions and latent tendencies of each separate individual, teach doctrines in accordance with those. Theirs is called ‘the power of the knowledge of the various constituents.’ ”
- n.506 According to Bṭ1, p. 1102, “inclination” (mos pa, adhimukti) means their belief or faith.
- n.507 “Acumen” renders dbang po, indriya.
- n.508 Bṭ1, pp. 1102–3: “Beings in a lineage destined for perfection, destined to be wrong, or not necessarily destined enter into a path and attain the results in accord with each of those separate lineages, hence ‘path wherever it leads.’ Among them, those ‘destined for perfection’ are in a lineage that enters into the ārya path, those ‘destined to be wrong’ are in a lineage that enters into worldly views, and those ‘not necessarily destined’ are not limited to one; they are suitable to be led anywhere.”
- n.509 “Ten million” renders the Skt koṭi (bye ba).
- n.510 “Billion” renders the Skt niyuta (khrag khrig).

- n.511 Here “holy life” renders the Tib tshangs par spyod pa. In other contexts, this is rendered “practiced celibacy.”
- n.512 tshangs pa'i 'khor lo ... rab tu bskor bar bya'o (brāhmaṇi cakram pravartayāmi in the Sanskrit). The wheel is Brahmā’s emblem and the term “wheel of Brahmā” may therefore simply refer to the wheel of the Buddha’s teachings. Alternatively, Bṭ3 4.1003; glosses this as “turning the wheel like Brahmā” (tshangs pa bzhin du 'khor lo bskor), while the same phrase in the Ratnagotravibhāga is expanded by Dolpopa to “turning the wheel of Dharma in the realm of Brahmā” (tshangs pa'i gnas su chos kyi 'khor lo skor ba).
- n.513 Bṭ1, p. 1109: “This is the knowledge without error of the teachings of the tathāgatas included in scriptural doctrine—the discourses, the sayings in prose and verse, and so on.”
- n.514 Bṭ1, p. 1113: “Because the two—the ‘liberation’ and the ‘knowledge and seeing of liberation’—are not differentiated in their nature as liberation, they are counted as one.”
- n.515 Bṭ1, p. 1114: “They are ‘preceded by transcendental knowledge’ because they have arisen from the cause of a knowledge employed earlier. ‘Informed by transcendental knowledge’ means not separated from transcendental knowledge, doing while having the knowledge.”
- n.516 “Letters” renders yi ge, akṣara. Below, the letter or consonant cluster follows the order of the forty-two “signs” for sounds used in the Gandhara region. In Skt each is followed by -kāra, rendered into Tib as appropriate with forms of zhes bya ba, roughly equivalent to quotation marks in English. In the following this is rendered by italics.
- n.517 That is, determined to be ultimately nonarising.
- n.518 This construes sa as retroflex ṣa, the corresponding letter in the Arapacana alphabet.
- n.519 In Tib this Skt va is also written as ba.
- n.520 This is twenty-sixth in the alphabet in Stephen Baums and Andrew Glass, A Dictionary of Gāndhārī (<https://gandhari.org/dictionary/sta>).
- n.521 The twenty-first is śpa in A Dictionary of Gāndhārī.
- n.522 Bṭ1, p. 1122, has stotra; Ghoṣa, p. 1451, has stave.

- n.523 This is based on Bṭ1, p. 1122. Gilgit, 92r10, martya (“death”). On the sound conveyed by this sign see Gudrun Melzer, “An Arapacana Acrostic Poem in Gandhari: Bajaur Collection Kharoṣṭhī Fragment 5 (http://130.223.29.184/editions/melzer\_bc5\_202007.pdf).” July 2020: 32. From Buddhist Manuscripts from Gandhara (<https://www.en.gandhara.indologie.uni-muenchen.de/workshop/index.html>), Institut für Indologie und Tibetologie, Ludwig-Maximilians Universität, München.
- n.524 This ha is added as a forty-third sign of the Arapacana alphabet.
- n.525 Ghoṣa, p. 1451; Bṭ1, p. 1123 bhaṅga suggests the emendation of ‘jigs (“fear”)’ to ‘jig (“destruction”)’.
- n.526 An older sign is spa.
- n.527 This represents ṭha.
- n.528 The corresponding letter in the Arapacana alphabet is za. The translators of the Twenty-Five Thousand (n.297) says ysara is a word in the Prakrit Saka language rendered into Skt as jarā (“aging”); cf. Eighteen Thousand ka 167a (16.99), dza. Bṭ1, p. 1125, has ys or yas (the Skt root yas means to exert oneself energetically), and says, “In an Indian language ‘unhappiness’ is yskara. By way of the compounding of the letter ya with sa one realizes that ultimately all phenomena are not real bases, so unhappiness also cannot be apprehended. Hence the letter ys is the gateway to the realization that all unhappy phenomena are not apprehended.”
- n.529 This is the word at Bṭ1, p. 1122.
- n.530 This is the word at Bṭ1, p. 1122. Monier-Williams, s.v. ḍhakkana, “shutting of a door.” Tib g.yog(s) has the sense of putting something on, like a covering of clothes, or a specific burden or task you are saddled with. Bṭ1, p. 1126: “They do apprehend that they, covered by afflictive obscurations and governed by afflictive states of mind, die and are reborn until saṃsāra reaches its end.”
- n.531 The list has been formatted in accord with the explanation at Bṭ1, p. 1128.
- n.532 Earlier, 8.377, this question is introduced by “because of just what” (ci tsam gyis na): “Blessed Lord, because of just what should bodhisattva great beings be known to have entered perfectly into the Great Vehicle?”
- n.533 “Sincere resolve” renders lhag pa’i bsam pa, adhyāśaya (“higher aspiration”).

- n.534 The translators read bhūtatā. Ghoṣa, p. 1454, adbhūtatānupalabitām, “miraculous demonstrations of the doctrine,” fits the context better.
- n.535 This means remaining in a forest retreat.
- n.536 “Property” renders rdzas, which also means “substantial phenomena.” Kimura, 1–2:95, Gilgit, 95r7 sarvāsti; Ghoṣa, p. 1463 sarvvasva. Edgerton, s.v. asti, 2 “property.”
- n.537 There are not eighteen listed, only seventeen. As it makes clear below (10.62), the way they are avoided is not quite the same, and all are not, except in the Kimura edition and the Abhisamayālaṅkāra, the objects of “avoid” in the same way.
- n.538 Bṭ1, p. 1140: “From the feeling of contempt for another being haughtiness arises, so they should avoid haughtiness because, ultimately, such things as those for which one might feel contempt cannot be apprehended.”
- n.539 Ghoṣa, p. 1456; Gilgit, 93r13 rāgadveṣamohādhivāsanatā; “tolerance” is Conze’s word for adhivāsanatā. The Hundred Thousand has nyam rangs su mi ’dor ba, and Bṭ1, p. 1141, has nyams rangs su mi ’dor ba; the Twenty-Five Thousand has nyam rang su gzhaḡ pa yongs su spang, “reject the presentation of it as delightful” (?).
- n.540 “Mind that has craving” renders sred pa’i sems, paritarsanacitta. Edgerton, s.v. paritarsana, notes that if the word is related not to trṣ but to tras it could mean “anxiety.”
- n.541 “Penetrating understanding of the principle of reality” renders yang dag pa’i tshul rab tu rtog pa, bhūtanayaprativedha. Bṭ1, p. 1145, glosses this as “the realization, according to a single principle, that all phenomena are, ultimately, in their intrinsic nature not real bases.”
- n.542 Cf. below, 10.102. Kimura, 1–2:90, sarvatrāpratihatājñānacittatā; Ghoṣa, p. 1457, apratihatājñānatā. “Transcendental knowledge” has been read from the Skt. The Tib simply reads thogs pa myed pa (“unimpeded”).
- n.543 There are in fact twenty-one items enumerated here.
- n.544 Omitted in Dutt 1934, p. 218.
- n.545 This completes the explanation of the refinements of the second level.
- n.546 This completes the explanation of the refinements of the third level.
- n.547 Bṭ1, pp. 1137–38: “not engaging in the conditioning of (anabhisamṣkāra), not mentally constructing, any phenomenon that becomes a cause of saṃsāra.”

- n.548 “Entity” renders vastu, dngos po; alternatively, “real basis.” This completes the explanation of the refinements of the fourth level.
- n.549 Bṭ1, p. 1139, mentions royal, brahmin, and business families, and two sets of bodhisattvas who have been given alms and served there. It is unclear whether the caste of the families, or of the bodhisattva monks, explains why one set has been treated better or worse, or whether it is simply a matter of bodhisattvas becoming possessive about a family that gives them alms. Regardless, the families gain merit from giving alms and respecting the monk teachers, so the bodhisattvas should not be envious of other monk teachers and, on account of that envy, not visit those families.
- n.550 All versions, including Stok Palace and the Hundred Thousand nga 172a6, support this reading.
- n.551 This is absent from Ghoṣa. Kimura, 1–2:96, tatra kathaṃ subhūte bodhisattvena mahāsattvena vicikitsā parivarjayitavyā? tathā hi saṃdehāpagatāt sarvadharmān samanupaśyati, evaṃ hi subhūte bodhisattvena mahāsattvena vicikitsā parivarjayitavyā. Bṭ1, p. 1141: “They do not harbor two minds (yid gnyis mi za) about reality and unsurpassed, perfect, complete enlightenment.”
- n.552 Kimura, 1–2:96, adds parivarjayitavyā but this is not supported by any of the Kangyur editions of the Hundred Thousand, or by Bṭ1.
- n.553 This completes the explanation of the refinements of the fifth level, the number of which is uncertain. In Bṭ1 the eighteen are avoiding the paths of the ten nonvirtuous actions (10), avoiding pride in being superior (11), haughtiness (12), distorted views (13), doubt about reality and that there is a buddha (14 and 15) and not rejecting patience for desire, hatred, and delusion (16–18).
- n.554 This is omitted from Kimura, Ghoṣa, and le’u brgyad ma. Cf. Gilgit, 95v10-12, ṣaṣṭhyāṃ bhūmau varttamānena ṣaḍ dharmmā parivarjayitavyāḥ katame ṣa[ḍ] yad uta ṣaṭ pāramitāḥ paripūrayitavyāḥ ṣaṭsu pāramitāsu sthitvā buddhā bhagavantāḥ śrāvākāḥ pratyekabuddhāḥ ca pañcavidhasyajñeyāvārṇa[=arṇava]sya pāraṃgatā gacchanti gamiṣyante ca / katamasya pañcavidhasya yadutātītasya nāgatastāpratyupannasyānavaktavyasyāsaṃskṛtasya evaṃ bodhisattvena mahāsattvena ṣaṭpāramitāḥ paripūrayitavyāḥ (“Six attributes should be avoided by those proceeding on the sixth level. Which six? The six perfections that should be perfected. While abiding in these six perfections, the blessed lord buddhas, the śrāvakas, and the pratyekabuddhas have gone, are going, and will go to the other shore of the five oceans of objects of knowledge. Of which five? Of the past, the future, the present, the inexpressible, and the unconditioned. Thus, bodhisattva great beings should perfect the six perfections.”) It is noteworthy that the six perfections are not those of bodhisattvas, and it suggests that, like the other attributes, they are to be avoided as attributes that can be apprehended. Those following the Abhisamayālaṅkāra, in accord with its central principle, stress that even though they cannot, ultimately, be apprehended they are attributes to be cultivated for the sake of others.

- n.555 “Should not be in a greedy state of mind” renders kha za yag gi sems su myi bya; Ghoṣa, p. 1466, na saktacittena bhavitavyaṃ, explaining Ghoṣa, p. 1456, na yācanakaṃ vikṣepaḥ kartavyaḥ (“do not get upset at a beggar” or “do not cast out a beggar”). The Tib taken literally (“a mind to do with good food”) may be a reference to a well-known verse from the Suḥṛllekha that says a practitioner should consider food like medicine (kha zas sman dang ’dra ba), and not eat it just for personal benefit, but only to keep the body alive to be of use to others. Gilgit, 95v14, has an alternative reading, prathamacittotpādam upādāya dānaṃ dātavyaṃ/ na citta[ṃ] cittena bhavitavyaṃ, “do not make [bodhi]citta (“the mind [set on enlightenment]”) a citta (“a [mere] thought”),” that is to say, do not make the mind into just an empty promise. In this case (kha) za yag may be a mistaken rendering of Eighteen Thousand ka 175b gsog, “hollow, in vain.” Bṭ1 says it means “empty” or “futile.”
- n.556 This completes the explanation of the refinements of the sixth level.
- n.557 This completes the explanation of the twenty things that bodhisattvas should not do on the seventh level.
- n.558 “Sign” renders the Skt nimitta; alternatively, “mental image.”
- n.559 “Absence of habitual ideas about duality” renders gnyis la yongs su rgyu ba myed pa, Kimura, 1–2:99, advayasamudācāra. the Twenty-Five Thousand renders this “they do not edge toward duality.” Conze MDPL renders asamudācāra “habitual absence.”
- n.560 That is, linking up to rebirth. Bṭ1, p. 1145: “The absence of linking up with a rebirth in saṃsāra on account of the force of the propensities left by afflictive mental states.” Bṭ1, p. 1177, explaining Hundred Thousand 11.32 (“bodhisattva great beings would not realize that all the propensities for afflicted mental states that cause linking up are nonentities and acquire all-aspect omniscience”), says “the propensities for cognitive obstruction and obstruction from afflictive mental states are themselves the causes for the arising of later afflicted mental states, hence they are called ‘propensities for afflictive mental states.’ ”

- n.561 This follows the reading at Kimura, 1–2:100. Both the Twenty-Five Thousand and Eighteen Thousand follow the reading in Ghoṣa and Gilgit. This completes the explanation of the seventh level.
- n.562 A maturation result lasts as long as the person lives.
- n.563 This completes the explanation of the eighth level.
- n.564 That is, assured of their attainments.
- n.565 This completes the explanation of the ninth level.
- n.566 The translators read kṛtavin as kṛtavid.
- n.567 The question is at 8.377; “go forth” renders the Tib ’byung (from niryā). It also means “to emerge from” or “to be emancipated from,” and in niryāṇa can also be construed as “the absence of a vehicle.”
- n.568 The translators read pravrajya (rab tu byung ba) in place of Kimura, Ghoṣa prahāṇa; the Eighteen Thousand has “abandonment.”
- n.569 This is the reading at Ghoṣa, pp. 1487–88, and Gilgit, 98v14–15. Kimura, 1–2:108 has “attain emancipation” in place of “to arise” (perhaps “to take rebirth”?) in each instance. Bṭ 1, pp. 1160–61, associates this section with the different persons, arhats and so on, and the next section on the result with the resultant things they attain.
- n.570 Cp. Gilgit, 99v2, acālyann asthānaṃ, “not moving, not resting.” Bṭ1 says that the very teaching that there is no emancipation from the three realms and no rest in all-aspect omniscience teaches that there is, conventionally. As in the Abhisamayālaṃkāra, Bṭ1 associates “having moved” with the ability of an opposing force to disturb an attainment.
- n.571 This is myi gnas pa gnas pa’i tshul dang / myi bskyod pa’i tshul gyis; Kimura, 1–2:110, asthitam asthānayogena acālyayogena; Gilgit, 110r11, asthitasthānayogena acālyayogena; Ghoṣa, p. 1508, asthitasthānayogena.
- n.572 Gilgit, 100r 13–14, atyantayātmā nopalabhyate; Ghoṣa, p. 1508, incorrectly, ’tyantatathātmā nopalabhyate; Kimura, 1–2:111, omits. “Beyond limits” and “utterly” both render atyanta; alternatively, an anta is “an extreme” and atyanta might be rendered “extremely.”
- n.573 Ghoṣa, p. 1512, kasyānupalabdhyā sarvvaṃ nopalabhyate / dharmmadhātvanupalabdhyā nopalabhyate dharmmadhātus tat kasya hetor na hi subhūte dharmmadhātvanupalabdhir upalabhyate nopalabhyate. Skt anupalabdhi / anupalambha can be either a noun or a bahuvrihi adjective. Tib dmigs pa could be construed as either “what has an apprehending” or “an apprehending.” Here it has been rendered as a noun, and below in “the realm of phenomena that is not apprehended” as an adjective (seems to be a verb?), literally “the realm of phenomena of which there is no apprehending.”

- n.574 “Great Vehicle” is derived from mahā-yā and “attains emancipation” or, more literally, “goes forth” from nir-yā.
- n.575 “Space” renders ākāśa and “accommodation” avakāśa.
- n.576 “Discerned” renders mchis, an honorific, attaching to the one being spoken to. Kimura, Ghoṣa, and Gilgit all have dṛś; Ten Thousand, 13.13, mi mngon lags. However, below (ga F.295.b, 11.107), the nonhonorific form put in the mouth of the Blessed One is myed, “are nonexistent.”
- n.577 This is the same as the earlier list at 8.109.
- n.578 Degé again has the meditative stability called dispelling the defects of speech.
- n.579 Gilgit, 103r5–6, sacet subhūte kāmadhātus tathā bhaviṣyad avitathā ananyathā aviparīto bhūtaṃ satyaṃ yathāvan nityo dhruvaḥ śāśvata avipariṇāmadharmābhāvo bhaviṣyat. Ghoṣa, p. 1534, and Kimura, 1–2:115, both have tathatā and so on. The last part translates Kimura’s ‘vipariṇāmadharmī bhāvo. Ghoṣa has vipariṇāmadharmā abhāvāḥ. Bṭ3, 4.1175–4.1182, in a detailed explanation, connects these with the three natures (trisvabhāva, ngo bo nyid gsum). Bṭ1 does not explain each word.
- n.580 “Constructed, fashioned, and fabricated” render rnam par brtags pa ([vi]kalpita), rnam par bskyed pa (viṭhapita; Edgerton, s.v. viṭhapayati has viṭhāpita), and yongs su bsgrubs pa (sandarbhita).
- n.581 This is the reading in all the editions recorded in the Comparative Edition (dpe bsdur ma), vol. 16, p. 601.
- n.582 The translators render different forms of the same Skt root sphur, earlier (Hundred Thousand ka F.4.b, 1.6) by khyab par byas, “permeated,” and here by rgyas par ‘gengs, literally “fill up widely.”
- n.583 “Not apprehended” renders dmigs su myed do, a rare translation of na prajñāyate (the reading in Gilgit, Ghoṣa, and Kimura), “does not appear,” “does not make itself known.”

- n.584 “Determinate” (vyākṛta); alternatively, “phenomena that can be prophesied/are objects of moral inquiry.”
- n.585 These last four go with the four truths for the noble ones, the two results (suffering and nirvāṇa) and the two causes (the origin and the path).
- n.586 Bṭ1, p. 1186, says to take “the maturation” with the result, and that which is “subject to maturation” as what will become the desired result.
- n.587 Alternatively, “it is not wished for, and is not not wished for.”
- n.588 Bṭ1, p. 1188: “According to the mistaken imagination of the world, a being, space, and the Great Vehicle are real bases, so the place where one is (gcig gi go) precludes any other and thus they do not accommodate a great deal.” “The place where one is” means their identity as it is mistakenly conceived of by ordinary folk.
- n.589 “Unfathomable” renders dpag tu myed pa, apramāṇatā (“beyond measure”).
- n.590 Here myed do (“are nonexistent”) in place of dmigs su myed do (“are not apprehended”).
- n.591 Cf. ga F.249.b, 11.3.
- n.592 “Inherent nature” renders prakṛti (rang bzhin).
- n.593 Degé omits great loving kindness and great compassion.
- n.594 This is the reading in Degé, probably a block carver’s mistake for ldan and mi ldan (saṃyukta and viyukta), “conjoined nor disjoined.”
- n.595 “An actual bodhisattva even through the entirety [of all the attributes]” renders byang chub sems dpa’ nyid kyang ril gyis, bodhisattvam eva tāvat sakalam.
- n.596 In the parallel passage in the Twenty-Five Thousand, “look for it though one might” is Gyurme Dorje’s felicitous rendering of lta yang, a common, idiomatic use of lta, used here to render the extreme conveyed by the superlative katama. Because of the repetition, it is conveyed just by “could there possibly be.”
- n.597 This means a bodhisattva understood as the sum of all the phenomena, beginning with physical forms and ending with the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas.
- n.598 “Are in their essential nature nonentities” renders dngos po ma mchis pa’i rang bzhin, abhāvasvabhāva. Below this is rendered dngos po med pa’i ngo bo nyid.

- n.599 Both LSPW and the Twenty-Five Thousand render Kimura, 1–2:142, anantāparyantatayā as a dvandva, in the sense “because it is limitless and beyond all limits.”
- n.600 Here dngos po med pa'i ngo bo nyid; earlier (ga F.338.b), dngos po ma mchis pa'i rang bzhin suggests that rang bzhin is sometimes used as an honorific (to the recipient).
- n.601 ŚŚP II-1:104, nāsti sāṃyogikaḥ svabhāvaḥ.
- n.602 “Not eternal,” rtag pa ma yin pa, renders akūṭastha; Eighteen Thousand, ka 222.a, and le'u brgyad ma, ga 298.b.1, ther zug.
- n.603 Earlier the question is phrased, “What physical forms that have come into being could there possibly be?”
- n.604 “Have not come into being” renders anabhinirvṛtta, mngon par ma grub pa, and “have not been brought about by conditions” renders anabhisaṃskṛta, mngon par 'du ma byas pa.
- n.605 “Without activity” renders ŚsP II-1:164 nirīhakāt; Kimura, 1-2:154, nirīhān (?).
- n.606 The Twenty-Five Thousand adds from “the real nature” up to “the very limit of reality” here, but ŚŚP II-1:195 and all of the editions of the Hundred Thousand referenced in the Comparative Edition (dpe bsdur ma) omit them.
- n.607 “Without decline,” “without diminishing” renders nyam pa ma mchis pa; ŚŚP II-1:196, and Gilgit, 118r1, asaṃmoṣa. The translators derive the word not from mṛṣ, “to forget” (bsnyel), but from muṣ, “to steal.”
- n.608 “Perfection” renders pāramitā; “far removed,” āram itā; “gone to the other side,” pāram itā. Gilgit, 118r8, āram itaiṣāyusman śāriputra yad ucyate prajñāpāramiteti.
- n.609 ŚŚP II-2:65, pañcavidhā bodhiḥ. Bṭ1, p. 1233, says that this “is saying that insofar as the four—the fruit of having entered the stream and so on—and individual enlightenment, ‘the fivefold enlightenment,’ and unsurpassed enlightenment would have an essential nature that is not different, bodhisattvas, even without having meditated on, and without having achieved, all those five enlightenments in practice would have already attained them.”
- n.610 Bṭ1: “Take ‘the inferior’ with (“as/to be”?) the realm of desire because it is worse than and lesser than the form and formless realms that are above.”

- n.611 “Realization” (khong du chud pa yod pa) renders ŚŚP II-2:66, samaya; cf. Kimura 1–2:164, abhisamaya, “clear realization.”
- n.612 Here len pa suggests that the translators read a form of anupādā, not ŚŚP II-2:66 and Kimura, 1-2:164, anutpādaya.
- n.613 Here the Tib renders ŚŚP II-2:66, yathā tathāgatena dharmacakraṃ pravartitaṃ na hy anutpannena dharmeṇa prāptiḥ prāpyate (with a vā between the last two words?).
- n.614 Here the Tib renders Kimura, 1–2:164, but reverses the order: kiṃ punar āyusman subhūte anutpannena dharmeṇa utpannā prāptiḥ prāpyate, atha utpannena dharmeṇa anutpannā prāptiḥ prāpyate. The prāpti (“attainment”) is that on account of which something is attained (prāpyate).
- n.615 Bṭ1, p. 1238: “We hold that both an attainment and a clear realization exist merely designated as worldly conventions onto the mere elimination of afflictive and cognitive obstructions, but not by way of the two—an entity obtaining a nonentity, and a nonentity obtaining an entity.”
- n.616 “Failure to arise,” myi skye ba, renders anutpatti.
- n.617 This renders Tib skyes pa as rendering a past passive participle (anutpanna), but the three Skt versions all have anutpāda, “are nonarising.”
- n.618 “Have no fixed abode” is Edgerton’s suggestion for aniśrita, which he says means “unattached, free, independent, emancipated.” The śrāvakas rely on just four (three if a nun) necessities (niśraya): a ragged robe, a begging bowl, simple medicinal herbs, and a crude bed beneath a tree or the like. They have no permanent dwelling place. The idea seems to be that since Subhūti does not get stuck on anything, he is living the śrāvaka life perfectly.
- n.619 Bṭ1, p. 1249, explains “they should refine” by saying, “It means they should, in that manner, realize they are refined.”
- n.620 ŚŚP II-2:87, sukhitā bhavanto anupādāya ca parinirvānto iti.
- n.621 Kimura, 1–2:169, tribhiḥ saṅgaiḥ sakto.
- n.622 Cf. Eighteen Thousand ka 239.a.
- n.623 Twenty-Five Thousand ka 376b, byang chub kyi lam ’di, “this path to enlightenment,” namely, all the practices from the perfection of generosity up to the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas. The idea is that they become the path to enlightenment when informed by the perfection of wisdom. “Power” renders mthu, Mvy skyes bu’i mthu (puruṣakāra). The translators appear to have translated the result, the activities that result in complete enlightenment, as indivisible from its cause, the perfection of wisdom that must inform them.

- n.624 “The one that fully incorporates and perfectly incorporates” (yongs su sdud cing yang dag pa sdud pa) renders ŚŚP II-2:93, parigrāhaka, saṃgrāhaka. A grāhaka is, literally, “one that seizes hold of,” that is to say, the one that informs all the virtuous activities to transform them into a path to enlightenment. Bṭ1, p. 1253, glosses “generator” (skyed pa, jānayıtr) with “the cause that effects the completion of all the virtuous attributes incorporated in the three vehicles,” and glosses “the one that fully incorporates and perfectly incorporates” with “fully informs and fully pervades all the virtuous attributes incorporated in the three vehicles.”
- n.625 “Practice this practice” (rnam par spyod pa dis rnam par spyod, viharati ... anena vihāreṇa).
- n.626 Here Bṭ1, p. 1255, says that “attention” means “conceptualization,” the apprehending of an entity that is not empty of its own essential nature.
- n.627 “The attention will not cause fully awakening” renders yid la byed pa mngon par rdzogs par ’tshang myi rgya, manasikārānabhisambodhanatā. Bṭ1, p. 1256, says that “because that attention is also, ultimately, nonexistent, becoming fully enlightened through that attention is also, ultimately, nonexistent.”
- n.628 Alternatively, shes rab kyi pha rol tu phyin pa’i le’u (prajñāpāramitāparivata) is the name of the chapter (“The Perfection of Wisdom Chapter”).
- n.629 Cf. ka 6.b.

b.

BIBLIOGRAPHY

· Primary Sources in Tibetan and Sanskrit ·

shes rab kyi pha rol tu phyin pa stong phrag brgya pa (Śatasāhasrikāprajñāpāramitā)

[The Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand Lines]. Toh 8, Degé

Kangyur vols. 14–25: ('bum, ka), folios 1.b–394.a; ('bum, kha), folios 1.b–402.a; ('bum, ga), folios 1.b–394.a; ('bum, nga), folios 1.b–381.a; ('bum, ca), folios 1.b–395.a; ('bum, cha), folios 1.b–382.a; ('bum, ja), folios 1.b–398.a; ('bum, nya), folios 1.b–399.a; ('bum, ta), folios 1.b–384.a; ('bum, tha), folios 1.b–387.a; ('bum, da), folios 1.b–411.a; and ('bum, a), folios 1.b–395.a.

shes rab kyi pha rol tu phyin pa stong phrag brgya pa (Śatasāhasrikāprajñāpāramitā)

[The Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand Lines]. bka' 'gyur

(dpe bsdur ma) [Comparative Edition of the Kangyur], krung go'i bod rig pa zhib 'jug ste gnas kyi bka' bstan dpe sdur khang (The Tibetan Tripitaka Collation Bureau of the China Tibetology Research Center). 108 volumes. Beijing: krung go'i bod rig pa dpe skrun khang (China Tibetology Publishing House), 2006–9, vols. 14–25.

Śatasāhasrikā prajñāpāramitā [The Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand

Lines]. Sanskrit texts based on Ghoṣa, Pratāpacandra, Çatasāhasrikā prajñāpāramitā: A Theological and Philosophical Discourse of Buddha With His Disciples in A Hundred Thousand Stanzas. Calcutta: Asiatic Society of Bengal, 1902–14 (chapters 1–12); and on Kimura, Takayasu, Śatasāhasrikā

prajñāpāramitā, II/1–4, 4 vols. Tokyo: Sankibo Busshorin, 2009–14. Available as e-texts, Part I (http://gretil.sub.uni-

goettingen.de/gretil/corpustei/transformations/plaintext/sa\_zatasAhasrikAprajApAramitA-1.txt) and Part II (http://gretil.sub.uni-

goettingen.de/gretil/corpustei/transformations/plaintext/sa\_zatasAhasrikAprajApAramitA-2.txt), on Göttingen Register of Electronic Texts in

Indian Languages (GRETIL).

Indian Languages (GRETIL).

Indian Languages (GRETIL).

The Larger Prajñāpāramitā. Sanskrit edition (mostly according to the Gilgit manuscript GBM 175–675, folios 1–27) from Zacchetti, Stefano (2005). In Praise of the Light: A Critical Synoptic Edition with an Annotated Translation of Chapters 1-3 of Dharmarakṣa's Guang zan jing, Being the Earliest Chinese Translation of the Larger Prajñāpāramitā. Bibliotheca Philologica et Philosophica Buddhica, Vol. 8. The International Research Institute for Advanced Buddhism. Tokyo: Soka University, 2005. Available as e-text (http://gretil.sub.uni-goettingen.de/gretil/corpustei/transformations/plaintext/sa\_larger-prajApAramitA.txt) on Göttingen Register of Electronic Texts in Indian Languages (GRETIL).

The Larger Prajñāpāramitā. Sanskrit edition (Gilgit manuscript folios 202.a.5–205.a.12, GBM 571.5–577.12) from Yoke Meei Choong, Zum Problem der Leerheit (śūnyatā) in der Prajñāpāramitā, Frankfurt: Europäische Hochschulschriften, Reihe 27, Bd. 97, 2006, pp. 109–33. Available as e-text (http://gretil.sub.uni-goettingen.de/gretil/corpustei/transformations/plaintext/sa\_larger-prajApAramitA-edchoong.txt) on Göttingen Register of Electronic Texts in Indian Languages (GRETIL).

· Secondary References in Tibetan and Sanskrit ·

shes rab kyi pha rol tu phyin pa stong phrag nyi shu lnga pa (Pañcaviṃśatisāhasrikā-prajñāpāramitā) [The Perfection of Wisdom in Twenty-Five Thousand Lines]. Toh 9, Degé Kangyur vols. 26–28 (shes phyin, nyi khri, ka–a), folios ka.1.b–ga.381.a.

shes rab kyi pha rol tu phyin pa stong phrag nyi shu lnga pa (Pañcaviṃśatisāhasrikā-prajñāpāramitā) [The Perfection of Wisdom in Twenty-Five Thousand Lines]. bka' 'gyur (dpe bsdur ma) [Comparative Edition of the Kangyur], krung go'i bod rig pa zhib 'jug ste gnas kyi bka' bstan dpe sdur khang (The Tibetan Tripitaka Collation Bureau of the China Tibetology Research Center). 108 volumes. Beijing: krung go'i bod rig pa dpe skrun khang (China Tibetology Publishing House), 2006–9, vols. 26–28.

shes rab kyi pha rol tu phyin pa stong phrag nyi shu lnga pa (Pañcaviṃśatisāhasrikā-prajñāpāramitā) [The Perfection of Wisdom in Twenty-Five Thousand Lines, the "eight-chapter" (le'u brgyad ma) Tengyur version]. Toh 3790, Degé Tengyur vols. 82–84 (shes phyin, ga–ca), folios ga.1.b–ca.342.a.

Pañcaviṃśatisāhasrikā prajñāpāramitā [The Perfection of Wisdom in Twenty-Five Thousand Lines]. Sanskrit text based on the edition by Takayasu Kimura. Tokyo: Sankibo Busshorin 2007–9 (1–1, 1–2), 1986 (2–3), 1990 (4), 1992 (5), 2006 (6–8). Available as e-text (http://grettil.sub.uni-goettingen.de/grettil/corpustei/transformations/html/sa\_pa|caviMzatisAhasrikA-praj|ApAramitA1-8.htm) on Göttingen Register of Electronic Texts in Indian Languages (GRETIL). Page references: {Ki.}

Pañcaviṃśatisāhasrikā prajñāpāramitā [The Perfection of Wisdom in Twenty-Five Thousand Lines]. Dutt, Nalinaksha. Calcutta Oriental Series 28. London: Luzac, 1934. Reprint edition, Sri Satguru Publications, 1986. Available as e-text (http://grettil.sub.uni-goettingen.de/grettil/corpustei/transformations/plaintext/sa\_pa|caviMzatisAhasrikA-praj|ApAramitA1.txt) on Göttingen Register of Electronic Texts in Indian Languages (GRETIL). Page references: {Dt.nn}

Pañcaviṃśatisāhasrikā prajñāpāramitā [The Perfection of Wisdom in Twenty-Five Thousand Lines]. Sanskrit text of the Anurādhapura fragment, based on the edition by Oskar von Hinüber, “Sieben Goldblätter einer Pañcaviṃśatisāhasrikā Prajñāpāramitā aus Anurādhapura,” in Nachrichten der Akademie der Wissenschaften in Göttingen, Phil.-Hist.Kl. 1983, pp. 189–207. Available as e-text (http://grettil.sub.uni-goettingen.de/grettil/corpustei/transformations/plaintext/sa\_pa|caviMzatisAhasrikA-praj|ApAramitA.txt) on Göttingen Register of Electronic Texts in Indian Languages (GRETIL).

Aṣṭasāhasrikā prajñāpāramitā [The Perfection of Wisdom in Eight Thousand Lines]. Sanskrit text based on the edition by P. L. Vaidya, in Buddhist Sanskrit Texts, vol. 4. Darbhanga: The Mithila Institute, 1960. Available as e-text (http://grettil.sub.uni-goettingen.de/grettil/corpustei/transformations/plaintext/sa\_aSTasAhasrikA-praj|ApAramitA.txt) on Göttingen Register of Electronic Texts in Indian Languages (GRETIL). Page references (for chapters 73–75): {Va.nn}

Damṣṭrasena. shes rab kyi pha rol tu phyin pa 'bum pa rgya cher 'grel pa (Śatasāhasrikāprajñāpāramitābṛhatṭīkā) [“An Extensive Commentary on The Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand Lines”], Toh 3807, Degé Tengyur vols. 91–92. Also in Tengyur Pedurma (TPD) (bstan 'gyur [dpe bsdur ma]), [Comparative Edition of the Tengyur], krung go'i bod rig pa zhib 'jug ste gnas kyi bka' bstan dpe sdur khang (The Tibetan Tripitaka Collation Bureau of the China Tibetology Research Center). 120 volumes. Beijing: krung go'i bod rig pa dpe skrun khang (China Tibetology Publishing House), 1994–2008, vol. 54 (TPD 54), pp. 627–1439, and vol. 55, pp. 2–550.

Denkarma (ldan dkar ma; pho brang stod thang ldan dkar gyi chos 'gyur ro cog gi dkar chag). Toh 4364, Degé Tengyur vol. 206 (sna tshogs, jo), folios 294.b–310.a.

Phangthangma (dkar chag 'phang thang ma). Beijing: mi rigs dpe skrun khang, 2003.

Alaksha Tendar (a lag sha bstan dar). shes rab snying po'i 'grel pa don gsal nor bu'i 'od. sku 'bum: sku 'bum byams pa gling.

<http://purl.bdrc.io/resource/W7303>

(<http://purl.bdrc.io/resource/W7303>). [BDRC bdr:W7303]. For translation see Lopez 1988.

Butön (bu ston rin chen grub). bde bar gshegs pa'i bstan pa'i gsal byed chos kyi 'byung gnas gsung rab rin po che'i mdzod. In gsung 'bum/_rin chen grub/ zhol par ma/ ldi lir bskyar par brgyab pa/ [The Collected Works of Bu-ston: Edited by Lokesh Chandra from the Collections of Raghu Vira], vol. 24, pp. 633–1056. New Delhi: International Academy of Indian Culture, 1965–71.

Chomden Rigpai Raltri (bcom ldan rig pa'i ral gri). bstan pa rgyas pa rgyan gyi nyi 'od. BDRC MW1CZ1041

(http://purl.bdrc.io/resource/MW1CZ1041\_A285C1) (scanned dbu med

MS from Drépong) and MW00EGS1017426

(http://purl.bdrc.io/resource/MW00EGS1017426\_1A03D0) (modern computerized version).

Dolpopa (dol po pa shes rab rgyal mtshan). 'bum rdzogs ldan lugs kyi bshad pa. Jo nang dpe tshogs 43. Beijing: mi rigs dpe skrun khang, 2014.

<http://purl.bdrc.io/resource/W8LS18973>

(<http://purl.bdrc.io/resource/W8LS18973>) . [BDRC bdr:W8LS18973].

Karma Chakmé (gnas mdo karma chags med). yum chen mo shes rab kyi pha rol tu phyin pa'i 'bum tig. In gsung 'bum karma chags med (gnas mdo dpe rnying nyams gso khang), 34:223–50. [nang chen rdzong]: gnas mdo gsang sngags chos 'phel gling gi dpe rnying nyams gso khang, 2010.

http://purl.bdrc.io/resource/MW1KG8321\_A2E762

(http://purl.bdrc.io/resource/MW1KG8321\_A2E762) . [BDRC bdr:MW1KG8321_A2E762].

Kongtrül Lodrö Thaye (kong sprul blo gros mtha' yas / yon tan rgya mtsho). shes bya kun khyab [“The Treasury of Knowledge”]. Beijing: Mi rigs dpe skrun khang, 2002. Translated, along with the auto-commentary, by the Kalu Rinpoche Translation Group in The Treasury of Knowledge series (TOK). Ithaca, NY: Snow Lion Publications, 1995 to 2012. Mentioned here is Ngawang Zangpo 2010 (Books 2, 3, and 4).

- Minling Terchen Gyurme Dorje. zab pa dang rgya che ba'i dam pa'i chos kyī thob yig rin chen 'byung gnas dum bu gnyis pa. In vol. 2, gsung 'bum 'gyur med rdo rje. 16 vols. Dehra Dun: Dg. Khochhen Tulku, 1998. Buddhist Digital Resource Center (BDRC), purl.bdrc.io/resource/MW22096. [BDRC bdr:MW22096]
- Nordrang Orgyan (nor brang o rgyan). chos rnam kun btus. 3 vols. Beijing: Krung go'i bod rig pa dpe skrun khang, 2008.
- Olkha Lelung Lobsang Trinlé ('ol kha / dga' sle lung blo bzang 'phrin las). Narthang Catalog (Detailed). bka' 'gyur rin po che'i gsung par srid gsum rgyan gcig rdzu 'phrul shing rta'i dkar chag ngo mtshar bkod pa rgya mtsho'i lde mig. Scans in: Narthang Kangyur (snar thang bka' 'gyur), vol. 102, pp. 663–909. Buddhist Digital Resource Center (BDRC), <http://purl.bdrc.io/resource/W22703> (<http://purl.bdrc.io/resource/W22703>) [BDRC bdr:W22703]. Transcribed in: bka' 'gyur (dpe bsdur ma) [Comparative Edition of the Kangyur], krung go'i bod rig pa zhib 'jug ste gnas kyī bka' bstan dpe sdur khang (The Tibetan Tripitaka Collation Bureau of the China Tibetology Research Center). 108 volumes. Beijing: krung go'i bod rig pa dpe skrun khang (China Tibetology Publishing House), 2006–9, vol. 106, pp. 71–306.
- Rongtönpa (rong ston shes bya kun rig). sher phyin 'bum Tik. Manduwala, Dehra Dun: Luding Ladrang, Pal Ewam Chodan Ngorpa Centre, 1985. <http://purl.bdrc.io/resource/W1KG11807>. [BDRC bdr:W1KG11807]. For translation see Martin 2012.
- Zhang Yisun et al. bod rgya tshig mdzod chen mo. 3 vols. Subsequently reprinted in 2 vols. and 1 vol. Beijing: Mi rigs dpe skrun khang, 1985. Translated in Nyima and Dorje 2001 (vol. 1).

· Secondary References in English and Other Languages ·

- Almogi, Orna. "The Old sNar thang Tibetan Buddhist Canon Revisited, with Special Reference to dBus pa blo gsal's bsTan 'gyur Catalogue." Revue d'Etudes Tibétaines 58 (April 2021): 167–207. hal-03213584 (<https://hal.science/hal-03213584/document>)
- Bongard-Levin, G. M., and Shin'ichirō Hori. "A Fragment of the Larger Prajñāpāramitā from Central Asia." Journal of the International Association of Buddhist Studies 19, no. 1 (1996): 19–60.
- Brunnhölzl, Karl (2010). Gone Beyond: The Prajñāpāramitā Sūtras, The Ornament of Clear Realization, and its Commentaries in the Tibetan Kagyü Tradition. 2 vols. Ithaca: Snow Lion, 2010 and 2011.

—————(2012). Groundless Paths: The Prajñāpāramitā Sūtras, The Ornament of Clear Realization, and its Commentaries in the Tibetan Nyingma Tradition. Ithaca: Snow Lion, 2012.

Burchardi, Anne, trans. The Teaching on the Great Compassion of the Tathāgata (<https://read.84000.co/translation/toh147.html>) (Tathāgatamahākaraṇīrdeśa, Toh 147). 84000: Translating the Words of the Buddha, 2020.

Choong, Yoke Meei. Zum Problem der Leerheit (śūnyatā) in der Prajñāpāramitā. Frankfurt: Europäische Hochschulschriften, Reihe 27, Bd. 97, 2006, pp. 109–33.

Conze, Edward (1962). The Gilgit Manuscript of the Aṣṭādaśasāhasrikā-prajñāpāramitā: Chapters 50 to 55 corresponding to the 5th Abhisamaya. SOR 26. Rome: ISMEO, 1962.

—————trans. (1973). The Perfection of Wisdom in Eight Thousand Lines and Its Verse Summary. Bolinas, CA: Four Seasons Foundation, 1973.

—————(1974). The Gilgit Manuscript of the Aṣṭādaśasāhasrikā-prajñāpāramitā: Chapters 70 to 82 corresponding to the 6th, 7th, and 8th Abhisamayas. SOR 46. Rome: ISMEO, 1974.

—————(1975). The Large Sūtra on Perfect Wisdom: With the Divisions of the Abhisamayālaṅkāra. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1975.

—————(1978). The Prajñāpāramitā Literature (Second edition). Tokyo: The Reiyukai, 1978.

Dayal, Har. The Bodhisattva Doctrine in Buddhist Sanskrit Literature. London: Routledge & Kegan Paul, 1932. Reprinted Delhi: Motilal Banarsidass, 1970.

Dharmachakra Translation Committee, trans. (2019a). The Jewel Cloud (<https://read.84000.co/translation/toh231.html>) (Ratnamegha, Toh 231). 84000: Translating the Words of the Buddha, 2019.

————— (2019b). The Precious Discourse on the Blessed One's Extensive Wisdom That Leads to Infinite Certainty (<https://read.84000.co/translation/toh99.html>) (Niṣṭhāgatabhagavajjñānavaipulyasūtraratanānanta, Toh 99). 84000: Translating the Words of the Buddha, 2019.

————— (trans.) (2012). Indo-Tibetan Classical Learning and Buddhist Phenomenology. Book 6, Parts 1–2 of Jamgön Kongtrul, The Treasury of Knowledge. Boston: Snow Lion, 2012.

Falk, Harry. "The 'Split' Collection of Kharoṣṭhī texts." ARIRIAB 14 (2011): 13–23.

Falk, Harry, and Seishi Karashima (2012). "A first-century Prajñāpāramitā manuscript from Gandhāra – parivarta 1 (Texts from the Split Collection 1)." ARIRIAB 15 (2012): 19–61.

—————(2013). "A first-century Prajñāpāramitā manuscript from Gandhāra – parivarta 5 (Texts from the Split Collection 2)." ARIRIAB 16 (2013): 97–169.

Ghoṣa, Pratāpacandra, ed. Çatasāhasrikā prajñāpāramitā: A Theological and Philosophical Discourse of Buddha With His Disciples in A Hundred Thousand Stanzas. Calcutta: Asiatic Society of Bengal, 1902–14. Available as e-text (http://gretil.sub.uni-goettingen.de/gretil/corpustei/transformations/plaintext/sa\_zatasAhasrikAprajApAramitA-1.txt) on Göttingen Register of Electronic Texts in Indian Languages (GRETIL).

Herrmann-Pfandt, Adelheid. Die Lhan Kar Ma: Ein früher Katalog der ins Tibetische übersetzten buddhistischen Texte, Kritische Neuausgabe mit Einleitung und Materialien. Vienna: Verlag der Österreichischen Akademie der Wissenschaften, 2008.

Hinüber, O. von. "Sieben Goldblätter einer Pañca-viṃśatisāhasrikā Prajñāpāramitā aus Anurādhapura." NAWG 7 (1983): 189–207.

Kimura, Takayasu, ed. Śatasāhasrikā Prajñāpāramitā, II/1–4, 4 vols. Tokyo: Sankibo Busshorin, 2009 (II-1 (http://gretil.sub.uni-goettingen.de/gretil/corpustei/transformations/html/sa\_zatasAhasrikAprajApAramitA-2.htm)), 2010 (II-2 (http://gretil.sub.uni-goettingen.de/gretil/1\_sansk/4\_rellit/buddh/sspp2\_2u.htm)), II-3 (http://gretil.sub.uni-goettingen.de/gretil/1\_sansk/4\_rellit/buddh/sspp2\_3u.htm)), 2014 (II-4 (http://gretil.sub.uni-goettingen.de/gretil/1\_sansk/4\_rellit/buddh/sspp2\_4u.htm)). Available as e-text (see links) on Göttingen Register of Electronic Texts in Indian Languages (GRETIL).

————— (ed.). Pañcaviṃśatisāhasrikā Prajñā-pāramitā, I–VIII, 6 vols. Tokyo: Sankibo Busshorin, 2007–9 (1-1, 1-2), 1986 (2-3), 1990 (4), 1992 (5), 2006 (6-8). Available as e-text (http://gretil.sub.uni-goettingen.de/gretil/corpustei/transformations/html/sa\_paJcaviMzatisAhasrikA-prajApAramitA1-8.htm) on Göttingen Register of Electronic Texts in Indian Languages (GRETIL).

Kloetzli, Randy. Buddhist Cosmology. Delhi: Motilal Banarsidass, 1983.

- Konow, Sten. The First Two Chapters of the Daśasāhasrikā Prajñāpāramitā: Restoration of the Sanskrit Text, Analysis and Index. Oslo: I Kommissjon Hos Jacob Dybwad, 1941.
- Lamotte, Etienne (1998). Śūraṅgamasamādhisūtra: The Concentration of Heroic Progress, An Early Mahāyāna Buddhist Scripture. English translation by Sara Boin-Webb. London: Curzon Press.
- (2001). The Treatise on the Great Virtue of Wisdom of Nāgārjuna (Mahāprajñāpāramitāśāstra). English translation by Gelongma Karma Migme Chodron. Unpublished electronic text, 2001.
- Martin [Yerushalmi], Dan. “1,200-year-old Perfection of Wisdom Uncovered in Drepung.” Tibeto-Logic (blog). Posted July 7, 2012 (<https://tibeto-logic.blogspot.com/2012/07/1200-year-old-perfection-of-wisdom.html>).
- Negi, J.S., ed. Tibetan Sanskrit Dictionary (bod skad dang legs sbyar gyi tshig mdzod chen mo). 16 vols. Sarnath: Central Institute of Higher Tibetan Studies, 1993–2005.
- Nyima, Tudeng and Gyurme Dorje, trans. An Encyclopaedic Tibetan-English Dictionary. Vol. 1. Beijing and London: Nationalities Publishing House and SOAS, 2001.
- Ngawang Zangpo, trans. Jamgön Kongtrul, The Treasury of Knowledge (Books Two, Three, and Four): Buddhism’s Journey to Tibet. Ithaca, NY: Snow Lion Publications, 2010.
- Nishioka Soshū. “An Index to the Catalog Section of Bu ston’s Chronicle of Buddhism, I, II, III [in Japanese],” Tōkyō daigaku bungakubu bunka kōryū kenkyū shisetsu kenkyū kiyō 4 (1980): 61–92; 5 (1981): 43–94; 6 (1983): 47–201.
- Padmakara Translation Group, trans. The Transcendent Perfection of Wisdom in Ten Thousand Lines (<https://read.84000.co/translation/toh11.html>) (Daśasāhasrikā-prajñāpāramitā, Toh 11). 84000: Translating the Words of the Buddha, 2018.
- Patrul Rinpoche. Kunzang Lama’i Shelung: The Words of My Perfect Teacher. Translated by the Padmakara Translation Group. Revised second edition, 1998. London: International Sacred Literature Trust and Sage Altamira, 1994–98.
- Salomon, Richard (2014). “Gāndhārī Manuscripts in the British Library, Schøyen and Other Collections.” In From Birch Bark to Digital Data: Recent Advances In Buddhist Manuscript Research, Edited by Paul Harrison and Jens-Uwe Hartmann. Vienna: Österreichischen Akademie der Wissenschaften.
- (2018). The Buddhist Literature of Ancient Gandhāra: An Introduction with Selected Translations. Somerville, MA: Wisdom Publications.

- Schaeffer, Kurtis L., and Leonard W. J. van der Kuijp. An Early Tibetan Survey of Buddhist Literature: The Bstan pa rgyas pa rgyan gyi nyi 'od of Bcom ldan ral gri. Harvard Oriental Series. Cambridge and London: Harvard University Press, 2009.
- van Schaik, Sam. "The Tibetan Dunhuang Manuscripts in China." Bulletin of the School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London vol. 65, no.1, 2002: 129–139.
- Sparham, Gareth, trans. (2006–2012). Abhisamayālaṅkāra with vṛtti and ālokā / vṛtti by Ārya Vimuktisena; ālokā by Haribhadra. 4 vols. Fremont, CA: Jain Publishing.
- (2022a), trans. The Perfection of Wisdom in Eighteen Thousand Lines (<https://read.84000.co/translation/UT22084-029-001.html>) (Aṣṭādaśasāhasrikāprajñāpāramitā, Toh 10). 84000: Translating the Words of the Buddha.
- (2022b), trans. The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines (<https://read.84000.co/translation/toh3808.html>) (**Āryaśatasāhasrikāpañcaviṃśatisāhasrikāṣṭādaśasāhasrikāprajñāpāramitābrhatṭīkā*, Toh 3808). 84000: Translating the Words of the Buddha, 2022.
- Stein, Lisa, and Ngawang Zangpo, trans. Butön's History of Buddhism: In India and its Spread to Tibet, A Treasury of Priceless Scripture. Boston: Snow Lion, 2013.
- Suzuki Kenta & Nagashima Jundo. "The Dunhuang Manuscript of the Larger Prajñāpāramitā." In Buddhist Manuscripts from Central Asia: The British Library Sanskrit Fragments, vol. III/2, edited by S. Karashima, J. Nagashima & K. Wille: 593–821. Tokyo, 2015.
- van der Kuijp, Leonard W. J. "Some Remarks on the Textual Transmission and Text of Bu ston Rin chen grub's Chos 'byung, a Chronicle of Buddhism in India and Tibet." Revue d'Etudes Tibétaines, no. 25 (April 2013): 115–93.
- Zacchetti, Stefano (2005). In Praise of the Light: A Critical Synoptic Edition with an Annotated Translation of Chapters 1-3 of Dharmarakṣa's Guang zan jing, Being the Earliest Chinese Translation of the Larger Prajñāpāramitā. Bibliotheca Philologica et Philosophica Buddhica, Vol. 8. The International Research Institute for Advanced Buddhology. Tokyo: Soka University.
- (2015). "Prajñāpāramitā Sūtras." In Brill's Encyclopedia of Buddhism, vol. 1, edited by Jonathan Silk. Leiden: Brill.

————(2021). *The Da zhidu lun 大智度論 (*Mahāprajñāpāramitopadeśa) and the History of the Larger Prajñāpāramitā: Patterns of Textual Variation in Mahāyāna Sūtra Literature*. Numata Center for Buddhist Studies: Hamburg Buddhist Studies 14, edited by Michael Radich and Jonathan Silk. Bochum / Freiburg: Projekt Verlag, 2021.

GLOSSARY

· Types of attestation for names and terms of the corresponding · source language

AS	Attested in source text This term is attested in a manuscript used as a source for this translation.
AO	Attested in other text This term is attested in other manuscripts with a parallel or similar context.
AD	Attested in dictionary This term is attested in dictionaries matching Tibetan to the corresponding language.
AA	Approximate attestation The attestation of this name is approximate. It is based on other names where the relationship between the Tibetan and source language is attested in dictionaries or other manuscripts.
RP	Reconstruction from Tibetan phonetic rendering This term is a reconstruction based on the Tibetan phonetic rendering of the term.
RS	Reconstruction from Tibetan semantic rendering This term is a reconstruction based on the semantics of the Tibetan translation.
SU	Source unspecified This term has been supplied from an unspecified source, which most often is a widely trusted dictionary.

g.1 a bodhisattva's full maturity

byang chub sems dpa'i skyon med pa

བྱང་ལྷན་སེམས་དཔའི་སྐྱོན་མེད་པ།

bodhisattvanyāma

See also "immaturity" and n.270.

g.2 a practitioner without a dwelling
gnas med par spyod pa · gnas myed par spyod pa

གནས་མེད་པར་སྒྲིད་པ། · གནས་མེད་པར་སྒྲིད་པ། aniketacārī

A meditative stability.

g.3 Ābha

snang ba

སྒྲོན་བ།

ābha

Fifth of the sixteen god realms of form that correspond to the four meditative concentrations, meaning “Radiance.”

g.4 Ābhāsvara

’od gsal · kun snang dang ba

འོད་གསལ། · ཀུན་སྒྲོན་དང་བ།

ābhāsvara

Eighth of the sixteen god realms of form that correspond to the four meditative concentrations, meaning “Inner Radiance.” See also n.87.

g.5 abhāṣya

gzhal du med pa · gzhal du myed pa

གཞལ་དུ་མེད་པ། · གཞལ་དུ་སྒྲིད་པ། abhāṣya

Lit. “cannot be measured.” An incredibly large number, higher than aparyanta.

g.6 Abhibodhyaṅgapuṣpa

byang chub kyi yan lag me tog

བྱང་ཚུབ་གྱི་ཡན་ལག་མེ་རོག

abhibodhyaṅgapuṣpa

Name that the hundred billion trillion beings in this assembly will bear when they become buddhas.

g.7 abiding in space

nam mkha’i gnas la gnas pa

ནམ་མཁའི་གནས་ལ་གནས་པ།

ākāśāvasthita

A meditative stability.

g.8 abiding in the real nature without mentation

de bzhin nyid la gnas shing sems med pa · de bzhin nyid la gnas shing sems myed pa

དེ་བཞིན་ཉིད་ལ་གནས་ཤིང་སེམས་མེད་པ། · དེ་བཞིན་ཉིད་ལ་གནས་ཤིང་སེམས་བྱེད་པ།

tathatāsthitaniścita

A meditative stability.

g.9 abiding nature of phenomena

chos kyi gnas nyid

ཚོས་ཀྱི་གནས་ཉིད།

dharmasthititā

A synonym for emptiness, and the realm of phenomena (dharmadhātu).

g.10 abiding nature of reality

chos kyi gnas nyid

ཚོས་ཀྱི་གནས་ཉིད།

dharmasthititā

Also rendered as “abiding nature of phenomena.”

g.11 abiding with certainty

nges par gnas pa

ངེས་པར་གནས་པ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.12 abiding without mentation

sems med par gnas pa · sems myed par gnas pa

སེམས་མེད་པར་གནས་པ། · སེམས་བྱེད་པར་གནས་པ།

sthitaniścitta

A meditative stability.

g.13 absence of joy with respect to all happiness and suffering

bde ba dang sdug bsngal thams cad la mngon par dga' ba med pa

· bde ba dang sdug bsngal thams cad la mngon par dga' ba myed pa

བདེ་བ་དང་སྤྱུག་བསྐྱེད་ཐམས་ཅད་ལ་མངོན་པར་དགའ་བ་མེད་པ། · བདེ་བ་དང་སྤྱུག་བསྐྱེད་ཐམས་ཅད་ལ་མངོན་པར་དགའ་བ་སྤྱིད་པ། sarvasukhaduhkhanirabhinandī

A meditative stability.

g.14 absorption

snyoms par 'jug pa · mnyam par bzhag pa

སྤྱོམས་པར་འཇུག་པ། · མཉམ་པར་བཞག་པ།

samāpatti · samāhita

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The Sanskrit literally means “attainment,” and is used to refer specifically to meditative attainment and to particular meditative states. The Tibetan translators interpreted it as sama-āpatti, which suggests the idea of “equal” or “level”; however, they also parsed it as sam-āpatti, in which case it would have the sense of “concentration” or “absorption,” much like samādhi, but with the added sense of “attainment.”

In this text:

Also rendered here as “meditative absorption.”

g.15 accounts

'di ltar 'das pa

འདི་ལྟར་འདས་པ།

itivyttaka

Seventh of the twelve branches of the scriptures.

g.16 accumulation of all attributes

yon tan thams cad kyi tshogs su gyur pa

ཡོན་ཏན་ཐམས་ཅད་ཀྱི་ཚོགས་སུ་གྱུར་པ།

sarvagūṇasamcaya

A meditative stability.

g.17 acintya

bsam gyis mi khyab pa

བསམ་གྱིས་མི་ལྟབ་པ།

acintya

Lit. “inconceivable.” An incredibly large number, higher than asamkhyā.

g.18 acquisitive aggregates

nye bar len pa'i phung po

ཉེབར་ལེན་པའི་ཕུང་པོ།

upādānaskandha

See “five acquisitive aggregates.”

g.19 afflicted

nyon mongs pa

ཉོན་མོངས་པ།

kleśa<sup>AS</sup>

See “afflicted mental state.”

g.20 afflicted mental state

nyon mongs pa

ཉོན་མོངས་པ།

kleśa

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The essentially pure nature of mind is obscured and afflicted by various psychological defilements, which destroy the mind’s peace and composure and lead to unwholesome deeds of body, speech, and mind, acting as causes for continued existence in saṃsāra. Included among them are the primary afflictions of desire (rāga), anger (dveṣa), and ignorance (avidyā). It is said that there are eighty-four thousand of these negative mental qualities, for which the eighty-four thousand categories of the Buddha’s teachings serve as the antidote.

Kleśa is also commonly translated as “negative emotions,” “disturbing emotions,” and so on. The Pāli kilesa, Middle Indic kileśa, and Buddhist Hybrid Sanskrit kleśa all primarily mean “stain” or “defilement.” The translation “affliction” is a secondary development that derives from the more general (non-Buddhist) classical understanding of √kliś (“to harm,” “to afflict”). Both meanings are noted by Buddhist commentators.

g.21 agent

byed pa po

བྱེད་པ་པོ།

kartṛ

g.22 aggregate

phung po

ཕུང་པོ།

skandha

See “five aggregates.”

g.23 aggregate of ethical discipline

tshul khrims kyi phung po

ཚུལ་ཁྲིམས་ཀྱི་ཕུང་པོ།

śīlaskandha

First of the five undefiled aggregates.

g.24 aggregate of liberation

rnam par grol ba'i phung po

རྣམ་པར་གྲོལ་བའི་ཕུང་པོ།

vimuktiskandha

Fourth of the five undefiled aggregates.

g.25 aggregate of meditative stability

ting nge 'dzin gyi phung po

ཏིང་ངེ་འཛིན་གྱི་ཕུང་པོ།

samādhiskandha

Second of the five undefiled aggregates.

g.26 aggregate of the knowledge and seeing of liberation

rnam par grol ba'i ye shes mthong ba'i phung po

རྣམ་པར་གྲོལ་བའི་ཡེ་ཤེས་མཐོང་བའི་ཕུང་པོ།

vimuktijñānadarśanaskandha

Fifth of the five undefiled aggregates.

g.27 aggregate of wisdom

shes rab kyi phung po

ཤེས་རབ་ཀྱི་ཕུང་པོ།

prajñāskandha

Third of the five undefiled aggregates.

g.28 aging and death

rga shi

ག་ཤི།

jarāmaraṇa

Twelfth of the twelve links of dependent origination.

g.29 Akaniṣṭha

'og min

འོག་མིན།

akaniṣṭha

Lit. "Highest."

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The eighth and highest level of the Realm of Form (rūpadhātu), the last of the five pure abodes (śuddhāvāsa); it is only accessible as the result of specific states of dhyāna. According to some texts this is where non-returners (anāgāmin) dwell in their last lives. In other texts it is the realm of the enjoyment body (saṃbhogakāya) and is a buddhafield associated with the Buddha Vairocana; it is accessible only to bodhisattvas on the tenth level.

g.30 Akṣobhya

myi sgul ba

མྱི་སྐུ་ལ་བ།

akṣobhya

The translation of his name in this sūtra differs from the usual translations, which are either mi 'khrugs pa, mi skyod pa, or mi bskyod pa

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

Lit. "Not Disturbed" or "Immovable One." The buddha in the eastern realm of Abhirati. A well-known buddha in Mahāyāna, regarded in the higher tantras as the head of one of the five buddha families, the vajra family in the east.

g.31 all the activities of their bodies are preceded by transcendental knowledge and informed by transcendental knowledge

sku'i phrin las thams cad ye shes sngon du 'gro ste/ ye shes kyi rjes su 'brang

སྐུ་འོ་ཕྱིན་ལས་ཐམས་ཅད་ཡི་ཤེས་སྔོན་དུ་འགྲོ་སྟེ། ཡི་ཤེས་ཀྱི་རྗེས་སུ་འབྲང་། sarvākāyākarmajñānapūrvagamaṃ jñānānuparivarti

Thirteenth of the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas.

g.32 all the activities of their minds are preceded by transcendental knowledge and informed by transcendental knowledge

thugs kyi phrin las thams cad ye shes sngon du 'gro ste/ ye shes kyi rjes su 'brang

ཐུགས་ཀྱི་ཐོན་ལས་ཐམས་ཅད་ཡེ་ཤེས་སྲོན་དུ་འགོ་སྟེ། ཡེ་ཤེས་ཀྱི་རྗེས་སུ་འབྲང།

sarvamanahkarmajñānapūrvagamaṃ jñānānuparivarti

Fifteenth of the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas.

- g.33 all the activities of their speech are preceded by transcendental knowledge and informed by transcendental knowledge gsung gi phrin las thams cad ye shes sngon du 'gro ste/ ye shes kyi rjes su 'brang

གསུང་གི་ཐོན་ལས་ཐམས་ཅད་ཡེ་ཤེས་སྲོན་དུ་འགོ་སྟེ། ཡེ་ཤེས་ཀྱི་རྗེས་སུ་འབྲང།

sarvavākkarmajñānapūrvagamaṃ jñānānuparivarti

Fourteenth of the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas.

- g.34 all-aspect omniscience

rnam pa thams cad mkhyen pa nyid

རྣམ་པ་ཐམས་ཅད་མཁྱེན་པ་ཉིད།

sarvākārajñatā

This key term in the Prajñāpāramitā literature refers to the omniscience of a buddha, and is not to be confused with the “knowledge of the aspects of the path” of bodhisattvas, or with the “omniscience” (thams cad shes pa) of śrāvakas. The “all-aspect” (sarvākāra) part of the term refers to the different aspects that it comprises, and is explained in two ways in The Long Explanation (Toh 3808, 4.78–4.80). One way identifies the “aspects” as being qualities such as nonarising and unproduced, unceasing, primordially at peace, naturally in nirvāṇa, without intrinsic nature, emptiness, signlessness, wishlessness, etc. The other way identifies them as being the collections of the wholesome, unwholesome, and neutral, and the collection of those destined for error and those of uncertain destiny. All-aspect omniscience is also the first of the eight progressive stages of clear realization.

- g.35 Amoghadarśin

don yod mthong ba

དོན་ཡོད་མཐོང་བ།

amoghadarśin

Name of a bodhisattva.

- g.36 anabhilāpya

brjod du med pa

བརྗོད་དུ་མེད་པ།

anabhilāpya

Lit. “inexpressible.” An incredibly large number, higher than abhāṣya.

g.37 anabhilāpyānabhilāpya

brjod du med pa'i yang brjod du med pa · brjod du med pa'i yang brjod du myed pa

བརྗོད་དུ་མེད་པའི་ཡང་བརྗོད་དུ་མེད་པ། · བརྗོད་དུ་མེད་པའི་ཡང་བརྗོད་དུ་མྱེད་པ།

anabhilāpyānabhilāpya

Lit. “inexpressibly inexpressible.” An incredibly large number, higher than anabhilāpya.

g.38 analysis of phenomena

chos rnam par 'byed pa

ཚོས་རྣམ་པར་འབྱེད་པ།

dharmapracaya

Second of the seven branches of enlightenment.

g.39 Ānanda

kun dga' bo

ཀུན་དགའ་བོ།

ānanda

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

A major śrāvaka disciple and personal attendant of the Buddha Śākyamuni during the last twenty-five years of his life. He was a cousin of the Buddha (according to the Mahāvastu, he was a son of Śuklodana, one of the brothers of King Śuddhodana, which means he was a brother of Devadatta; other sources say he was a son of Amṛtodana, another brother of King Śuddhodana, which means he would have been a brother of Aniruddha).

Ānanda, having always been in the Buddha’s presence, is said to have memorized all the teachings he heard and is celebrated for having recited all the Buddha’s teachings by memory at the first council of the Buddhist saṅgha, thus preserving the teachings after the Buddha’s parinirvāṇa. The phrase “Thus did I hear at one time,” found at the beginning of the sūtras, usually stands for his recitation of the teachings. He became a patriarch after the passing of Mahākāśyapa.

g.40 ananta

mtha' yas pa

མཐའ་ཡས་པ།

ananta

Lit. “unbounded.” An incredibly large number, higher than atulya.

g.41 Anantamati
blo gros mtha' yas ལྷོ་གྲོས་མཐའ་ཡས། anantamati
Name of a bodhisattva.

g.42 Anantavīrya
brtson 'grus mtha' yas བརྩོན་འགྲུས་མཐའ་ཡས། anantavīrya
Name of a bodhisattva.

g.43 Anāvaraṇamati
sgrib med blo gros སློབ་མེད་སློབ་གྲོས། anāvaraṇamati
Name of a bodhisattva.

g.44 Anikṣiptadhura
mi gtong brtson pa མི་གཏོང་བརྩོན་པ། anikṣiptadhura
Name of a bodhisattva.

g.45 Anupamamati
blo gros dpe med ལྷོ་གྲོས་དཔེ་མེད། anupamamati
Name of a bodhisattva.

g.46 aparyanta
kun tu mtha' yas pa ཀུན་ཏུ་མཐའ་ཡས་པ། aparyanta

Lit. “completely unbounded.” An incredibly large number, higher than ananta.

g.47 application of mindfulness to feelings

tshor ba dran pa nye bar gzhag pa

ཚོར་བ་རྣམ་པ་ཉེ་བར་གཞག་པ།

vedanānupaśyīsmṛtyupasthāna

Second of the four applications of mindfulness.

g.48 application of mindfulness to phenomena

chos dran pa nye bar gzhag pa

ཚོས་རྣམ་པ་ཉེ་བར་གཞག་པ།

dharmānupaśyīsmṛtyupasthāna

Fourth of the four applications of mindfulness.

g.49 application of mindfulness to the body

lus dran pa nye bar gzhag pa

ལུས་རྣམ་པ་ཉེ་བར་གཞག་པ།

kāyānupaśyīsmṛtyupasthāna

First of the four applications of mindfulness.

g.50 application of mindfulness to the mind

sems dran pa nye bar gzhag pa

སེམས་རྣམ་པ་ཉེ་བར་གཞག་པ།

cittānupaśyīsmṛtyupasthāna

Third of the four applications of mindfulness.

g.51 applications of mindfulness

dran pa nye bar gzhag pa

རྣམ་པ་ཉེ་བར་གཞག་པ།

smṛtyupasthāna

See “four applications of mindfulness.”

g.52 apprehend

dmigs

དམིགས།

upalabhate

dmigs (pa) translates a number of Sanskrit terms, including ālambana, upalabdhi, and ālambate. These terms commonly refer to the apprehending of a subject, an object, and the relationships that exist between them.

Also translated here as “focus on.”

g.53 apprehending

dmigs pa

དམིགས་པ།

upalambha

See “apprehend.”

g.54 Apramāṇābha

tshad med snang ba · tshad myed snang ba

ཚད་མེད་སྒྲུང་བ། · ཚད་མེད་སྒྲུང་བ།

apramāṇābha

Seventh of the sixteen god realms of form that correspond to the four meditative concentrations, meaning “Immeasurable Radiance.”

g.55 Apramāṇaśubha

tshad med dge · tshad myed dge

ཚད་མེད་དགེ། · ཚད་མེད་དགེ།

apramāṇaśubha

Eleventh of the sixteen god realms of form that correspond to the four meditative concentrations, meaning “Immeasurable Virtue.”

g.56 Apramāṇavr̥ha

tshad med che ba · tshad myed che ba

ཚད་མེད་ཆེ་བ། · ཚད་མེད་ཆེ་བ། apramāṇavr̥ha

Literally meaning “Immeasurably Great,” the name used in this text and in the Twenty-Five Thousand for what is, in the Prajñāpāramitā literature, the fifteenth of the sixteen levels of the god realm of form that correspond to the four meditative concentrations. The Sanskrit equivalent is attested in the Sanskrit of the Hundred Thousand, while the name Puṇyaprasava (q.v.) is used in the later Sanskrit manuscripts that correspond more closely to the eight-chapter Tengyur version of this text. In other genres, this is the eleventh of twelve levels corresponding to the four meditative concentrations.

g.57 aprameya

tshad med pa

ཚད་མེད་པ།

aprameya<sup>AS</sup>

Lit. “immeasurable.” An incredibly large number.

g.58 arhat

dgra bcom pa

དག་བཅོམ་པ།

arhat

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

According to Buddhist tradition, one who is worthy of worship (pūjām arhati), or one who has conquered the enemies, the mental afflictions (kleśa-ari-hata-vat), and reached liberation from the cycle of rebirth and suffering. It is the fourth and highest of the four fruits attainable by śrāvakas. Also used as an epithet of the Buddha.

In this text:

See also “śrāvaka.”

g.59 arranging the sameness of letters

yi ge mnyam par 'god pa

ཡི་གེ་མཉམ་པར་འགོད་པ།

samāṅśarāvātāra

A meditative stability.

g.60 array of flashes of lightning

glog gi 'od zer bkod pa

གློག་གི་འོད་ཟེར་བཀོད་པ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.61 array of power

dpung rnam par bkod pa

དཔུང་རྣམ་པར་བཀོད་པ།

balavyūha

A meditative stability.

g.62 Āryavimuktisena

rnam grol sde

རྣམ་གྲོལ་སྡེ།

vimuktisena

Indian commentator on the Abhisamayālaṅkāra (fl. early sixth century).

g.63 as an elephant looks

glang po chen po'i lta stangs

གླང་པོ་ཆེན་པོའི་ལྷ་སྤངས།

nāgāvalokita

A simile that describes an undistracted, unmoving, but all-encompassing gaze. See also n.154.

g.64 asaṃkhya

grangs med pa

གྲངས་མེད་པ།

asaṃkhya

Lit. "uncountable." An incredibly large number, higher than aprameya.

g.65 Asaṅga

thogs med

ཐོགས་མེད།

asaṅga

Indian commentator (fl. fourth century); closely associated with the works of Maitreya and the Yogācāra philosophical school.

g.66 Aśokaśrī

ngan med pa'i dpal

ངན་མེད་པའི་དཔལ།

aśokaśrī

Name of a buddha in the southern direction, residing in the world system called Sarvaśokāpagata.

g.67 aspectless

rnam pa med pa · rnam pa myed pa

རྣམ་པ་མེད་པ། · རྣམ་པ་མྱེད་པ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.68 assembly

g.yog 'khor · 'khor

གཡོག་ཁོར། · ཁོར།

parivāra

g.69 asura

lha ma yin

ལྷ་མ་ཡིན།

asura

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

A type of nonhuman being whose precise status is subject to different views, but is included as one of the six classes of beings in the sixfold classification of realms of rebirth. In the Buddhist context, asuras are powerful beings said to be dominated by envy, ambition, and hostility. They are also known in the pre-Buddhist and pre-Vedic mythologies of India and Iran, and feature prominently in Vedic and post-Vedic Brahmanical mythology, as well as in the Buddhist tradition. In these traditions, asuras are often described as being engaged in interminable conflict with the devas (gods).

In this text:

See also “gods.”

g.70 Atapa

mi gdung ba · myi gdung ba

མི་གདུང་བ། · མྱི་གདུང་བ།

atapa

Second of the five pure abodes (śuddhāvāsa), meaning “Painless.”

g.71 attachment to the realm of formlessness

gzugs med pa'i 'dod chags

གཟུགས་མེད་པའི་འདོད་ཆགས།

ārūpyarāga

Second of the five fetters associated with the superior.

g.72 attachment to the realm of forms

gzugs kyi 'dod chags

གཟུགས་ཀྱི་འདོད་ཆགས།

ruparāga

First of the five fetters associated with the superior.

g.73 attention

yid la byed pa · yid la bya ba

ཡིད་ལ་བྱེད་པ། · ཡིད་ལ་བྱ་བ། manaskāra

g.74 attributes of the level of the spiritual family

rigs kyi sa'i chos

རིགས་ཀྱི་སའི་ཚོས།

gotrabhūmidharma

g.75 atulya

mtshungs pa myed pa · mtshungs pa med pa

མཚུངས་པ་བྱེད་པ། · མཚུངས་པ་མེད་པ།

atulya

Lit. “unparalleled.” An incredibly large number, higher than acintya.

g.76 auditory consciousness

rna ba'i rnam par shes pa

རྣ་བའི་རྣམ་པར་ཤེས་པ།

—

g.77 aurally compounded sensory contact

rna ba'i 'dus te reg pa

རྣ་བའི་འདུས་ཏེ་རེག་པ།

śrotrasaṃsparśa

g.78 Auspicious Eon

bskal pa bzang po

བསྐྱལ་པ་བཟང་པོ།

bhadrakalpa

Name of the present eon of time, during which one thousand buddhas appear in succession, Śākyamuni being the fourth and Maitreya the fifth.

g.79 Avalokiteśvara

spyang ras gzigs kyi dbang phyug

སྤྱན་རས་གཟིགས་ཀྱི་དབང་ཕྱུག

avalokiteśvara

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

One of the “eight close sons of the Buddha,” he is also known as the bodhisattva who embodies compassion. In certain tantras, he is also the lord of the three families, where he embodies the compassion of the buddhas. In Tibet, he attained great significance as a special protector of Tibet, and in China, in female form, as Guanyin, the most important bodhisattva in all of East Asia.

g.80 Avṛha

mi che ba · myi che ba

མི་ཚེ་བ། ་ མྱི་ཚེ་བ།

avṛha

First of the five pure abodes (śuddhāvāsa), meaning “Slightest.”

g.81 back-biting

phra ma

ཕྱ་མ།

paiśunya

Fifth of the ten nonvirtuous actions. “Back-biting” means intentionally separating friends by speaking behind their back.

g.82 basic transgression

kha na ma tho ba

ཁ་ན་མ་ཐོ་བ།

sāvadya

The term is applied to actions, describing those that are negative in the sense either of being naturally wrong or of transgressing a formal rule or commitment. It is often translated as “wrongdoing,” “unwholesome,” etc.

g.83 beautiful moon

zla ba bzang po

ཟླ་བ་བཟང་པོ།

sucandra

A meditative stability.

g.84 because of the diffusion of light rays not making mistakes

'od zer rab tu 'gyed pas 'khrul pa med par byed pa

འོད་ཟེར་རབ་ཏུ་འགྱུར་པས་འཇུག་པ་མེད་པར་བྱེད་པ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.85 beyond sequence

snrel zhi

སྤྲེལ་ཞི།

vyatyasta

A meditative stability. See also n.309.

g.86 Bhadrabala

bzang po'i stobs

བཟང་པོའི་སྟོབས།

bhadrabala

Name of a bodhisattva.

g.87 Bhadrapāla

bzang skyong

བཟང་སྟོང་།

bhadrapāla

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

Head of the “sixteen excellent men” (ṣoḍaśasatpuruṣa), a group of householder bodhisattvas present in the audience of many sūtras. He appears prominently in certain sūtras, such as The Samādhi of the Presence of the Buddhas (Pratyutpannabuddhasaṃmukhāvasthitasamādhisūtra, Toh 133) and is perhaps also the merchant of the same name who is the principal interlocutor in The Questions of Bhadrapāla the Merchant (Toh 83).

g.88 birth

skye ba

སྐྱེ་བ།

jāti

Eleventh of the twelve links of dependent origination.

g.89 Blessed Lord

bcom ldan 'das · btsun pa bcom ldan 'das

བཅོམ་ལྷན་འདས། · བཅུན་པ་བཅོམ་ལྷན་འདས།

bhadantabhagavan

See “Blessed One.”

g.90 Blessed One

bcom ldan 'das

བཙེམ་ལྷན་འདས།

bhagavan

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

In Buddhist literature, an epithet applied to buddhas, most often to Śākyamuni. The Sanskrit term generally means “possessing fortune,” but in specifically Buddhist contexts it implies that a buddha is in possession of six auspicious qualities (bhaga) associated with complete awakening. The Tibetan term—where bcom is said to refer to “subduing” the four māras, ldan to “possessing” the great qualities of buddhahood, and 'das to “going beyond” saṃsāra and nirvāṇa—possibly reflects the commentarial tradition where the Sanskrit bhagavat is interpreted, in addition, as “one who destroys the four māras.” This is achieved either by reading bhagavat as bhagnavat (“one who broke”), or by tracing the word bhaga to the root  $\sqrt{bhañj}$  (“to break”).

In this text:

In this text, we have opted to translate the epithet bhagavat (bcom ldan 'das) as “the Blessed One” when it stands alone in narrative contexts, and as “Lord” when found in dialogue, as in the vocative expressions “Blessed Lord” (bhadantabhagavan, btsun pa bcom ldan 'das) and “Lord Buddha” (bhagavanbuddha, sangs rgyas bcom ldan 'das).

g.91 blossoming and vibrance of the flowers of virtue

dge ba'i me tog rgyas shing gsal ba

དགེ་བའི་མེ་ཏོག་རྒྱས་ཤིང་གསལ་བ།

śubhapuṣpitaśuddha

A meditative stability.

g.92 Bodhimaṇḍalālaṃkārasurucitā

snying po byang chub kyi rgyan shin tu yid du 'ong ba

སྤྱིང་པོ་བྱང་ལྷུབ་ཀྱི་རྒྱན་ཤིན་ཏུ་ཡིད་དུ་འོང་བ།

bodhimaṇḍalālaṃkārasurucitā

Name of a world system in the southeastern direction, where the buddha Padmottaraśrī teaches the perfection of wisdom to bodhisattva great beings.

g.93 bodhisattva

byang chub sems dpa'

བྱང་ལྷན་སེམས་དཔལ།

bodhisattva

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

A being who is dedicated to the cultivation and fulfilment of the altruistic intention to attain perfect buddhahood, traversing the ten bodhisattva levels (daśabhūmi, sa bcu). Bodhisattvas purposely opt to remain within cyclic existence in order to liberate all sentient beings, instead of simply seeking personal freedom from suffering. In terms of the view, they realize both the selflessness of persons and the selflessness of phenomena.

In this text:

See also “bodhisattva great being.”

g.94 bodhisattva great being byang chub sems dpa' sems dpa' chen po

བྱང་ལྷན་སེམས་དཔལ་སེམས་དཔལ་ཆེན་པོ།

bodhisattvamahāsattva

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The term can be understood to mean “great courageous one” or “great hero,” or (from the Sanskrit) simply “great being,” and is almost always found as an epithet of “bodhisattva.” The qualification “great” in this term, according to the majority of canonical definitions, focuses on the generic greatness common to all bodhisattvas, i.e., the greatness implicit in the bodhisattva vow itself in terms of outlook, aspiration, number of beings to be benefited, potential or eventual accomplishments, and so forth. In this sense the mahā- is closer in its connotations to the mahā- in “Mahāyāna” than to the mahā- in “mahāsiddha.” While individual bodhisattvas described as mahāsattva may in many cases also be “great” in terms of their level of realization, this is largely coincidental, and in the canonical texts the epithet is not restricted to bodhisattvas at any particular point in their career. Indeed, in a few cases even bodhisattvas whose path has taken a wrong direction are still described as bodhisattva mahāsattva.

Later commentarial writings do nevertheless define the term—variably—in terms of bodhisattvas having attained a particular level (bhūmi) or realization. The most common qualifying criteria mentioned are attaining the path of seeing, attaining irreversibility (according to its various definitions), or attaining the seventh bhūmi.

In this text:

See also “bodhisattva.”

g.95 boundless eloquence

spobs pa mtha' yas

སྣོབས་པ་མཐའ་ཡས།

anantaprabhā

A meditative stability.

g.96 boundless lamplight

mtha' yas sgron ma

མཐའ་ཡས་སྣོན་མ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.97 boundless light

'od mtha' yas pa

འོད་མཐའ་ཡས་པ།

anantaprabhā

A meditative stability.

g.98 Brahmā

tshangs pa

ཚེངས་པ།

brahmā

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

A high-ranking deity presiding over a divine world; he is also considered to be the lord of the Sahā world (our universe). Though not considered a creator god in Buddhism, Brahmā occupies an important place as one of two gods (the other being Indra/Śakra) said to have first exhorted the Buddha Śākyamuni to teach the Dharma. The particular heavens found in the form realm over which Brahmā rules are often some of the most sought-after realms of higher rebirth in Buddhist literature. Since there are many universes or world systems, there are also multiple Brahmās presiding over them. His most frequent epithets are “Lord of the Sahā World” (Sahāmpati) and Great Brahmā (Mahābrahmā).

g.99 Brahmakāyika

tshangs ris

ཚངས་རིས།

brahmakāyika

First and lowest of the sixteen god realms of form that correspond to the four meditative concentrations, meaning “Stratum of Brahmā.”

g.100 Brahmaloka

tshangs pa'i 'jig rten

ཚངས་པའི་འཇིག་རྟེན།

brahmaloka

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

A collective name for the first three heavens of the form realm, which correspond to the first concentration (dhyāna): Brahmakāyika, Brahmapurohita, and Mahābrahmā (also called Brahmapārṣadya). These are ruled over by the god Brahmā. According to some sources, it can also be a general reference to all the heavens in the form realm and formless realm. (Provisional 84000 definition. New definition forthcoming.)

g.101 Brahmapariṣadya

tshangs pa kun 'khor

ཚངས་པ་ཀུན་འཁོར།

brahmapariṣadya

Third of the sixteen god realms of form that correspond to the four meditative concentrations, meaning “Retinue of Brahmā.”

g.102 Brahmapurohita

tshangs lha nye phan

ཚངས་ལྷ་ཉེ་པན།

brahmapurohita

Second of the sixteen god realms of form that correspond to the four meditative concentrations, meaning “Brahmā Priest.”

g.103 brain tissue

glad pa

གླེང་པ།

mastaka

g.104 branches of enlightenment

byang chub kyi yan lag

བྱང་ཚུབ་གྱི་ཡན་ལག

bodhyaṅga

See “seven branches of enlightenment.”

g.105 bringer of joy

dga' ba byed pa

དགའ་བ་བྱེད་པ།

ratikara

A meditative stability.

g.106 buddhafiield

sangs rgyas kyi zhing

སངས་རྒྱས་གྱི་ཞིང་།

buddhakṣetra

This term denotes the operational field of a specific buddha, spontaneously arising as a result of his altruistic aspirations.

g.107 burning lamp

sgron ma 'bar ba

སྒྲོན་མ་འབར་བ།

jvalanolkā

A meditative stability.

g.108 Butön

bu ston rin chen grub

བུ་སྟོན་རིན་ཆེན་གྲུབ།

—

Tibetan scholar and historian (1290–1364) based at the monastery of Zhalu. His list of translated texts was one of several influences on the compilation of the first Kangyurs, and he was directly involved in the establishment of the Tengyur.

g.109 by way of apprehending

dmyigs pa'i tshul gyis · dmigs pa'i tshul gyis

དམིགས་པའི་ཚུལ་གྱིས། · དམིགས་པའི་ཚུལ་གྱིས།

ārambaṇayogena

The expression “by way of apprehending” implies that ordinary persons perceive phenomena as inherently existing, whereas bodhisattvas are said to act and teach “without apprehending anything.” On the latter term, see its respective glossary entry. See also “apprehend.”

g.110 calmed

rab tu zhi ba

རབ་ཏུ་ཞི་བ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.111 Candragarbha

zla ba'i snying po

ཟླ་བའི་སྤྱིང་པོ།

candragarbha

Name of a bodhisattva.

g.112 Cāritramati

spyod pa'i blo gros

སྤྱོད་པའི་བློ་བྲོས།

cāritramati

Name of a bodhisattva from a distant world system in the western direction called Upasāntā, who comes to this world to pay homage to the Buddha.

g.113 Cāturmahārājika

rgyal chen bzhi'i ris · rgyal po chen po bzhi'i ris

རྒྱལ་ཆེན་བཞིའི་རིས། · རྒྱལ་པོ་ཆེན་པོ་བཞིའི་རིས།

cāturmahārājika

Lit. “Abode of the Four Great Kings.” For consistency rgyal chen bzhi'i ris is rendered cāturmahārājika (“[gods] belonging to the group of the Four Great Kings”), even though there are a number of Skt. forms (Edg says the forms are cāturmahārājakāyika and less often caturmahārājakāyika, and cāturmahārājika and less often caturmahārājika) and slight differences are encountered in the Tib. translation. “Gods” is sometimes rendered explicitly and is sometimes implicit in the Tib.

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

One of the heavens of Buddhist cosmology, lowest among the six heavens of the desire realm (kāmadhātu, 'dod kham). Dwelling place of the Four Great Kings (caturmahārāja, rgyal chen bzhi), traditionally located on a terrace of Sumeru, just below the Heaven of the Thirty-Three. Each cardinal direction is ruled by one of the Four Great Kings and inhabited by a different class of nonhuman beings as their subjects: in the east, Dhṛtarāṣṭra rules the gandharvas; in the south, Virūdhaka rules the kumbhāṇḍas; in the west, Virūpākṣa rules the nāgas; and in the north, Vaiśravaṇa rules the yakṣas.

g.114 certainty in the realm of phenomena

chos kyi dbyings su nges pa

ཚོས་ཀྱི་དབྱིངས་སུ་ངེས་པ།

dharmadhātuniyata

A meditative stability.

g.115 cessation of suffering

'gog pa

འགོག་པ།

nirodha

Third of the four truths of the noble ones.

g.116 Che Khyidruk

lce khi 'brug

ལྷཱ་ཁི་འབྲུག།

—

A Tibetan author and translator dated to the late eighth and early ninth centuries CE. As well as being listed by Butön among the translators of this text, he is the author of three treatises on Sanskrit grammar in the Tengyur (Toh 4350, Toh 4351, and Q 5838).

g.117 child of Manu

shed bdag

ཤེད་བདག།

mānava

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

Manu being the archetypal human, the progenitor of humankind, in the Mahābhārata, the Purāṇas, and other Indian texts, “child of Manu” (mānava) or “born of Manu” (manuja) is a synonym of “human being” or humanity in general.

g.118 Chokro Lui Gyaltsen

cog ro klu'i rgyal mtshan

ཅོག་རོ་ལྷུ་འུ་མཚན།

—

An important early Tibetan translator and editor who was also one of the twenty-five principal disciples of Guru Padmasambhava.

g.119 clear appearance

snang ba gsal ba

སྤང་བ་གསལ་བ།

śuddhapratibhāsa

A meditative stability.

g.120 clear-eyed

mig yongs su dag pa · myig yongs su dag pa

མིག་ཡོངས་སུ་དག་པ། · མྱིག་ཡོངས་སུ་དག་པ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.121 common phenomena

thun mong gi chos

ཐུན་མོང་གི་ཚོས།

sādhāraṇadharmā

Common phenomena from the perspective of ordinary persons include the following: the four meditative concentrations, the four immeasurable attitudes, the four formless meditative absorptions, and the five extrasensory powers.

g.122 compassion

snying rje

སྤྱིང་རྗེ།

karuṇā

Second of the four immeasurable attitudes.

g.123 completely perfect buddha

yang dag par rdzogs pa'i sangs rgyas

ཡང་དག་པར་རྫོགས་པའི་སངས་རྒྱལ།

samyaksambuddha

The attainment of a buddha, who has gained total freedom from conditioned existence, overcome all tendencies imprinted on the mind as a result of a long association with afflicted mental states, and fully manifested all aspects of a buddha's body, speech, and mind.

g.124 comprehension of all bases of existence through realization

rtogs pas srid pa'i gzhi thams cad khong du chud pa

རྫོགས་པས་སྲིད་པའི་གཞི་ཐམས་ཅད་ལོང་དུ་རྒྱུད་པ།

sarvabhavatalavikirāṇa

A meditative stability.

g.125 conditioned phenomena

'dus byas kyi chos · chos 'dus byas · 'dus byas

འདུས་བྱས་ཀྱི་ཚོས། · ཚོས་འདུས་བྱས། · འདུས་བྱས།

saṃskṛtadharmā

Conditioned phenomena are listed at 8.87. See also n.127.

g.126 confidence that inspires speech

spobs pa

སྲོབས་པ།

pratibhāna

See “inspired eloquence.”

g.127 consciousness

rnam par shes pa

རྣམ་པར་ཤེས་པ།

vijñāna

Fifth of the five aggregates; also third of the twelve links of dependent origination. In the context of the present discourse, there are six types of consciousness, namely, visual consciousness, auditory consciousness, olfactory consciousness, tactile consciousness, and mental consciousness.

g.128 consciousness element

rnam par shes pa'i khams

རྣམ་པར་ཤེས་པའི་ཁམས།

vijñānadhātu

g.129 contaminant

zag pa

ཟག་པ།

āsrava

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

Literally, “to flow” or “to ooze.” Mental defilements or contaminations that “flow out” toward the objects of cyclic existence, binding us to them.

Vasubandhu offers two alternative explanations of this term: “They cause beings to remain (āsayanti) within saṃsāra” and “They flow from the Summit of Existence down to the Avīci hell, out of the six wounds that are the sense fields” (Abhidharmakośabhāṣya 5.40; Pradhan 1967, p. 308). The Summit of Existence (bhavāgra, srid pa'i rtse mo) is the highest point within saṃsāra, while the hell called Avīci (mnar med) is the lowest; the six sense fields (āyatana, skye mched) here refer to the five sense faculties plus the mind, i.e., the six internal sense fields.

g.130 contaminated phenomena

zag pa dang bcas pa'i chos

ཟག་པ་དང་བཅས་པའི་ཚོས།

sāsravadharma

Contaminated phenomena include the following: the five aggregates encompassed in the three realms, the twelve sense fields, the eighteen sensory elements, the four meditative concentrations, the four immeasurable attitudes, and the four formless meditative absorptions. See also n.127.

g.131 convergence in nonaffliction nyon mongs pa med par yang dag par gzhol ba

· nyon mongs pa myed par yang dag par gzhol ba

ཉོན་མོངས་པ་མེད་པར་ཡང་དག་པར་གཞིལ་བ། . ཉོན་མོངས་པ་བྱེད་པར་ཡང་དག་པར་གཞིལ་བ། anusaraṇasarvasamavasaraṇa

A meditative stability.

g.132 convergence of all afflicted mental states in nonaffliction nyon mongs pa dang bcas pa thams cad nyon mongs pa myed par yang dag par gzhol

ba

ཉོན་མོངས་པ་དང་བཅས་པ་གསལ་ཅད་ཉོན་མོངས་པ་བྱེད་པར་ཡང་དག་པར་གཞིལ་བ།

—

A meditative stability. In Dutt 198 there appears to be no corresponding item.

g.133 corporeally compounded sensory contact

lus kyi 'dus te reg pa

ལུས་ཀྱི་འདུས་ཉེ་རེག་པ།

kāyasaṃsparśa

g.134 correct action

yang dag pa'i las kyi mtha'

ཡང་དག་པའི་ལས་ཀྱི་མཐའ།

samyakkarmānta

Fourth factor of the noble eightfold path.

g.135 correct effort

yang dag pa'i rtsol ba

ཡང་དག་པའི་རྩོལ་བ།

samyagvyāyāma

Sixth factor of the noble eightfold path.

g.136 correct exertion

yang dag par spong ba

ཡང་དག་པར་སྤོང་བ། prahāṇa

See four correct exertions.

g.137 correct livelihood

yang dag pa'i 'tsho ba

ཡང་དག་པའི་འཚོ་བ།

samyagājīva

Fifth factor of the noble eightfold path.

g.138 correct meditative stability

yang dag pa'i ting nge 'dzin

ཡང་དག་པའི་ཉིང་རེ་འཛིན།

samyaksamādhi

Eighth factor of the noble eightfold path.

g.139 correct mindfulness

yang dag pa'i dran pa

ཡང་དག་པའི་བློ་སེམས།

samyaksmṛti

Seventh factor of the noble eightfold path.

g.140 correct speech

yang dag pa'i ngag

ཡང་དག་པའི་ངག།

samyagvāg

Third factor of the noble eightfold path.

g.141 correct thought

yang dag pa'i rtog pa

ཡང་དག་པའི་རྟོག་སེམས།

samyaksamkalpa

Second factor of the noble eightfold path.”

g.142 correct view

yang dag par lta ba

ཡང་དག་པར་ལྟོ་བ།

samyagdrṣṭi

First factor of the noble eightfold path.

g.143 covetousness

chags sems

ཆགས་སེམས།

abhidhyā

Eighth of the ten nonvirtuous actions; first of the four knots.

g.144 craving

sred pa

སྲེད་སེམས།

trṣṇā

Eighth of the twelve links of dependent origination; fourth of the four torrents.

g.145 crest of certainty's victory banner

nges pa'i rgyal mtshan dpal

ངེས་པའི་རྒྱལ་མཚན་དཔལ།

niyatadhvajaketu

A meditative stability.

g.146 crest of the moon's victory banner

zla ba'i rgyal mtshan dpal

ཟླ་བའི་རྒྱལ་མཚན་དཔལ།

candradhvajaketu

A meditative stability.

g.147 crown prince

gzhon nur gyur pa

གཞོན་ནུར་གྱུར་པ།

kumārabhūta

The term, depending on context, can refer either to bodhisattvas who remain celibate, or to bodhisattvas at the advanced level of “crown prince” who are awaiting the final stages before buddhahood that include regency and consecration.

g.148 cutting off the objective support

dmigs pa gcod pa · dmyigs pa gcod pa

དམིགས་པ་གཅོད་པ། · དམིགས་པ་གཅོད་པ།

ālamghanaccheda

A meditative stability.

g.149 defilement

kun nas nyon mongs pa

ཀུན་ནས་ཉེན་མོངས་པ།

saṃkleśa

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

A term meaning defilement, impurity, and pollution, broadly referring to cognitive and emotional factors that disturb and obscure the mind. As the self-perpetuating process of affliction in the minds of beings, it is a synonym for saṃsāra. It is often paired with its opposite, vyavadāna, meaning “purification.”

- g.150 definitive knowledge of the acumen of other beings, other persons, which is to be known as superior or inferior
sems can gzhan dang gang zag gzhan gyi dbang po rab dang / tham shes par bya ba yang dag pa ji lta ba bzhin du rab tu shes so/
 སེམས་ཅན་གཞན་དང་གང་ཟག་གཞན་གྱི་དབང་པོ་རབ་དང་། ཐམས་ཤེས་པར་བྱ་བ་ཡང་དག་པ་ཇི་ལྟ་བ་བཞིན་དུ་ རབ་དུ་ཤེས་སོ།
anyasattoapudgalendriyavarāvarayathābhūtaprajñāna
 Fifth of the ten powers of the tathāgatas.
- g.151 definitive knowledge of the diversity of inclinations and the multiplicity of inclinations that other beings, other persons, have sems can gzhan dang / gang zag gzhan gyi mos pa sna tshogs dang / mos pa du ma yang dag pa ji lta ba bzhin du rab tu shes so/
 སེམས་ཅན་གཞན་དང་། གང་ཟག་གཞན་གྱི་ཚོས་པ་སྣ་ཚོགས་དང་། ཚོས་པ་དུ་མ་ཡང་དག་པ་ཇི་ལྟ་བ་བཞིན་དུ་ རབ་དུ་ཤེས་སོ།
anyasattoapudgalanādhimuktyanekādhimuktiyathābhūtaprajñāna
 Fourth of the ten powers of the tathāgatas.
- g.152 definitive knowledge of the faculties, powers, branches of enlightenment, meditative concentrations, liberations, meditative stabilities, and formless absorptions, and defiled and purified states
dbang po dang / stobs dang / byang chub kyi yan lag dang / bsam gtan dang / rnam par thar pa dang / ting nge 'dzin dang / snyoms par 'jug pa dang / kun nas nyon mongs pa dang / rnam par byang ba rnam par dgod pa yang dag pa ji lta ba bzhin du rab tu shes so/
 དབང་པོ་དང་། ལྷོབས་དང་། བྱང་ཆུབ་གྱི་ཡན་ལག་དང་། བསམ་གཏན་དང་། རྣམ་པར་ཐར་པ་དང་། ཉིང་འཛིན་
 དང་། ལྷོ་མས་པར་འཇུག་པ་དང་། ཀུན་ནས་ཉོན་མོངས་པ་དང་། རྣམ་པར་བྱང་བ་རྣམ་པར་དགོད་པ་ཡང་དག་པ་ཇི་ ལྟ་བ་བཞིན་དུ་རབ་དུ་ཤེས་སོ། sarvendriyabalabodhyaṅgavimokṣadhyanāsamādhisamāpattisaṃkleśavyavadānavyuthānayathābhūtaprajñāna
 Seventh of the ten powers of the tathāgatas.
- g.153 definitive knowledge of the maturation, the aspect of location, and the aspect of cause of past, future, and present actions and the undertakings of action

'das pa dang ma 'ongs pa dang / da ltar byung ba'i las dang / las yongs su len pa'i rnam par smyin pa/gnas kyi rnam pa dang / rgyu'i rnam par yang dag pa ji lta ba bzhin du rab tu shes so/

འདས་པ་དང་མ་འོངས་པ་དང་། དལྟར་བྱུང་བའི་ལས་དང་། ལས་ཡོངས་སུ་ལེན་པའི་རྣམ་པར་སྦྱིན་པ། གནས་ཀྱི་
རྣམ་པ་དང་། རྒྱའི་རྣམ་པར་ཡང་དག་པ་ཇི་ལྟ་བུ་བཞེན་དུ་རབ་ཏུ་ཤེས་སོ།

atitānāgatapratyutpannasarvākarmasamādānahetu vipākayathābhūtaprajñāna

Second of the ten powers of the tathāgatas. See also n.504.

g.154 definitive knowledge of the paths, wherever they lead

kun tu 'gro ba'i lam yang dag pa ji lta ba bzhin du rab tu shes so/

ཀུན་ཏུ་འགོ་བའི་ལམ་ཡང་དག་པ་ཇི་ལྟ་བུ་བཞེན་དུ་རབ་ཏུ་ཤེས་སོ།

sarvatragāmanīpratipadyathābhūtaprajñāna

Sixth of the ten powers of the tathāgatas.

g.155 definitive knowledge that a world has a diversity of constituents, that a world has multiple constituents

'jig rten ni khams sna tshogs can te/ 'jig rten ni khams du ma pa'o zhes bya bar yang dag pa ji lta ba bzhin du rab tu shes so/

འཇིག་རྟེན་ནི་ཁམས་སྣ་ཚོགས་ཅན་ཏེ། འཇིག་རྟེན་ནི་ཁམས་དུ་མ་པའི་ཞེས་བྱ་བར་ཡང་དག་པ་ཇི་ལྟ་བུ་བཞེན་དུ་ རབ་ཏུ་ཤེས་སོ།

nānalokadhātunānadhātuyathābhūtaprajñāna

Third of the ten powers of the tathāgatas. See also n.505.

g.156 definitive knowledge that phenomena that are possible are indeed possible, and definitive knowledge that phenomena that are impossible are indeed impossible

gnas la'ang gnas su yang dag pa ji lta ba bzhin du rab tu shes so/ gnas ma yin pa la'ang gnas ma yin par yang dag pa ji lta ba bzhin du rab tu shes so/

གནས་ལའང་གནས་སུ་ཡང་དག་པ་ཇི་ལྟ་བུ་བཞེན་དུ་རབ་ཏུ་ཤེས་སོ། །གནས་མ་ཡིན་པ་ལའང་གནས་མ་ཡིན་ པར་ཡང་དག་པ་ཇི་ལྟ་བུ་བཞེན་དུ་རབ་ཏུ་ཤེས་སོ། sthānasthānayathābhūtaprajñāna asthānāsthānayathābhūtaprajñāna

First of the ten powers of the tathāgatas.

g.157 delight

dga' ba

དགའ་བ།

prīti

Fourth of the seven branches of enlightenment.

g.158 delineator

yongs su gcod pa byed pa

ཡོངས་སུ་གཅོད་པ་བྱེད་པ།

niratiśaya · paricchedakara

A meditative stability.

g.159 delusion

gti mug

གཏི་མུག

moha

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

One of the three poisons (dug gsum) along with aversion, or hatred, and attachment, or desire, which perpetuate the sufferings of cyclic existence. It is the obfuscating mental state which obstructs an individual from generating knowledge or insight, and it is said to be the dominant characteristic of the animal world in general. Commonly rendered as confusion, delusion, and ignorance, or bewilderment.

g.160 dependent origination

rten cing 'brel par 'byung ba

རྟེན་ཅིང་འབྲེལ་པར་འབྱུང་བ།

pratītyasamutpāda

The principle of dependent origination asserts that nothing exists independently of other factors, the reason for this being that things and events come into existence only by dependence on the aggregation of causes and conditions. In general, the processes of cyclic existence, through which the external world and the beings within it revolve in a continuous cycle of suffering, propelled by the propensities of past actions and their interaction with afflicted mental states, originate dependent on the sequential unfolding of twelve links, commencing from ignorance and ending with birth, aging, and death. It is only through deliberate reversal of these twelve links that one can succeed in bringing the whole cycle to an end. See also “twelve links of dependent origination.”

g.161 designation for something

chos su btags pa

ཚོས་སུ་བཏགས་པ།

dharmaprajñāpti

g.162 desire

'dod chags

འདོད་ཆགས།

rāga

First of the five fetters associated with the inferior. Also one of the three poisons (dug gsum) along with hatred and delusion which perpetuate the sufferings of saṃsāra.

g.163 determination

rnam par nges pa

རྣམ་པར་ངེས་པ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.164 devoid of darkness

rab rib med pa

རབ་རིབ་མེད་པ།

vitimirāpagata

A meditative stability.

g.165 devoid of letters

yi ge dang bral ba

ཡི་གེ་དང་བྲལ་བ།

akṣarāpagata

A meditative stability.

g.166 devoid of vocalic syllables

sgra dbyangs kyi yi ge dang bral ba

སྒྲ་དབྱངས་ཀྱི་ཡི་གེ་དང་བྲལ་བ།

nirakṣaramukti

A meditative stability.

g.167 dhāraṇī

gzungs

གཟུངས།

dhāraṇī

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The term dhāraṇī has the sense of something that “holds” or “retains,” and so it can refer to the special capacity of practitioners to memorize and recall detailed teachings. It can also refer to a verbal expression of the teachings—an incantation, spell, or mnemonic formula that distills and “holds” essential points of the Dharma and is used by practitioners to attain mundane and supramundane goals. The same term is also used to denote texts that contain such formulas.

g.168 dhāraṇī gateway

gzungs kyi sgo

གཟུངས་ཀྱི་སྒོ།

dhāraṇīmukha

As a magical formula, a dhāraṇī constitutes a gateway to the infinite qualities of awakening, the awakened state itself, and the various forms of buddha activity. See also “dhāraṇī.”

g.169 dhāraṇī intelligence

gzungs kyi blo gros

གཟུངས་ཀྱི་སྒོ་ལྗོངས།

dhāraṇīmati

A meditative stability.

g.170 Dharma

chos

ཚོས།

dharma

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The term dharma conveys ten different meanings, according to Vasubandhu’s Vyākhyāyukti. The primary meanings are as follows: the doctrine taught by the Buddha (Dharma); the ultimate reality underlying and expressed through the Buddha’s teaching (Dharma); the trainings that the Buddha’s teaching stipulates (dharmas); the various awakened qualities or attainments acquired through practicing and realizing the Buddha’s teaching (dharmas); qualities or aspects more generally, i.e., phenomena or phenomenal attributes (dharmas); and mental objects (dharmas).

g.171 Dharma body

chos kyi sku

ཚོས་ཀྱི་སྐྱེ།

dharmakāya

In distinction to the form body (rūpakāya) of a buddha, this is the eternal, imperceptible realization of a buddha.

g.172 diffusion of light rays

'od zer rab tu 'gyed pa

འོད་ཟེར་རབ་ཏུ་འགྲེད་པ།

raśmipramukta

A meditative stability.

g.173 disassociate

'byed

འབྲེད། viyojayati

g.174 discourses

mdo

མདོ།

sūtra

First of the twelve branches of the scriptures.

g.175 dispelling doubt

nem nur rnam par sel ba

ནེམ་ནུར་རྣམ་པར་སེལ་བ།

vimativikirāṇa

A meditative stability.

g.176 dispelling the army of the four māras

bdud bzhi'i dpung sel ba

བདུད་བཞིའི་དཔུང་སེལ་བ།

caturmārabalavikirāṇa

A meditative stability.

g.177 dispelling the defects of corporeality

lus kyi skyon yang dag par sel ba

ལུས་ཀྱི་སྐྱོན་ཡང་དག་པར་སེལ་བ།

kāyakalisampramathana

A meditative stability.

g.178 dispelling the defects of speech

ngag gi skyon yang dag par sel ba

ངག་གི་སྐྱོན་ཡང་དག་པར་སེལ་བ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.179 dispelling the defects of the mind

yid kyi skyon yang dag par sel ba

ཡིད་ཀྱི་སྐྱོན་ཡང་དག་པར་སེལ་བ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.180 dispersal

rnam par 'thor ba

རྣམ་པར་འཐོར་བ།

vikirāṇa

A meditative stability.

g.181 distinct qualities of the buddhas

sangs rgyas kyi chos ma 'dres pa

སངས་རྒྱས་ཀྱི་ཚོས་མ་འདྲེས་པ།

aveṅīkabuddhadharma

See “eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas.”

g.182 distinguishing the terms associated with all phenomena

chos thams cad kyi tshig rab tu 'byed pa

ཚོས་ཐམས་ཅད་ཀྱི་ཚིག་རབ་ཏུ་འབྲེད་པ།

sarvadharmapadaprabheda

A meditative stability.

g.183 do not degenerate in their liberation nor do they degenerate in their knowledge and seeing of liberation

rnam par grol ba yongs su nyams pa myi mnga'o/ /rnam par grol ba'i ye shes gzigs pa yongs su nyams pa myi mnga'o/

· rnam par grol ba nyams pa med pa'am rnam par grol ba'i ye shes mthong ba nyams pa med pa

རྣམ་པར་གྲོལ་བ་ཡོངས་སུ་ཉམས་པ་སྤྱི་མངའ། |རྣམ་པར་གྲོལ་བའི་ཡེ་ཤེས་གཟིགས་པ་ཡོངས་སུ་ཉམས་པ་སྤྱི་མངའ།

· རྣམ་པར་གྲོལ་བ་ཉམས་པ་མེད་པའམ་རྣམ་པར་གྲོལ་བའི་ཡེ་ཤེས་མཐོང་བ་ཉམས་པ་མེད་པ།

nāsti vimuktihāniḥ nāsti vimuktijñānadarśanahāniḥ

Twelfth of the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas.

g.184 do not degenerate in their meditative stability

ting nge 'dzin yongs su nyams pa myi mnga' · ting nge 'dzin nyams pa med pa

ཉིང་ངེ་འཛིན་ཡོངས་སུ་ཉམས་པ་སྤྱི་མངའ། · ཉིང་ངེ་འཛིན་ཉམས་པ་མེད་པ།

nāsti samādhihāniḥ

Tenth of the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas.

g.185 do not degenerate in their mindfulness

dgongs pa yongs su nyams pa myi mnga'

དགོངས་པ་ཡོངས་སུ་ཉམས་པ་སྤྱི་མངའ།

nāsti smṛtihāniḥ

Ninth of the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas.

g.186 do not degenerate in their perseverance

brtson 'grus yongs su nyams pa myi mnga'

བརྩོན་འགུས་ཡོངས་སུ་ཉམས་པ་སྤྱི་མངའ།

nāsti viryahāniḥ

Eighth of the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas.

g.187 do not degenerate in their resolution

mos pa yongs su nyams pa myi mnga' · 'dun pa nyams pa med pa

མོས་པ་ཡོངས་སུ་ཉམས་པ་སྤྱི་མངའ། · འདུན་པ་ཉམས་པ་མེད་པ།

nāsti cchandahāniḥ

Seventh of the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas.

g.188 do not degenerate in their wisdom

shes rab yongs su nyams pa myi mnga'

ཤེས་རབ་ཡོངས་སུ་ཉམས་པ་སྤྱི་མངའ།

nāsti prajñāhāniḥ

Eleventh of the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas.

g.189 does what needs to be done

bya ba byed pa

བྱ་བ་བྱེད་པ།

kārākāra

A meditative stability.

g.190 doubt

the tshom

ཐེ་ཚོམ།

vicikitsā

Second of the three fetters, and fifth of the five fetters associated with the inferior.

g.191 earshot

rgyang grags

རྒྱང་གྲགས།

krośa

A measurement traditionally equivalent to five hundred arm spans.

g.192 earth element

sa'i khams

སའི་ཁམས།

—

g.193 eight liberations

rnam par thar pa brgyad

རྣམ་པར་ཐར་པ་བརྒྱུད།

aṣṭavimokṣa

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

A series of progressively more subtle states of meditative realization or attainment. There are several presentations of these found in the canonical literature. One of the most common is as follows: (1) One observes form while the mind dwells at the level of the form realm. (2) One observes forms externally while discerning formlessness internally. (3) One dwells in the direct experience of the body's pleasant aspect. (4) One dwells in the realization of the sphere of infinite space by transcending all conceptions of matter, resistance, and diversity. (5) Transcending the sphere of infinite space, one dwells in the realization of the sphere of infinite consciousness. (6) Transcending the sphere of infinite consciousness, one dwells in the realization of the sphere of nothingness. (7) Transcending the sphere of nothingness, one dwells in the realization of the sphere of neither perception nor nonperception. (8) Transcending the sphere of neither perception nor nonperception, one dwells in the realization of the cessation of conception and feeling.

In this text:

For a list of the eight in this text, see 8.82 and 9.49.

g.194 eight stations of mastery

zil gyis gnon pa'i skye mched brgyad

ཟིལ་གྱིས་གཞོན་པའི་སྐྱེ་མཆེད་བརྒྱད།

aṣṭābhibhvāyatana

Eight transformations that ensue for someone who meditatively masters eight specific perceptual states. For a complete list, see Twenty-Five Thousand, 62.57.

g.195 eight ways great persons think

skyes bu chen po'i rnam par rtog pa brgyad

སྐྱེས་བུ་ཆེན་པོའི་རྣམ་པར་རྟོག་པ་བརྒྱད།

aṣṭamahāpuruṣavitarka

As enumerated in the Śatasāhasrikāprajñāpāramitābrhātṭikā, Toh 3807 (Degé Tengyur vol. 91, F.40.b-41.a) they comprise (1) the notion when one reflects on the ability to dispel all the suffering of all beings (nam zhig sems can thams cad kyi sdug bsngal thams cad sel nus snyam du rnam par rtog pa); (2) the notion when one reflects on the ability to secure great endowments for beings afflicted by poverty (nam zhig dbul bas sdug bsngal ba'i sems can rnams 'byor pa chen po la 'jog nus snyam du rnam par rtog pa); (3) the notion when one reflects on the ability to engage in acts of benefit for beings through one's body of flesh and blood (nam zhig sha khrag dang bcas pa'i lus kyi sems can rnams kyi don byed nus snyam du rnam par rtog pa); (4) the notion when one reflects on acts exclusively for the benefit for beings, even though they remain for a long time as denizens of the hells (sems can dmyal ba na yun ring por gnas pas kyang / nam zhig sems can rnams la phan pa byed pa 'ba' zhig tu 'gyur snyam du rnam par rtog pa); (5) the notion when one reflects that the hopes of all worlds might be seen to be perfected through mundane and supramundane endowments (nam zhig 'jig rten dang / 'jig rten las 'das pa'i 'byor bas 'jig rten thams cad kyi re ba yongs su rdzogs pa mthong bar 'gyur snyam du rnam par rtog pa); (6) the notion when one reflects that one might become a buddha and then genuinely deliver all beings from all the sufferings of saṃsāra (nam zhig bdag sangs rgyas su gyur nas sems can thams cad 'khor ba'i sdug bsngal thams cad las yang dag par 'byin par 'gyur snyam du rnam par rtog pa); (7) the notion when one reflects that one should not resort over successive lives to births that are disadvantageous to all beings, thoughts that do not engage in the benefit of beings, conduct that concerns the sole savor of ultimate reality, words that do not bring happiness to all beings, livelihoods that do not benefit others, bodies that cannot benefit others, minds that are unclear about benefiting others, wealth that does not benefit beings, authority that does not act for the sake of living beings, or delight in harming others (sems can thams cad la phan 'dogs pa med pa'i skye ba dang / sems can gyi don dulha'i mig sbyor ba med pa'i sems dang / don dam pa'i ro gcig pu la spyod pa dang / skye bo thams cad sim par byed pa ma yin pa'i tshig dang // gzhan la mi phan pa'i 'tsho ba dang / gzhan la phan pa byed mi nus pa'i lus dang / gzhan la phan 'dogs pa la mi gsal ba'i blo dang / sems can la phan par mi spyod pa'i nor dang / 'gro ba rnams kyi don spyod pa med pa'i dbang phyug dang / gzhan la gnod pa byed pa'i dga' bar tshe rabs tshe rabs su ma gyur cig snyam du rnam par rtog pa); and (8) the notion when one wishes that all the negative deeds of all living creatures should ripen in oneself and that all the fruits of one's own positive actions should ripen in all beings (srog chags thams cad kyi sdig pa'i las thams cad kyi 'bras bu bdag la smin la/ bdag gis legs par spyad pa'i 'bras bu thams cad sems can thams cad la smin par gyur cig snyam du rnam par rtog pa).

g.196 eight-branched confession and restoration

yan lag brgyad dang ldan pa'i gso sbyin

ཡན་ལག་བརྒྱད་དང་ལྷན་པའི་གསོ་སྦྱིན།

aṣṭāṅgikapoṣadha

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

To refrain from (1) killing, (2) stealing, (3) sexual activity, (4) false speech, (5) intoxication, (6) singing, dancing, music, and beautifying oneself with adornments or cosmetics, (7) using a high or large bed, and (8) eating at improper times. Typically, this observance is maintained by lay people for twenty-four hours on new moon and full moon days, as well as other special days in the lunar calendar.

g.197 eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas

sangs rgyas kyi chos ma 'dres pa bco brgyad

· sangs rgyas kyi chos ma 'dres pa bcwo brgyad

སངས་རྒྱལ་གྱི་ཚོས་མ་འདྲེས་པ་བཅོ་བརྒྱད། ་ སངས་རྒྱལ་གྱི་ཚོས་མ་འདྲེས་པ་བཅོ་བརྒྱད།

aṣṭādaśāveṇīkabuddhadharma

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

Eighteen special features of a buddha's behavior, realization, activity, and wisdom that are not shared by other beings. They are generally listed as: (1) he never makes a mistake, (2) he is never boisterous, (3) he never forgets, (4) his concentration never falters, (5) he has no notion of distinctness, (6) his equanimity is not due to lack of consideration, (7) his motivation never falters, (8) his endeavor never fails, (9) his mindfulness never falters, (10) he never abandons his concentration, (11) his insight (prajñā) never decreases, (12) his liberation never fails, (13) all his physical actions are preceded and followed by wisdom (jñāna), (14) all his verbal actions are preceded and followed by wisdom, (15) all his mental actions are preceded and followed by wisdom, (16) his wisdom and vision perceive the past without attachment or hindrance, (17) his wisdom and vision perceive the future without attachment or hindrance, and (18) his wisdom and vision perceive the present without attachment or hindrance.

g.198 eighteen emptinesses

stong pa nyid bcwo brgyad · stong nyid bcwo brgyad

སྟོང་པ་ཉིད་བཅོ་བརྒྱད། ་ སྟོང་ཉིད་བཅོ་བརྒྱད།

aṣṭādaśāśūnyatā

The eighteen emptinesses are listed here as: (1) emptiness of internal phenomena, (2) emptiness of external phenomena, (3) emptiness of external and internal phenomena, (4) emptiness of emptiness, (5) emptiness of great extent, (6) emptiness of ultimate reality, (7) emptiness of conditioned phenomena, (8) emptiness of unconditioned phenomena, (9) emptiness of the unlimited, (10) emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end, (11) emptiness of nonexclusion, (12) emptiness of inherent nature, (13) emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics, (14) emptiness of all phenomena, (15) emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended, (16) emptiness of nonentities, (17) emptiness of essential nature, and (18) emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities. See also The Long Explanation (Toh 3808), 4.103–4.161, for an explanation of each of the emptinesses.

g.199 eighteen sensory elements

khams bcwo brgyad

འམས་བཅོ་བརྒྱད།

aṣṭadaśadhātu

The eighteen sensory elements, which appear in statements throughout the text either as just the name of the set or as a complete list, comprise (1) the sensory element of the eyes, (2) the sensory element of sights, and (3) the sensory element of visual consciousness; (4) the sensory element of the ears, (5) the sensory element of sounds, and (6) the sensory element of auditory consciousness; (7) the sensory element of the nose, (8) the sensory element of odors, and (9) the sensory element of olfactory consciousness; (10) the sensory element of the tongue, (11) the sensory element of tastes, and (12) the sensory element of gustatory consciousness; (13) the sensory element of the body, (14) the sensory element of touch, and (15) the sensory element of tactile consciousness; and (16) the sensory element of the mental faculty, (17) the sensory element of mental phenomena, and (18) the sensory element of mental consciousness.

g.200 eighth level

brgyad pa'i sa · brgyad pa

བརྒྱད་པའི་ས། · བརྒྱད་པ།

aṣṭamakabhūmi · aṣṭamaka

Name of the third of the ten levels traversed by all practitioners, from the state of an ordinary person up to buddhahood, distinct from the ten bodhisattva levels. See “ten levels.”

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

A person who is “eight steps” away in the arc of their development from becoming an arhat (Tib. dgra bcom pa). Specifically, this term refers to one who is on the cusp of becoming a stream enterer (Skt. srotaāpanna; Tib. rgyun du zhugs pa), and it is the first and lowest stage in a list of eight stages or classes of a noble person (Skt. āryapudgala). The person at this lowest stage in the sequence is still on the path of seeing (Skt. darśanamārga; Tib. mthong lam) and then enters the path of cultivation (Skt. bhāvanāmārga; Tib. sgom lam) upon attaining the next stage, that of a stream enterer (stage seven). From there they progress through the remaining stages of the śrāvaka path, becoming in turn a once-returner (stages six and five), a non-returner (stages four and three), and an arhat (stages two and one). This same “eighth stage” also appears in a set of ten stages (Skt. daśabhūmi; Tib. sa bcu) found in Mahāyāna sources, where it is the third out of the ten. Not to be confused with the ten stages of the bodhisattva’s path, these ten stages mark the progress of one who sequentially follows the paths of a śrāvaka, pratyekabuddha, and then bodhisattva on their way to complete buddhahood. In this set of ten stages a person “on the eighth stage” is similarly one who is on the cusp of becoming a stream enterer.

g.201 eighty minor signs

dpe byad bzang po brgyad cu

དཔེ་བྱད་བཟང་པོ་བརྟམ་པ།

asītyānuvyañjana

Eighty of the hundred and twelve identifying physical characteristics of both buddhas and wheel-turning emperors, in addition to the so-called “thirty-two major marks of a great person.” They are considered “minor” in terms of being secondary to the thirty-two major marks. For their enumeration see the Twenty-Five Thousand, 62.79; the Eighteen Thousand, 73.93; or the Ten Thousand, 2.33.

g.202 Ekacchatra

gdugs dam pa

གདུགས་དམ་པ།

ekacchatra

Name of a buddha in the northwestern direction, residing in the world system called Vaśībhūtā.

g.203 elder

gnas brtan

གནས་བརྟན།

sthavira

A monk of seniority within the assembly of the śrāvakas.

g.204 elevated by phenomena

chos kyis 'phags pa

ཚོས་ཀྱིས་འཕགས་པ།

dharmodgata

A meditative stability.

g.205 eleven knowledges

shes pa bcu gcig

ཤེས་པ་བརྒྱ་གཅིག།

ekādaśajñāna

These, as listed in 2.10–2.11, are (1) knowledge of suffering, (2) knowledge of the origin of suffering, (3) knowledge of the cessation of suffering, (4) knowledge of the path, (5) knowledge of the extinction of contaminants, (6) knowledge that contaminants will not arise again, (7) knowledge of phenomena, (8) knowledge of nonduality, (9) knowledge of the conventional, (10) knowledge of mastery, and (11) knowledge in accord with sound.

g.206 empathetic joy

dga' ba

དགའ་བ།

muditā

Third of the four immeasurable attitudes.

g.207 emptiness

stong pa nyid

སྟོང་པ་ཉིད།

śūnyatā

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

Emptiness denotes the ultimate nature of reality, the total absence of inherent existence and self-identity with respect to all phenomena.

According to this view, all things and events are devoid of any independent, intrinsic reality that constitutes their essence. Nothing can be said to exist independent of the complex network of factors that gives rise to its origination, nor are phenomena independent of the cognitive processes and mental constructs that make up the conventional framework within which their identity and existence are posited. When all levels of conceptualization dissolve and when all forms of dichotomizing tendencies are quelled through deliberate meditative deconstruction of conceptual elaborations, the ultimate nature of reality will finally become manifest. It is the first of the three gateways to liberation.

g.208 emptiness as a gateway to liberation

rnam par thar pa'i sgo stong pa nyid

རྣམ་པར་ཐར་པའི་སྟོང་པ་ཉིད།

śūnyatāvimokṣamukha

First of the three gateways to liberation.

g.209 emptiness of all phenomena

chos thams cad stong pa nyid

ཚོས་ཐམས་ཅད་སྟོང་པ་ཉིད།

sarvadharmasūnyatā

The fourteenth of the eighteen emptinesses.

g.210 emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities

dnegos po med pa'i ngo bo nyid stong pa nyid

དངོས་པོ་མེད་པའི་ངོ་བོ་ཉིད་སྟོང་པ་ཉིད།

abhāvasvabhāvasūnyatā

The eighteenth of the eighteen emptinesses.

g.211 emptiness of both external and internal phenomena

phyi nang stong pa nyid

ཕྱི་ནང་སྟོང་པ་ཉིད།

adhyātmabahirdhāsūnyatā

Third of the eighteen emptinesses.

g.212 emptiness of conditioned phenomena

'dus byas stong pa nyid

འདུས་བྱས་སྟོང་པ་ཉིད།

saṃskṛtaśūnyatā

The seventh of the eighteen emptinesses.

g.213 emptiness of emptiness

stong pa nyid stong pa nyid

སྟོང་པ་ཉིད་སྟོང་པ་ཉིད།

śūnyatāśūnyatā

Fourth of the eighteen emptinesses.

g.214 emptiness of essential nature

ngo bo nyid stong pa nyid

ངོ་བོ་ཉིད་སྟོང་པ་ཉིད།

svabhāvasūnyatā

Seventeenth of the eighteen emptinesses.

g.215 emptiness of external phenomena

phyi stong pa nyid

ཕྱི་སྣང་པ་ཉིད།

bahirdhāsūnyatā

Second of the eighteen emptinesses.

g.216 emptiness of great extent

chen po stong pa nyid

ཆེན་པོ་སྣང་པ་ཉིད།

mahāsūnyatā

The fifth of the eighteen emptinesses

g.217 emptiness of inherent nature

rang bzhin stong pa nyid

རང་བཞིན་སྣང་པ་ཉིད།

prakṛtisūnyatā

The twelfth of the eighteen emptinesses. See also “inherent nature.”

g.218 emptiness of internal phenomena

nang stong pa nyid

ནང་སྣང་པ་ཉིད།

adhyātmaśūnyatā

First of the eighteen emptinesses.

g.219 emptiness of intrinsic defining characteristics

rang gi mtshan nyid stong pa nyid

རང་གི་མཚན་ཉིད་སྣང་པ་ཉིད།

svalakṣaṇaśūnyatā

The thirteenth of the eighteen emptinesses.

g.220 emptiness of nonentities

dngos po med pa stong pa nyid

དངོས་པོ་མེད་པ་སྣང་པ་ཉིད།

abhāvaśūnyatā

Sixteenth of the eighteen emptinesses.

g.221 emptiness of nonexclusion

dor ba med pa stong pa nyid

དོར་བ་མེད་པ་སྣང་པ་ཉིད།

anavakāraśūnyatā

The eleventh of the eighteen emptinesses.

g.222 emptiness of that which cannot be apprehended

mi dmigs pa stong pa nyid

མི་དམིགས་པ་སྟོང་པ་ཉིད།

anupalambhaśūnyatā

Fifteenth of the eighteen emptinesses.

g.223 emptiness of that which has neither beginning nor end

thog ma dang tha ma med pa stong pa nyid

ཐོག་མ་དང་མ་མེད་པ་སྟོང་པ་ཉིད།

anavarāgraśūnyatā

Tenth of the eighteen emptinesses.

g.224 emptiness of the unlimited

mtha' las 'das pa stong pa nyid

མཐའ་ལས་འདས་པ་སྟོང་པ་ཉིད།

atyantaśūnyatā

Ninth of the eighteen emptinesses.

g.225 emptiness of ultimate reality

don dam pa stong pa nyid

དོན་དམ་པ་སྟོང་པ་ཉིད།

paramārthaśūnyatā

Sixth of the eighteen emptinesses.

g.226 emptiness of unconditioned phenomena

'dus ma byas stong pa nyid

འདུས་མ་བྱས་སྟོང་པ་ཉིད།

asamskṛtaśūnyatā

The eighth of the eighteen emptinesses

g.227 endowed with a distinct forbearance

ma 'dres pa'i bzod pa dang ldan pa

མ་འདྲེས་པའི་བཟོད་པ་དང་ལྷན་པ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.228 endowed with all finest aspects

rnam pa'i mchog thams cad dang ldan pa

རྣམ་པའི་མཚོག་གསལ་ཅད་དང་ལྷན་པ།

sarvākārāvātāra

A meditative stability. See also UT22084-014-001-4018 and in the Twenty-Five Thousand, n.229.

g.229 endowed with dhāraṇīs

gzungs dang ldan pa

གཟུངས་དང་ལྷན་པ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.230 endowed with practice

spyod pa dang ldan pa

སྟོན་པ་དང་ལྷན་པ།

cāritravatī

A meditative stability.

g.231 endowed with the branches of enlightenment

byang chub kyi yan lag yod pa

བྱང་ཆུབ་ཀྱི་ཡན་ལག་ཡོད་པ།

bodhyaṅgavatī

A meditative stability.

g.232 endowed with the essence

snying po dang ldan pa

སྟིང་པོ་དང་ལྷན་པ།

śāravatī

A meditative stability.

g.233 engaging with certainty in lexical explanations

nges pa'i tshig la gdon mi za bar 'jug pa

ངེས་པའི་ཚིག་ལ་གདོན་མི་བླ་བར་འཇུག་པ།

niruktiniyatapraveśa

A meditative stability.

g.234 engaging with certainty in lexical explanations of all phenomena

chos thams cad kyi nges pa'i tshig la gdon myi za bar 'jug pa

ཚོས་ཐམས་ཅད་ཀྱི་ངེས་པའི་ཚིག་ལ་གདོན་སྤྱི་བ་བར་འཇུག་པ། sarvadharmāniruktiniyatapraveśa

A meditative stability.

g.235 entering into names and signs

ming dang mtshan ma la 'jug pa · mying dang mtshan ma la 'jug pa

མིང་དང་མཚན་མཁའ་འཇུག་པ། · མྱིང་དང་མཚན་མཁའ་འཇུག་པ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.236 entering into the ascertainment of names

ming nges par 'jug pa · mying nges par 'jug pa

མིང་ངེས་པར་འཇུག་པ། · མྱིང་ངེས་པར་འཇུག་པ།

nāmaniyatapraveśa

A meditative stability.

g.237 entering the stream

rgyun tu zhugs pa

རྒྱུན་ཏུ་ཞུགས་པ།

śrotaāpanna

One of the four types of noble individuals, the first stage of the progression culminating in the state of an arhat. The term is often rendered “stream enterer.”

g.238 entity

dngos po

དངོས་པོ།

bhāva

Something that is taken to be intrinsically existent.

g.239 entrance through letters

yi ge la 'jug pa

ཡི་གེ་ལ་འཇུག་པ།

akṣarapraveśa

One aspect of a set of forty-four syllables listed at 9.70 as dhāraṇī gateways.
See also “letters as gateways.”

g.240 entrance to symbols and sounds

brda dang sgra la 'jug pa

བད་དང་སྐྱེ་ལ་འཇུག་པ།

saṃketarutapraveśa

A meditative stability.

g.241 entry into abiding in the knowledge of all phenomena

chos thams cad shes par gnas pa la 'jug pa

ཚོས་ཐམས་ཅད་ཤེས་པར་གནས་པ་ལ་འཇུག་པ། sarvadharmajñānamudrapraveśa

A meditative stability.

g.242 entry into designations

tshig bla dags la yang dag par 'jug pa

ཚིག་སྒྲ་དགས་ལ་ཡང་དག་པར་འཇུག་པ།

adhivacanasaṃpraveśa

A meditative stability.

g.243 eon

bskal pa

བསྐྱལ་པ།

kalpa

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

A cosmic period of time, sometimes equivalent to the time when a world system appears, exists, and disappears. According to the traditional Abhidharma understanding of cyclical time, a great eon (mahākalpa) is divided into eighty lesser eons. In the course of one great eon, the universe takes form and later disappears. During the first twenty of the lesser eons, the universe is in the process of creation and expansion; during the next twenty it remains; during the third twenty, it is in the process of destruction; and during the last quarter of the cycle, it remains in a state of empty stasis. A fortunate, or good, eon (bhadrakalpa) refers to any eon in which more than one buddha appears.

g.244 equal to the unequalled

mi mnyam pa dang mnyam pa

མི་མཉམ་པ་དང་མཉམ་པ།

āgamasama

An expression of ultimate excellence.

g.245 equal to the unequaled

mi mnyam pa dang mnyam pa

མི་མཉམ་པ་དང་མཉམ་པ།

āgamasama

A meditative stability.

g.246 equanimity

btang snyoms

བཏང་སྟོམས།

upekṣā

Fourth of the four immeasurable attitudes and seventh of the seven branches of enlightenment.

g.247 essential nature

ngo bo nyid · rang bzhin

ངོ་བོ་ཉིད། · རང་བཞིན།

svabhāva

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

This term denotes the ontological status of phenomena, according to which they are said to possess existence in their own right—inherently, in and of themselves, objectively, and independent of any other phenomena such as our conception and labelling. The absence of such an ontological reality is defined as the true nature of reality, emptiness.

g.248 established instructions

gtan la phab pa bstan pa

གཏན་ལ་ཕབ་པ་བསྟན་པ།

upadeśa

Eleventh of the twelve branches of the scriptures.

g.249 ethical discipline

tshul khrims

སྤྱི་སྡེ་སྤྱི་སྡེ་

śīla

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

Morally virtuous or disciplined conduct and the abandonment of morally undisciplined conduct of body, speech, and mind. In a general sense, moral discipline is the cause for rebirth in higher, more favorable states, but it is also foundational to Buddhist practice as one of the three trainings (trisīkṣā) and one of the six perfections of a bodhisattva. Often rendered as “ethics,” “discipline,” and “morality.”

In this text:

See also “six perfections.”

g.250 exact knowledge

so so yang dag par rig pa

སོ་སོ་ཡང་དག་པར་རིག་པ།

pratisaṃvid

See “four kinds of exact knowledge.”

g.251 exact knowledge of dharmas

chos so so yang dag par rig pa

ཚོས་སོ་སོ་ཡང་དག་པར་རིག་པ།

dharmapratīsaṃvid

Second of the four kinds of exact knowledge.

g.252 exact knowledge of inspired eloquence spobs pa so so yang dag par rig pa

སྤྱོད་པས་སོ་སོ་ཡང་དག་པར་རིག་པ།

pratibhānapratīsaṃvid

Fourth of the four kinds of exact knowledge.

g.253 exact knowledge of lexical explanations

nges pa'i tshig so so yang dag par rig pa

ངེས་པའི་ཚིག་སོ་སོ་ཡང་དག་པར་རིག་པ།

niruktapratīsaṃvid

Third of the four kinds of exact knowledge. See also “lexical explanations.”

g.254 exact knowledge of meanings

don so so yang dag par rig pa

དོན་སོ་སོ་ཡང་དག་པར་རིག་པ།

arthapratisaṃvid

First of the four kinds of exact knowledge.

g.255 exalted

yang dag par 'phags pa

ཡང་དག་པར་འཕགས་པ།

samudgata

A meditative stability.

g.256 exalted on account of the ten powers

stobs bcu'i stobs kyis 'phags pa

སྟོབས་བརྒྱའི་སྟོབས་ཀྱིས་འཕགས་པ།

daśabalodgata

A meditative stability.

g.257 exalted realms

mtho ris

མཐོ་རིས།

svarga

The realms of higher rebirth comprising the different levels of the gods. In the canonical texts this term does not include the human realm.

g.258 excellently well established

rab tu bde bar gnas pa

རབ་ཏུ་བདེ་བར་གནས་པ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.259 expanded on account of being elevated by phenomena

chos kyi 'phags pas yongs su rgyas pa

ཚོས་ཀྱི་འཕགས་པས་ཡོངས་སུ་རྒྱས་པ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.260 experiencer

tshor ba po

ཚོར་བ་པོ།

vedaka

g.261 extrasensory power

mngon par shes pa

མངོན་པར་ཤེས་པ།

abhijñā

The six extrasensory powers (miraculous ability, clairaudience, knowing beings' minds, recollecting past lives, clairvoyance, and knowing the contaminants have ceased) are described fully in 2.601-2.613. The five extrasensory powers are the first five of these, the sixth being the only one attainable only by arhats.

g.262 extrasensory power through which the cessation of contaminants is realized

zag pa zad pa mngon du bya ba'i mngon par shes pa

ཟག་པ་ཟད་པ་མངོན་དུ་བྱ་བའི་མངོན་པར་ཤེས་པ། āsravakṣayābhijñāsākṣātkriyā[jñāna-labhiñā

Sixth of the six extrasensory powers. See 2.611–2.613.

g.263 extrasensory power through which the divine eye of clairvoyance is realized

lha'i myig mngon du bya ba'i mngon par shes pa

ལྷ་འི་སྤྱིག་མངོན་དུ་བྱ་བའི་མངོན་པར་ཤེས་པ།

divyacakṣurabhijñāsākṣātkriyā[jñāna-labhiñā

Fifth of the six extrasensory powers. See 2.610.

g.264 extrasensory power through which the divine sensory element of the ears is realized

lha'i rna ba'i khams mngon du bya ba'i mngon par shes pa

ལྷ་འི་རྣ་བའི་ཁམས་མངོན་དུ་བྱ་བའི་མངོན་པར་ཤེས་པ།

divyaśrotrajñānasākṣātkriyā[jñāna-labhiñā

Second of the six extrasensory powers. See 2.602.

g.265 extrasensory power through which the facets of miraculous ability are realized

rdzu 'phrul gyi rnam pa mngon du bya ba'i mngon par shes pa

རྩུ་འཕྲུལ་གྱི་རྣམ་པ་མངོན་དུ་བྱ་བའི་མངོན་པར་ཤེས་པ།

ṛddhividhijñānasākṣātkriyā[jñāna-labhijñā

First of the six extrasensory powers. See 2.601

g.266 extrasensory power through which the minds and conduct of all beings are realized

sems can thams cad kyi sems dang spyod pa mngon du bya ba'i mngon par shes pa

སེམས་ཅན་ཐམས་ཅད་ཀྱི་སེམས་དང་སྤྱོད་པ་མངོན་དུ་བྱ་བའི་མངོན་པར་ཤེས་པ། sarvasattvacittacāritrajñānasākṣātkriyā[jñāna-labhijñā

Third of the six extrasensory powers. See 2.604.

g.267 extrasensory power through which the recollection of past lives is realized

sngon gyi gnas rjes su dran pa mngon du bya ba'i mngon par shes pa

སྔོན་གྱི་གནས་རྗེས་སུ་ངན་པ་མངོན་དུ་བྱ་བའི་མངོན་པར་ཤེས་པ།

pūrvanivāsānasmṛtisākṣātkriyā[jñāna-labhijñā

Fourth of the six extrasensory powers. See 2.607.

g.268 eye of divine clairvoyance

lha'i mig · lha'i myig

ལྷའི་མིག་ · ལྷའི་ཕྱིག་

divyacakṣus

Second of the five eyes.

g.269 eye of flesh

sha'i mig · sha'i myig

ཤའི་མིག་ · ཤའི་ཕྱིག་

māṃsacakṣus

First of the five eyes.

g.270 eye of the buddhas

sangs rgyas kyi spyan · sangs rgyas kyi mig · sangs rgyas kyi myig

སངས་རྒྱས་ཀྱི་སྤྱན། · སངས་རྒྱས་ཀྱི་མིག་ · སངས་རྒྱས་ཀྱི་ཕྱིག་ buddhacakṣus

Fifth of the five eyes.

g.271 eye of the Dharma

chos kyi mig · chos kyi myig

ཚེས་ཀྱི་མིག་ . ཚེས་ཀྱི་མྱིག

dharmacakṣus

Fourth of the five eyes.

g.272 eye of wisdom

shes rab kyi mig · shes rab kyi myig

ཤེས་རབ་ཀྱི་མིག་ . ཤེས་རབ་ཀྱི་མྱིག

prajñācakṣus

Third of the five eyes.

g.273 factors conducive to enlightenment

byang chub kyi phyogs kyi chos

བྱང་ཚུབ་ཀྱི་ཕྱོགས་ཀྱི་ཚེས།

bodhipakṣadharmā

See “thirty-seven factors conducive to enlightenment.”

g.274 faculties

dbang po

དབང་པོ།

indriya

See “five faculties.”

g.275 faculty of coming to fully understand what has not been fully understood

ma shes pa yongs su shes par bya ba'i dbang po

མ་ཤེས་པ་ཡོངས་སུ་ཤེས་པར་བྱ་བའི་དབང་པོ།

anājñātamañjñāsyāmīndriya

First of the three faculties. Elsewhere this is rendered as “faculty of coming to understand what one has not yet understood” (ma shes pa yongs su shes par bya ba'i dbang po).

g.276 faculty of coming to fully understand what has not been understood

ma shes pa yongs su shes par bya ba'i dbang po

མ་ཤེས་པ་ཡོངས་སུ་ཤེས་པར་བྱ་བའི་དབང་པོ།

anājñātamañjñāsyāmīndriya

First of the three faculties. Elsewhere this is rendered as “faculty of coming to fully understand what has not been fully understood” (yongs su ma shes pa yongs su shes par bya ba'i dbang po).

g.277 faculty of faith

dad pa'i dbang po

དད་པའི་དབང་པོ།

śraddhendriya

First of the five faculties.

g.278 faculty of fully understanding yongs su shes pa'i dbang po

ཡོངས་སུ་ཤེས་པའི་དབང་པོ།

ājñendriya

Second of the three faculties. Elsewhere this is rendered as “faculty of understanding all” (kun shes pa'i dbang po).

g.279 faculty of knowing one has fully understood yongs su shes par rtogs pa'i dbang po · yongs su shes pas rtogs pa'i dbang po

ཡོངས་སུ་ཤེས་པར་རྟོགས་པའི་དབང་པོ། . ཡོངས་སུ་ཤེས་པས་རྟོགས་པའི་དབང་པོ།

ājñātāvīndriya

Third of the three faculties. Elsewhere this is rendered as “faculty of knowing that one has fully understood” (kun shes pa rig pa'i dbang po).

g.280 faculty of knowing that one has fully understood

kun shes pa rig pa'i dbang po

ཀུན་ཤེས་པ་རིག་པའི་དབང་པོ།

ājñātāvīndriya

Third of the three faculties. Elsewhere this is rendered as “faculty of knowing one has fully understood” (yongs su shes par rtogs pa'i dbang po).

g.281 faculty of meditative stability

ting nge 'dzin gyi dbang po

ཉིང་ངེ་འཛིན་གྱི་དབང་པོ།

samādhyindriya

Fourth of the five faculties.

g.282 faculty of mindfulness

dran pa'i dbang po

དྲན་པའི་དབང་པོ།

smṛtyindriya

Third of the five faculties.

g.283 faculty of perseverance

brtson 'grus kyi dbang po

བརྩོན་འགྲུས་ཀྱི་དབང་པོ།

vīryendriya

Second of the five faculties.

g.284 faculty of understanding all

kun shes pa'i dbang po

ཀུན་ཤེས་པའི་དབང་པོ།

ājñendriya

Second of the three faculties. Elsewhere this is rendered as “faculty of fully understanding” (yongs su shes pa'i dbang po).

g.285 faculty of wisdom

shes rab kyi dbang po

ཤེས་རབ་ཀྱི་དབང་པོ།

prajñendriya

Fifth of the five faculties.

g.286 false views about perishable composites

'jig tshogs su lta ba

འཇིག་ཚོགས་སུ་ལྟ་བ།

satkāyadr̥ṣṭi

First of the three fetters; also third of the five fetters associated with the inferior. This concerns the superimposition of the notion of self upon the five aggregates.

g.287 fearlessnesses

mi 'jigs pa · myi 'jigs pa

མི་འཇིགས་པ། · མྱི་འཇིགས་པ།

vaiśāradya

See “four fearlessnesses.”

g.288 feelings

tshor ba

ཚོར་བ།

vedanā

Second of the five aggregates; also seventh of the twelve links of dependent origination. Also translated here as “sensation.”

g.289 fetter

kun tu sbyor ba

ཀུན་དུ་སྦྱོར་བ།

saṃyojana

Factors that bind one to rebirth in saṃsāra. See also “three fetters,” “five fetters associated with the inferior,” and “five fetters associated with the superior.”

g.290 final nirvāṇa

yongs su mya ngan las bzla ba

ཡོངས་སུ་སྦྱ་རྒྱ་ལས་བརླ་བ།

parinirvāṇa

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

This refers to what occurs at the end of an arhat’s or a buddha’s life. When nirvāṇa is attained at awakening, whether as an arhat or buddha, all suffering, afflicted mental states (kleśa), and causal processes (karman) that lead to rebirth and suffering in cyclic existence have ceased, but due to previously accumulated karma, the aggregates of that life remain and must still exhaust themselves. It is only at the end of life that these cease, and since no new aggregates arise, the arhat or buddha is said to attain parinirvāṇa, meaning “complete” or “final” nirvāṇa. This is synonymous with the attainment of nirvāṇa without remainder (anupadhiśeṣanirvāṇa).

According to the Mahāyāna view of a single vehicle (ekayāna), the arhat’s parinirvāṇa at death, despite being so called, is not final. The arhat must still enter the bodhisattva path and reach buddhahood (see Unraveling the Intent, Toh 106, 7.14.) On the other hand, the parinirvāṇa of a buddha, ultimately speaking, should be understood as a display manifested for the benefit of beings; see The Teaching on the Extraordinary Transformation That Is the Miracle of Attaining the Buddha’s Powers (Toh 186), 1.32.

The term parinirvāṇa is also associated specifically with the passing away of the Buddha Śākyamuni, in Kuśinagara, in northern India.

g.291 fire element

*mye'i kham*s · *me'i kham*s

མྱེའི་ཁམས། · མེའི་ཁམས།

—

g.292 five acquisitive aggregates

nye bar len pa'i phung po lnga

ཉེབར་ལེན་པའི་ཕུང་པོ་ལྷན།

pañcopādānaskandha

A collective name for the five contaminated aggregates (sāsravaskandha, zag bcas kyi phung po): (1) physical forms, (2) feelings, (3) perceptions, (4) formative predispositions, and (5) consciousness. These “appropriated” aggregates (upadānaskandha, nye bar len pa'i phung po) emerge through the primary cause of past actions and afflicted mental states, and become the primary cause for subsequent actions and afflicted mental states. They are the bases upon which a nonexistent self is mistakenly projected. That is, they are the basis of “appropriation” (upādāna) insofar as all grasping arises on the basis of the aggregates.

g.293 five aggregates

phung po lnga

ཕུང་པོ་ལྷན།

pañcaskandha

The ordinary mind-body complex is termed the “five aggregates,” which comprise physical forms, feelings, perceptions, formative predispositions, and consciousness. For a detailed exposition of the five aggregates in accord with Asaṅga’s Abhidharmasamuccaya, see Jamgon Kongtrul, Treasury of Knowledge, Book 6, Pt. 2: pp. 477–531.

g.294 five classes of beings

'gro ba lnga

འགྲོ་བ་ལྷན།

pañcagati

These comprise gods and humans of the higher realms within saṃsāra, along with animals, anguished spirits, and the denizens of the hells, whose abodes are identified with the lower realms.

g.295 five extrasensory powers

mngon par shes pa lnga

མངོན་པར་ཤེས་པ་ལྷ།

pañcābhijñā

See “extrasensory power.”

g.296 five eyes

mig lnga

མིག་ལྷ།

pañcacakṣuḥ

These comprise (1) the eye of flesh, (2) the eye of divine clairvoyance, (3) the eye of wisdom, (4) the eye of the Dharma, and (5) the eye of the buddhas.

g.297 five faculties

dbang po lnga

དབང་པོ་ལྷ།

pañcendriya

The five faculties comprise (1) the faculty of faith, (2) the faculty of perseverance, (3) the faculty of mindfulness, (4) the faculty of meditative stability, and (5) the faculty of wisdom.

g.298 five fetters associated with the inferior dam pa ma yin pa'i cha can gyi kun tu sbyor ba lnga

དམ་པ་མ་ཡིན་པའི་ཆཅན་གྱི་ཀུན་དུ་སྦྱོར་བ་ལྷ།

adharabhāgīyapañcasamyojana

The five fetters associated with the inferior comprise desire, hatred, inertia due to wrong views, attachment to moral and ascetic supremacy, and doubt.

g.299 five fetters associated with the superior

bla ma'i cha can gyi kun tu sbyor ba lnga

བླ་མའི་ཆཅན་གྱི་ཀུན་དུ་སྦྱོར་བ་ལྷ།

pañcordhvabhāgīyasamyojana

The five fetters associated with the superior comprise attachment to the realm of form, attachment to the realm of formlessness, ignorance, pride, and gross mental excitement.

g.300 five powers

stobs lnga

ལྔ་བ་ལྔ་ལྔ་ལྔ་ལྔ་ལྔ་

pañcabala

The five powers comprise (1) the power of faith, (2) the power of perseverance, (3) the power of mindfulness, (4) the power of meditative stability, and (5) the power of wisdom.

g.301 five trainings

bslab pa'i gnas lnga

བསྐྱབ་པའི་གནས་ལྔ་

pañcaśikṣā

To abstain from killing, stealing, sexual misconduct, telling lies, and intoxicants.

g.302 five undefiled aggregates

zag med kyi phung po lnga

ཟག་མེད་གྱི་ཕུང་པོ་ལྔ་

pañca anāsravaskandha

Also known as the five aggregates beyond the world (lokottaraskandha, 'jig rten las 'das pa'i phung po lnga). They consist of the aggregate of ethical discipline, the aggregate of meditative stability, the aggregate of wisdom, the aggregate of liberation, and the aggregate of the knowledge and seeing of liberation.

g.303 five undiminished extrasensory powers

ma nyams pa'i mngon par shes pa lnga

མ་ཉམས་པའི་མངོན་པར་ཤེས་པ་ལྔ་

—

The five extrasensory powers are called “undiminished” in the sense of remaining present through death and all subsequent rebirths, whatever the form of life. See also The Long Explanation (Toh 3808), 4.57.

g.304 fivefold enlightenment

byang chub nam pa lnga

བྱང་ལྔ་རྣམ་པ་ལྔ་

pañcabodhi

See n.609.

g.305 flash of lightning that does not cause pain

gdung ba med pa'i glog gi 'od

གདུང་བ་མེད་པའི་གློག་གི་འོད།

—

A meditative stability.

g.306 follower on account of Dharma

chos kyi rjes su 'gro ba

ཚོས་ཀྱི་རྗེས་སུ་འགྲོ་བ། dharmānusārin

g.307 follower on account of faith

dad pa'i rjes su 'brang ba

དད་པའི་རྗེས་སུ་འབྲང་བ།

śraddhānusārin

g.308 For any of those phenomena I have explained to be obstacles, it is impossible that, having resorted to them, such phenomena as those would not become obstacles

gang yang bdag gis bar chad kyi chos su bstan pa de dag la bsten na/ bar chad kyi chos su myi 'gyur ba de lta bu'i gnas myed

གང་ཡང་བདག་གིས་བར་ཚད་ཀྱི་ཚོས་སུ་བསྟན་པ་དེ་དག་ལ་བསྟེན་ན། བར་ཚད་ཀྱི་ཚོས་སུ་བྱི་འགྱུར་བ་དེ་ལྟ་བུའི་གནས་ལྗེད།

—

Third of the Buddha's four fearlessnesses.

g.309 For those paths of the noble ones that I have taught, conducive to emancipation and realization and the genuine cessation of suffering, it is impossible to say that it will not be the case that suffering will genuinely cease for those who have practiced them gang yang bdag gis lam 'phags pa'i 'byung ba rtogs par 'gyur ba de byed pa'i sdug bsngal yang dag par zad par 'gyur bar bstan pa de dag la nan tan byas na/ sdug bsngal yang dag par zad par 'gyur bar myi 'byung ngo

གང་ཡང་བདག་གིས་ལམ་འཕགས་པའི་འབྲུང་བ་རྟོགས་པར་འགྱུར་བ་དེ་བྱེད་པའི་སྤྱལ་བསྡུལ་ཡང་དག་པར་ཟད་པར་འགྱུར་བར་བསྟེན་པ་དེ་དག་ལ་ནན་ཏན་བྱས་ན། སྤྱལ་བསྡུལ་ཡང་དག་པར་ཟད་པར་འགྱུར་བར་བྱི་འབྲུང་རོ།

—

Fourth of the Buddha's four fearlessnesses.

g.310 formative predispositions

'du byed

འདུ་བྱེད།

saṃskāra

Fourth of the five aggregates; also second of the twelve links of dependent origination. This term denotes the deep-seated predispositions inherited from past actions and experiences, some of which function in association with mind, while others do not. Formative predispositions are critical to the Buddhist understanding of the causal dynamics of karma and conditioned existence.

g.311 formless meditative absorptions

gzugs myed pa'i snyoms par 'jug pa · gzugs med pa'i snyoms par 'jug pa

གཟུགས་མེད་པའི་སྣོམས་པར་འཇུག་པ། · གཟུགས་མེད་པའི་སྣོམས་པར་འཇུག་པ། ārūpyasamāpatti

See “four formless meditative absorptions.”

g.312 forsaking

spong ba

སྦོང་བ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.313 forsaking fights

'khrug pa spong ba

འཇུག་པ་སྦོང་བ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.314 four applications of mindfulness

dran pa nye bar gzhag pa bzhi

དྲན་པ་ཉེ་བར་གཞག་པ་བཞི།

catuḥsmṛtyupasthāna

The four applications of mindfulness are (1) the application of mindfulness to the body; (2) the application of mindfulness to feelings; (3) the application of mindfulness to the mind; and (4) the application of mindfulness to phenomena. For a description, see 9.1.

g.315 four assemblies

'khor bzhi

འཁོར་བཞི།

catuḥpariṣad

This denotes the assemblies of fully ordained monks and nuns, along with laymen and laywomen.

g.316 four bonds

sbyor ba bzhi

སྦྱོར་བ་བཞི།

caturyoga

According to Nordrang Orgyan 2008: p. 808, there are eight distinct enumerations. The commentarial tradition represented by the Abhidharmakośa identifies them with the four torrents.

g.317 four correct exertions

yang dag par spong ba bzhi

ཡང་དག་པར་སྦྱོང་བ་བཞི།

catuḥprahāṇa

The four correct exertions are (1) preventing negative states of mind from arising, (2) removing those that have already arisen, (3) giving rise to positive states that have not yet arisen, and (4) maintaining those that have already arisen. While the translation of this term here follows the Sanskrit, a literal translation from Tibetan would be “four correct abandonings,” a rendering often seen. It is possible that the Tibetan translators may originally have confused the meaning in Buddhist Hybrid Sanskrit (BHS) of the term prahāṇa (“exertion”) with its meaning in classical Sanskrit (“elimination”). The classical Sanskrit equivalent of BHS prahāṇa is pradhāna.

g.318 four fearlessnesses

mi 'jigs pa bzhi

མི་འཇིགས་པ་བཞི།

caturvaiśāradya

The four fearlessnesses are proclaimed by the tathāgatas as: (1) “I claim to have attained completely awakened buddhahood”; (2) “I claim I am one whose contaminants have ceased”; (3) “I claim to have explained those phenomena that cause obstacles”; (4) “I claim to have shown the path that leads to realizing the emancipation of the noble and that will genuinely bring an end to suffering for those who make use of it.” The listing of the four fearlessnesses is translated and analyzed in Konow 1941: pp. 39–40, with reconstructed Sanskrit on pp. 106–7. A full explanation of the fearlessnesses can be found in the passage at 2.388–2.425 in The Teaching on the Great Compassion of the Tathāgata (Tathāgatamahākaruṇānirdeśa, Toh 147), in which the four fearlessnesses are described as the eleventh to fourteenth of thirty-two actions of a tathāgata. See also Mahāvvyutpatti 130–34 and the corresponding explanation in the Draḥor Bamponyipa (sgra sbyor bam po gnyis pa); Dayal 1932: pp. 20–21; and Sparham 2012 (IV): pp. 80–81. The four are generally known by other names, as in the Mahāvvyutpatti: the first is the “fearlessness in the knowledge of all phenomena” (sarvadharmābhisambodhivaiśāradya, chos thams cad mkhyen pa la mi 'jigs pa), which the Buddha achieves for his own benefit; the second is the “fearlessness in the knowledge of the cessation of all contaminants” (sarvāśravakṣayajñānavaiśāradya, zag pa zad pa thams cad mkhyen pa la mi 'jigs pa), which the Buddha achieves for his own benefit; the third is the “fearlessness to declare that phenomena that obstruct the path will not engender any further negative outcomes” (anantarāyika-dharmānanyathātvaviniścitaivyākaraṇavaiśāradya, bar du gcod pa'i chos rnams gzhan du mi 'gyur bar nges pa'i lung bstan pa la mi 'jigs pa), which the Buddha achieves for others' benefit; and the fourth is the “fearlessness that the path of renunciation through which all excellent attributes are to be obtained has been thus realized” (sarvasampadadhigamāya nairāṇīkapratipattathātvavaiśāradya, phun sum tshogs pa thams cad thob par 'gyur bar nges par 'byung ba'i lam de bzhin du gyur ba la mi 'jigs pa), which the Buddha achieves for others' benefit.

g.319 four formless meditative absorptions

gzugs med pa'i snyoms par 'jug pa bzhi

གཞུགས་མེད་པའི་སྣོམ་ས་པར་འཇུག་པ་བཞི།

caturārūpyasamāpatti

These comprise (1) the meditative absorption of the sphere of infinite space, (2) the meditative absorption of the sphere of infinite consciousness, (3) the meditative absorption of the sphere of nothing-at-all, and (4) the meditative absorption of neither perception nor nonperception. The four formless absorptions and their fruits are discussed in Jamgon Kongtrul, The Treasury of Knowledge, Book 6, Pt. 2: pp. 436–38.

g.320 four graspings

nye bar len pa bzhi

ཉེ་བར་ལེན་པ་བཞི།

caturupādāna

These comprise (1) desire (rāga, 'dod pa), (2) views (dṛṣṭi, lta ba), (3) ethical discipline and asceticism (śīlavrata, tshul khrims brtul zhugs), and (4) self-promotion (ātmavāda, bdag tu smra ba).

g.321 Four Great Kings

rgyal po chen po bzhi

རྒྱལ་པོ་ཚོན་པོ་བཞི།

caturmahārāja

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

Four gods who live on the lower slopes (fourth level) of Mount Meru in the eponymous Heaven of the Four Great Kings (Cāturmahārājika, rgyal chen bzhi'i ris) and guard the four cardinal directions. Each is the leader of a nonhuman class of beings living in his realm. They are Dhṛtarāṣṭra, ruling the gandharvas in the east; Virūḍhaka, ruling over the kumbhāṇḍas in the south; Virūpākṣa, ruling the nāgas in the west; and Vaiśravaṇa (also known as Kubera) ruling the yakṣas in the north. Also referred to as Guardians of the World or World-Protectors (lokapāla, 'jig rten skyong ba).

g.322 four immeasurable attitudes

tshad med pa bzhi · tshad myed pa bzhi

ཚད་མེད་པ་བཞི། · ཚད་མྱེད་པ་བཞི།

caturaprameya

These are (1) loving kindness, (2) compassion, (3) empathetic joy, and (4) equanimity. On training in the four immeasurable attitudes, see The Words of My Perfect Teacher 1994, pp. 195–217.

g.323 four kinds of exact knowledge

so so yang dag par rig pa bzhi

སོ་སོ་ཡང་དག་པར་རིག་པ་བཞི།

catuḥpratisaṃvid

The four kinds of exact knowledge—the essentials through which the buddhas impart their teachings—comprise (1) exact knowledge of meanings, (2) exact knowledge of dharmas, (3) exact knowledge of lexical explanations, and (4) exact knowledge of inspired eloquence.

g.324 four knots

mdud pa bzhi

མདུད་པ་བཞི།

caturgranthā

These comprise (1) covetousness (abhidhyā, brnab sems), (2) malice (vyāpāda, gnod sems), (3) moral supremacy (śīlaparāmarśa, tshul khrims mchog 'dzin) and (4) ascetic supremacy (vrataparāmarśa, brtul zhugs mchog 'dzin).

g.325 four meditative concentrations

bsam gtan bzhi

བསམ་གཏན་བཞི།

caturdhyāna

The four progressive levels of concentration associated with the form realm that culminate in pure one-pointedness of mind and are the basis for developing insight. These are part of the nine serial absorptions. For a description, see 9.46. See also “meditative concentration.”

g.326 four misconceptions

phyin ci log bzhi

ཕྱིན་ཅི་ལོག་བཞི།

caturviparyāsa

These comprise (1) the notion that what is impermanent is permanent (anitye nityasaṃjñā, mi rtag pa la rtag pa'i 'du shes), (2) the notion that what is suffering is happiness (duḥkhe sukhasaṃjñā, sdug bsngal ba la bde ba'i 'du shes), (3) the notion that nonself is self (anātmanyātmasaṃjñā, bdag med pa la bdag gi 'du shes), and (4) the notion that what is unpleasant is pleasant (aśubhe śubhasaṃjñā, mi sdug pa la sdug pa'i 'du shes).

g.327 four nourishments

zas bzhi

ཟས་བཞི།

caturāhāra

These comprise: (1) the nourishment of food (kavaḍḍikāra, kham), (2) the nourishment of sensory contact (sparśa, reg pa), (3) the nourishment of mentation (cetanā, sems pa), and (4) the nourishment of consciousness (vijñāna, rnam par shes pa), the first two of which are directed toward the present life and the last two to the subsequent life.

g.328 four presentations

rnam par dgod pa bzhi

རྣམ་པར་དགོངས་བཞི།

caturvyavasthāna

These concern (1) establishing the Dharma (chos gdags pa rnam par dgod pa), (2) establishing the truth (bden pa gdags pa rnam par dgod pa), (3) establishing reason (rigs pa gdags pa rnam par dgod pa), and (4) establishing the vehicles (theg pa gdags pa rnam par dgod pa). See the Śatasāhasrikāprajñāpāramitābṛhatīkā, Toh 3807 (Degé Tengyur vol. 91, F.37.a); also Edgerton, p. 516.

g.329 four supports for miraculous ability

rdzu 'phrul gyi rkang pa bzhi

རྩུ་འཕྲུལ་གྱི་རྒྱ་ཀང་པ་བཞི།

caturṛddhipāda

See these four listed at 9.25.

g.330 four torrents

chu bo bzhi

ཚུ་བོ་བཞི།

caturogha

The four torrents, which are to be abandoned, comprise (1) the torrent of ignorance (avidyā, ma rig pa), (2) the torrent of wrong view (dṛṣṭi, lta ba), (3) the torrent of rebirth (bhava, srid pa), and (4) the torrent of craving (trṣṇā, sred pa). See Nyima and Dorje 2001: p. 1075.

g.331 four truths of the noble ones

'phags pa'i bden pa bzhi

འཕགས་པའི་བདེན་པ་བཞི།

caturāryasatya

The four truths of the noble ones comprise (1) the truth of suffering, (2) the truth of the origin of suffering, (3) the truth of the cessation of suffering, and (4) the truth of the path. (Strictly speaking, these should be translated “the truth of the noble ones concerning suffering,” and so on, but for brevity the widespread short form has been used.)

g.332 four ways to gather a retinue

bsdu ba'i dngos po bzhi

བསྐྱུ་བའི་དངོས་པོ་བཞི།

caturṣaṃgrahaṣṭu

These are (1) generosity (sbyin pa, dāna), (2) pleasant speech (snyan par smra ba, priyavāditā), (3) beneficial activity (don du spyod pa, arthacaryā), and (4) harmonious activity (don 'thun par spyod pa, samānārthatā). The last of these is interpreted in Asaṅga's works to mean "doing oneself what one preaches to others," but the original meaning in this context according to some sources including the Mahāvastu may have been consonance, or empathy, in the sense of sharing the joys and sorrows of others (see Edgerton p. 569).

g.333 free from activity

bya ba dang bral ba

བྱ་བ་དང་བྲལ་བ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.334 free from extinction

zad pa dang bral ba

ཟད་པ་དང་བྲལ་བ།

kṣayāpagata

A meditative stability.

g.335 free from mentation

sems med pa

སེམས་མེད་པ།

niścitta

A meditative stability.

g.336 fruit of entering the stream

rgyun tu zhugs pa'i 'bras bu

རྒྱུན་ཏུ་ཚུགས་པའི་འབྲས་བུ།

śrotaāpannaphala

First of the four fruits attainable by śrāvakas, that of the first stage in which one has entered the "stream" of practice that leads to nirvāṇa. See also "entering the stream."

g.337 fruit of non-returner

phyir mi 'ong ba'i 'bras bu · phyir myi 'ong ba'i 'bras bu

ཕྱིར་མི་འོང་བའི་འབྲས་བུ། · ཕྱིར་མྱི་འོང་བའི་འབྲས་བུ། āgāmīphala

Third of the four fruits attainable by śrāvakas. See “non-returner.”

g.338 fruit of once-returner

lan cig phyir 'ong ba'i 'bras bu

ལན་ཅིག་ཕྱིར་འོང་བའི་འབྲས་བུ།

sakṛdāgāmīphala

Second of the four fruits attainable by śrāvakas. See “once-returner.”

g.339 gandharva

dri za

དྷི་ཟ།

gandharva

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

A class of generally benevolent nonhuman beings who inhabit the skies, sometimes said to inhabit fantastic cities in the clouds, and more specifically to dwell on the eastern slopes of Mount Meru, where they are under the jurisdiction of the Great King Dhṛtarāṣṭra. They are most renowned as celestial musicians who serve the gods. In the Abhidharma, the term is also used to refer to the mental body assumed by sentient beings during the intermediate state between death and rebirth. Gandharvas are said to live on fragrances (gandha) in the desire realm, hence the Tibetan translation dri za, meaning “scent eater.”

g.340 Gaṅgā

gang gA

གང་གཱའི་གླུང་།

gaṅgā

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The Gaṅgā, or Ganges in English, is considered to be the most sacred river of India, particularly within the Hindu tradition. It starts in the Himalayas, flows through the northern plains of India, bathing the holy city of Vārāṇasī, and meets the sea at the Bay of Bengal, in Bangladesh. In the sūtras, however, this river is mostly mentioned not for its sacredness but for its abundant sands—noticeable still today on its many sandy banks and at its delta—which serve as a common metaphor for infinitely large numbers.

According to Buddhist cosmology, as explained in the Abhidharmakośa, it is one of the four rivers that flow from Lake Anavatapta and cross the southern continent of Jambudvīpa—the known human world or more specifically the Indian subcontinent.

- g.341 garuḍa
nam mkha' lding
 རྣམ་མཁའ་ལྗིང་།
garuḍa
Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:
 In Indian mythology, the garuḍa is an eagle-like bird that is regarded as the king of all birds, normally depicted with a sharp, owl-like beak, often holding a snake, and with large and powerful wings. They are traditionally enemies of the nāgas. In the Vedas, they are said to have brought nectar from the heavens to earth. Garuḍa can also be used as a proper name for a king of such creatures.
- g.342 gateway entering into all phenomena
chos thams cad la 'jug pa'i sgo ཚོས་ཐམས་ཅད་ལ་འཇུག་པའི་སྒོ། sarvadharmapraveśamukha
 A meditative stability.
- g.343 gateway to liberation
rnam par thar pa'i sgo རྣམ་པར་ཐར་པའི་སྒོ།
vimokṣamukha
 See “three gateways to liberation.”
- g.344 gateways of meditative stability
ting nge 'dzin gyi sgo ཉིང་ངེ་འཛིན་གྱི་སྒོ། samādhimukha
- g.345 generosity
sbyin pa
 སྤྱིན་པ། dāna
 In the context of the perfections, generosity is the first of the six perfections. It is also the first of the four attractive qualities of a bodhisattva.
- g.346 genuine, definitive real nature
yang dag pa ji lta ba'i de bzhin nyid

ཡང་དག་པ་ཇི་ལྟ་བའི་དེ་བཞིན་ཉིད། yathābhūtatathatā

g.347 give rise to conceits

rlom sems su byed pa

སྣོམ་སེམས་སྐྱུ་བྱེད་པ།

manyate

“Conceits” in most instances here has the meaning both of unjustified assumptions and fanciful imagination as well as of pride.

g.348 glory of transcendental knowledge

ye shes dpal

ཡེ་ཤེས་དཔལ།

jñānaketu

A meditative stability.

g.349 god

lha

ལྷ།

deva

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

Cognate with the English term divine, the devas are most generally a class of celestial beings who frequently appear in Buddhist texts, often at the head of the assemblies of nonhuman beings who attend and celebrate the teachings of Śākyamuni and other buddhas and bodhisattvas. In Buddhist cosmology the devas occupy the highest of the five or six “destinies” (gati) of saṃsāra among which beings take rebirth. The devas reside in the devalokas, “heavens” that traditionally number between twenty-six and twenty-eight and are divided between the desire realm (kāmadhātu), form realm (rūpadhātu), and formless realm (ārūpyadhātu). A being attains rebirth among the devas either through meritorious deeds (in the desire realm) or the attainment of subtle meditative states (in the form and formless realms). While rebirth among the devas is considered favorable, it is ultimately a transitory state from which beings will fall when the conditions that lead to rebirth there are exhausted. Thus, rebirth in the god realms is regarded as a diversion from the spiritual path.

g.350 Godānīya

ba lang spyod

གཏན་ལྷན།

godānīya

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

One of the four main continents that surround Sumeru, the central mountain in classical Buddhist cosmology. It is the western continent, characterized as “rich in the resources of cattle,” thus its name “using cattle.” It is circular in shape, measuring about 7,500 yojanas in circumference, and is flanked by two subsidiary continents. Humans who live there are very tall, about 24 feet (7.3 meters) on average, and live for 500 years. It is known by the names: Godānīya, Aparāntaka, Aparagodānīya, or Aparagoyāna.

g.351 gone forth

rab tu byung ba

རབ་ཏུ་བྱུང་བ།

prāvṛt<sup>AO</sup> · pravrajyā<sup>AO</sup>

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The Sanskrit pravrajyā literally means “going forth,” with the sense of leaving the life of a householder and embracing the life of a renunciant. When the term is applied more technically, it refers to the act of becoming a novice monk (śrāmaṇera; dge tshul) or nun (śrāmaṇerikā; dge tshul ma), this being a first stage leading to full ordination.

g.352 grasping

len pa

ལེན་པ།

upādāna

Ninth of the twelve links of dependent origination.

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

This term, although commonly translated as “appropriation,” also means “grasping” or “clinging,” but it has a particular meaning as the ninth of the twelve links of dependent origination, situated between craving (trṣṇā, sred pa) and becoming or existence (bhava, srid pa). In some texts, four types of appropriation (upādāna) are listed: that of desire (rāga), view (dṛṣṭi), rules and observances as paramount (śīlavrataparāmarśa), and belief in a self (ātmaavāda).

g.353 great and lofty householder family

khyim bdag che zhing mtho ba'i rigs

ཁྱིམ་བདག་ཆེ་ཞིང་མཐོ་བའི་རིགས།

gṛhapatimahāśālakula

The same Sanskrit term is rendered in the Tibetan of other sūtras as a simile (“like a great sal tree”) in similar passages, but the Tibetan in this text uses an interpretive adjectival phrase.

g.354 great and lofty priestly family

bram ze che zhing mtho ba'i rigs

བླ་མ་ཟླ་ཆེ་ཞིང་མཐོ་བའི་རིགས།

brāhmanamahāśālakula

The same Sanskrit term is rendered in the Tibetan of other sūtras as a simile (“like a great sal tree”) in similar passages, but the Tibetan in this text uses an interpretive adjectival phrase.

g.355 great and lofty royal family

rgyal rigs che zhing mtho ba'i rigs

རྒྱལ་རིགས་ཆེ་ཞིང་མཐོ་བའི་རིགས།

kṣatriyamahāśālakula

The same Sanskrit term is rendered in the Tibetan of other sūtras as a simile (“like a great sal tree”) in similar passages, but the Tibetan in this text uses an interpretive adjectival phrase.

g.356 great billionfold world system

stong gsum gyi stong chen po'i 'jig rten gyi khams

སྟོང་གསུམ་གྱི་སྟོང་ཆེན་པོའི་འཇིག་རྟེན་གྱི་ཁམས།

trisāhasramahāsāhasralokadhātu

A vast universe comprising one thousand millionfold world systems, i.e., one billion world systems according to traditional Indian cosmology. See also n.-229.

g.357 great compassion

snying rje chen po

སྤྱིང་རྗེ་ཆེན་པོ།

mahākaruṇā

Not defined as such in this text, but in the Ten Thousand (2.7) great compassion is described as “unstinting loving kindness toward all beings, when there are actually no beings.”

g.358 great loving kindness

byams pa chen po

བྱམས་པ་ཆེན་པོ།

mahāmaitrī

Not defined as such in this text, but in the Ten Thousand (2.7) great loving kindness is described as “action in which the tathāgatas engage on behalf of all beings, treating enemies and friends identically.”

g.359 great ornament

rgyan chen po

རྒྱན་ཆེན་པོ།

mahāvīrya

A meditative stability.

g.360 Great Vehicle

theg pa chen po

ཐེག་པ་ཆེན་པོ།

mahāyāna

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

When the Buddhist teachings are classified according to their power to lead beings to an awakened state, a distinction is made between the teachings of the Lesser Vehicle (Hīnayāna), which emphasizes the individual’s own freedom from cyclic existence as the primary motivation and goal, and those of the Great Vehicle (Mahāyāna), which emphasizes altruism and has the liberation of all sentient beings as the principal objective. As the term “Great Vehicle” implies, the path followed by bodhisattvas is analogous to a large carriage that can transport a vast number of people to liberation, as compared to a smaller vehicle for the individual practitioner.

g.361 gross mental excitement

rgod pa

རྫོད་པ།

auddhatya

Fifth of the five fetters associated with the superior.

g.362 Guhagupta

skyob sbed

སློབ་སྐྱེད།

—

Name of a bodhisattva, sometimes also found as Guhyagupta; the Tibetan rendering in the Eighteen Thousand is phug sbas.

g.363 gustatory consciousness

lce'i rnam par shes pa

ལྷེའི་རྣམ་པར་ཤེས་པ།

—

g.364 Gyan-gong

rgyan gong

རྒྱན་གོང་།

—

A place and monastery next to Zhalu (zhwa lu) in Lower Nyang, and therefore associated with canonical translation and compilation. Sakya Pandita was ordained there by Śākyaśrībhadrā.

g.365 Haribhadra

seng ge bzang po

སེང་གེ་བཟང་པོ།

haribhadra

Indian exegete of the Prajñāpāramitā and its commentary, the Abhisamayālaṅkāra (fl. late eighth century).

g.366 harsh words

zhe gcod pa · zhe gcod pa'i tshig · tshig rtsub po

ཞེ་གཙོང་པ། · ཞེ་གཙོང་པའི་ཚིག་ · ཚིག་རུབ་པོ།

pāruṣya · pāruṣavacana

Sixth of the ten nonvirtuous actions. Also rendered as “verbal abuse.”

g.367 hatred

zhe sdang

ཞེ་སྡང་།

dveśā

Second of the five fetters associated with the inferior; one of the three poisons (dug gsum) that, along with attachment and delusion, perpetuate the sufferings of saṃsāra. Its subtle manifestation is aversion, and its coarse manifestations are hatred and fear.

g.368 heroic valor

dpa' bar 'gro ba

དཔའ་བར་འགྲོ་བ།

śūraṅgama

The first meditative stability in chapters 6 and 8, also mentioned in other chapters.

g.369 higher insight

lhag mthong

ལྷག་མཐོང།

vipaśyanā

An important form of Buddhist meditation focusing on developing insight into the nature of phenomena. Often presented as part of a pair of meditation techniques, the other being “stilling.”

g.370 I claim that I am one whose contaminants have ceased

bdag zag pa zad do

བདག་ཟག་པ་ཟད་དོ།

kṣīṇāsravasya me pratijānata

Second of the Buddha’s four fearlessnesses.

g.371 I claim to have attained perfectly complete buddhahood

bdag gis yang dag par rdzogs par sangs rgyas so

བདག་གིས་ཡང་དག་པར་རྫོགས་པར་སངས་རྒྱས་སོ།

samyaksaṃbuddhasya me pratijānata

First of the Buddha’s four fearlessnesses.

g.372 ignorance

ma rig pa

མ་རིག་པ།

avidyā

First of the twelve links of dependent origination; first of the four torrents; third of the five fetters associated with the superior.

g.373 illuminating

snang ba byed pa

སྤང་བ་བྱེད་པ།

ālokakara

A meditative stability.

g.374 illumination

rnam par snang ba

རྣམ་པར་སྣང་བ།

vairocana

A meditative stability.

g.375 illuminator

'od byed pa

འོད་བྱེད་པ།

prabhākara

A meditative stability.

g.376 illuminator in all respects

rnam pa thams cad du 'od byed pa

རྣམ་པ་ཐམས་ཅད་དུ་འོད་བྱེད་པ།

sarvalokaprabhākara

A meditative stability.

g.377 illusion

sgyu ma

སྣུ་མ།

māyā

g.378 immaculate moon

zla ba dri ma med pa

ཟླ་བ་རི་མ་མེད་པ།

candravimala

A meditative stability.

g.379 immaturity

skyon

སྐྱོན།

āma

With respect to bodhisattva great beings, “immaturity” (āma, skyon) suggests rawness—something that is uncooked, unrefined, and flawed—while “maturity” (niyāma, skyon med) implies certitude, refinement, cooking, softening, and flawlessness.

g.380 immeasurable attitudes

tshad med

ཚད་མེད།

apramāṇa

See “four immeasurable attitudes.”

g.381 imperishable

'jig pa med pa

འཇིག་པ་མེད་པ།

vivṛta

A meditative stability. See also n.314.

g.382 incinerating all afflicted mental states

nyon mongs pa thams cad sreg pa

ཉོན་མོངས་པ་ཐམས་ཅད་སྲེག་པ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.383 incineration of all afflicted mental states

nyon mongs pa thams cad ma lus par sreg pa

ཉོན་མོངས་པ་ཐམས་ཅད་མ་ལུས་པར་སྲེག་པ།

sarvokleśanirdahana

A meditative stability.

g.384 indeterminate phenomena

lung du ma bstan pa'i chos · lung bstan du myed pa rnams

ལུང་དུ་མ་བསྟན་པའི་ཚོས། · ལུང་བསྟན་དུ་བྱེད་པ་རྣམས།

avyākṛtadharmā

Indeterminate phenomena include the following: indeterminate physical, verbal, and mental actions; the indeterminate four primary elements (earth, water, fire, and wind); the indeterminate five sense organs; the indeterminate aggregates, sense fields, sensory elements; and the indeterminate maturation of past actions.

g.385 individual

skyes bu

སྐྱེས་བུ།

puruṣa · jantu · prajā

g.386 individual enlightenment

rang byang chub

རང་བྱུང་རྒྱུན།

pratyekabodhi

The enlightenment of a pratyekabuddha.

g.387 Indra

dbang po

དབང་པོ།

indra

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The lord of the Trāyastriṃśa heaven on the summit of Mount Sumeru. In Buddhist sūtras, he is a disciple of the Buddha and protector of the Dharma and its practitioners. He is often referred to by the epithets Śatakratu, Śakra, and Kauśika.

g.388 Indradatta

dbang pos byin

དབང་པོས་བྱིན།

indradatta

Name of a bodhisattva.

g.389 Indra's crest

dbang po'i tog · dbang po'i dpal

དབང་པོའི་རྟོག་པོ། · དབང་པོའི་དཔལ།

indraketu

A meditative stability.

g.390 inexhaustible

zad mi shes pa · zad myi shes pa

ཟད་མི་ཤེས་པ། · ཟད་མྱི་ཤེས་པ།

akṣaya

A meditative stability.

g.391 inexhaustible cornucopia

zad mi shes pa'i za ma tog

ཟད་མི་ཤེས་པའི་ཟ་མ་རྟོག་

akṣayakaraṇḍa

A meditative stability.

g.392 inherent existence

rang bzhin

རང་བཞིན།

svabhāva

See “inherent nature.”

g.393 inherent nature

rang bzhin

རང་བཞིན།

prakṛti

The Tibetan term rang bzhin (also rendered here as “inherent existence”) literally means “own-being” and can be used in an ordinary sense to denote the most fundamental or characteristic quality, property, or nature of things. In Mahāyāna literature it is also used in several different ways in the examination of the ontological status of phenomena, most frequently in statements denying that phenomena may ultimately possess any such existence or nature, objectively in their own right, apart from ignorantly attributed concepts and designations.

See an exception to the attested Sanskrit source at n.445.

g.394 initial mental application

rnam par rtog pa · rtog pa

རྣམ་པར་རྟོག་པ། · རྟོག་པ།

vitarka · tarka

Initial mental application” is one of the factors in the first meditative concentration that is absent in those that follow. See also n.99

g.395 initial setting of the mind on enlightenment

sems dang po bskyed pa

སེམས་དང་པོ་བསྐྱེད་པ།

prathamacittotpāda

g.396 inspired eloquence

spobs pa

སྤྲོབས་པ།

pratibhāna

The ability (particularly of bodhisattvas) to express the Dharma eloquently, clearly, brilliantly, and in an inspiring way, as the result of their realization. See also “exact knowledge of inspired eloquence.”

g.397 inspired speech

spobs pa

སྤྲོབས་པ།

pratibhāna

See “inspired eloquence.”

g.398 intent on a dwelling that has not been apprehended

gnas dmyigs su myed pa la brtson pa · gnas dmigs su myed pa la brtson pa

གནས་དམིགས་སུ་བྱེད་པ་ལ་བརྩོན་པ། · གནས་དམིགས་སུ་བྱེད་པ་ལ་བརྩོན་པ། anilaniyata

A meditative stability.

g.399 introductions

gleng gzhi

སྒྲིང་གཞི།

nidāna

Sixth of the twelve branches of the scriptures.

g.400 irresponsible chatter

tshig kyal pa

ཚིག་ཀྱལ་པ།

abaddhapralāpa

Seventh of the ten nonvirtuous actions.

g.401 irreversible

phyir mi ldog pa

ཕྱིར་མི་ལྡོག་པ།

avinivarta · avaiivartika · avinivartanīya

A stage on the bodhisattva path at which the practitioner will never turn back, or be turned back, from progress toward the full awakening of a buddha.

g.402 Jambudvīpa

'dzam bu gling

འཛམ་བུ་གླིང་།

jambudvīpa

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The name of the southern continent in Buddhist cosmology, which can signify either the known human world, or more specifically the Indian subcontinent, literally “the jambu island/continent.” Jambu is the name used for a range of plum-like fruits from trees belonging to the genus Szygium, particularly Szygium jambos and Szygium cumini, and it has commonly been rendered “rose apple,” although “black plum” may be a less misleading term. Among various explanations given for the continent being so named, one (in the Abhidharmakośa) is that a jambu tree grows in its northern mountains beside Lake Anavatapta, mythically considered the source of the four great rivers of India, and that the continent is therefore named from the tree or the fruit. Jambudvīpa has the Vajrāsana at its center and is the only continent upon which buddhas attain awakening.

g.403 Jayā

rgyal ba

རྒྱལ་བ།

jayā

Name of a world system in the northern direction, where the buddha Jayendra teaches the perfection of wisdom to bodhisattva great beings.

g.404 Jayadatta

rgyal bas byin

རྒྱལ་བས་བྱིན།

jayadatta

Name of a bodhisattva from a world system in the northern direction called Jayā, who comes to this world to pay homage to the Buddha.

g.405 Jayendra

rgyal ba'i dbang po

ལྷུལ་བའི་དབང་པོ།

jayendra

Name of a buddha in the northern direction, residing in the world system called Jayā.

g.406 jewel cusp

rin chen mtha'

རིན་ཆེན་མཐའ།

ratnakoṭi

A meditative stability.

g.407 jewel heart

rin chen snying po

རིན་ཆེན་སྙིང་པོ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.408 jewel state

rin po che nyid

རིན་པོ་ཆེ་ཉིད།

—

A meditative stability.

g.409 kācalindika

ka tsa lin ti ka

ཀ་ཙ་ལིན་ཏི་ཀ།

kācalindika

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

A frequent simile for softness, thought to refer either (1) to the down of the kācilindika or kācalindika bird (see Lamotte 1975, p. 261, n. 321), or (2) to a tropical tree bearing silken pods, similar to kapok, from which garments were made, and identified (Monier-Williams p. 266) with Abrus precatorius.

g.410 karma

las

ལས།

karman

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

Meaning “action” in its most basic sense, karma is an important concept in Buddhist philosophy as the cumulative force of previous physical, verbal, and mental acts, which determines present experience and will determine future existences.

In this text:

Also translated here as “past action.”

g.411 Kawa Paltsek

ska ba dpal brtsegs

སྐ་བ་དཔལ་བརྟེན།

—

An important early Tibetan translator and editor who was also one of the twenty-five principal disciples of Guru Padmasambhava.

g.412 killing of living creatures

srog gcod pa

སྲོག་གཅོད་པ།

prāṇātighāta

First of the ten nonvirtuous actions.

g.413 kimpāka

kim pa ka

ཀིམ་པ་ཀ།

kimpāka

A fruit that looks appealing and has a delicious taste, but is poisonous when eaten. According to Chandra Das, it is the cucurbitaceous plant Trichosanthes palmata; also possibly Cucumis colocynthis.

g.414 king of meditative stabilities

ting nge 'dzin gyi rgyal po

ཉིང་ངེ་འཛིན་གྱི་རྒྱལ་པོ།

samādhirāja

A meditative stability.

g.415 kinnara

myi' am ci

མྱི་འམ་ཅི།

kinnara

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

A class of nonhuman beings that resemble humans to the degree that their very name—which means “is that human?”—suggests some confusion as to their divine status. Kinnaras are mythological beings found in both Buddhist and Brahmanical literature, where they are portrayed as creatures half human, half animal. They are often depicted as highly skilled celestial musicians.

- g.416 know through their refined divine eye of clairvoyance surpassing that of humans those beings who are dying and those who are reborn

lha'i myig rnam par dag pa myi'i las 'das pas/sems can 'chi 'pho ba dang / skye ba dag kyang mthong ngo /

ལྷའི་སྐྱིག་རྣམ་པར་དག་པ་སྐྱིའི་ལས་འདས་པས། སེམས་ཅན་འཆི་འཕོ་བ་དང་། སྐྱེ་བ་དག་ཀྱང་མཐོང་ངོ།

—

Ninth of the ten powers of the tathāgatas.

- g.417 knower

shes pa po

ཤེས་པ་པོ།

jñātr

- g.418 knowledge

ye shes

ཡེ་ཤེས།

jñāna<sup>AD</sup>

- g.419 knowledge in accord with sound

sgra ji bzhin shes pa

སྒྲ་ཇི་བཞིན་ཤེས་པ།

yathārutajñāna

Eleventh of the eleven knowledges.

- g.420 knowledge of mastery

'dris pa shes pa

འདྲིས་པ་ཤེས་པ།

paricayajñāna · parijayajñāna

Tenth of the eleven knowledges.

g.421 knowledge of nonduality

gnyis su med pa shes pa

གཉིས་སུ་མེད་པ་ཤེས་པ།

advayajñāna

Eighth of the eleven knowledges.

g.422 knowledge of phenomena

chos shes pa

ཚོས་ཤེས་པ།

dharmajñāna

Seventh of the eleven knowledges.

g.423 knowledge of suffering

sdug bsngal shes pa

སྤུག་བསྐྱེད་ཤེས་པ།

duḥkhajñāna

First of the eleven knowledges.

g.424 knowledge of the aspects of the path

lam gyi rnam pa shes pa nyid · lam gyi rnam pa shes pa

ལམ་གྱི་རྣམ་པ་ཤེས་པ་ཉིད། · ལམ་གྱི་རྣམ་པ་ཤེས་པ།

mārgākārajñatā

A key term in the Prajñāpāramitā texts denoting the form of omniscience ('knowing all') that bodhisattva progressively attain, the knowledge of all paths, including knowledge not only of their own path but also of the paths of śrāvakas and pratyekabuddhas.

g.425 knowledge of the cessation

'gog pa shes pa

འགོག་པ་ཤེས་པ།

nirodhajñāna

Third of the eleven knowledges.

g.426 knowledge of the conventional

kun rdzob shes pa

ཀུན་རྫོབ་ཤེས་པ།

saṃvṛtījñāna

Ninth of the eleven knowledges.

g.427 knowledge of the extinction of contaminants

zad par shes pa · zad pa shes pa

ཟད་པར་ཤེས་པ། · ཟད་པ་ཤེས་པ།

kṣayajñāna

Fifth of the eleven knowledges.

g.428 knowledge of the origin

kun 'byung ba shes pa

ཀུན་འབྱུང་བ་ཤེས་པ།

samudayajñāna

Second of the eleven knowledges.

g.429 knowledge of the path

lam shes pa · lam gyi shes pa

ལམ་ཤེས་པ། · ལམ་གྱི་ཤེས་པ།

mārgajñāna

Fourth of the eleven knowledges.

g.430 knowledge that contaminants will not arise again

mi skye ba shes pa · myi skye ba shes pa

མི་སྐྱེ་བ་ཤེས་པ། · མི་སྐྱེ་བ་ཤེས་པ།

anutpādayajñāna

Sixth of the eleven knowledges.

g.431 Kuru

sgra mi snyan

སྐྱ་མི་སྐྱུན།

kuru

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The continent to the north of Sumeru according to Buddhist cosmology. In the Abhidharmakośa, it is described as square in shape. Its human inhabitants enjoy a fixed lifespan of a thousand years and do not hold personal property or marry.

g.432 lamp of doctrine

chos kyi sgron ma

ཚོས་ཀྱི་སྒྲོན་མ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.433 lamp of great transcendental knowledge

ye shes chen po'i sgron ma

ཡེ་ཤེས་ཚེན་པོའི་སྒྲོན་མ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.434 lamp of the sun

nyi ma'i sgron ma

ཉི་མའི་སྒྲོན་མ།

sūryapradīpa

A meditative stability.

g.435 lamp of transcendental knowledge

ye shes sgron ma

ཡེ་ཤེས་སྒྲོན་མ།

jñānolkā

A meditative stability.

g.436 lamp of wisdom

shes rab sgron ma

ཤེས་རབ་སྒྲོན་མ།

prajñāpradīpa

A meditative stability.

g.437 Lang Khampa Gocha

rlangs khams pa go cha · nyang rlang khams pa go cha

རྣངས་ཁམས་པ་གོ་ཅ། · ཉང་རྣངས་ཁམས་པ་གོ་ཅ།

—

An early Tibetan monk and translator, active in the late eighth century, said in traditional histories to have memorized the Hundred Thousand in India and first translated it into Tibetan. Also known as Lang Khampa Lotsāwa.

g.438 latent impulse

bag la nyal ba

བག་ལ་ཉལ་བ།

anuśaya

The latent impulses are seven subconscious impulses or tendencies, namely attachment to sense pleasures ('dod pa'i 'dod chags), hatred (khong khro), attachment to existence (srid pa'i 'dod chags), pride (nga rgyal), ignorance (ma rig pa), views (lta ba), and doubt (the tshom).

g.439 layman

dge bsnyen

དགེ་བསྟེན།

upāsaka

An unordained male practitioner who observes the five trainings not to kill, lie, steal, be intoxicated, or commit sexual misconduct.

g.440 laywoman

dge bsnyen ma

དགེ་བསྟེན་མ།

upāsikā

An unordained female practitioner who observes the five trainings not to kill, lie, steal, be intoxicated, or commit sexual misconduct.

g.441 letters as gateways

yi ge'i sgo

ཡི་གེའི་སྐོ།

akṣaramukha

One aspect of a set of forty-four syllables listed at 9.70 as dhāraṇī gateways. See also “entrance through letters.”

g.442 level at which progress has become irreversible

phyir myi ldog pa'i sa

ཕྱིར་ཕྱི་ལྷོག་པའི་ས། avinivartabhūmi

g.443 level of [an arhat's] spiritual achievement

byas pa rtogs pa'i sa

བྱས་པ་རྫོགས་པའི་ས།

kṛtakṛtyabhūmi

Name of the seventh of the ten levels traversed by all practitioners, from the state of an ordinary person up to buddhahood, distinct from the ten bodhisattva levels. See “ten levels.”

g.444 level of attenuated refinement

bsrabs pa'i sa

བསྐྱབས་པའི་ས།

tanubhūmi

Name of the fifth of the ten levels traversed by all practitioners, from the state of an ordinary person up to buddhahood, distinct from the ten bodhisattva levels. See “ten levels.”

g.445 level of bright insight

dkar po rnam par mthong ba'i sa

དཀར་པོ་རྣམ་པར་མཐོང་བའི་ས།

śuklavidarśanābhūmi

Name of the first of the ten levels traversed by all practitioners, from the state of an ordinary person up to buddhahood, distinct from the ten bodhisattva levels. In this text, it seems to equivalent to the level of ordinary people. See “ten levels.”

g.446 level of insight

mthong ba'i sa

མཐོང་བའི་ས།

darśanabhūmi

Name of the fourth of the ten levels traversed by all practitioners, from the state of an ordinary person up to buddhahood, distinct from the ten bodhisattva levels. It is equivalent to entering the stream to nirvāṇa. See “ten levels.”

g.447 level of no attachment

'dod chags dang bral ba'i sa

འདོད་ཆགས་དང་བྲལ་བའི་ས།

vītarāgabhūmi

Name of the sixth level of the ten levels traversed by all practitioners, from the state of an ordinary person up to buddhahood, distinct from the ten bodhisattva levels. It is the level from which point there is no more rebirth in the desire realm. See “ten levels.”

g.448 level of ordinary people

so so'i skye bo'i sa

སོ་སོའི་སྐྱེ་བོའི་ས། prthagjanabhūmi <sup>AD</sup>

Name of the first of the ten levels traversed by all practitioners, from the state of an ordinary person up to buddhahood, distinct from the ten bodhisattva levels. In this text, it seems to equivalent to the level of bright insight. See “ten levels.”

g.449 level of the bodhisattvas

byang chub sems dpa'i sa

བྱང་ལྷན་སེམས་དཔའི་ས།

bodhisattvabhūmi

Name of the ninth of the ten levels traversed by all practitioners, from the state of an ordinary person up to buddhahood, distinct from the ten bodhisattva levels. See “ten levels.”

g.450 level of the buddhas

sangs rgyas kyi sa

སངས་རྒྱས་ཀྱི་ས།

buddhabhūmi

The tenth and last of the ten levels traversed by all practitioners, from the state of an ordinary person up to buddhahood, distinct from the ten bodhisattva levels. Also rendered here as “level of the perfectly complete buddhas.” See “ten levels.”

g.451 level of the perfectly complete buddhas

yang dag par rdzogs pa'i sangs rgyas kyi sa

ཡང་དག་པར་རྫོགས་པའི་སངས་རྒྱས་ཀྱི་ས།

samyaksambuddhabhūmi

The tenth and last of the ten levels traversed by all practitioners, from the state of an ordinary person up to buddhahood, distinct from the ten bodhisattva levels. Also rendered here as “level of the buddhas.” See “ten levels.”

g.452 level of the pratyekabuddhas

rang sangs rgyas kyi sa

རང་སངས་རྒྱས་ཀྱི་ས།

pratyekabuddhabhūmi

Name of the eighth of the ten levels traversed by all practitioners, from the state of an ordinary person up to buddhahood, distinct from the ten bodhisattva levels. See “ten levels.”

g.453 level of the spiritual family

rigs kyi sa

རིགས་ཀྱི་ས།

gotrabhūmi

Name of the second of the ten levels traversed by all practitioners, from the state of an ordinary person up to buddhahood, distinct from the ten bodhisattva levels. See “ten levels;” see also “spiritual family.”

g.454 Lhasé Tsangma

lha sras gtsang ma

ལྷ་སྲས་གཙང་མ།

—

A son of the king Mutik Tsenpo (Senalek), probably the eldest (born 800?); he may have been exiled to Bhutan, and did not reign himself.

g.455 liberations

rnam par thar pa

རྣམ་པར་ཐར་པ།

vimokṣa

See “eight liberations.”

g.456 life

gso ba

གསོ་བ།

poṣa

g.457 life breath

dbug

དབུགས།

śvāsa

g.458 life forms

srog

སྲོག

jīva

g.459 lightning lamp

glog gi sgron ma

གློག་གི་སྒྲོན་མ།

vidyutpradīpa

A meditative stability.

g.460 lightning light

glog gi 'od

གློག་གི་འོད།

vidyutprabha

A meditative stability.

g.461 lingually compounded sensory contact

lce'i 'dus te reg pa

ལྷེ་འི་འདུས་ཉེ་རེག་པ།

jihvāsamsparsā

g.462 lion's play

seng ge rnam par rtse ba · seng ge rnam par rol pa

སེང་གེ་རྣམ་པར་རྩེ་བ། · སེང་གེ་རྣམ་པར་རོལ་པ།

siṃhavikrīḍita

A meditative stability.

g.463 living being

'gro ba

འགྲོ་བ།

jantu

g.464 lord buddha

sangs rgyas bcom ldan 'das

སངས་རྒྱལ་བཙུན་ལྷན་འདས།

bhagavanbuddha

See “Blessed One.”

g.465 loving kindness

byams pa

བྱམས་པ།

maitrī

First of the four immeasurable attitudes.

g.466 lower realms

ngan song

དན་སྲིད།

durgati

A collective name for the realms of animals, anguished spirits, and denizens of the hells.

g.467 luminosity

'od gsal ba

འོད་གསལ་བ།

prabhāsvara

In the context of the nature of mind, luminosity refers to the subtlest level of mind, i.e., the fundamental, essential nature of all cognitive events. Though ever present within all beings, this luminosity becomes manifest only when the gross mind has ceased to function. It is said that such a dissolution is experienced by ordinary beings, naturally, at the time of death, but it can also be experientially cultivated through certain meditative practices.

g.468 magical display

sprul pa

སྤྱུལ་པ།

—

g.469 Mahābrahmā

tshangs chen

ཚེངས་ཚེན།

mahābrahmā

Fourth of the sixteen god realms of form that correspond to the four meditative concentrations, meaning “Great Brahmā.”

g.470 Mahākaruṇācintin

snying rje cher sems

སྟིང་རྗེ་ཆེར་སེམས།

mahākaruṇācintin

Name of a bodhisattva.

g.471 Mahākāśyapa

'od srungs chen po

འོད་སྤྱངས་ཆེན་པོ།

mahākāśyapa

One of the Buddha's principal śrāvaka disciples, he became a leader of the saṅgha after the Buddha's passing.

g.472 Mahāmaudgalyāyana

maud gal chen po'i bu

མོད་གལ་ཆེན་པོའི་བུ།

mahāmaudgalyāyana

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

One of the principal śrāvaka disciples of the Buddha, paired with Śāriputra. He was renowned for his miraculous powers. His family clan was descended from Mudgala, hence his name Maudgalyāyana, “the son of Mudgala's descendants.” Respectfully referred to as Mahāmaudgalyāyana, “Great Maudgalyāyana.”

g.473 Mahāprajāpatī

skye dgu'i bdag mo chen mo

སྐྱེ་དགུའི་བདག་མོ་ཆེན་མོ།

mahāprajāpatī

The Buddha's aunt and stepmother, the first bhikṣunī, who later attained the state of an arhat.

g.474 Mahāśrī

dpal chen po

དཔལ་ཆེན་པོ།

mahāśrī

Name that three hundred monks will bear when they attain buddhahood.

g.475 Mahāsthāmaprāpta

mithu chen po thob pa

མཐུ་ཚེན་པོ་ཐོབ་པ།

mahāsthāmaprāpta

Along with Avalokiteśvara, he is one of the two main bodhisattvas in the realm of Sukhāvātī.

g.476 Mahāvyūha

rgyan chen po

རྒྱན་ཚེན་པོ།

mahāvyūha

Name of a bodhisattva.

g.477 mahoraga

lto 'phye chen po

ལྷོ་འཕྱེ་ཚེན་པོ།

mahoraga

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

Literally “great serpents,” mahoragas are supernatural beings depicted as large, subterranean beings with human torsos and heads and the lower bodies of serpents. Their movements are said to cause earthquakes, and they make up a class of subterranean geomantic spirits whose movement through the seasons and months of the year is deemed significant for construction projects.

g.478 Maitreya

byams pa

བྱམས་པ།

maitreya

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The bodhisattva Maitreya is an important figure in many Buddhist traditions, where he is unanimously regarded as the buddha of the future era. He is said to currently reside in the heaven of Tuṣita, as Śākyamuni’s regent, where he awaits the proper time to take his final rebirth and become the fifth buddha in the Fortunate Eon, reestablishing the Dharma in this world after the teachings of the current buddha have disappeared. Within the Mahāyāna sūtras, Maitreya is elevated to the same status as other central bodhisattvas such as Mañjuśrī and Avalokiteśvara, and his name appears frequently in sūtras, either as the Buddha’s interlocutor or as a teacher of the Dharma. Maitreya literally means “Loving One.” He is also known as Ajita, meaning “Invincible.”

For more information on Maitreya, see, for example, the introduction to Maitreya’s Setting Out (Toh 198).

g.479 majestic

gzi brjid yod pa

གཟི་བརྗིད་ཡོད་པ།

tejovatī

A meditative stability.

g.480 major marks

mtshan

མཚན། lakṣaṇa

See “thirty-two major marks.”

g.481 malice

gnod sems

གནོད་སེམས།

duṣṭacitta · vyāpāda

Ninth of the ten nonvirtuous actions; second of the four knots.

g.482 mandārava

man dwa ra ba

མན་དྲ་ར་བ།

mandārava

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

One of the five trees of Indra’s paradise, its heavenly flowers often rain down in salutation of the buddhas and bodhisattvas and are said to be very bright and aromatic, gladdening the hearts of those who see them. In our world, it is a tree native to India, Erythrina indica or Erythrina variegata, commonly known as the Indian coral tree, mandarava tree, flame tree, and tiger’s claw. In the early spring, before its leaves grow, the tree is fully covered in large flowers, which are rich in nectar and attract many birds. Although the most widespread coral tree has red crimson flowers, the color of the blossoms is not usually mentioned in the sūtras themselves, and it may refer to some other kinds, like the rarer Erythrina indica alba, which boasts white flowers.

g.483 manifest attainment of aspects

rnam pa mngon par sgrub pa

རྣམ་པ་མངོན་པར་སྐྱབ་པ།

ākārānabhiniveśanirhāra

A meditative stability.

g.484 manifest attainment of the miraculous ability to not return

phyir myi ldog pa'i rdzu 'phrul mngon par sgrub pa

· phyir mi ldog pa'i rdzu 'phrul mngon par sgrub pa

ཕྱིར་ཕྱི་ལྷོག་པའི་རྩུ་འཕྲུལ་མངོན་པར་སྐྱབ་པ། . ཕྱིར་མི་ལྷོག་པའི་རྩུ་འཕྲུལ་མངོན་པར་སྐྱབ་པ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.485 Mañjuśrī

'jam dpal

འཇམ་དཔལ།

mañjuśrī

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

Mañjuśrī is one of the “eight close sons of the Buddha” and a bodhisattva who embodies wisdom. He is a major figure in the Mahāyāna sūtras, appearing often as an interlocutor of the Buddha. In his most well-known iconographic form, he is portrayed bearing the sword of wisdom in his right hand and a volume of the Prajñāpāramitāsūtra in his left. In addition to the epithet Kumārabhūta, which means “having a youthful form,” Mañjuśrī is also called Mañjughoṣa, Mañjusvara, and Pañcaśikha.

In this text:

The famous bodhisattva is said in this text to reside in the world system of Padmavatī, the buddhafiield of the Buddha Samantakusuma.

g.486 Mañjuśrīkumārabhūta

'jam dpal gzhon nur gyur pa

འཇམ་དཔལ་གཞོན་ནུར་གྱུར་པ།

mañjuśrīkumārabhūta

See “Mañjuśrī.”

g.487 māra

bdud

བདུད།

māra

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

Māra, literally “death” or “maker of death,” is the name of the deva who tried to prevent the Buddha from achieving awakening, the name given to the class of beings he leads, and also an impersonal term for the destructive forces that keep beings imprisoned in saṃsāra:

(1) As a deva, Māra is said to be the principal deity in the Heaven of Making Use of Others’ Emanations (paranirmitavaśavartin), the highest paradise in the desire realm. He famously attempted to prevent the Buddha’s awakening under the Bodhi tree—see The Play in Full (Toh 95), 21.1—and later sought many times to thwart the Buddha’s activity. In the sūtras, he often also creates obstacles to the progress of śrāvakas and bodhisattvas. (2) The devas ruled over by Māra are collectively called mārakāyika or mārakāyikadevatā, the “deities of Māra’s family or class.” In general, these māras too do not wish any being to escape from saṃsāra, but can also change their ways and even end up developing faith in the Buddha, as exemplified by Sārthavāha; see The Play in Full (Toh 95), 21.14 and 21.43. (3) The term māra can also be understood as personifying four defects that prevent awakening, called (i) the divine māra (devaputramāra), which is the distraction of pleasures; (ii) the māra of Death (mṛtyumāra), which is having one’s life interrupted; (iii) the māra of the aggregates (skandhamāra), which is identifying with the five aggregates; and (iv) the māra of the afflictions (kleśamāra), which is being under the sway of the negative emotions of desire, hatred, and ignorance.

g.488 Mārabalapramardin

bdud kyi stobs rab tu 'joms pa

བདུད་ཀྱི་སྟོབས་རབ་ཏུ་འཛོམས་པ།

mārabalapramardin

Name of a bodhisattva.

g.489 marvelous events

rmad du byung ba

རྣམ་དུ་བྱུང་བ།

adbhutadharmā

Tenth of the twelve branches of the scriptures.

g.490 maturity

skyon ma mchis pa · skyon med

སློན་མ་མཚེས་པ། · སློན་མེད།

niyāma

Used with respect to bodhisattva great beings. While “immaturity” (āma, skyon) suggests rawness—something that is uncooked, unrefined, and flawed—here the term “maturity” implies certitude, refinement, cooking, softening, and flawlessness.

This rendering of skyon med pa incorporates the creative etymology of nyāma from ni plus āma (“raw”) rather than niyāma (“certainty”).

g.491 maturity of phenomena

chos skyon myed pa nyid

ཚོས་སློན་མེད་པ་ཉིད།

dharmaniyāmatā

g.492 Maudgalyāyana

maung+gal gyi bu

མོན་ལ་གྱི་བུ།

maudgalyāyana

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

One of the principal śrāvaka disciples of the Buddha, paired with Śāriputra. He was renowned for his miraculous powers. His family clan was descended from Mudgala, hence his name Maudgalyāyana, “the son of Mudgala’s descendants.” Respectfully referred to as Mahāmaudgalyāyana, “Great Maudgalyāyana.”

g.493 meditative absorption

snyoms par ’jug pa

སློམས་པར་འཇུག་པ།

samāpatti

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The Sanskrit literally means “attainment,” and is used to refer specifically to meditative attainment and to particular meditative states. The Tibetan translators interpreted it as sama-āpatti, which suggests the idea of “equal” or “level”; however, they also parsed it as sam-āpatti, in which case it would have the sense of “concentration” or “absorption,” much like samādhi, but with the added sense of “attainment.”

In this text:

Also rendered here as “absorption.”

g.494 meditative concentration bsam gtan

བསམ་གཏན།

dhyāna

Meditative concentration is defined as the one-pointed abiding in an undistracted state of mind free from afflicted mental states. Four states of meditative concentration are identified, which are identified as being conducive to birth within the realm of formour states of meditative concentration are identified as being conducive to birth within the realm of form, each of which has three phases of intensity. In the context of the Great Vehicle, meditative concentration is the fifth of the six perfections. See also “four meditative concentrations.”

g.495 meditative stability

ting nge 'dzin

ཉིང་ངེ་འཛིན།

samādhi

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

In a general sense, samādhi can describe a number of different meditative states. In the Mahāyāna literature, in particular in the Prajñāpāramitā sūtras, we find extensive lists of different samādhis, numbering over one hundred.

In a more restricted sense, and when understood as a mental state, samādhi is defined as the one-pointedness of the mind (cittaikāgratā), the ability to remain on the same object over long periods of time. The Draḥor Bamponyipa (sgra sbyor bam po gnyis pa) commentary on the Mahāvīyūtpatti explains the term samādhi as referring to the instrument through which mind and mental states “get collected,” i.e., it is by the force of samādhi that the continuum of mind and mental states becomes collected on a single point of reference without getting distracted.

In this text:

Also included as sixth of the seven branches of enlightenment.

g.496 meditative stability with an initial mental application and with a sustained mental application

rnam par rtog pa dang bcas rnam par dpyod pa dang bcas pa'i ting nge 'dzin

རྣམ་པར་རྟོག་པ་དང་བཅས་རྣམ་པར་དཔྱོད་པ་དང་བཅས་པའི་ཉིང་ངེ་འཛིན།

savitarkasavicārasamādhi

First of the first set of three meditative stabilities; see 9.41.

- g.497 meditative stability without an initial mental application and without a sustained mental application

rnam par rtog pa med cing rnam par dpyod pa med pa'i ting nge 'dzin

རྣམ་པར་རྟོག་པ་མེད་ཅིང་རྣམ་པར་དཔྱོད་པ་མེད་པའི་ཉིང་ངེ་འཛིན།

avitarko'vicārasamādhi

Third of the first set of three meditative stabilities; see 9.43.

- g.498 meditative stability without an initial mental application but with just a sustained mental application

rnam par rtog pa med cing rnam par dpyod pa tsam gyi ting nge 'dzin

རྣམ་པར་རྟོག་པ་མེད་ཅིང་རྣམ་པར་དཔྱོད་པ་ཅོམ་གྱི་ཉིང་ངེ་འཛིན།

avitarkasavicāramātrasamādhi

Second of the first set of three meditative stabilities; see 9.42.

- g.499 mental consciousness

yid kyi rnam par shes pa

ཡིད་གྱི་རྣམ་པར་ཤེས་པ། manovijñāna<sup>AD</sup>

- g.500 mental faculty

yid

ཡིད།

manas

The faculty that perceives mental phenomena.

- g.501 mentally compounded sensory contact

yid kyi 'dus te reg pa

ཡིད་གྱི་འདུས་ཉེ་རེག་པ། manahsaṃsparśa

- g.502 merit

bsod nams

བསོད་ནམས།

punya

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

In Buddhism more generally, merit refers to the wholesome karmic potential accumulated by someone as a result of positive and altruistic thoughts, words, and actions, which will ripen in the current or future lifetimes as the experience of happiness and well-being. According to the Mahāyāna, it is important to dedicate the merit of one's wholesome actions to the awakening of oneself and to the ultimate and temporary benefit of all sentient beings. Doing so ensures that others also experience the results of the positive actions generated and that the merit is not wasted by ripening in temporary happiness for oneself alone.

g.503 Merukūṭa

ri bo'i zom

རི་བོ་འཛོམ།

merukūṭa

Name of a bodhisattva.

g.504 millionfold world system

'jig rten gyi khams 'bring po stong gnyis pa

· stong gnyis kyi 'jig rten gyi khams 'bring po

འཛིག་རྟེན་གྱི་ཁམས་འབྲིང་པོ་སྟོང་གཉིས་པ། . སྟོང་གཉིས་ཀྱི་འཛིག་རྟེན་གྱི་ཁམས་འབྲིང་པོ།

dvīsāhasralokadhātu

According to traditional Indian cosmology, a universe comprising one thousand thousandfold world systems, .

g.505 mind that is a support for miraculous ability endowed with meditative stability and the formative force of exertion

sems kyi ting nge 'dzin spong ba'i 'du byed dang ldan pa'i rdzu 'phrul gyi rkang pa

སེམས་ཀྱི་ཉིང་རེ་འཛིན་སྟོང་བའི་འདུ་བྱེད་དང་ལྷན་པའི་རྩུ་འཕྲུལ་གྱི་རྐང་པ། cittasamādhiprahāṇasaṃskārasamanvāgatarddhipāda

Third of the four supports for miraculous abilities.

g.506 mindfulness

dran pa

བྲན་པ།

smṛti

Also included as first of the seven branches of enlightenment.

g.507 mindfulness of death

'chi ba rjes su dran pa

འཇིབ་རྗེས་སུ་བྲན་པ།

mṛtyanusmṛti

Ninth of the ten mindfulnesses.

g.508 mindfulness of disillusionment

skyo ba rjes su dran pa

སྐྱོ་བ་རྗེས་སུ་བྲན་པ།

udvegānusmṛti

Seventh of the ten mindfulnesses. In some texts (see Twenty-Five Thousand, n.-112) this item of the ten is replaced by the mindfulness of quiescence (vyupaśamānusmṛti, nye bar zhi ba rjes su dran pa).

g.509 mindfulness of ethical discipline

tshul khrims rjes su dran pa

ཚུལ་ཁྲིམས་རྗེས་སུ་བྲན་པ།

śīlānusmṛti

Fourth of the ten mindfulnesses.

g.510 mindfulness of giving away

gtong ba rjes su dran pa

གཏོང་བ་རྗེས་སུ་བྲན་པ།

tyāgānusmṛti

Fifth of the ten mindfulnesses.

g.511 mindfulness of the body

lus kyi rnam pa rjes su dran pa

ལུས་ཀྱི་རྣམ་པ་རྗེས་སུ་བྲན་པ།

kāyagatānusmṛti

Tenth of the ten mindfulnesses.

g.512 mindfulness of the Buddha

sangs rgyas rjes su dran pa

སངས་རྒྱས་རྗེས་སུ་བྲན་པ།

buddhānusmṛti

First of the ten mindfulnesses.

g.513 mindfulness of the Dharma

chos rjes su dran pa

ཚོས་རྗེས་སུ་བྲན་པ།

dharmānusmṛti

Second of the ten mindfulnesses.

g.514 mindfulness of the gods

lha rjes su dran pa

ལྷ་རྗེས་སུ་བྲན་པ།

devānusmṛti

Sixth of the ten mindfulnesses.

g.515 mindfulness of the inhalation and exhalation of breath

dbugs phyi nang du rgyu ba rjes su dran pa

དབུགས་ཕྱི་ནང་དུ་རྒྱ་བ་རྗེས་སུ་བྲན་པ།

āśvāsapraśvāsānusmṛti

Eighth of the ten mindfulnesses.

g.516 mindfulness of the Saṅgha

dge 'dun rjes su dran pa

དགེ་འདུན་རྗེས་སུ་བྲན་པ།

saṅghānusmṛti

Third of the ten mindfulnesses.

g.517 monastic preceptor

mkhan po

མཁན་པོ།

upādhyāya

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

A person's particular preceptor within the monastic tradition. They must have at least ten years of standing in the saṅgha, and their role is to confer ordination, to tend to the student, and to provide all the necessary requisites, therefore guiding that person for the taking of full vows and the maintenance of conduct and practice. This office was decreed by the Buddha so that aspirants would not have to receive ordination from the Buddha in person, and the Buddha identified two types: those who grant entry into the renunciate order and those who grant full ordination. The Tibetan translation mkhan po has also come to mean “a learned scholar,” the equivalent of a paṇḍita, but that is not the intended meaning in Indic Buddhist literature.

g.518 monk

dge slong

དགེ་སློང་།

bhikṣu

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The term bhikṣu, often translated as “monk,” refers to the highest among the eight types of prātimokṣa vows that make one part of the Buddhist assembly. The Sanskrit term literally means “beggar” or “mendicant,” referring to the fact that Buddhist monks and nuns—like other ascetics of the time—subsisted on alms (bhikṣā) begged from the laity.

In the Tibetan tradition, which follows the Mūlasarvāstivāda Vinaya, a monk follows 253 rules as part of his moral discipline. A nun (bhikṣuṇī; dge slong ma) follows 364 rules. A novice monk (śrāmaṇera; dge tshul) or nun (śrāmaṇerikā; dge tshul ma) follows thirty-six rules of moral discipline (although in other vinaya traditions novices typically follow only ten).

g.519 moon lamp

zla ba'i sgron ma

ཟླ་བའི་སློན་མ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.520 moonlight

zla ba'i 'od

ཟླ་བའི་འོད།

candraprabha

A meditative stability.

g.521 most extensive teachings

shin tu rgyas pa

ཤིན་ཏུ་རྒྱས་པ།

vaipulya

Twelfth of the twelve branches of the scriptures.

g.522 Mount Sumeru

ri rab · rgyal po ri rab

རི་རབ། · རྒྱལ་པོ་རི་རབ།

sumeru

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

According to ancient Buddhist cosmology, this is the great mountain forming the axis of the universe. At its summit is Sudarśana, home of Śakra and his thirty-two gods, and on its flanks live the asuras. The mount has four sides facing the cardinal directions, each of which is made of a different precious stone. Surrounding it are several mountain ranges and the great ocean where the four principal island continents lie: in the south, Jambudvīpa (our world); in the west, Godāniya; in the north, Uttarakuru; and in the east, Pūrvavideha. Above it are the abodes of the desire realm gods. It is variously referred to as Meru, Mount Meru, Sumeru, and Mount Sumeru.

g.523 mundane phenomena

'jig rten pa'i chos

འཇིག་རྟེན་པའི་ཚོས།

laukikadharmā

These comprise the five aggregates, the twelve sense fields, the eighteen sensory elements, the ten virtuous actions, the four meditative concentrations, the four immeasurable attitudes, the four formless absorptions, and the five extrasensory powers.

g.524 Mutik Tsenpo

mu tig btsan po

མུ་ཏིག་བཙན་པོ།

—

Born in 761, he reigned as king of Tibet from 804 to 814 or 815. A son of Tri Songdetsen and father of Tri Ralpachan, Gyalse Lharjé, and Langdarma. Also known as Senalek Jingyön (sad na legs mjing yon) and Tridé Songtsen (khri sde srong tsan).

g.525 nāga

klu

ལྷ།

nāga

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

A class of nonhuman beings who live in subterranean aquatic environments, where they guard wealth and sometimes also teachings. Nāgas are associated with serpents and have a snakelike appearance. In Buddhist art and in written accounts, they are regularly portrayed as half human and half snake, and they are also said to have the ability to change into human form. Some nāgas are Dharma protectors, but they can also bring retribution if they are disturbed. They may likewise fight one another, wage war, and destroy the lands of others by causing lightning, hail, and flooding.

g.526 Namdé Ösung

gnam sde 'od srungs

གནམ་སྡེ་འོད་སྤྲུངས།

—

One of Langdarma's two sons, by his second wife (born 842?).

g.527 name and form

ming dang gzugs

མིང་དང་གཟུགས།

nāmarūpa

Fourth of the twelve links of dependent origination.

g.528 Nandā

mdangs dga' ba

མདངས་དགའ་བ།

nandā

Name of a world system in the direction of the zenith, where the buddha Nandaśrī teaches the perfection of wisdom to bodhisattva great beings.

g.529 Nandadatta

dga' bas byin pa

དགའ་བས་བྱིན་པ།

nandadatta

Name of a bodhisattva from a distant world system in the direction of the zenith called Nandā, who comes to this world to pay homage to the Buddha.

g.530 Nandaśrī

dga' ba'i dpal

དགའ་བའི་དཔལ།

nandaśrī

Name of a buddha in the direction of the zenith, residing in the world system called Nandā.

g.531 Naradatta

skyes bus byin

སྟེན་བུས་བྱིན།

naradatta

Name of a bodhisattva; in other texts his name in Tibetan is na las byin, mis byin, or mes byin.

g.532 narratives

rtogs pa brjod pa

རྟོགས་པ་བརྗོད་པ།

avadāna

Ninth of the twelve branches of the scriptures.

g.533 nasally compounded sensory contact

sna'i 'dus te reg pa

སྣའི་འདུས་ཉེ་རེག་པ།

ghrāṇasaṃsparśa

g.534 natural seal absorbing all phenomena

chos thams cad yang dag par 'du ba'i rang bzhin phyag rgya

ཚོས་ཐམས་ཅད་ཡང་དག་པར་འདུ་བའི་རང་བཞིན་ཕྱག་རྒྱ། sarvadharmasamavasarāṅkaramudrā

A meditative stability.

g.535 nature of reality

chos nyid

ཚོས་ཉིད།

dharmatā

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The real nature, true quality, or condition of things. Throughout Buddhist discourse this term is used in two distinct ways. In one, it designates the relative nature that is either the essential characteristic of a specific phenomenon, such as the heat of fire and the moisture of water, or the defining feature of a specific term or category. The other very important and widespread way it is used is to designate the ultimate nature of all phenomena, which cannot be conveyed in conceptual, dualistic terms and is often synonymous with emptiness or the absence of intrinsic existence.

In this text:

Also rendered here as “reality of phenomena.”

g.536 Ngok Loden Sherab

ngog blo ldan shes rab

ངོག་བློ་ལྡན་ཤེས་རབ།

—

A Tibetan translator and influential scholar (1059–1110) who spent seventeen years studying in Kashmir in his youth and returned to Tibet to become the abbot of Sangphu Neuthok (gsang phu ne'u thog) monastery, an important study center in central Tibet.

g.537 nine perceptions

'du shes dgu

འདུ་ཤེས་དགུ།

navasaṃjñā

The nine perceptions of impurity, as described in 2.7, are as follows: (1) perception of a bloated corpse, (2) perception of a worm-infested corpse, (3) perception of a putrefied corpse, (4) perception of a bloodied corpse, (5) perception of a black-and-blue corpse, (6) perception of a chewed-up corpse, (7) perception of a dismembered corpse, (8) perception of bones, and (9) perception of an immolated corpse. For Pali and Sanskrit sources relevant to the nine perceptions of impurity, see Dayal 1932: 93–94.

g.538 nine serial steps of meditative absorption

mtshar gyis gnas pa'i snyoms par 'jug pa dgu

མཐར་གྱིས་གནས་པའི་སྣོད་མས་པར་འཇུག་པ་དགུ།

navānupūrvāvihārasamāpatti

The nine levels of meditative absorption that one may attain during a human life, namely the four meditative concentrations corresponding to the realm of form (caturdhyāna), the four formless meditative absorptions (caturārūpya-samāpatti), and the attainment of the state of cessation. For an explanation of the nine serial steps of meditative absorption in this text, see 8.83. These are also summarized in Jamgon Kongtrul, The Treasury of Knowledge, Book 6, Pt. 2: pp. 428–29.

g.539 nine states of beings

sems can gyi gnas dgu

སེམས་ཅན་གྱི་གནས་དགུ།

navasattoāvāsa

The nine states of beings comprise (1) human beings and certain gods exemplifying those who have different bodies and different perceptions (lus tha dad cing 'du shes tha dad pa dag dper na mi rnams dang lha kha cig); (2) the gods appearing in the first tier of the Brahmakāyika realms, exemplifying those who have different bodies and identical perceptions (lus tha dad pa la 'du shes gcig pa dag dper na tshangs ris kyi lha dag dang po 'byung ba); (3) the gods of the Ābhāsvara realms, exemplifying those who have identical bodies and different perceptions (lus gcig la 'du shes tha dad pa dag dper na 'od gsal ba rnams); (4) the gods of the Śubhakṛtsna realms, exemplifying those who have identical bodies and identical perceptions (lus gcig la 'du shes gcig pa dag dper na dge rgyas kyi lha rnams); (5) the sphere of infinite space (nam mkha' mtha' yas skye mched); (6) the sphere of infinite consciousness (rnam shes mtha' yas skye mched); (7) the sphere of nothing-at-all (ci yang med pa'i skye mched); [(8) the sphere of neither perception nor nonperception ('du shes med 'du shes med min gyi skye mched)]; and (9) the sphere of nonperception ('du shes med pa'i skye mched). The missing one is included in Nordrang Orgyan, pp. 2034–35.

g.540 Nirmāṇarati

'phrul dga'

འཕྲུལ་དགའ།

nirmāṇarati

Fifth god realm of desire, meaning “Delighting in Emanation.”

g.541 nirvāṇa

mya ngan las 'das pa

མྱ་ངན་ལས་འདས་པ།

nirvāṇa

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

In Sanskrit, the term nirvāṇa literally means “extinguishment” and the Tibetan mya ngan las 'das pa literally means “gone beyond sorrow.” As a general term, it refers to the cessation of all suffering, afflicted mental states (kleśa), and causal processes (karman) that lead to rebirth and suffering in cyclic existence, as well as to the state in which all such rebirth and suffering has permanently ceased.

More specifically, three main types of nirvāṇa are identified. The first type of nirvāṇa, called nirvāṇa with remainder (sopadhiśeṣanirvāṇa), is when an arhat or buddha has attained awakening but is still dependent on the conditioned aggregates until their lifespan is exhausted. At the end of life, given that there are no more causes for rebirth, these aggregates cease and no new aggregates arise. What occurs then is called nirvāṇa without remainder (anupadhiśeṣanirvāṇa), which refers to the unconditioned element (dhātu) of nirvāṇa in which there is no remainder of the aggregates. The Mahāyāna teachings distinguish the final nirvāṇa of buddhas from that of arhats, the latter of which is not considered ultimate. The buddhas attain what is called nonabiding nirvāṇa (apratiṣṭhitanirvāṇa), which transcends the extremes of saṃsāra and nirvāṇa, i.e., existence and peace. This is the nirvāṇa that is the goal of the Mahāyāna path.

g.542 Nityaprayukta

rtaḡ tu sbyor ba

རྟམ་ཏུ་སྟོར་བ།

nityaprayukta

Name of a bodhisattva.

g.543 Nityodyukta

rtaḡ tu brtson pa

རྟམ་ཏུ་བརྩོན་བ།

nityodyukta

Name of a bodhisattva.

g.544 Nityotkṣiptahasta

rtaḡ tu lag brkyang

རྟམ་ཏུ་ལག་བརྒྱད།

nityotkṣiptahasta

Name of a bodhisattva.

g.545 no fixed abode

gnas la rten pa med pa

གནས་ལ་རྟེན་པ་མེད་པ།

aniketasthita

A meditative stability.

g.546 no harmony or disharmony

mithun pa dang 'gal ba myed pa

མཐུན་པ་དང་འགལ་བ་ཕྱིན་པ།

rodhavirodhapratirodha

A meditative stability.

g.547 noble eightfold path

'phags pa'i lam yan lag brgyad

འཕགས་པའི་ལམ་ཡན་ལག་བརྒྱད།

āryāṣṭāṅgamārga

The noble eightfold path comprises (1) correct view, (2) correct thought, (3) correct speech, (4) correct action, (5) correct livelihood, (6) correct effort, (7) correct mindfulness, and (8) correct meditative stability.

g.548 noble one

'phags pa

འཕགས་པ།

ārya

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The Sanskrit ārya has the general meaning of a noble person, one of a higher class or caste. In Buddhist literature, depending on the context, it often means specifically one who has gained the realization of the path and is superior for that reason. In particular, it applies to stream enterers, once-returners, non-returners, and worthy ones (arhats) and is also used as an epithet of bodhisattvas. In the five-path system, it refers to someone who has achieved at least the path of seeing (darśanamārga).

g.549 non-returner

phyir mi 'ong ba

ཕྱིར་མི་འོང་བ།

āgāmī

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The third of the four attainments of śrāvakas, this term refers to a person who will no longer take rebirth in the desire realm (kāmadhātu), but either be reborn in the Pure Abodes (śuddhāvāsa) or reach the state of an arhat in their current lifetime. (Provisional 84000 definition. New definition forthcoming.)

g.550 nonarising

mi skye ba

མི་སྐྱེ་བ།

anutpāda

g.551 nonarising of all phenomena

chos thams cad skye ba med pa

ཚོས་ཐམས་ཅད་སྐྱེ་བ་མེད་པ།

sarvadharmasvabhāvānutpatti

The initial meditative stability mentioned before the list in chapter 6, but not mentioned in chapter 8. This meditative stability appears to be equated with “all-aspect omniscience.”

g.552 nondistinguished

mngon par dmigs pa med pa · mngon par dmyigs pa myed pa

མངོན་པར་དམིགས་པ་མེད་པ། · མངོན་པར་དམིགས་པ་མྱེད་པ།

anabhilakṣita

A meditative stability.

g.553 nonentity

dngos po med pa

དངོས་པོ་མེད་པ།

abhāva

See “entity.”

g.554 nonexclusion of the aspect

rnam par 'dor ba med pa · rnam pa 'dor ba myed pa

རྣམ་པར་འདོར་བ་མེད་པ། · རྣམ་པར་འདོར་བ་མྱེད་པ།

ākārānavakāra

A meditative stability.

g.555 nonresidual nirvāṇa

phung po ma lus pa'i mya ngan las 'das pa

ཕུང་པོ་མ་ལུས་པའི་བྱ་ངན་ལས་འདས་པ།

nirupadhiśeṣanirvāṇa

See “final nirvāṇa.”

g.556 nonself

bdag med pa · bdag myed pa

བདག་མེད་པ། . བདག་ཕྱིད་པ།

anātman

The view that there is no inherently existent self, whether dependent on or independent of the five aggregates. Also translated here as “selflessness.”

g.557 nonvirtuous actions

mi dge ba

མི་དགེ་བ།

akuśala

See “ten nonvirtuous actions.”

g.558 nonvirtuous phenomena

mi dge ba'i chos

མི་དགེ་བའི་ཚོས།

akuśaladharmā

Nonvirtuous phenomena, as listed in 8.78, include the following: the killing of living creatures, stealing, sexual misconduct, lying, back-biting, verbal abuse, irresponsible chatter, covetousness, malice, wrong views, anger, enmity, hypocrisy, annoyance, violence, jealousy, miserliness, pride, and perverse pride.

g.559 not noisy

ca co myi mnga'

ཅེ་ཅོ་མྱི་མངའ།

nāsti ravitam

Second of the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas.

g.560 nun

dge slong ma

དགེ་སྐྱོང་མ།

bhikṣuṇī

A fully ordained female practitioner.

g.561 Nyang Indrawaro

nyang in+dra wa ro . nyang iN+Da wa ro

ཉང་ཨིན་རྩུ་ཤ་རོ། . ཉང་ཨིན་རྩུ་ཤ་རོ།

—

An early Tibetan translator.

g.562 obliterating defects of speech, transforming them as if into space

ngag gi skyon rnam par 'jig pas nam mkha' ltar gyur pa

ངག་གི་སྐྱོན་རྣམ་པར་འཇིག་པས་ནམ་མཁའ་ལྷར་གྱུར་པ། vākkalividhvamsanagaganakalpa

A meditative stability.

g.563 observation of spatial directions

phyogs rnam par lta ba

ཕྱོགས་རྣམ་པར་ལྟ་བ།

digvilokita

A meditative stability.

g.564 observation of the ten directions

phyogs bcur rnam par lta ba

ཕྱོགས་བརྒྱུར་རྣམ་པར་ལྟ་བ།

daśadigvalokita

A meditative stability.

g.565 obsession

kun nas ldang ba

ཀུན་ནས་ལྡང་བ།

paryutthāna

The eight obsessions are confusion, sleepiness, mental excitement, doubt, jealousy, miserliness, lack of embarrassment, and not having a sense a shame.

g.566 oceanic seal gathering all phenomena

chos thams cad yang dag par 'du ba rgya mtsho'i phyag rgya

ཚོས་ཐམས་ཅད་ཡང་དག་པར་འདུ་བ་རྒྱ་མཚོའི་བྱག་རྒྱ། sarvadharmasamavasarāṇa[sāgara-mudrā]

A meditative stability.

g.567 olfactory consciousness

sna'i rnam par shes pa

སྒྲིའི་རྣམ་པར་ཤེས་པ།

—
g.568 once-returner

lan cig phyir 'ong ba

ལན་ཅིག་ཕྱིར་འོང་བ།

sakṛdāgāmī

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

One who has achieved the second of the four levels of attainment on the śrāvaka path and who will attain liberation after only one more birth.

(Provisional 84000 definition. New definition forthcoming.)

g.569 one and only real nature

gzhan ma yin pa de bzhin nyid

གཞན་མ་ཡིན་པ་དེ་བཞིན་ཉིད། ananyatathatā

g.570 one born of Manu

shed can

ཤེད་ཅན།

manuja

See “child of Manu.”

g.571 opener of the gateways

sgo rnam par 'byed pa

སློ་རྣམ་པར་འབྱེད་པ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.572 origin of suffering

kun 'byung ba

ཀུན་འབྱུང་བ།

samudaya

Second of the four truths of the noble ones.

g.573 origin of the ten powers

stobs bcu'i 'byung gnas su gyur pa

སྟོབས་བརྒྱའི་འབྱུང་གནས་སུ་གྱུར་པ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.574 Padmā

pad+mo

པདྨ།

padmā

Name of a world system in the direction of the nadir, where the buddha Padmaśrī teaches the perfection of wisdom to bodhisattva great beings.

g.575 Padmahasta

lag na pad+mo

ལག་ན་པདྨ།

padmahasta

Name of a bodhisattva from a distant world system in the southeastern direction called Bodhimaṇḍalālaṃkārasurucitā, who comes to this world to pay homage to the Buddha.

g.576 Padmaśrī

pad+mo'i dpal

པདྨ་ཉི་དཔལ།

padmaśrī

Name of a buddha in the direction of the nadir, residing in the world system called Padmā.

g.577 Padmavatī

pad+mo can

པདྨ་ཅན།

padmavatī

The buddhafield of the buddha Samantakusuma.

g.578 Padmottara

pad+mo dam pa

པདྨ་དམ་པ།

padmottara

Name of a bodhisattva from a distant world system in the direction of the nadir called Padmā, who comes to this world to pay homage to the Buddha.

- g.579 Padmottaraśrī
pad+mo dam pa'i dpal བོད་དམ་པའི་དཔལ། padmottaraśrī
 Name of a buddha in the southeastern direction, residing in the world system called Bodhimaṇḍalālaṃkārasurucitā.
- g.580 Pagor Vairotsana
pa gor vai ro tsa བ་གོར་བེ་རོ་ཙ།
 —
 A great translator, scholar, and teacher of the early period; one of the first seven Tibetans to become a monk.
- g.581 Paranirmitavaśavartin
gzhan 'phrul dbang byed གཞན་འཕྲུལ་དབང་བྱེད། paranirmitavaśavartin
 Sixth god realm of desire, meaning “Mastery over Transformations.”
- g.582 Parīttābha
chung snang
 རྒྱུ་སྒྲང།
parīttābha
 Fifth of the sixteen god realms of form that correspond to the four meditative concentrations, meaning “Little Radiance.”
- g.583 Parīttaśubha
chung dge
 རྒྱུ་དགེ།
parīttaśubha
 Tenth of the sixteen god realms of form that correspond to the four meditative concentrations, meaning “Little Virtue.”
- g.584 Parīttavṛha
chung che རྒྱུ་ཚེ།

parittavṛha

Literally meaning “Small Great,” the name used in this text and in the Twenty-Five Thousand for what is, in the Prajñāpāramitā literature, the fourteenth of the sixteen levels of the god realm of form that correspond to the four meditative concentrations. The Sanskrit equivalent is attested in the Sanskrit of the Hundred Thousand, while the name Anabhraka (q.v.) is used in the later Sanskrit manuscripts that correspond more closely to the eight-chapter Tengyur version of this text. In other genres, this is the tenth of twelve levels of the god realm of form that correspond to the four meditative concentrations.

g.585 past action

las

ལས།

karman

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

Meaning “action” in its most basic sense, karma is an important concept in Buddhist philosophy as the cumulative force of previous physical, verbal, and mental acts, which determines present experience and will determine future existences.

In this text:

Also rendered here as “karma.”

g.586 path

lam

ལས།

mārga

Fourth of the four truths of the noble ones.

g.587 path of the ten virtuous actions

dge ba bcu'i las kyi lam

དགེ་བ་བརྒྱའི་ལས་ཀྱི་ལས།

daśakuśalakarmapatha

These are the opposite of the ten nonvirtuous actions, i.e., refraining from engaging in the ten nonvirtuous actions and (in some contexts) doing the opposite.

g.588 Patient Endurance

mi mjed

མི་མངོན།

sahā

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The name for our particular world system, the universe of a thousand million worlds, or trichiliocosm, in which our four-continent world is located.

Although it is sometimes said that it can refer only to our own four-continent world around Mount Meru, the sūtras largely seem to equate it with this trichiliocosm, and this is confirmed by scholars like Jamgön Kongtrul (see The Treasury of Knowledge, Book One). Each trichiliocosm is ruled by a god Brahmā; thus, in this context, he bears the title of Sahāṃpati, Lord of Sahā. Our world system of Sahā, or Sahālokadhātu, is also described as being the buddhafield of the Buddha Śākyamuni. He teaches the Dharma here to beings who adhere to inferior ways and perceive this universe as an impure buddhafield contaminated with the five degenerations (pañcakaṣāya, snyigs ma lnga): the degeneration of time, sentient beings, place, lifespan, and mental afflictions (see The Teaching of Vimalakīrti, Toh 176). It is also mentioned as the field of activity of all the thousand buddhas of this Fortunate Eon (see The White Lotus of Compassion, Toh 112).

The name Sahā possibly derives from the Sanskrit  $\sqrt{sah}$ , “to bear, endure, or withstand.” It is often interpreted as alluding to the inhabitants of this world having to endure suffering. The Tibetan translation, mi mjed, follows along the same lines. It literally means “not unbearable,” in the sense that beings here are able to bear the suffering they experience.

g.589 peace

zhi ba

ཞི་བ།

śānti

Also translated here as “calm.”

g.590 perception of a black-and-blue corpse

rnam par sngos pa'i 'du shes

རྣམ་པར་སྔོས་པའི་འདུ་ཤེས།

vinīlakasaṃjñā

Fifth of the nine perceptions of impurity.

g.591 perception of a bloated corpse

rnam par bam pa'i 'du shes

རྣམ་པར་བམ་པའི་འདུ་ཤེས།

vyādhmātakasaṃjñā

First of the nine perceptions of impurity.

g.592 perception of a bloodied corpse

rnam par dmar ba'i 'du shes

རྣམ་པར་དམར་བའི་འདུ་ཤེས།

vilohitakasaṃjñā

Fourth of the nine perceptions of impurity.

g.593 perception of a chewed-up corpse

rnam par zos pa'i 'du shes

རྣམ་པར་ཚོས་པའི་འདུ་ཤེས།

vikhāditakasaṃjñā

Sixth of the nine perceptions of impurity.

g.594 perception of a dismembered corpse

rnam par 'thor ba'i 'du shes

རྣམ་པར་འཇོར་བའི་འདུ་ཤེས།

vikṣiptakasaṃjñā

Seventh of the nine perceptions of impurity.

g.595 perception of a putrefied corpse

rnam par rnags pa'i 'du shes

རྣམ་པར་རྣགས་པའི་འདུ་ཤེས།

vipūyakasaṃjñā

Third of the nine perceptions of impurity.

g.596 perception of a worm-infested corpse

'bu can gyi 'du shes

འབྲུ་ཅན་གྱི་འདུ་ཤེས།

vipadumakasaṃjñā

Second of the nine perceptions of impurity.

g.597 perception of an immolated corpse

rnam par tshig pa'i 'du shes

རྣམ་པར་ཚིག་པའི་འདུ་ཤེས།

vidagdhakasaṃjñā

Ninth of the nine perceptions of impurity.

g.598 perception of bones

rus pa'i 'du shes

རུས་པའི་འདུ་ཤེས།

asthisamjñā

Eighth of the nine perceptions of impurity.

g.599 perception of death

'chi ba'i 'du shes

འཇི་བའི་འདུ་ཤེས།

mṛtyuḥsaṃjñā

Fifth of the six perceptions.

g.600 perception of impermanence

mi rtag pa'i 'du shes

མི་རྟག་པའི་འདུ་ཤེས།

anityasaṃjñā

First of the six perceptions in chapter 2, and first of another list in chapter 58.

g.601 perception of nonself

bdag med pa'i 'du shes

བདག་མེད་པའི་འདུ་ཤེས།

anātmasaṃjñā

Third of the six perceptions in chapter 2, and third of another list in chapter 58.

g.602 perception of suffering

sdug bsngal gyi 'du shes

སྤུག་བསྐྱེད་གྱི་འདུ་ཤེས།

duḥkhasaṃjñā

Second of the six perceptions in chapter 2, and second of another list in chapter 58.

g.603 perception of the unpleasantness of food

zas la mi mthun pa'i 'du shes

ཟས་ལ་མི་མཐུན་པའི་འདུ་ཤེས།

āhāre pratikūlasaṃjñā

g.604 perception of unattractiveness

mi sdug pa'i 'du shes

མི་སྐྱབས་པའི་འདུ་ཤེས།

apriyasaṃjñā

Fourth of the six perceptions in chapter 2, and fourth of another list in chapter 58.

g.605 perception that there is nothing delightful in the entire world

'jig rten thams cad la dga' bar mi bya ba'i 'du shes

འཇིག་རྟེན་ཐམས་ཅད་ལ་དགའ་བར་མི་བྱ་བའི་འདུ་ཤེས།

sarvalokānabhiratisaṃjñā

Sixth of the six perceptions.

g.606 perception that there is nothing reliable in the entire world

'jig rten thams cad la yid brtan du mi rung ba'i 'du shes

འཇིག་རྟེན་ཐམས་ཅད་ལ་ཡིད་བརྟན་དུ་མི་རུང་བའི་འདུ་ཤེས།

—

g.607 perceptions

'du shes

འདུ་ཤེས།

saṃjñā

The mental processes of recognizing and identifying the objects of the five senses and the mind. Third of the five aggregates.

g.608 perfect calming of all contradictions and refutations

'gal ba dang 'gog pa thams cad yang dag par zhi bar byed pa

འགལ་བ་དང་འགོག་པ་ཐམས་ཅད་ཡང་དག་པར་ཞི་བར་བྱེད་པ། sarvanirodhavirodhasaṃpraśamana

A meditative stability.

g.609 perfect elimination of right and wrong

yang dag pa dang log pa thams cad yang dag par sel ba

ཡང་དག་པ་དང་ལོག་པ་ཐམས་ཅད་ཡང་དག་པར་སེལ་བ།

sarva-samyaktvamithyātvasaṃgrahana

A meditative stability.

g.610 perfection of ethical discipline

tshul khrims kyi pha rol tu phyin pa

ཚུལ་ཁྲིམས་གྱི་པ་རོལ་ཏུ་བྱིན་པ།

śīlapāramitā

Second of the six perfections.

g.611 perfection of generosity

sbyin pa'i pha rol tu phyin pa

སྤྱིན་པའི་པ་རོལ་ཏུ་བྱིན་པ། dānapāramitā

First of the six perfections.

g.612 perfection of meditative concentration bsam gtan gyi pha rol tu phyin pa

བསམ་གཏན་གྱི་པ་རོལ་ཏུ་བྱིན་པ།

dhyānapāramitā

Fifth of the six perfections. See also “meditative concentration.”

g.613 perfection of perseverance

brtson 'grus kyi pha rol tu phyin pa

བརྩོན་འགྲུས་གྱི་པ་རོལ་ཏུ་བྱིན་པ། vīryapāramitā

Fourth of the six perfections.

g.614 perfection of tolerance

bzod pa'i pha rol tu phyin pa

བཟོད་པའི་པ་རོལ་ཏུ་བྱིན་པ།

kṣāntipāramitā

Third of the six perfections.

g.615 perfection of wisdom

shes rab kyi pha rol tu phyin pa

ཤེས་རབ་གྱི་པ་རོལ་ཏུ་བྱིན་པ།

prajñāpāramitā

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The sixth of the six perfections, it refers to the profound understanding of the emptiness of all phenomena, the realization of ultimate reality. It is often personified as a female deity, worshiped as the “Mother of All Buddhas” (sarvajīnamātā).

g.616 perfections

pha rol tu phyin pa

ཕ་རོལ་ཏུ་ཕྱིན་པ།

pāramitā

See “six perfections.”

g.617 perfectly complete enlightenment

yang dag par rdzogs pa'i byang chub

ཡང་དག་པར་རྫོགས་པའི་བྱང་ཆུབ། samyaksambodhi

g.618 permeation of space

nam mkha' rgyas par 'gengs pa

ནམ་མཁའ་རྒྱས་པར་འགོངས་པ།

ākāśasphāraṇa

A meditative stability.

g.619 perseverance

brtson 'grus

བརྩོན་འགྲུས།

vīrya

Third of the seven branches of enlightenment and fourth of the six perfections.

g.620 perseverance that is a support for miraculous ability endowed with meditative stability and the formative force of exertion

brtson 'grus kyi ting nge 'dzin spong ba'i 'du byed dang ldan pa'i rdzu 'phrul gyi rkang pa

བརྩོན་འགྲུས་གྱི་ཉིང་ངེ་འཛིན་སྣོད་བའི་འདུ་བྱེད་དང་ལྷན་པའི་རྩུ་འགྲུལ་གྱི་རྐང་པ། vīryasamādhiprahāṇasamāskārasamanvāgataṛddhipāda

Second of the four supports for miraculous abilities.

g.621 person

gang zag

གང་ཟག

pudgala

g.622 Phamthing

pham thing

ཕམ་ཐིང་།

—

A temple near Yangleshö in Pharping, Nepal, sacred to Vajrayoginī.

g.623 physical form

gzugs

གཟུགས།

rūpa

First of the five aggregates. Physical forms include the subtle and coarse forms derived from the primary material elements.

g.624 pliability

shin tu sbyangs pa

ཤིན་ཏུ་སྤྱདས་པ།

praśabdhi

Fifth of the seven branches of enlightenment.

g.625 power of effort

brtson pa'i stobs

བརྩོན་པའི་སྤྲོབས།

balavīrya

A meditative stability.

g.626 power of faith

dad pa'i stobs

དད་པའི་སྤྲོབས།

śraddhābala

First of the five powers.

g.627 power of meditative stability

ting nge 'dzin gyi stobs

ཏིང་ངེ་འཛིན་གྱི་སྟོབས།

samādhibala

Fourth of the five powers.

g.628 power of mindfulness

dran pa'i stobs

དྲན་པའི་སྟོབས།

smṛtibala

Third of the five powers.

g.629 power of perseverance

brtson 'grus kyi stobs

བརྩོན་འགྲུས་གྱི་སྟོབས།

vīryabala

Second of the five powers.

g.630 power of wisdom

shes rab kyi stobs

ཤེས་རབ་གྱི་སྟོབས།

prajñābala

Fifth of the five powers.

g.631 powers

stobs

སྟོབས།

bala

May refer either to the “five powers” (in lists after the five faculties) or the “ten powers of the tathāgatas.”

g.632 powers of the tathāgatas

de bzhin gshegs pa'i stobs

དེ་བཞིན་གཤེགས་པའི་སྟོབས།

tathāgatabala

See “ten powers of the tathāgatas.”

g.633 Prajñāpāramitā

shes rab kyi pha rol tu phyin pa

ཤེས་རབ་ཀྱི་པ་རོལ་ཏུ་ཕྱིན་པ།

prajñāpāramitā

See “perfection of wisdom.”

g.634 pratyekabuddha

rang sangs rgyas

རང་སངས་རྒྱས།

pratyekabuddha

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

Literally, “buddha for oneself” or “solitary realizer.” Someone who, in his or her last life, attains awakening entirely through their own contemplation, without relying on a teacher. Unlike the awakening of a fully realized buddha (samyaksambuddha), the accomplishment of a pratyekabuddha is not regarded as final or ultimate. They attain realization of the nature of dependent origination, the selflessness of the person, and a partial realization of the selflessness of phenomena, by observing the suchness of all that arises through interdependence. This is the result of progress in previous lives but, unlike a buddha, they do not have the necessary merit, compassion or motivation to teach others. They are named as “rhinoceros-like” (khadḡaviṣāṇakalpa) for their preference for staying in solitude or as “congregators” (vargacārin) when their preference is to stay among peers.

g.635 precious seal

rin chen phyag rgya

རིན་ཆེན་ཕྱག་རྒྱ།

ratnamudrā

A meditative stability.

g.636 pride

nga rgyal

ང་རྒྱལ།

māna

Fourth of the five fetters associated with the superior.

g.637 principle of reality

yang dag pa'i tshul

ཡང་དག་པའི་ཚུལ།

bhūtanaya

g.638 propensities for afflicted mental states that cause linking up

bag chags kyi mtshams sbyor ba'i nyon mongs pa

བག་ཆགས་ཀྱི་མཚམས་སྐྱོར་བའི་ཉོན་མོངས་པ།

vāsanānusaṃdhikleśa

The mundane process of rebirth within saṃsāra, impelled by the propensities of past actions. See also The Precious Discourse on the Blessed One's Extensive Wisdom That Leads to Infinite Certainty (Toh 99), 3.162, and n.104.

g.639 prophecy

lung du bstan pa · lung bstan pa

ལུང་དུ་བསྟན་པ། · ལུང་བསྟན་པ།

vyākaraṇa

See “prophetic declaration.”

g.640 prophetic declaration

lung bstan pa

ལུང་བསྟན་པ།

vyākaraṇa

In the evolution of bodhisattvas, the formal prophecy or prophetic declaration made by a buddha that they will attain awakening at a specified future time is a key event frequently described in the sūtras and other narrative accounts. It is also the third of the twelve branches of the scriptures.

g.641 protector of all worlds

'jig rten thams cad skyob pa

འཇིག་རྟེན་ཐམས་ཅད་སྐྱོབ་པ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.642 provision

tshogs

ཚོགས།

sambhāra

This term denotes the two provisions of merit and wisdom that are gathered by bodhisattvas on the path to complete buddhahood. The fulfilment of the provision of merit (puṇyasambhāra, bsod nams kyi tshogs) and the provision of wisdom (jñānasambhāra, ye shes kyi tshogs) constitutes the fruition of the entire path according to the Great Vehicle, resulting in the maturation of the buddha body of form (rūpakāya) and the buddha body of reality (dharmakāya), respectively.

g.643 pure supremacy

dag pa dam pa

དག་པ་དམ་པ།

śuddhāvāsa

A meditative stability.

g.644 purification of defining characteristics

mtshan nyid yongs su sbyong ba

མཚན་ཉིད་ཡོངས་སུ་སྐྱོད་བ།

lakṣaṇapariśodhana

A meditative stability.

g.645 purified of the three spheres

'khor gsum yongs su dag pa

འཁོར་གསུམ་ཡོངས་སུ་དག་པ།

trimaṇḍalapariśuddha

A meditative stability.

g.646 Pūrṇa

gang po

གང་པོ།

pūrṇa

See “Pūrṇa Maitrāyaṇīputra.”

g.647 Pūrṇa Maitrāyaṇīputra

byams gang gi bu · bshes pa'i bu gang po

བྱམས་གང་གི་བུ། · བཤེས་པའི་བུ་གང་པོ།

pūrṇa maitrāyaṇīputra

Name of an elder and senior disciple of the Buddha Śākyamuni, a brahmin from Kapilavastu who went forth and became an arhat under the guidance of his uncle Kauṇḍinya. He was declared by the Buddha to be “foremost in teaching the doctrine.” He is one of the interlocutors in this text.

This Pūrṇa (as he was also known for short) is identified by the name of his mother, Maitrāyaṇī, and should be thus distinguished from several other disciples also named Pūrṇa.

g.648 pursuit of the stream

rgyun gyi rjes su song ba

རྒྱལ་གྱི་རྗེས་སུ་སོང་བ།

śroto'nugata

A meditative stability.

g.649 Puṣpākara

me tog gi 'byung gnas

མེ་ཏོག་གི་འབྱུང་གནས།

puṣpākara

Name of an eon.

g.650 Rājagṛha

rgyal po'i khab

རྒྱལ་པོའི་ཁབ།

rājagṛha

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The ancient capital of Magadha prior to its relocation to Pāṭaliputra during the Mauryan dynasty, Rājagṛha is one of the most important locations in Buddhist history. The literature tells us that the Buddha and his saṅgha spent a considerable amount of time in residence in and around Rājagṛha—in nearby places, such as the Vulture Peak Mountain (Gṛdhra-kūṭa-parvata), a major site of the Mahāyāna sūtras, and the Bamboo Grove (Veṇuvana)—enjoying the patronage of King Bimbisāra and then of his son King Ajātaśatru. Rājagṛha is also remembered as the location where the first Buddhist monastic council was held after the Buddha Śākyamuni passed into parinirvāṇa. Now known as Rajgir and located in the modern Indian state of Bihar.

g.651 Ratnadatta

rin chen byin

རིན་ཆེན་བྱིན།

ratnadatta

Name of a bodhisattva.

g.652 Ratnagarbha

rin chen snying po

རིན་ཆེན་སྙིང་པོ།

ratnagarbha

Name of a bodhisattva.

g.653 Ratnākara

rin chen 'byung gnas

རིན་ཆེན་འབྱུང་གནས།

ratnākara

Name of a buddha in the eastern direction, residing in the world system called Ratnavatī.

g.654 Ratnākara

rin chen 'byung gnas

རིན་ཆེན་འབྱུང་གནས།

ratnākara

Name of a bodhisattva.

g.655 Ratnamudrāhasta

lag na rin chen phyag rgya

ལག་ན་རིན་ཆེན་ཕྱག་རྒྱ།

ratnamudrāhasta

Name of a bodhisattva.

g.656 Ratnārcis

rin chen 'od 'phro

རིན་ཆེན་འོད་འཕྲོ།

ratnārcis

Name of a buddha in the western direction, residing in the world system called Upasāntā.

g.657 Ratnavatī

rin chen yod pa

རིན་ཆེན་ཡོད་པ།

ratnavatī

Name of a world system in the eastern direction, where the buddha Ratnākara teaches the perfection of wisdom to bodhisattva great beings.

g.658 Ratnottama

rin chen mchog

རིན་ཆེན་མཚོག།

ratnottama

Name of a bodhisattva from a distant world system in the northwestern direction called Vaśībhūtā, who comes to this world to pay homage to the Buddha.

g.659 real nature

de bzhin nyid

དེ་བཞིན་ཉིད།

tathatā

Literally, “thusness” or “suchness.” The ultimate nature of things, or the way things are beyond all concepts and duality, as opposed to the way they appear to unawakened beings.

g.660 reality of phenomena

chos nyid

ཚོས་ཉིད།

dharmatā

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The real nature, true quality, or condition of things. Throughout Buddhist discourse this term is used in two distinct ways. In one, it designates the relative nature that is either the essential characteristic of a specific phenomenon, such as the heat of fire and the moisture of water, or the defining feature of a specific term or category. The other very important and widespread way it is used is to designate the ultimate nature of all phenomena, which cannot be conveyed in conceptual, dualistic terms and is often synonymous with emptiness or the absence of intrinsic existence.

In this text:

Also rendered here as “nature of reality.”

g.661 realm of cessation

'gog pa'i dbyings

འགོག་པའི་དབྱིངས།

nirodhadhātu

g.662 realm of desire

*'dod pa'i kham*s

འདོད་པའི་ཁམས།

kāmadhātu

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

In Buddhist cosmology, this is our own realm, the lowest and most coarse of the three realms of saṃsāra. It is called this because beings here are characterized by their strong longing for and attachment to the pleasures of the senses. The desire realm includes hell beings, hungry ghosts, animals, humans, asuras, and the lowest six heavens of the gods—from the Heaven of the Four Great Kings (cāturmahārājika) up to the Heaven of Making Use of Others' Emanations (paranirmitavaśavartin). Located above the desire realm is the form realm (rūpadhātu) and the formless realm (ārūpyadhātu).

g.663 realm of form

*gzugs kyi kham*s

གཟུགས་ཀྱི་ཁམས།

rūpadhātu

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

One of the three realms of saṃsāra in Buddhist cosmology, it is characterized by subtle materiality. Here beings, though subtly embodied, are not driven primarily by the urge for sense gratification. It consists of seventeen heavens structured according to the four concentrations of the form realm (rūpāvacaradhyāna), the highest five of which are collectively called “pure abodes” (śuddhāvāsa). The form realm is located above the desire realm (kāmadhātu) and below the formless realm (ārūpyadhātu).

g.664 realm of formlessness

*gzugs med pa'i kham*s

གཟུགས་མེད་པའི་ཁམས།

ārūpyadhātu

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The highest and subtlest of the three realms of saṃsāra in Buddhist cosmology. Here beings are no longer bound by materiality and enjoy a purely mental state of absorption. It is divided in four levels according to each of the four formless concentrations (ārūpyāvacaradhyāna), namely, the Sphere of Infinite Space (ākāśānantyāyatana), the Sphere of Infinite Consciousness (vijñānānantyāyatana), the Sphere of Nothingness (akīñcanyāyatana), and the Sphere of Neither Perception nor Non-perception (naivasamjñānāsamjñāyatana). The formless realm is located above the other two realms of saṃsāra, the form realm (rūpadhātu) and the desire realm (kāmadhātu).

g.665 realm of freedom from desire

'dod chags dang bral ba'i dbyings

འདོད་ཆགས་དང་བྲལ་བའི་དབྱིངས།

virāgadhātu

g.666 realm of phenomena

chos kyi dbyings

ཚོས་གྱི་དབྱིངས།

dharmadhātu

Interpreted variously—given the many connotations of both dharma and dhātu—as the realm, element, or nature of phenomena, reality, or truth. Also used as a synonym for other terms designating the ultimate. In Tibetan, instances of the Sanskrit dharmadhātu with this range of meanings (rendered chos kyi dbyings) are distinguished from instances of the same Sanskrit term with its rather different meaning related to mental perception in the context of the twelve sense fields and eighteen elements (rendered chos kyi khamis).

g.667 realm of renunciation

rab tu byang ba'i dbyings

རབ་ཏུ་བྱང་བའི་དབྱིངས།

prahāṇadhātu

See also n.568.

g.668 realm of the exhaustion of desire

'dod chags zad pa'i dbyings

འདོད་ཆགས་ཟད་པའི་དབྱིངས།

—

- g.669 realm of the inconceivable
bsam gyis myi khyab pa'i dbyings བསམ་གྱིས་སྤྱི་ལུབ་པའི་དབྱིངས། acintyadhātu
 A synonym of ultimate reality.
- g.670 rebirth process
srid pa
 སྲིད་པ། bhava
 Tenth of the twelve links of dependent origination; third of the four torrents.
- g.671 recollect multiple past abodes
rnam pa du mar sngon gyi gnas rjes su dran རྣམ་པ་དུ་མར་སྲོན་གྱི་གནས་རྗེས་སུ་དྲན། anekapūrvanivāsanusmṛti
 Eighth of the ten powers of the tathāgatas.
- g.672 renunciation of delight
dga' ba spong ba དགའ་བ་སྦྲང་བ།
ratijaha
 A meditative stability.
- g.673 repudiation of afflicted mental states
nyon mongs pa spong ba ཉོན་མོངས་པ་སྦྲང་བ། raṇamjaha
 A meditative stability.
- g.674 resolve that is a support for miraculous ability endowed with meditative stability and the formative force of exertion
mos pa'i ting nge 'dzin spong ba'i 'du byed dang ldan pa'i rdzu 'phrul gyi rkang pa མོས་པའི་ཉིང་ངེ་འཛིན་སྦྲང་བའི་འདུ་བྱེད་དང་ལྡན་པའི་རྩུ་འཕྲུལ་གྱི་རྐང་པ། chandasaṃādhiprahāṇasaṃskārasamanvāgataṛddhipāda
 First of the four supports for miraculous abilities.

g.675 Rongtönpa

rong ston shes bya kun rig shA kya rgal mtshan

རོང་སྟོན་ཤེས་བྱ་ཀུན་རིག་ལྡན་ཀའ་མཚན།

—

A great Sakya scholar (1367–1449), very influential for the tradition of Perfection of Wisdom studies in Tibet.

g.676 Ru Tsam

ru 'tshams · ru mtshams

རུ་འཚམས། · རུ་མཚམས།

—

A place and monastery at the border of Ü and Tsang, between Tsurphu and Nyemo, figuring in the history of the early Sakya masters.

g.677 Śākyamuni

shAkya thub pa

ལྷན་ལུབ་པ།

śākyamuni

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

An epithet for the historical Buddha, Siddhārtha Gautama: he was a muni (“sage”) from the Śākya clan. He is counted as the fourth of the first four buddhas of the present Good Eon, the other three being Krakucchanda, Kanakamuni, and Kāśyapa. He will be followed by Maitreya, the next buddha in this eon.

g.678 Samādhihastyuttaraśrī

ting nge 'dzin gyi glang po dam pa'i dpal

ཏིང་ངེ་འཛིན་གྱི་གླང་པོ་དམ་པའི་དཔལ།

samādhihastyuttaraśrī

Name of a buddha in the northeastern intermediate direction, residing in the world system called Samādhyalaṅkṛta.

g.679 Samādhyalaṅkṛta

ting nge 'dzin gyis brgyan pa

ཏིང་ངེ་འཛིན་གྱིས་བརྒྱན་པ།

samādhyalaṅkṛta

Name of a world system in the northeastern direction, where the buddha Samādhihastyuttaraśrī teaches the perfection of wisdom to bodhisattva great beings.

g.680 Samantakusuma

me tog kun nas rgyas pa

མེ་ཏོག་ཀུན་ནས་རྒྱས་པ།

samantakusuma

Name of a buddha.

g.681 Samantaraśmi

'od zer kun nas 'byung ba

འོད་ཟེར་ཀུན་ནས་འབྱུང་བ།

samantaraśmi

Name of a bodhisattva from a distant world system in the eastern direction called Ratnavatī, who comes to this world to pay homage to the Buddha.

g.682 sameness of all phenomena

chos thams cad mnyam pa nyid · chos thams cad la mnyam pa nyid

ཚོས་ཐམས་ཅད་མཉམ་པ་ཉིད། · ཚོས་ཐམས་ཅད་ལ་མཉམ་པ་ཉིད། sarvadharmasamatā

A meditative stability.

g.683 sameness of meditative stability

ting nge 'dzin mnyam pa nyid

ཉིང་ངེ་འཛིན་མཉམ་པ་ཉིད། samādhisamatā

A meditative stability.

g.684 saṃsāra

'khor ba

འཁོར་བ།

saṃsāra

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

A state of involuntary existence conditioned by afflicted mental states and the imprint of past actions, characterized by suffering in a cycle of life, death, and rebirth. On its reversal, the contrasting state of nirvāṇa is attained, free from suffering and the processes of rebirth.

g.685 saṅgha

dge 'dun

དགེ་འདུན།

saṅgha

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

Though often specifically reserved for the monastic community, this term can be applied to any of the four Buddhist communities—monks, nuns, laymen, and laywomen—as well as to identify the different groups of practitioners, like the community of bodhisattvas or the community of śrāvakas. It is also the third of the Three Jewels (triratna) of Buddhism, the Buddha, the Teaching, and the Community.

g.686 Śāradvatīputra

sha ra dwa ti' i bu

ཤ་ར་དྲ་ཏི་བུ།

śāradvatīputra

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

One of the principal śrāvaka disciples of the Buddha, he was renowned for his discipline and for having been praised by the Buddha as foremost of the wise (often paired with Maudgalyāyana, who was praised as foremost in the capacity for miraculous powers). His father, Tiṣya, to honor Śāriputra's mother, Śārikā, named him Śāradvatīputra, or, in its contracted form, Śāriputra, meaning "Śārikā's Son."

g.687 Śāriputra

shA ri' i bu

ཤ་རི་བུ།

śāriputra

See "Śāradvatīputra."

g.688 Sarvaśokāpagata

mya ngan med pa

སྐྱ་ངན་མེད་པ།

sarvaśokāpagata

Name of a world system in the southern direction, where the buddha Aśokaśrī teaches the perfection of wisdom to bodhisattva great beings.

g.689 sayings in prose and verse

dbyangs bsnyad · dbyangs kyis bsnyad pa

དབྱུངས་བསྟན། · དབྱུངས་ཀྱིས་བསྟན་པ།

geya

Second of the twelve branches of the scriptures.

g.690 scrutiny that is a support for miraculous ability endowed with meditative stability and the formative force of exertion

dpyod pa'i ting nge 'dzin spong ba'i 'du byed dang ldan pa'i rdzu 'phrul gyi rkang pa

དཔྱོད་པའི་ཉིང་ངེ་འཛིན་སྟོང་བའི་འདུ་བྱེད་དང་ལྷན་པའི་རྩུ་འཕུལ་གྱི་རྐང་པ། mīmāṃsāvīryasamādhiprahaṇasamāskārasamanvāgatarddhipāda

Fourth of the four supports for miraculous abilities.

g.691 seal of all phenomena

chos thams cad kyi phyag rgya

ཚོས་ཐམས་ཅད་ཀྱི་ཕྱག་རྒྱ།

sarvadharmamudrā

A meditative stability.

g.692 seal of entry into all phenomena

chos thams cad la 'jug pa'i phyag rgya

ཚོས་ཐམས་ཅད་ལ་འཇུག་པའི་ཕྱག་རྒྱ།

sarvadharmapraveśamudrā

A meditative stability.

g.693 seal of the gateway of all dhāraṇīs

gzungs kyi sgo thams cad kyi phyag rgya

གཟུངས་ཀྱི་སློ་ཐམས་ཅད་ཀྱི་ཕྱག་རྒྱ།

sarvadhāraṇīmukhamudrā

A meditative stability.

g.694 seal of the king

rgyal po'i phyag rgya

རྒྱལ་པོའི་ཕྱག་རྒྱ།

rājamudrā

A meditative stability.

g.695 seal of the supreme phenomenon

chos dam pa'i phyag rgya

ཚོས་དམ་པའི་ཕྱག་རྒྱ།

varadharmamudrā

A meditative stability.

g.696 sealed with the seal

phyag rgya yongs su 'dzin pa

ཕྱག་རྒྱ་ཡོངས་སུ་འཛིན་པ།

dhāraṇīmudrā

A meditative stability. The Sanskrit from Dutt would suggest, rather, “Dhāraṇī seal,” as in the Ten Thousand (gzungs kyi phyag rgya).

g.697 sealing of all phenomena

chos thams cad phyag rgyar gyur pa

ཚོས་ཐམས་ཅད་ཕྱག་རྒྱར་གྱུར་པ།

sarvadharmamudrāgata

A meditative stability.

g.698 sealing of Avalokita

spyen ras gzigs kyi phyag rgya

སྤྱན་རས་གཟིགས་ཀྱི་ཕྱག་རྒྱ། avalokitamudrāgata

A meditative stability.

g.699 seat of enlightenment

snying po byang chub

སྤྱིང་པོ་བྱང་ཚུབ།

bodhimaṇḍa

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The place where the Buddha Śākyamuni achieved awakening and where every buddha will manifest the attainment of buddhahood. In our world this is understood to be located under the Bodhi tree, the Vajrāsana, in present-day Bodhgaya, India. It can also refer to the state of awakening itself.

g.700 self-originated from the vessel

snod las rang 'byung ba

སྣོད་ལས་རང་འབྱུང་བ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.701 selflessness

bdag myed · bdag med

བདག་ཕྱིད། · བདག་མེད།

ātmāsadbhūtatva · nairātmya

Selflessness denotes the lack of inherent existence in persons and also, more subtly, in all physical and mental phenomena. Also translated here as “nonself.”

g.702 sensation

tshor ba

ཚོར་བ།

vedanā

Seventh of the twelve links of dependent origination. Also translated here as “feelings.”

g.703 sense field

skye mched

སྐྱེ་མཆེད།

āyatana

The subjective and objective poles of sense perception. The fifth of the twelve links of dependent origination.

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

These can be listed as twelve or as six sense sources (sometimes also called sense fields, bases of cognition, or simply āyatanas).

In the context of epistemology, it is one way of describing experience and the world in terms of twelve sense sources, which can be divided into inner and outer sense sources, namely: (1–2) eye and form, (3–4) ear and sound, (5–6) nose and odor, (7–8) tongue and taste, (9–10) body and touch, (11–12) mind and mental phenomena.

In the context of the twelve links of dependent origination, only six sense sources are mentioned, and they are the inner sense sources (identical to the six faculties) of eye, ear, nose, tongue, body, and mind. (Provisional 84000 definition. New definition forthcoming.)

g.704 sense of moral and ascetic supremacy

tshul khrims dang brtul zhugs bsnyems pa

ཚུལ་ཁྲིམས་དང་བརྟུལ་བྱུགས་བསྟེན་པ།

śīlavrataparāmarśa

Third of the three fetters; also fourth of the five fetters associated with the inferior.

g.705 sensory contact

reg pa

རེག་པ།

sparśa

Sixth of the twelve links of dependent origination.

g.706 sensory element

kham

ཁམས། dhātu

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

In the context of Buddhist philosophy, one way to describe experience in terms of eighteen elements (eye, form, and eye consciousness; ear, sound, and ear consciousness; nose, smell, and nose consciousness; tongue, taste, and tongue consciousness; body, touch, and body consciousness; and mind, mental phenomena, and mind consciousness).

This also refers to the elements of the world, which can be enumerated as four, five, or six. The four elements are earth, water, fire, and air. A fifth, space, is often added, and the sixth is consciousness.

In this text:

See “eighteen sensory elements.”

g.707 sensory element of auditory consciousness

rna ba'i rnam par shes pa'i kham

རྣ་བའི་རྣམ་པར་ཤེས་པའི་ཁམས།

śrotravijñānadhātu

Sixth of the eighteen sensory elements.

g.708 sensory element of feeling

tshor ba'i dbyings

ཚོར་བའི་དབྱིངས།

—
g.709 sensory element of gustatory consciousness

lce'i rnam par shes pa'i kham

ལྷེའི་རྣམ་པར་ཤེས་པའི་ཁམས།

jihvavijñānadhātu

Twelfth of the eighteen sensory elements.

g.710 sensory element of mental consciousness

yid kyi rnam par shes pa'i kham

ཡིད་ཀྱི་རྣམ་པར་ཤེས་པའི་ཁམས།

manovijñānadhātu

Eighteenth of the eighteen sensory elements.

g.711 sensory element of mental phenomena

chos kyi kham

ཚོས་ཀྱི་ཁམས།

dharmadhātu

Seventeenth of the eighteen sensory elements.

g.712 sensory element of odors

dri'i kham

དྲིའི་ཁམས།

gandhadhātu

Eighth of the eighteen sensory elements.

g.713 sensory element of olfactory consciousness

sna'i rnam par shes pa'i kham

སྤྲིའི་རྣམ་པར་ཤེས་པའི་ཁམས།

ghrāṇavijñānadhātu

Ninth of the eighteen sensory elements.

g.714 sensory element of sights

gzugs kyi kham

གཟུགས་ཀྱི་ཁམས།

rūpadhātu

Second of the eighteen sensory elements.

- g.715 sensory element of sounds
sgra'i kham
སྒྲའི་ཁམས།
śabdadhātu
Fifth of the eighteen sensory elements.
- g.716 sensory element of tactile consciousness
lus kyi rnam par shes pa'i kham ལུས་ཀྱི་རྣམ་པར་ཤེས་པའི་ཁམས། kāyavijñānadhātu
Fifteenth of the eighteen sensory elements.
- g.717 sensory element of tangibles
reg bya'i kham
རེག་བྱའི་ཁམས།
spraṣṭavyadhātu
Fourteenth of the eighteen sensory elements.
- g.718 sensory element of tastes
ro'i kham
རོའི་ཁམས།
rasadhātu
Eleventh of the eighteen sensory elements.
- g.719 sensory element of the body
lus kyi kham ལུས་ཀྱི་ཁམས། kāyadhātu
Thirteenth of the eighteen sensory elements.
- g.720 sensory element of the ears
rna ba'i kham རྣ་བའི་ཁམས།
śrotradhātu
Fourth of the eighteen sensory elements.
- g.721 sensory element of the eyes

mig gi khams

མིག་གི་ཁམས།

cakṣurdhātu

First of the eighteen sensory elements.

g.722 sensory element of the mental faculty

yid kyi khams

ཡིད་གྱི་ཁམས།

manodhātu

Sixteenth of the eighteen sensory elements.

g.723 sensory element of the nose

sna'i khams

སྒྲི་ཁམས།

ghrāṇdhātu

Seventh of the eighteen sensory elements.

g.724 sensory element of the tongue

lce'i khams

ལྗེ་ཁམས།

jihvadhātu

Tenth of the eighteen sensory elements.

g.725 sensory element of visual consciousness

mig gi rnam par shes pa'i khams

མིག་གི་རྣམ་པར་ཤེས་པའི་ཁམས།

cakṣurvijñānadhātu

Third of the eighteen sensory elements.

g.726 serial steps of meditative absorption

mthar gyis gnas pa'i snyoms par 'jug pa

མགར་གྱིས་གནས་པའི་སྣོམས་པར་འཇུག་པ།

anupūrvavīhārasamāpatti

See “nine serial steps of meditative absorption.”

g.727 setting of the mind on enlightenment

byang chub sems bskyed pa · sems bskyed pa

བྱང་ལྷོ་སེམས་བསྐྱེད་པ། . སེམས་བསྐྱེད་པ།

bodhicittotpāda · cittotpāda

The setting of the mind on enlightenment for the sake of all beings, which marks the onset of the bodhisattva path and culminates in the actual attainment of buddhahood, distinguishes the bodhisattva path from that of the śrāvakas and pratyekabuddhas, who are both focused on their own emancipation from saṃsāra.

g.728 seven branches of enlightenment

byang chub kyi yan lag bdun

བྱང་ལྷོ་གྱི་ཡན་ལག་བདུན།

saptabodhyaṅga

These are (1) the branch of enlightenment that is correct mindfulness, (2) the branch of enlightenment that is correct analysis of phenomena, (3) the branch of enlightenment that is correct perseverance, (4) the branch of enlightenment that is correct delight, (5) the branch of enlightenment that is correct pliability, (6) the branch of enlightenment that is correct meditative stability, and (7) the branch of enlightenment that is correct equanimity.

g.729 seven emptinesses

stong pa nyid bdun po

སྟོང་པ་ཉིད་བདུན་པོ།

—

As found in Ghoṣa, p. 138; Bṭ1, p. 758; and Bṭ3, 4.259, they are the emptinesses of seven separate groups—aggregates, sensory elements, sense fields, truths of the noble ones, dependent origination, all conditioned phenomena, and all unconditioned dharmas. (Alternatively, the last two are all phenomena, and then all conditioned and unconditioned phenomena; Toh 3808 renders these “all compounded phenomena, and all unconditioned dharmas.”) Zacchetti, 21r3, says “ten emptinesses,” but a flaw in the material of the MS may have distracted the scribe at this point.

g.730 seven riches

nor bdun

ནོར་བདུན།

saptadhana

These are enumerated in the Śatasāhasrikāprajñāpāramitābhaṭṭikā, Toh 3807 (Degé Tengyur vol. 91, F.40.b), as (1) faith (dad pa), (2) ethical discipline (tshul khrims), (3) study (thos pa), (4) liberality (gtong ba), (5) wisdom (shes rab), (6) conscience (hrī, ngo tsha shes pa), and (7) shame (apatrāpya, khrel yod).

g.731 sexual misconduct

'dod pas log par g.yem pa

འདོད་པས་ལོག་པར་གཡེས་པ།

kāmamithyācāra

Third of the ten nonvirtuous actions.

g.732 shoulder ornament of the victory banner's crest

rgyal mtshan rtse mo'i dpung rgyan

རྒྱལ་མཚན་རྩེ་མོའི་དཔུང་རྒྱན།

dhvajāgraketu[rāja] · dhvajāgrakeyūra

A meditative stability.

g.733 sign

mtshan ma

མཚན་མ།

nimitta

A mark or feature of an object which serves as the basis for its being generically named and thus conceptually categorized. A sign is usually imagined rather than being a real attribute of the object, and perception that operates by identifying distinguishing marks or signs is therefore what defines coarse conceptuality. In some contexts (particularly with respect to meditative concentration practices), nimitta can be translated as “mental image.” Also translated in this text as “distinguishing mark.”

g.734 signlessness

mtshan ma med pa · mtshan ma myed pa

མཚན་མ་མེད་པ། · མཚན་མ་བྱེད་པ།

animitta

The ultimate absence of marks and signs in perceived objects. One of the three gateways to liberation; the other two are emptiness and wishlessness.

g.735 signlessness as a gateway to liberation

rnam par thar pa'i sgo mtshan ma myed pa

· rnam par thar pa'i sgo mtshan ma med pa

རྣམ་པར་ཐར་པའི་སྒོ་མཚན་མ་ལྗོད་པ། . རྣམ་པར་ཐར་པའི་སྒོ་མཚན་མ་མེད་པ།

animittavimokṣamukha

Second of the three gateways to liberation.

g.736 single array

gcig tu rnam par bkod pa

གཅིག་ཏུ་རྣམ་པར་བཀོད་པ།

ekavyūha

A meditative stability.

g.737 single aspect

rnam pa gcig tu gyur ba

རྣམ་པ་གཅིག་ཏུ་གྱུར་བ།

ekākāra

A meditative stability.

g.738 six extrasensory powers

mngon par shes pa drug

མངོན་པར་ཤེས་པ་དྲུག

ṣaḍabhijñā

See “extrasensory powers.”

g.739 six inner sense fields

nang gi skye mched drug

ནང་གི་སྐྱེ་མཚན་དྲུག

ṣaḍādhyātmikāyatana

The six inner sense fields comprise (1) the sense field of the eyes, (2) the sense field of the ears, (3) the sense field of the nose, (4) the sense field of the tongue, (5) the sense field of the body, and (6) the sense field of the mental faculty. These are included in the twelve sense fields.

g.740 six mindfulnesses

rjes su dran pa drug

རྗེས་སུ་བྲན་པ་དྲུག

ṣaḍanusmṛti

The six mindfulnesses are (1) mindfulness of the Buddha, (2) mindfulness of the Dharma, (3) mindfulness of the Saṅgha, (4) mindfulness of ethical discipline, (5) mindfulness of giving away, and (6) mindfulness of the gods. See also “ten mindfulnesses.”

g.741 six mothers

yum drug

ཡུམ་རྒྱལ

—

The five long sūtras—in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand (Toh 9), Eighteen Thousand (Toh 10), Ten Thousand (Toh 11), and Eight Thousand (Toh 12) lines—plus the Verse Summary (Toh 13), so called because they are all complete, as defined by each including all eight topics of the Abhisamayālaṅkāra.

g.742 six outer sense fields

phyi'i skye mched drug

ཕྱི་རྒྱུ་མཆོད་རྒྱལ

ṣaḍbāhyāyatana

The six outer sense fields comprise (1) the sense field of sights, (2) the sense field of sounds, (3) the sense field of odors, (4) the sense field of tastes, (5) the sense field of touch, and (6) the sense field of mental phenomena. These are included in the twelve sense fields.

g.743 six perfections

pha rol tu phyin pa drug

ཕ་རོལ་ཏུ་ཕྱིན་པ་རྒྱལ

ṣaṭpāramitā

The practice of the six perfections, comprising generosity, ethical discipline, tolerance, perseverance, meditative concentration, and wisdom, is the foundation of the entire bodhisattva path. These six are known as “perfections” when they are motivated by an altruistic intention to attain full enlightenment for the sake of all beings.

g.744 six principles of being liked

yang dag par sdud par 'gyur ba'i chos drug

ཡང་དག་པར་སྐྱད་པར་འགྱུར་བའི་ཚོས་རྒྱལ

ṣaṭsaṃrañjanīya

The Long Explanation (Toh 3808, 4.59) says these “are in the One Hundred Thousand” and lists them as “kindly physical action, kindly verbal action, kindly mental action, and a balanced morality, balanced view, and balanced livelihood.”

g.745 six sense fields

skye mched drug

སྐྱེ་མཆོད་དུག

ṣaḍāyatana

Fifth of the twelve links of dependent origination. See also “sense field.”

g.746 sixty-two mistaken views

lta ba'i rnam pa drug cu rtsa gnyis

ལྟ་བའི་རྣམ་པ་དུག་ཅུ་ཚ་གཉིས།

dvāṣaṣṭīdṛṣṭīkṛtāni

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The sixty-two false views, as enumerated in the Brahmajālasūtra (tshangs pa'i dra ba'i mdo, Toh 352), comprise eighteen speculations concerning the past, based on theories of eternalism, partial eternalism, extensionism, endless equivocation, and fortuitous origination, as well as forty-four speculations concerning the future, based on percipient immortality, non-percipient immortality, neither percipient nor non-percipient immortality, annihilationism, and the immediate attainment of nirvāṇa in the present life.

g.747 skillful means

thabs

ཐབས།

upāya

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The concept of skillful or expedient means is central to the understanding of the Buddha's enlightened deeds and the many scriptures that are revealed contingent on the needs, interests, and mental dispositions of specific types of individuals. It is, therefore, equated with compassion and the form body of the buddhas, the rūpakāya.

According to the Great Vehicle, training in skillful means collectively denotes the first five of the six perfections when integrated with wisdom, the sixth perfection. It is therefore paired with wisdom (prajñā), forming the two indispensable aspects of the path. It is also the seventh of the ten perfections. (Provisional 84000 definition. New definition forthcoming.)

g.748 space element

nam mkha' i kham

ནམ་མཁའི་ཁམས། ākāśadhātu <sup>AD</sup>

g.749 space-like

nam mkha' lta bu

ནམ་མཁའ་ལྟ་བུ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.750 space-like and without attachment, hence free and without blemish nam mkha' ltar chags pa myed pas rnam par grol zhing gos pa myed pa

· nam mkha' ltar chags pa med pas rnam par grol zhing gos pa med pa

ནམ་མཁའ་ལྟར་ཆགས་པ་སྤྲེད་པས་རྣམ་པར་གྲོལ་ཞིང་གོས་པ་སྤྲེད་པ།

· རམ་མཁའ་ལྟར་ཆགས་པ་མེད་པས་རྣམ་པར་གྲོལ་ཞིང་གོས་པ་མེད་པ།

ākāśasaṅghavimuktinirupalepa

A meditative stability.

g.751 sphere of infinite consciousness

rnam shes mtha' yas skye mched

རྣམ་ཤེས་མཐའ་ཡས་སྐྱེ་མཆེད།

vijñānānantyāyatana

The second formless meditative absorption and its resultant formless realm of existence.

g.752 sphere of infinite space

nam mkha' mtha' yas skye mched

ནམ་མཁའ་མཐའ་ཡས་སྐྱེ་མཆེད།

ākāśānantyāyatana

The first formless meditative absorption and its resultant formless realm of existence.

g.753 sphere of neither perception nor nonperception

'du shes myed 'du shes myed myin skye mched

· 'du shes med 'du shes med min skye mched

འདུ་ཤེས་ལྷན་འདུ་ཤེས་ལྷན་ལྷན་མཆོད། ་ འདུ་ཤེས་མེད་འདུ་ཤེས་མེད་མིན་ལྷན་མཆོད།

naiवासamjñānāsamjñāyatana

The fourth formless meditative absorption and its resultant formless realm of existence.

g.754 sphere of nothing-at-all

cung zad med pa'i skye mched · chung zad myed pa'i skye mched

ཅུང་ཟད་མེད་པའི་སྐྱེ་མཆོད། ་ ཅུང་ཟད་ལྷན་པའི་སྐྱེ་མཆོད། akiñcanyāyatana

The third formless meditative absorption and its resultant formless realm of existence.

g.755 spiritual family

rigs

རིགས།

gotra

Literally, the class, caste or lineage. In this context, it is the basic disposition or propensity of an individual that determines which kind of vehicle (śrāvaka, pratyekabuddha, or bodhisattva) they will follow and therefore which kind of awakening they will obtain.

g.756 spiritual mentor

dge ba'i bshes gnyen

དགེ་བའི་བཤེས་གཉེན།

kalyāṇamitra

A spiritual teacher who can contribute to an individual's progress on the spiritual path to enlightenment and act wholeheartedly for the welfare of students.

g.757 śrāvaka

nyan thos

ཉན་ཐོས།

śrāvaka

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The Sanskrit term śrāvaka, and the Tibetan nyan thos, both derived from the verb "to hear," are usually defined as "those who hear the teaching from the Buddha and make it heard to others." Primarily this refers to those disciples of the Buddha who aspire to attain the state of an arhat seeking their own liberation and nirvāṇa. They are the practitioners of the first turning of the wheel of the Dharma on the four noble truths, who realize the suffering inherent in saṃsāra and focus on understanding that there is no independent self. By conquering afflicted mental states (kleśa), they liberate themselves, attaining first the stage of stream enterers at the path of seeing, followed by the stage of once-returners who will be reborn only one more time, and then the stage of non-returners who will no longer be reborn into the desire realm. The final goal is to become an arhat. These four stages are also known as the “four results of spiritual practice.”

g.758 Śreṇika

phreng ba can

ཕྱེང་བ་ཅན།

śreṇika

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

A mendicant whose encounter with the Buddha and acceptance of him as the tathāgata features in the Prajñāpāramitā sūtras as evidence that the Buddha’s omniscience is not something to be understood through signs or characteristics. Also known as Śreṇika Vatsagotra.

The three different renderings of his name in Tibetan—sde can, phreng ba can, and bzo sbyangs (which may correspond to Skt. Seniṣka, Prakniṣka, and Śaniṣka)—are taken as markers for three different Tibetan translations of the Aṣṭasāhasrikāprajñāpāramitā, as mentioned in the catalog of the Phukdrak (phug brag) Kangyur and the Thamphü (tham phud) of the Fifth Dalai Lama, Ngawang Lozang Gyatso.

g.759 śrīvatsa

dpal gyi be’u

དཔལ་གྱི་བེ་ལུ།

śrīvatsa

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

Literally “the favorite of the glorious one,” or (as translated into Tibetan) “the calf of the glorious one.” This is an auspicious mark that in Indian Buddhism was said to be formed from a curl of hair on the breast and was depicted in a shape that resembles the fleur-de-lis. In Tibet it is usually represented as an eternal knot. It is also one of the principal attributes of Viṣṇu. Together with the svastika and nandyāvarta, it forms the eightieth minor sign or mark of a buddha and other great beings (mahāpuruṣa).

g.760 stability of mind

sems gnas pa

སེམས་གནས་པ།

cittasthita

A meditative stability.

g.761 stainless lamplight

dri ma med pa'i sgron ma · dri ma myed pa'i sgron ma

དྲི་མ་མེད་པའི་སྒྲོན་མ། · དྲི་མ་མྱེད་པའི་སྒྲོན་མ།

vimalapradīpa

A meditative stability.

g.762 stainless light

'od dri ma med pa · 'od dri ma myed pa

འོད་དྲི་མ་མེད་པ། · འོད་དྲི་མ་མྱེད་པ།

vimalaprabhā

A meditative stability.

g.763 stainless performance

dri ma med par spyod

དྲི་མ་མེད་པར་སྟོན།

—

A meditative stability.

g.764 statements made for a purpose

ched du brjod pa

ཆེད་དུ་བརྗོད་པ།

udāna

Fifth of the twelve branches of the scriptures. See also n.153.

g.765 station of complete suffusion

mtha' dag gi skye mched · chub pa'i skye mched

མཐའ་དག་གི་སྐྱེ་མཆེད། · ཚུབ་པའི་སྐྱེ་མཆེད། kṛtsnāyatana

See “ten stations of complete suffusion.”

g.766 station of mastery

zil gyis gnon pa'i skye mched

ཟེལ་གྱིས་གཞོན་པའི་སྐྱེ་མཆེད།

abhibhvāyatana

See “eight stations of mastery.”

g.767 stealing

ma byin par len pa

མ་བྱིན་པར་ལེན་པ།

adatādāna

Second of the ten nonvirtuous actions. Literally, “taking what is not given.”

g.768 stilling

zhi gnas

ཞི་གནས།

śamatha

One of the basic forms of Buddhist meditation, which focuses on calming the mind. Often presented as part of a pair of meditation techniques, the other technique being “higher insight.”

g.769 stretching lion

seng ge rnam par rkyong ba

སེང་གེ་རྣམ་པར་རྐྱེད་པ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.770 stretching-out lion

seng ge rnam par glal ba

སེང་གེ་རྣམ་པར་གླེལ་པ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.771 Śubha

dge ba

དགེ་བ།

śubha

Ninth of the sixteen god realms of form that correspond to the four meditative concentrations, meaning “Virtue.”

g.772 Śubhakṛtsna

dge rgyas

དགེ་རྒྱལ།

śubhakṛtsna

Twelfth of the sixteen god realms of form that correspond to the four meditative concentrations, meaning “Most Extensive Virtue.”

g.773 Subhūti

rab 'byor

རབ་འབྱོར།

subhūti

Name of a śrāvaka elder from Śrāvastī, the younger brother of the wealthy patron Anāthapiṇḍada and one of the principal interlocutors of this text and the other Perfection of Wisdom sūtras. For more detail, see also Twenty-Five Thousand, i.78–i.90. He is declared by the Buddha (in the canonical literature) to be foremost among the araṇavihārin (also araṇāvihārin and araṇyavihārin), which can be taken to mean either those “dwelling free of afflicted mental states” (as in the Tib. nyon mongs pa med par gnas pa/spyod pa, Mvy. 6366) or as those “dwelling in seclusion.” He was also described as “foremost among those worthy of donations” (dakṣineyānām agryaḥ, sbyin pa'i gnas nang na mchog tu gyur pa) and in Chinese sources as “foremost in teaching emptiness” (stong nyid ston pa'i mchog tu gyur pa).

g.774 subtle knowledge

shes pa phra ba

ཤེས་པ་ཕྱ་བ།

sūkṣmajñāna

The various aspects of the knowledge that engages in subtlety of conduct, etc., include the knowledge that engages with subtle transmigration at the time of death, the knowledge that engages with subtle processes of rebirth, and the knowledge that engages with subtle buddha activities—emanation, renunciation, consummate enlightenment, turning the wheel of the Dharma, consecrating the lifespan, passing into final nirvāṇa, and so forth.

g.775 Sudarśana

shin tu mthong

ཤིན་ཏུ་མཐོང་།

sudarśana

Fourth of the five pure abodes (śuddhāvāsa), meaning “Extreme Insight.”

g.776 Śuddhāvāsa

gnas gtsang ma'i ris · gtsang ma'i gnas · gnas gtsang ma · gnas gtsang ma

གནས་གཙང་མའི་རིམ། · གཙང་མའི་གནས། · གནས་གཙང་མ། · གནས་གཙང་མ།

śuddhāvāsa

The god realms of the five “pure abodes” (śuddhāvāsa) at the pinnacle of the realm of form, extending from Avṛha, through Atapa, Sudṛśa, and Sudarśana to Akaniṣṭha.

g.777 Sudṛśa

gya nom snang ba

གྲོ་ལོ་སྤང་བ།

sudṛśa

Third of the five pure abodes (śuddhāvāsa), meaning “Attractive.”

g.778 suffering

sdug bsngal

སྤུག་བསྔལ།

duḥkha

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The first of the four truths of the noble ones. The term “suffering” includes all essentially unsatisfactory experiences of life in cyclic existence, whether physical or mental. These comprise (1) the suffering of suffering, i.e., the physical sensations and mental experiences that are self-evident as suffering and toward which spontaneous feelings of aversion arise; (2) the suffering of change, i.e., all experiences that are normally recognized as pleasant and desirable, but which are nonetheless suffering in that persistent indulgence in these always results in changing attitudes of dissatisfaction and boredom; and (3) the suffering of the pervasive conditioning underlying the round of birth, aging, and death.

g.779 support for miraculous ability

rdzu 'phrul gyi rkang pa

རྩུ་འཕྲུལ་གྱི་རྐང་པ།

rddhipāda

See “four supports for miraculous ability.”

g.780 supramundane phenomena

'jig rten las 'das pa'i chos

འཇིག་རྟེན་ལས་འདས་པའི་ཚོས།

lokottaradharmā

Supramundane phenomena include the following: the four applications of mindfulness, the four correct exertions, the four supports for miraculous ability, the five faculties, the five powers, the seven branches of enlightenment, the noble eightfold path, the three gateways to liberation, the faculty of coming to understand what one has not yet understood, the faculty of fully understanding, the faculty of knowing one has fully understood, the meditative stability with an initial mental application and with a sustained mental application, the meditative stability without an initial mental application but with just a sustained mental application, the meditative stability without an initial mental application and without a sustained mental application, the eighteen emptinesses (starting from the emptiness of internal phenomena and ending with the emptiness of an essential nature of nonentities), the ten powers of the tathāgatas, the four fearlessnesses, the four kinds of exact knowledge, great loving kindness, great compassion, and the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas.

g.781 supreme performance

spyod pa dam pa

སྤྱོད་པ་དམ་པ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.782 surpassing all phenomena

chos thams cad las shin tu 'phags pa

ཚོས་ཐམས་ཅད་ལས་ཤིན་ཏུ་འཕགས་པ།

sarvadharmodgata

A meditative stability.

g.783 surveying the crown pinnacle

spyi gtsug rnam par lta ba

སྤྱི་གཙུག་རྣམ་པར་ལྟ་བ།

avalokitamūrdha

A meditative stability.

g.784 Sūryagarbha

nyī ma'i snying po

ཉིམ་འཁྱིལ་པོ།

sūryagarbha

Name of a bodhisattva.

g.785 Sūryamaṇḍalaprabhāsottamaśrī

nyi ma'i dkyil 'khor snang ba dam pa'i dpal

ཉིམ་འཁྱིལ་འཁོར་སྐྱང་བ་དམ་པའི་དཔལ།

sūryamaṇḍalaprabhāsottamaśrī

Name of a buddha in the southwestern direction, residing in the world system called Vigatarajaḥsañcayā.

g.786 Sūryaprabhāsa

nyi ma rab tu snang ba

ཉིམ་རབ་རུ་སྐྱང་བ།

sūryaprabhāsa

Name of a bodhisattva from a distant world system in the southwestern direction called Vigatarajaḥsañcayā, who comes to this world to pay homage to the Buddha.

g.787 Susaṃprasthita

rab tu zhugs pa

རབ་རུ་ཚུགས་པ།

susaṃprasthita

Name of a bodhisattva.

g.788 Susārthavāha

ded dpon dam pa

དེད་དཔོན་དམ་པ།

susārthavāha

Name of a bodhisattva. His name is rendered “Sārthavāha” in the Twenty-Five Thousand.

g.789 sustained mental application

rnam par dpyod pa · dpyod pa

རྣམ་པར་དཔྱོད་པ། · དཔྱོད་པ།

vicāra · cāra

See n.99

- g.790 Susthitamati
blo gros shin tu brtan pa ལྷོ་གྲོ་ས་ཤིན་ཏུ་བརྟན་པ། susthitamati
 Name of a bodhisattva.
- g.791 Suvikrāntavikrāmin
mthu dam pas rnam par gnon pa མཐུ་དམ་པས་རྣམ་པར་གཞོན་པ། suvikrāntavikrāmin
 Name of a bodhisattva.
- g.792 syllable
yi ge ཡི་གེ། akṣara
- g.793 syllable accomplishment
yi ge mngon par bsgrub pa ཡི་གེ་མངོན་པར་བསྐྱབ་པ། akṣarābhinihāra
- g.794 tactile consciousness
lus kyi rnam par shes pa ལུས་ཀྱི་རྣམ་པར་ཤེས་པ།
 —
- g.795 taintless light
'od dri ma med pa འོད་རླི་མ་མེད་པ། vimalaprabha
 A meditative stability.
- g.796 taintless light of the full moon
zla ba dri ma myed par rgyas pa'i 'od · zla ba dri ma med pa rgyas pa'i 'od ལྷ་བ་རླི་མ་མེད་པར་རྒྱས་པའི་འོད། · ལྷ་བ་རླི་མ་མེད་པར་རྒྱས་པའི་འོད། paripūrṇavimalacandraprabha

A meditative stability.

g.797 tales of past lives

skyes pa'i rabs

སྐྱེས་པའི་རབས།

jātaka

Eighth of the twelve branches of the scriptures.

g.798 taming the four māras

bdud bzhi 'dul ba

བདུད་བཞི་འདུལ་བ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.799 tathāgata

de bzhin gshegs pa

དེ་བཞིན་གཤེགས་པ།

tathāgata

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

A frequently used synonym for buddha. According to different explanations, it can be read as tathā-gata, literally meaning “one who has thus gone,” or as tathā-āgata, “one who has thus come.” Gata, though literally meaning “gone,” is a past passive participle used to describe a state or condition of existence. Tatha(tā), often rendered as “suchness” or “thusness,” is the quality or condition of things as they really are, which cannot be conveyed in conceptual, dualistic terms. Therefore, this epithet is interpreted in different ways, but in general it implies one who has departed in the wake of the buddhas of the past, or one who has manifested the supreme awakening dependent on the reality that does not abide in the two extremes of existence and quiescence. It is also often used as a specific epithet of the Buddha Śākyamuni.

g.800 telling of lies

brdzun du smra ba · rdzun du smra ba

བརྒྱུན་དུ་སྐྱབ་པ། · ལྷན་དུ་སྐྱབ་པ།

mṛṣāvāda

Fourth of the ten nonvirtuous actions.

g.801 ten directions

phyogs bcu

ཕྱོགས་བཅུ།

daśadik

The four cardinal directions along with the four intermediate directions, the zenith, and the nadir.

g.802 ten levels

sa bcu

ས་བཅུ།

daśabhūmi

There are two sets of ten levels mentioned in the Prajñāpāramitā literature. One is the same as that found in many other scriptures such as the Ten Bhūmis (Toh 44-31) of the Buddhāvataṃsaka. These are (1) Perfect Joy (pramuditā), (2) Stainless (vimalā), (3) Shining (prabhākarī), (4) Brilliance (arciṣmatī), (5) Difficult to Conquer (sudurjayā), (6) Manifested (abhimukhī), (7) Gone Far (dūraṃgamā), (8) Unwavering (acalā), (9) Perfect Understanding (sādhumatī), and (10) Cloud of Dharma (dharmameghā).

The other set of ten levels comprise (1) the level of bright insight or level of ordinary people, (2) the level of the spiritual family, (3) the eighth level, (4) the level of insight, (5) the level of attenuated refinement, (6) the level of no attachment, (7) the level of spiritual achievement (of śrāvakas/arhats), (8) the level of the pratyekabuddhas, (9) the level of the bodhisattvas, and (10) the actual level of the buddhas. (See also Twenty-Five Thousand, n.314).

g.803 ten mindfulnesses

rjes su dran pa bcu

རྗེས་སུ་བློ་སྤོང་བ་བཅུ།

daśānusmṛti

The ten mindfulnesses are (1) mindfulness of the Buddha, (2) mindfulness of the Dharma, (3) mindfulness of the Saṅgha, (4) mindfulness of ethical discipline, (5) mindfulness of giving away, (6) mindfulness of the gods, (7) mindfulness of disillusionment, (8) mindfulness of the inhalation and exhalation of breath, (9) mindfulness of death, and (10) mindfulness of the body.

g.804 ten modes of conduct

spyod pa bcu

སྤྱོད་པ་བཅུ། daśacaryā

These ten modes of conduct are enumerated in the Śatasāhasrikāprajñāpāramitā-bṛhaṭṭikā (Toh 3807, Degé Tengyur vol. 91, F.37.a) as follows: (1) writing of the sacred scriptures (dam pa'i chos yi ger 'dri ba), (2) reading them (klog pa), (3) chanting them (kha ton byed pa), (4) bestowing them on others (gzhan la sbyin pa), (5) retaining them (i.e., their words and meaning) ('chang ba), (6) making offerings to them (mchod pa byed pa), (7) listening to others recite/expound them (nyan pa), (8) reflecting upon them (sems pa), (9) meditating on them (sgom pa), and (10) teaching them to others (gzhan dag la ston pa). An alternative listing is found in Ch. 43 of the Buddhāvataṃsaka, comprising (1) conduct that aims to bring all beings to maturation, (2) conduct that aims to investigate all phenomena, (3) conduct that aims to apply all trainings, (4) conduct that aims to accumulate all the roots of virtuous action, (5) conduct that aims to achieve one-pointed meditative stability, (6) conduct that aims to understand wisdom, (7) conduct that aims to cultivate meditation, (8) conduct that aims to adorn the buddhafiels, (9) conduct that aims to venerate spiritual teachers, and (10) conduct that aims to make offerings to and serve the tathāgatas. See Nordrang Orgyan, pp. 2259–60.

g.805 ten nonvirtuous actions

mi dge ba bcu'i las

མི་དགེ་བ་བརྒྱའི་ལས།

daśākuśalakarman

Killing of living creatures, stealing, sexual misconduct, lying, back-biting, verbal abuse, irresponsible chatter, covetousness, malice, and wrong views. See also “nonvirtuous phenomena.”

g.806 ten powers

stobs bcu

སྟོབས་བརྒྱ།

daśabala

The ten powers of the tathāgatas. In this text, they are listed at 9.51–9.60.

g.807 ten powers of the tathāgatas

de bzhin gshegs pa'i stobs bcu

དེ་བཞིན་གཤམ་པའི་སྟོབས་བརྒྱ།

daśatathāgatabala

See the ten powers listed at 9.51–9.60.

g.808 ten stations of complete suffusion

mtha' dag gi skye mched bcu

མཐའ་དག་གི་སྐྱེ་མཆེད་བརྒྱ།

daśakṛtsnāyatana

The ten stations of complete suffusion comprise (1) complete suffusion of the earth element, (2) complete suffusion of the water element, (3) complete suffusion of the fire element, (4) complete suffusion of the wind element, (5) complete suffusion of blueness, (6) complete suffusion of yellowness, (7) complete suffusion of redness, (8) complete suffusion of whiteness, (9) complete suffusion of consciousness, and (10) complete suffusion of the space element.

In the Ten Thousand and Eighteen Thousand, the Tibetan term is zad par gyi skye mched, and in the Twenty-Five Thousand, ka F.28.b, it is chub pa'i skye mched.

g.809 ten tolerances

bzod pa bcu

བཟོད་པ་བརྒྱ།

daśakṣānti

These are listed, with commentary, in the Śatasāhasrikāprajñāpāramitābrhatṭkā (Toh 3807, Degé Tengyur vol. 91, F.37.a-b) as follows: (1) tolerance of natural disturbances (rang bzhin gyis bzod pa), (2) tolerance that does not consider any harm inflicted by others (gzhan gyis gnod pa byas pa la ji mi snyam pa'i bzod pa), (3) tolerance that accepts the experience of suffering (sdug bsngal nyams su len pa'i bzod pa), (4) tolerance that is intent on what is definitive in the Dharma (chos la nges par mos pa'i bzod pa), (5) tolerance that can endure hardships (bya dka' ba la bzod pa), (6) tolerance that utilizes the approach of skillful means (thabs kyis sgo'i bzod pa), (7) tolerance of saintly persons (skyes bu dam pa'i bzod pa), (8) tolerance with respect to all aspects (rnam pa thams cad du bzod pa), (9) tolerance of the needs of the destitute (phongs pa 'dod pa la bzod pa), and (10) tolerance of this world of suffering for the sake of others ('di dang gzhan du sdug bsngal ba la bzod pa).

g.810 ten virtuous actions

dge ba bcu'i las

དགེ་བ་བརྒྱའི་ལས།

daśakuśalakarman

These are the opposite of the ten nonvirtuous actions, i.e., refraining from engaging in the ten nonvirtuous actions and (in some contexts) doing the opposite.

g.811 their memory does not degenerate

dgongs pa nyams pa myi mnga'

དགོངས་པ་ཉམས་པ་མྱི་མངའ།

nāsti muṣitasmr̥titā

Third of the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas.

g.812 their unobstructed and unimpeded transcendental knowledge and seeing engages with the future

ma 'ongs pa'i dus la ma thogs ma chags pa'i ye shes gzigs pa 'jug

མ་འོངས་པའི་དུས་ལ་མ་ཐོགས་མ་ཆགས་པའི་ཡེ་ཤེས་གཟིགས་པ་འཇུག། anāgate 'dhvany asaṅgam apratihataṃ jñānadarśanaṃ pravartate

Seventeenth of the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas.

g.813 their unobstructed and unimpeded transcendental knowledge and seeing engages with the past

'das pa'i dus la ma thogs ma chags pa'i ye shes gzigs pa 'jug

འདས་པའི་དུས་ལ་མ་ཐོགས་མ་ཆགས་པའི་ཡེ་ཤེས་གཟིགས་པ་འཇུག།

atīte 'dhvany asaṅgam apratihataṃ jñānadarśanaṃ pravartate

Sixteenth of the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas.

g.814 their unobstructed and unimpeded transcendental knowledge and seeing engages with the present

da ltar byung ba'i dus la ma thogs ma chags pa'i ye shes gzigs pa 'jug

ད་ལྟར་བྱུང་བའི་དུས་ལ་མ་ཐོགས་མ་ཆགས་པའི་ཡེ་ཤེས་གཟིགས་པ་འཇུག། pratyutpanne 'dhvany asaṅgam apratihataṃ jñānadarśanaṃ pravartate

Eighteenth of the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas.

g.815 thirty-seven factors conducive to enlightenment

byang chub kyi phyogs kyi chos sum cu rtsa bdun

བྱང་ཆུབ་ཀྱི་ཕྱོགས་ཀྱི་ཚོས་སུམ་ཅུ་ཚ་བ་དུམ།

saptatrimśadbodhipakṣadharmā

The thirty-seven factors conducive to enlightenment comprise the four applications of mindfulness, the four correct exertions, the four supports for miraculous ability, the five faculties, the five powers, the seven branches of enlightenment, and the noble eightfold path.

g.816 thirty-two major marks of a great person

mi chen po'i mtshan sum cu rtsa gnyis

མི་ཚེན་པོའི་མཚན་སྲུང་བླ་མ་གཉིས།

dvātriṃśanmahāpuruṣalakṣaṇa

These are the major physical marks that identify the buddha form body and which also portend the advent of a wheel-turning emperor. As well as being listed in this and other Prajñāpāramitā sūtras (see chapter 63 here in the One Hundred Thousand; the Twenty-Five Thousand, 62.76; the Eighteen Thousand, 73-89; and the Ten Thousand, 2.15), they are also found detailed in the Play in Full (Lalitavistara), 7.98-7.103 and 26.147-26.175; Mahāyānopadeśa; Ratnagotravibhāgottaratantraśāstra, 3.17-25; Mahāvastu; and in the Pali Lakkhaṇasutta.

g.817 thorough investigation

kun tu rtog pa

ཀུན་རུ་རྟོག་པ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.818 thoroughbred

cang shes pa

ཅང་ཤེས་པ།

ājāneya

Meaning “thoroughbred horse,” the term is used here and in the introductory narratives of many sūtras as a metaphor for nobility.

g.819 thousandfold world system

stong gi 'jig rten gyi khams

སྟོང་གི་འཇིག་རྟེན་གྱི་ཁམས།

sāhasralokadhātu

A universe comprising one thousand world systems, each with its four continents, Mount Sumeru etc., according to traditional Indian cosmology.

g.820 three faculties

dbang po gsum

དབང་པོ་གསུམ།

trīndriya

They are (1) the faculty of coming to understand what one has not yet understood (anājñātamājñāsyāmīndriya, yongs su ma shes pa yongs su shes par bya ba'i dbang po), (2) the faculty of understanding all (ājñendriya, yongs su shes pa'i dbang po), and (3) the faculty of knowing one has fully understood (ājñātāvīndriya, yongs su shes pas rtogs pa'i dbang po).

In chapter 2 these three are rendered as the “faculty of coming to fully understand what has not been fully understood,” the “faculty of fully understanding,” and the “faculty of knowing that one has fully understood.”

g.821 three fetters

kun tu sbyor ba gsum

ཀུན་དུ་སྒྲོར་བ་གསུམ།

trisaṃyojana

The three fetters comprise false views about perishable composite (i.e., views of the self), doubt, and a sense of moral and ascetic supremacy.

g.822 three gateways to liberation

rnam par thar pa'i sgo gsum

རྣམ་པར་ཐར་པའི་སྒོ་གསུམ།

vimokṣamukha

These are (1) emptiness as a gateway to liberation, (2) signlessness as a gateway to liberation, and (3) wishlessness as a gateway to liberation. Among them, emptiness is characterized as the absence of inherent existence, signlessness as the absence of distinguishing marks, and wishlessness as the absence of hopes and fears.

g.823 three knowledges

rig pa gsum

རིག་པ་གསུམ།

trividya

These comprise (1) knowledge through recollecting past lives (sngon gyi gnas rjes su dran pa'i rig pa); (2) knowledge of beings' death and rebirth (tshe 'pho ba dang skye ba shes pa'i rig pa), in some definitions expressed as knowledge through clairvoyance (lha'i mig gi shes pa); and (3) knowledge of the extinction of contaminants (zag pa zad pa shes pa'i rig pa). See Śatasāhasrikā-prajñāpāramitābrhatṭikā (Toh 3807, Degé Tengyur vol. 91, F.39.b.)

g.824 three meditative stabilities

ting nge 'dzin gsum

ཏིང་ངེ་འཛོལ་གསུམ།

trayaḥ samādhyah

These are listed as (1) the meditative stability of emptiness, (2) the meditative stability of signlessness, and (3) the meditative stability of wishlessness. For an explanation according to this text, see 9.31. Note that this term is also used in this text to refer to a different set of three meditative stabilities.

g.825 three meditative stabilities

ting nge 'dzin gsum

ཏིང་ངེ་འཛོལ་གསུམ།

trayaḥ samādhyah

These are listed as (1) the meditative stability with an initial mental application and with a sustained mental application, (2) the meditative stability without an initial mental application but with just a sustained mental application, and (3) the meditative stability without an initial mental application and without a sustained mental application. For an explanation according to this text, see 9.40–9.43. Note that this term is also used in this text to refer to the usual set of three meditative stabilities: emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness.

g.826 three realms

khamṣ gsum

ཁམས་གསུམ། tridhātu

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The three realms that contain all the various kinds of existence in saṃsāra: the desire realm, the form realm, and the formless realm.

g.827 three spheres

'khor gsum

འཁོར་གསུམ།

trimaṇḍala

These three aspects, literally “circles” or “provinces,” are the doer, the action, and the object of the action.

g.828 three vehicles

theg pa gsum

ཐེག་པ་གསུམ།

triyāna

The śrāvaka vehicle, the pratyekabuddha vehicle, and the bodhisattva vehicle.

- g.829 through their own extrasensory powers they have actualized, achieved, and dwell in the liberation of mind and the liberation of wisdom in the state that is free of contaminants because all contaminants have ceased

zag pa rnam zad pa'i phyir sems rnam par grol ba dang / shes rab rnam par grol ba zag pa myed pa/ rang gis mngon par shes pas mngon du byas te/ nye bar bsgrubs shing rnam par spyod do/

ཟག་པ་རྣམས་ཟད་པའི་ཕྱིར་སེམས་རྣམ་པར་གྲོལ་བ་དང་། ཤེས་རབ་རྣམ་པར་གྲོལ་བ་ཟག་པ་སྤྱིད་པ། རང་གིས་མངོན་པར་ཤེས་པས་མངོན་དུ་བྱས་ཏེ། ཉེབར་བསྐྱབས་ཤིང་རྣམ་པར་སྤྱོད་དོ།

—

Tenth of the ten powers of the tathāgatas.

- g.830 tolerance

bzod pa

བཟོད་པ།

kṣānti

Third of the six perfections.

- g.831 total illumination

kun tu snang ba · kun nas snang ba

ཀུན་ཏུ་སྣང་བ། · ཀུན་ནས་སྣང་བ། samantāvabhāsa

A meditative stability.

- g.832 total illumination

kun tu snang ba

ཀུན་ཏུ་སྣང་བ།

samantāvāloka

A meditative stability. See also n.465.

- g.833 transcendence of the range

yul las rgal ba

ཡུལ་ལས་རྒལ་བ།

viśamaśānti

A meditative stability.

g.834 Transcendental knowledge

ye shes

ཡེ་ཤེས།

jñāna<sup>AD</sup>

Although the Sanskrit term jñāna can refer to knowledge in a general sense, it is often used in Buddhist texts to refer to the mode of awareness of a realized being. In contrast to ordinary knowledge, which mistakenly perceives phenomena as real entities having real properties, transcendental knowledge perceives the emptiness of phenomena, their lack of intrinsic essence. It is often translated as “pristine awareness,” “primordial wisdom,” “primordial awareness,” “gnosis,” or the like.

Also rendered here simply as “knowledge.”

g.835 transcending all phenomena

chos thams cad las 'da' ba

ཚོས་ཐམས་ཅད་ལས་འདེའ་བ།

praticchedakara

A meditative stability.

g.836 Trayastriṃśa

sum cu rtsa gsum

སུམ་རུ་ཚ་གསུམ།

trayastriṃśa

Second god realm of desire, abode of the thirty-three gods.

g.837 Tree at the Seat of Enlightenment

snying po byang chub kyi shing

སྤྱིང་པོ་བྱང་ཚུབ་ཀྱི་ཤིང་།

bodhimaṇḍavṛkṣa

The tree at Vajrāsana under which all the buddhas attain enlightenment.

g.838 Tridé Tsuktsen

khri lde gtsug btsan

ཁྱི་ལྡེ་གཙུག་བཙུན།

—

Eighth-century Tibetan king, 704–755, the father of Tri Songdetsen. Also known by the moniker Mé Aktsom (mes ag tshoms).

g.839 Trulnang

ra sa 'phrul snang · 'phrul snang

ར་ས་འཕྲུལ་སྣང། · འཕྲུལ་སྣང།

—

The original name of the temple in Lhasa, first built in the reign of Songtsen Gampo, on the site now known as the Jokhang.

g.840 truths of the noble ones

'phags pa'i bden pa

འཕགས་པའི་བདེན་པ།

āryasatya

See “four truths of the noble ones.”

g.841 turn the wheel of the Dharma

chos kyi 'khor lo bskor ba

ཚོས་ཀྱི་འཁོར་ལོ་བསྐོར་བ།

dharmacakrapravartana

This metaphor refers to the promulgation of the Buddhist teachings by the Buddha.

g.842 Tuṣita

dga' ldan

དགའ་ལྡན།

tuṣita

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

Tuṣita (or sometimes Saṃtuṣita), literally “Joyous” or “Contented,” is one of the six heavens of the desire realm (kāmadhātu). In standard classifications, such as the one in the Abhidharmakośa, it is ranked as the fourth of the six counting from below. This god realm is where all future buddhas are said to dwell before taking on their final rebirth prior to awakening. There, the Buddha Śākyamuni lived his preceding life as the bodhisattva Śvetaketu. When departing to take birth in this world, he appointed the bodhisattva Maitreya, who will be the next buddha of this eon, as his Dharma regent in Tuṣita. For an account of the Buddha’s previous life in Tuṣita, see The Play in Full (Toh 95), 2.12, and for an account of Maitreya's birth in Tuṣita and a description of this realm, see The Sūtra on Maitreya's Birth in the Heaven of Joy, (Toh 199).

g.843 twelve branches of the scriptures

gsung rab yan lag bcu nyis

གསུང་རབ་ཡན་ལག་བརྒྱའི་སྒྲིག་ལྗོན། dvādaśāṅga-pravacana <sup>AO</sup>

The twelve branches of the scriptures or “twelve branches of excellent speech” are discourses (Tib. mdo'i sde, Skt. sūtra), sayings in prose and verse (Tib. dbyangs kyis bsnyad pa, Skt. geya), prophetic declarations (Tib. lung du bstan pa, Skt. vyākaraṇa), verses (Tib. tshigs su bcad pa, Skt. gāthā), statements made for a purpose (Tib. ched du brjod pa, Skt. udāna), introductions (Tib. gleng gzhi brjod pa, Skt. nidāna), narratives (Tib. rtogs pa brjod pa, Skt. avadāna), accounts (Tib. de lta bu byung ba, Skt. itivorṭtaka), tales of past lives (Tib. skyes pa'i rabs kyis sde, Skt. jātaka), marvelous events (Tib. rmad du byung ba'i chos kyis sde, Skt. adbhūta-dharma), and established instructions (Tib. gtan la bab par bstan pa, Skt. upadeśa), and most extensive teachings (Tib. shin tu rgyas pa, Skt. vaipulya).

g.844 twelve links of dependent origination

rten cing 'brel bar 'byung ba'i yan lag bcu gnyis

རྟེན་ཅིང་འབྲེལ་བར་འབྲུང་བའི་ཡན་ལག་བརྒྱའི་སྒྲིག་ལྗོན།

dvādaśāṅgapratītyasamutpāda

The twelve links that make up the sequence of dependent origination are (1) ignorance, (2) formative predispositions, (3) consciousness, (4) name and form, (5) sense fields, (6) sensory contact, (7) sensation, (8) craving, (9) grasping, (10) rebirth process, (11) birth, and (12) aging and death. See also “dependent origination.”

g.845 twelve sense fields

skye mched bcu gnyis

སྐྱེ་མཆོད་བརྒྱའི་སྒྲིག་ལྗོན།

dvādaśāyatana

These comprise the six inner sense fields and six outer sense fields.

g.846 twenty higher aspirations

lhag pa'i bsam pa nyi shu

ལྷག་པའི་བསམ་པ་ཉི་ཤུ།

vimśatyadhicitta

These twenty higher aspirations (vimśatyadhicitta, lhag pa'i bsam pa nyi shu) are enumerated and explained in the Śatasāhasrikāprajñāpāramitābrhṛtṭikā (Toh 3807, Degé Tengyur vol. 91, F.39.a et seq.). They comprise (1) the supreme aspiration of higher faith in the Buddha, Dharma, and Saṅgha (sangs rgyas dang chos dang dge 'dun la lhag par dad cing sems pa mchog gi bsam pa); (2) the aspiration of the higher attitude to ethical discipline that adopts the vows of the bodhisattvas' ethical discipline (byang chub sems dpa'i tshul khrims kyi sdom pa yang dag par blang ba la lhag par sems pa'i tshul khrims kyi bsam pa); (3) the aspiration of the higher attitude to perfection in order to achieve the perfections of generosity, tolerance, perseverance, meditative concentration, and wisdom (sbyin pa dang bzod pa dang brtson 'grus dang bsam gtan dang shes rab yang dag par grub par bya ba'i phyir lhag par sems pa'i pha rol tu phyin pa'i bsam pa); (4) the aspiration of the genuine higher attitude concerning the nonself of phenomena and individual persons, ultimate reality, and the profound real nature of phenomena (chos dang gang zag la bdag med pa dang don dam pa dang chos kyi de bzhin nyid zab mo la lhag par sems pa yang dag pa'i don gyi bsam pa); (5) the unchanging and steadfast aspiration that one-pointedly establishes the certainty of complete enlightenment (yang dag par rdzogs pa'i byang chub tu sems rtse gcig tu nges par gyur cing mi 'gyur ba brtan pa'i bsam pa); (6) the impure aspiration of the higher attitude to the level of engagement through belief (mos pas spyod pa'i sa la lhag pa'i bsam pa ma dag pa'i bsam pa); (7) the pure higher aspiration concerning the levels from the first to the eighth (sa dang po nas sa brgyad pa'i bar gyi lhag pa'i bsam pa dag pa); (8) the utterly pure higher aspiration concerning the ninth and concluding [tenth] levels (mthar phyin pa'i sa ste sa dgu pa dang bcu pa'i lhag pa'i bsam pa shin tu dag pa); (9) the higher aspiration concerning the inconceivable might of the extrasensory powers of the buddhas and bodhisattvas (sangs rgyas dang byang chub sems dpa' rnam kyi mngon par shes pa bsam gyis mi khyab pa'i mthu la lhag par bsam pa); (10) the beneficial aspiration that introduces beings to the practice of virtuous action (sems can rnam dge ba byed du 'jug pa phan pa'i bsam pa); (11) the aspiration that is undeceiving concerning the teacher and the object of generosity (bla ma dang sbyin gnas la mi slu ba'i bsam pa); (12) the aspiration to bring about happiness when bodhisattvas associate with conduct in conformity with the Dharma (byang chub sems dpa' chos mthun par spyod pa dang / 'grogs na bde bar bya ba'i bsam pa); (13) the aspiration to overpower the minds of those overwhelmed by the afflicted mental states, the subsidiary afflicted mental states, and all the deeds of Māra (nyon mongs pa dang / nye ba'i nyon mongs pa dang bdud kyi las thams cad zil gyis mnan pa dag gi sems kyi dbang du gyur par bya ba'i bsam pa); (14) the aspiration of the view concerning the defects in all formative predispositions ('du byed thams cad la skyon du lta ba'i bsam pa); (15) the aspiration of the view concerning the advantages in the attainment of nirvāṇa (mya ngan las 'das pa la phan yon du lta ba'i bsam pa); (16) the aspiration to constantly cultivate the factors conducive to enlightenment (byang chub kyi phyogs kyi chos rnams rtag tu bsgom pa bya ba'i bsam pa); (17) the aspiration to stay in isolation until one attains conformity with cultivation of those very factors conducive to enlightenment (byang chub kyi phyogs kyi chos de dag nyid bsgom pa dang mthun pa'i bar du dben pa la gnas pa'i bsam pa); (18) the aspiration that disregards mundane materialism, acquisition, and fame ('jig rten gyi zang zing dang / rnyed pa dang bkur sti la mi lta ba'i bsam pa); (19) the aspiration to realize the Great Vehicle, abandoning the Lesser Vehicle (theg pa chung ngu spangs te theg pa chen po rtogs par bya ba'i bsam pa); and (20) the aspiration to accomplish all the aims of all beings (sems can thams cad kyi don thams cad bya ba'i bsam pa).

g.847 ultimate reality

don dam pa

དོན་དམ་པ།

paramārtha

g.848 unattached to any phenomena

chos thams cad la chags pa myed pa

ཚོས་ཐམས་ཅད་ལ་ཆགས་པ་སྲིད་པ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.849 uncommon phenomena

thun mong ma lags pa'i chos

སྤུན་མོང་མ་ལགས་པའི་ཚོས།

asādhāraṇadharmā

The uncommon phenomena from the perspective of ordinary persons are listed at 8.90.

g.850 unconditioned phenomena

'dus ma byas

འདུས་མ་བྱས།

asaṃskṛta

Unconditioned phenomena are defined in 5.173 as those which are nonarising, nondwelling, and nonperishing, while the Ten Thousand (2.82) adds nontransformation with respect to all things, the cessation of desire, the cessation of hatred, the cessation of delusion, the abiding of phenomena in the real nature, reality, the realm of phenomena, maturity with respect to all things, the real nature, the unmistakable real nature, the one and only real nature, and the finality of existence. Although the Prajñāpāramitā analysis ultimately places all phenomena in this category, that analysis derives its force by contrasting with the way in which the various Abhidharma traditions classify the unconditioned, principally including nirvāṇa and in some cases space and certain kinds of cessation. See also n.127.

g.851 uncontaminated phenomena

zag pa ma mchis pa'i chos · zag pa med pa'i chos

ཟག་པ་མ་མཚིས་པའི་ཚོས། · ཟག་པ་མེད་པའི་ཚོས།

anāsravadharma

Uncontaminated phenomena include the four applications of mindfulness, the four correct exertions, the four supports for miraculous ability, the five faculties, the five powers, the seven branches of enlightenment, the noble eightfold path, the four truths of the noble ones, the eight liberations, the nine serial steps of meditative absorption, emptiness, signlessness, wishlessness, all the gateways of the meditative stabilities and the dhāraṇīs, the ten powers of the tathāgatas, the four fearlessnesses, the four kinds of exact knowledge, great loving kindness, great compassion, and the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas. See also n.127.

g.852 undefiled

kun nas nyon mongs pa ma mchis pa

ཀུན་ནས་ཉོན་མོངས་པ་མ་མཚིས་པ།

asaṃkleśa

g.853 unimpaired

nyams pa med pa · nyam pa med pa · nyam pa myed pa

ཉམས་པ་མེད་པ། · ཉམ་པ་མེད་པ། · ཉམ་པ་མྱེད་པ། asampramuṣita

A meditative stability.

g.854 unimpaired by all phenomena

chos thams cad nyam pa med pa

ཚོས་ཐམས་ཅད་ཉམ་པ་མེད་པ། sarvadharmāsampramoṣa
A meditative stability.

g.855 unimpaired extrasensory power

mngon par shes pa mi nyam pa

མ་དོན་པར་ཤེས་པ་མི་ཉམ་པ། acyutānāgāminyabhijñā
A meditative stability.

g.856 union

rnal 'byor

རྣལ་འབྱོར།

yoga

Although the term could be rendered “practice,” “yogic practice,” or simply “yoga,” in these passages the underlying meaning of the term is emphasized. Note that the Sanskrit term translated in this text as “engaged” (yukta) is closely related, even though the Tibetan (brtson) is less so.

g.857 unmistaken real nature

ma nor ba de bzhin nyid

མ་ནོར་བ་དེ་བཞིན་ཉིད།

avitathatā

g.858 unmodified

'gyur ba med pa · 'gyur ba myed pa

འགྱུར་བ་མེད་པ། · འགྱུར་བ་སྐྱེད་པ།

avikāra

A meditative stability.

g.859 unmoving

mi g.yo ba · myi g.yo ba

མི་གཡོ་བ། · མྱི་གཡོ་བ།

aniñjaya

A meditative stability.

g.860 unseeking

tshol ba med pa · tshol ba myed pa

ཚོལ་བ་མེད་པ། · ཚོལ་བ་བྱེད་པ། animiṣa

A meditative stability.

g.861 unsurpassed, perfect, complete enlightenment

bla na med pa yang dag par rdzogs pa'i byang chub

· bla na myed pa yang dag par rdzogs pa'i byang chub

སྐྱེ་ན་མེད་པ་ཡང་དག་པར་རྫོགས་པའི་བྱང་ཆུབ། · སྐྱེ་ན་བྱེད་པ་ཡང་དག་པར་རྫོགས་པའི་བྱང་ཆུབ། anuttarasamyaksambodhi<sup>AS</sup>

g.862 unvanquished

myi 'pham pa · mi 'pham pa

མྱི་འཕམ་པ། · མི་འཕམ་པ།

ajaya

A meditative stability.

g.863 unwavering

g.yo ba med pa · g.yo ba myed pa

གཡོ་བ་མེད་པ། · གཡོ་བ་བྱེད་པ།

acala

A meditative stability.

g.864 Upaśāntā

nye bar zhi ba

ཉེ་བར་ཞི་བ།

upaśāntā

Name of a world system in the western direction, where the buddha Ratnārcis teaches the perfection of wisdom to bodhisattva great beings.

g.865 upper robe

bla gos

སྐྱ་གོས།

uttarāsaṅga

In common parlance, this denotes the patched, yellow upper robe worn by renunciates.

g.866 Uttaramati

blo gros dam pa

ལྷོ་གྲོས་དམ་པ།

uttaramati

Name of a bodhisattva.

g.867 vajra

rdo rje

རྡོ་རྗེ།

vajra

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

This term generally indicates indestructibility and stability. In the sūtras, vajra most often refers to the hardest possible physical substance, said to have divine origins. In some scriptures, it is also the name of the all-powerful weapon of Indra, which in turn is crafted from vajra material. In the tantras, the vajra is sometimes a scepter-like ritual implement, but the term can also take on other esoteric meanings.

In this text:

In this text also the name of a meditative stability in chapters 6 and 8.

g.868 vajra maṇḍala

rdo rje'i dkyil 'khor

རྡོ་རྗེའི་དཀྱིལ་འཁོར།

vajramaṇḍala

A meditative stability.

g.869 vajra-like

rdo rje lta bu

རྡོ་རྗེ་ལྷ་སྲ།

vajropama

A meditative stability.

g.870 vajra-like meditative stability

rdo rje lta bu'i ting nge 'dzin

རྡོ་རྗེ་ལྷ་སྲའི་ཉིང་ངེ་འཛིན།

vajropamasamādhi

g.871 vajra-like transcendental knowledge

ye shes rdo rje lta bu

ཡེ་ཤེས་རོ་རྗེ་ལྷ་བུ།

vajropamajñāna

g.872 Vajramati

rdo rje blo gros

རོ་རྗེ་བློ་གྲོས།

vajramati

Name of a bodhisattva.

g.873 Vardhamānamati

blo gros 'phel ba

བློ་གྲོས་འཕེལ་བ།

vardhamānamati

Name of a bodhisattva.

g.874 Varuṇadeva

chu bdag lha

ཚུབ་དག་ལྷ།

varuṇadeva

Name of a bodhisattva.

g.875 Vaśavartin

dbang byed

དབང་བྱེད།

vaśavartin

g.876 Vaśībhūtā

dbang du gyur pa

དབང་དུ་གྱུར་པ།

vaśībhūtā

Name of a world system in the northwestern direction, where the buddha Ekacchatra teaches the perfection of wisdom to bodhisattva great beings.

g.877 vehicle of the bodhisattvas

byang chub sems dpa' i theg pa

བྱང་ཚུབ་སེམས་དཔའི་ཐེག་པ།

bodhisattvayāna

This is equivalent to the Great Vehicle.

g.878 venerable

tshe dang ldan pa

ཚེ་དང་ལྷན་པ།

āyusmān

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

A respectful form of address between monks, and also between lay companions of equal standing. It literally means “one who has a [long] life.”

g.879 verbal abuse

zhe gcod pa

ཞེ་གཙོད་པ།

pāruṣya

Sixth of the ten nonvirtuous actions. Also rendered as “harsh words.”

g.880 verses

tshigs su bcad pa

ཚིགས་སུ་བཅད་པ།

gāthā

Fourth of the twelve branches of the scriptures.

g.881 very limit of reality

yang dag pa'i mtha'

ཡང་དག་པའི་མཐའ།

bhūtakoti

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

This term has three meanings: (1) the ultimate nature, (2) the experience of the ultimate nature, and (3) the quiescent state of a worthy one (arhat) to be avoided by bodhisattvas.

g.882 victory banner

rgyal mtshan

རྒྱལ་མཚན།

dhvaja

One of the eight auspicious symbols, often in the form of a rooftop ornament, representing the Buddha's victory over malign forces.

g.883 Videha

lus 'phags

ལུས་འཕགས།

videha

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

One of the four main continents that surround Sumeru, the central mountain in classical Buddhist cosmology. It is the eastern continent, characterized as “sublime in physique,” and it is semicircular in shape. The humans who live there are twice as tall as those from our southern continent, and live for 250 years. It is known as Videha and Pūrvavideha.

g.884 viewer

mthong ba po

མཐོང་བ་པོ།

darśaka

g.885 Vigatarajaḥsañcayā

rdul gyi tshogs dang bral ba

རུལ་གྱི་ཚོགས་དང་བྲལ་བ།

vigatarajaḥsañcayā

Name of a world system in the southwestern direction, where the buddha Sūryamaṇḍalaprabhāsottamaśrī teaches the perfection of wisdom to bodhisattva great beings.

g.886 Vigataśoka

ngan med pa

ངན་མེད་པ།

vigataśoka

Name of a bodhisattva from a distant world system in the southern direction called Sarvaśokāpagata, who comes to this world to pay homage to the Buddha.

g.887 Vijayavikrāmin

rnam par rgyal bas rnam par gnon pa

རྣམ་པར་རྒྱལ་བས་རྣམ་པར་གཞོན་པ།

vijayavikrāmin

Name of a bodhisattva from a distant world system in the northeastern intermediate direction called Samādhyalaṅkṛta, who comes to this world to pay homage to the Buddha.

g.888 Vinaya

'dul ba

འདུལ་བ།

vinaya

The vows and texts pertaining to monastic discipline.

g.889 virtuous attributes

dge ba'i chos

དགེ་བའི་ཚོས།

kuśaladharmā

Also translated here as “virtuous phenomena.”

g.890 virtuous phenomena

dge ba'i chos

དགེ་བའི་ཚོས།

kuśaladharmā

Also translated here as “virtuous attributes.” For a listing of the mundane virtuous phenomena, see 8.77.

g.891 Viśeṣamati

'phags pa'i blo gros

འཕགས་པའི་བློ་གྲོས།

viśeṣamati

Name of a bodhisattva.

g.892 visual consciousness

mig gi rnam par shes pa · myig gi rnam par shes pa

མིག་གི་རྣམ་པར་ཤེས་པ། · མྱིག་གི་རྣམ་པར་ཤེས་པ།

—

g.893 visually compounded sensory contact

mig gi 'dus te reg pa · myig gi 'dus te reg pa

མིག་གི་འདུས་ཏེ་རེག་པ། · མྱིག་གི་འདུས་ཏེ་རེག་པ།

g.894 void

dben pa

དབེན་པ།

vivikta

“Void” renders dben pa (vivikta); alternatively, “isolated,” in the sense that there is nothing else beside it.

g.895 Vṛha

che ba

ཚེ་བ།

vṛha

Thirteenth of the sixteen god realms of form that correspond to the four meditative concentrations, meaning “Great.” Vṛhat is the spelling, not bṛha(t) in Ghoṣa (the only place these divisions are attested to our knowledge).

g.896 Vṛhatphala

'bras bu che

འབྲས་བུ་ཚེ།

vṛhatphala

Sixteenth and highest of the sixteen god realms of form that correspond to the four meditative concentrations, meaning “Great Fruition.”

g.897 Vulture Peak

ri bya ṛgod 'phungs po

རི་བྱ་རྗོད་འཕྲུངས་པོ།

ṛdhrakūṭa

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The Ṛdhrakūṭa, literally Vulture Peak, was a hill located in the kingdom of Magadha, in the vicinity of the ancient city of Rājagṛha (modern-day Rajgir, in the state of Bihar, India), where the Buddha bestowed many sūtras, especially the Great Vehicle teachings, such as the Prajñāpāramitā sūtras. It continues to be a sacred pilgrimage site for Buddhists to this day.

g.898 Vyūharāja

rnam par bkod pa'i rgyal po

རྣམ་པར་བཀོད་པའི་རྒྱལ་པོ།

vyūharāja

Name of a bodhisattva.

g.899 Vyūharāja

rgyan gyi rgyal po

ཀུན་གྱི་རྒྱལ་པོ།

vyūharāja

Name that ten thousand living beings in the assembly will bear when they become buddhas.

g.900 water element

chu'i khams

ཚུའི་ཁམས།

—

g.901 Wé Mañjuśrī

dbas ma.ny+dzu shrI · sbas ma.ny+dzu shrI · dba' ma.ny+dzu shrI

དབས་མཚུ་གླི། · སྤས་མཚུ་གླི། · དབའ་མཚུ་གླི།

—

An early Tibetan translator.

g.902 well established as the king of meditative stabilities

ting nge 'dzin la rgyal po ltar rab tu gnas pa

ཏིང་ངེ་འཛིན་ལ་རྒྱལ་པོ་ལྟར་རབ་རྟུ་གནས་པ།

samādhirājasupratīṣṭhita

A meditative stability.

g.903 well situated

rab tu gnas pa

རབ་རྟུ་གནས་པ།

supratīṣṭhita

A meditative stability.

g.904 well-engaging king of meditative stabilities

ting nge 'dzin gyi rgyal po bde bar 'jug pa

· ting nge 'dzin gyi rgyal po bde bar 'jugs pa

ཏིང་ངེ་འཛིན་གྱི་རྒྱལ་པོ་བདེ་བར་འཇུག་པ། · ཏིང་ངེ་འཛིན་གྱི་རྒྱལ་པོ་བདེ་བར་འཇུགས་པ།

—

A meditative stability. In the latter part of chapter 8 and in chapter 11 this is rendered as “well-founded king of meditative stabilities” (ting nge 'dzin gyi rgyal po bde bar 'dzugs pa).

g.905 well-founded king of meditative stabilities

ting nge 'dzin gyi rgyal po bde bar 'dzugs pa

ཉིང་ངེ་འཛིན་གྱི་རྒྱལ་པོ་བདེ་བར་འཇུགས་པ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.906 wheel-turning emperor

'khor los sgyur ba'i rgyal po

འཁོར་ལོས་སྐུར་བའི་རྒྱལ་པོ།

cakravartīrāja

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

An ideal monarch or emperor who, as the result of the merit accumulated in previous lifetimes, rules over a vast realm in accordance with the Dharma. Such a monarch is called a cakravartin because he bears a wheel (cakra) that rolls (varṭana) across the earth, bringing all lands and kingdoms under his power. The cakravartin conquers his territory without causing harm, and his activity causes beings to enter the path of wholesome actions. According to Vasubandhu's Abhidharmakośa, just as with the buddhas, only one cakravartin appears in a world system at any given time. They are likewise endowed with the thirty-two major marks of a great being (mahāpuruṣalakṣaṇa), but a cakravartin's marks are outshined by those of a buddha. They possess seven precious objects: the wheel, the elephant, the horse, the wish-fulfilling gem, the queen, the general, and the minister. An illustrative passage about the cakravartin and his possessions can be found in The Play in Full (Toh 95), 3.3–3.13.

Vasubandhu lists four types of cakravartins: (1) the cakravartin with a golden wheel (suvarṇacakravartin) rules over four continents and is invited by lesser kings to be their ruler; (2) the cakravartin with a silver wheel (rūpyacakravartin) rules over three continents and his opponents submit to him as he approaches; (3) the cakravartin with a copper wheel (tāmracakravartin) rules over two continents and his opponents submit themselves after preparing for battle; and (4) the cakravartin with an iron wheel (ayaścakravartin) rules over one continent and his opponents submit themselves after brandishing weapons.

g.907 wind element

*rlung gi kham*s

རླུང་གི་ཁམས།

—

g.908 wisdom

shes rab

ཤེས་རབ།

prajñā

In the context of the perfections, wisdom is the sixth of the six perfections. The translation of prajñā (shes rab) by “wisdom” here defers to the precedent established by Edward Conze in his writings. It has a certain poetic resonance which more accurate renderings—“discernment,” “discriminative awareness,” or “intelligence”—unfortunately lack. It should be remembered that in Abhidharma, prajñā is classed as one of the five object-determining mental states (pañcaviṣayaniyata, yul nges lnga), alongside “will,” “resolve,” “mindfulness,” and “meditative stability.” Following Asaṅga’s Abhidharma-samuccaya, Jamgon Kongtrul (The Treasury of Knowledge, Book 6, Pt. 2, p. 498), defines prajñā as “the discriminative awareness that analyzes specific and general characteristics.” See also “perfection of wisdom.”

g.909 wishlessness

smon pa myed pa · smon pa med pa

སྲོན་པ་བྱེད་པ། · སྲོན་པ་མེད་པ།

apraṇihita

The ultimate absence of any wish, desire, or aspiration, even those directed towards buddhahood. One of the three gateways to liberation; the other two are emptiness and signlessness.

g.910 wishlessness as a gateway to liberation

rnam par thar pa’i sgo smon pa myed pa · rnam par thar pa’i sgo smon pa med pa

རྣམ་པར་ཐར་པའི་སློབ་སྲོན་པ་བྱེད་པ། · རྣམ་པར་ཐར་པའི་སློབ་སྲོན་པ་མེད་པ། apraṇihitavimokṣamukha <sup>AD</sup>

Third of the three gateways to liberation.

g.911 with a dustless and dust-free principle

rdul med cing rdul dang bral ba’i tshul dang ldan pa

རྩུལ་མེད་ཅིང་རྩུལ་དང་བྲལ་བའི་རྩུལ་དང་ལྷན་པ།

arajīvirajonayayukta

A meditative stability.

g.912 without apprehending anything

myi dmyigs pa'i tshul · mi dmyigs pa'i tshul · mi dmigs pa'i tshul

མྱི་དམྱིགས་པའི་ཚུལ། · མི་དམྱིགས་པའི་ཚུལ། · མི་དམིགས་པའི་ཚུལ།

anupalambhayogena

The expression “without apprehending anything” suggests that bodhisattva great beings should teach without perceiving anything as inherently existing.

g.913 without attachment or impediment

chags pa dang thogs pa med pa · chags pa dang thogs pa myed pa

ཆགས་པ་དང་ཐོགས་པ་མེད་པ། · ཆགས་པ་དང་ཐོགས་པ་མྱེད་པ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.914 without clumsiness

'khrul pa myi mnga'

འཇུལ་པ་མྱི་མངའ།

nāsti skhalitam

First of the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas.

g.915 without differentiating perceptions

'du shes sna tshogs myi mnga'

འདུ་ཤེས་སྣ་ཚོགས་མྱི་མངའ།

nāsti nānātoasaṃjñā

Fourth or fifth (depending on the list) of the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas.

g.916 without enmity

gcugs myed pa

གཅུགས་མྱེད་པ།

asamucchita

g.917 without mistakes

khrul pa med pa

ལྷུང་བ་མེད་པ།

—

A meditative stability.

g.918 without settled focus

gnas su bya ba med pa

གནས་སྲུབ་བ་མེད་པ།

niradhiṣṭhāna

A meditative stability.

g.919 without the indifference that lacks discernment

ma brtags pa'i btang snyoms myi mnga'

མ་བརྟགས་པའི་བཏང་སྟོམས་མྱི་མངའ།

apratisaṃkhyāyopekṣā

Sixth of the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas.

g.920 without uncomposed minds

thugs mnyam par ma bzhag pa myi mnga'

སྲུགས་མཉམ་པར་མ་བཞག་པ་མྱི་མངའ།

nāsty asamāhitacitta

Fourth or fifth (depending on the list) of the eighteen distinct qualities of the buddhas.

g.921 world of Yama

gshin rje'i 'jig rten

གཤིན་རྗེའི་འཛིག་རྟེན།

yamaloka

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

The land of the dead ruled over by the Lord of Death. In Buddhism it refers to the preta realm, where beings generally suffer from hunger and thirst, which in traditional Brahmanism is the fate of those departed without descendants to make ancestral offerings.

g.922 worthy repository

snod du gyur pa

སྟོན་དུ་གྱུར་པ།

pātragata

A meditative stability.

g.923 wrong view

lta ba

ལྷ་བ།

dṛṣṭi

Second of the four torrents.

g.924 wrong views

log par lta ba

ལོག་པར་ལྷ་བ།

mithyādrṣṭi

Tenth of the ten nonvirtuous actions.

g.925 yakṣa

gnod sbyin

གནོད་སྦྱིན།

yakṣa

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

A class of nonhuman beings who inhabit forests, mountainous areas, and other natural spaces, or serve as guardians of villages and towns, and may be propitiated for health, wealth, protection, and other boons, or controlled through magic. According to tradition, their homeland is in the north, where they live under the jurisdiction of the Great King Vaiśravaṇa.

Several members of this class have been deified as gods of wealth (these include the just-mentioned Vaiśravaṇa) or as bodhisattva generals of yakṣa armies, and have entered the Buddhist pantheon in a variety of forms, including, in tantric Buddhism, those of wrathful deities.

g.926 Yāma

mtshe ma

མཚོ་མ།

yāma

Third god realm of desire, meaning “Strifeless.”

g.927 Yaśodharā

grags 'dzin

གྲགས་འཛིན།

yaśodharā

Definition from the 84000 Glossary of Terms:

Daughter of Śākya Daṇḍadhara (more commonly Daṇḍapāṇi), sister of Iṣudhara and Aniruddha, she was the wife of Prince Siddhārtha and mother of his only child, Rāhula. After Prince Siddhārtha left his kingdom and attained awakening as the Buddha, she became his disciple and one of the first women to be ordained as a bhikṣunī. She attained the level of an arhat, a worthy one, endowed with the six superknowledges.

g.928 yawning lion

seng ge rnam par bsgyings pa

སེང་གེ་རྣམ་པར་བསྐྱེད་ས་པ།

siṃhavijrmbhita

A meditative stability. According to the Śatasāhasrikāprajñāpāramitābḥaṭṭikā (Toh 3807, F.53.a), it refers to a tathāgata's power to overcome or even preempt all opposition by sheer power and magnificence.

g.929 yojana

dpag tshad

དཔག་ཚད།

yojana

A yojana is eight “earshots,” or the distance a cart yoked to two oxen can go in a day.

g.930 Zhang Yeshe Dé

zhang ye shes sde

ཞང་ཡེ་ཤེས་སྡེ།

—

One of the most important Tibetan translators and chief editors of the early translation period (late eighth and early ninth century), responsible for a large number of canonical translations and author of several Tengyur texts.

ci.

CITATION INDEX

2.2 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823177#UT22084-014-001-185/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-185%22%5D\)

“How then, Lord, should bodhisattva great beings who want to fully awaken to all dharmas in all forms make an effort at the perfection of wisdom?”

2.3 14 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823019#UT22084-014-001-186/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-186%22%5D\)

Venerable Śāriputra having thus inquired, the Lord,

“Śāriputra, here bodhisattva great beings, having stood in the perfection of wisdom by way of not taking their stand on it,”

“Śāriputra, here bodhisattva great beings, having stood in the perfection of wisdom by way of not taking their stand on it,”

“having stood in the perfection of wisdom by way of not taking their stand on it,”

“should complete the perfection of giving.”

“by way of not giving up anything, because a gift, a giver, and a recipient are not apprehended.”

“should complete the perfection of giving by way of not giving up anything.”

“Should complete the perfection of morality because no downfall is incurred and no compounded downfall is incurred” —

“Because there is no disturbance” —

“Because there is no relaxing of physical or mental effort” —

“should complete... the perfection of perseverance”

“Because there is no experience” —

“Because all phenomena are not apprehended” —

“should complete the perfection of wisdom.”

2.4 4 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823024#UT22084-014-001-189/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-189%22%5D\)

“Śāriputra, bodhisattva great beings, having stood in the perfection of wisdom, should perfect the four applications of mindfulness,”

“Śāriputra, bodhisattva great beings, having stood in the perfection of wisdom, should perfect the four applications of mindfulness,”

“perfect the four applications of mindfulness.”

“because the applications of mindfulness cannot be apprehended.”

2.5 4 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823025#UT22084-014-001-190/%5Bdata-

quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-190%22%5D\)

“they should perfect ... the wishlessness meditative stabilization,”

“They should cultivate the emptiness meditative stabilization.”

“the signlessness meditative stabilization.”

“the wishlessness meditative stabilization.”

2.6 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(?

commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823026#UT22084-014-001-191/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-191%22%5D\)

“the four concentrations”

“they should cultivate the four concentrations,”

2.9 5 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(?

commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823048#UT22084-014-001-194/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-194%22%5D\)

“mindfulness of disgust,”

“Mindfulness of death”

“the perception of death.”

“the perception that there is no delight in the entire world.”

“the perception that there is nothing to trust in the entire world.”

2.10 3 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823053#UT22084-014-001-197/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-197%22%5D\)

“They should cultivate knowledge of suffering.”

“the knowledge of origination.”

“knowledge of extinction.”

2.11 5 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823056#UT22084-014-001-198/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-198%22%5D\)

“[The] knowledge of not arising”

“Knowledge of dharmas”

“conventional knowledge.”

“Knowledge of mastery”—

“Knowledge in accord with sound”—

2.14 12 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823021#UT22084-014-001-206/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-206%22%5D\)

“should cultivate... great love, great compassion, great joy, and great equanimity,”

“the nine abodes of beings”

“they should perfect... the ten tathāgata powers,”

“great equanimity”

“The five undiminished clairvoyances”—

“The six perfections”—

“The six principles of being liked”—

“The seven riches”

“The eight ways great persons think”—

“the nine places beings live”

“the ten tathāgata powers,”

“great compassion,”

2.15 8 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823069#UT22084-014-001-207/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-207%22%5D\)

“who want to fully awaken to the knowledge, furnished with the best of all aspects, of a knower of all aspects,”

“who want to fully awaken to the knowledge, furnished with the best of all aspects, of a knower of all,”

“who want to perfect all-knowledge,”

“the knowledge of all aspects.”

“the knowledge of path aspects.”

“all-knowledge.”

“want to perfect the knowledge of path aspects”

“want to perfect the knowledge of the aspects of the thought activity of all beings”—

2.16 3 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823023#UT22084-014-001-210/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-210%22%5D\)

“should... make an effort at the perfection of wisdom.”

“want to destroy all residual impressions, connections, and afflictions”

“want to destroy all residual impressions, connections, and afflictions”

2.17 3 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823072#UT22084-014-001-212/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-212%22%5D\)

“who want to enter into the secure state of a bodhisattva,”

“want to enter into the secure state of a bodhisattva”

“want to enter into the secure state of a bodhisattva”—

2.18 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823089#UT22084-014-001-214/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-214%22%5D\)

“Who want to pass beyond the level of śrāvakas and pratyekabuddhas”—

“Who want to stand on the irreversible level”—

2.19 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823091#UT22084-014-001-217/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-217%22%5D\)

“Who want to surpass gift-giving to all śrāvakas and pratyekabuddhas by producing a single thought with associated rejoicing”—

“the aggregate of morality”

2.21 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823093#UT22084-014-001-219/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-219%22%5D\)

“for the sake of all beings... giving even a little gift,”

2.22 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823094#UT22084-014-001-221/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-221%22%5D\)

“Bodhisattva great beings practicing the perfection of giving should train in the perfection of wisdom”—

2.24 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823084#UT22084-014-001-224/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-224%22%5D\)

“want to thoroughly establish a buddha’s body.”

“Who want to thoroughly establish a buddha’s body”—

2.25 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823096#UT22084-014-001-225/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-225%22%5D\)

“Who want to be born in the buddha’s lineage” —

2.26 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823097#UT22084-014-001-226/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-226%22%5D\)

“The heir apparent’s level”

2.31 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823098#UT22084-014-001-234/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-234%22%5D\)

“a world as vast as the dharma-constituent”

“as far-reaching as the space element”

2.32 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823100#UT22084-014-001-236/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-236%22%5D\)

“Want to make a single wholesome thought of awakening inexhaustible” —

2.37 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823101#UT22084-014-001-243/%5Bdata-

quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-243%22%5D\)

“Want to ensure the line of buddhas will be unbroken”

2.38

17 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(?\)

commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823102#UT22084-014-001-244/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-244%22%5D\)

“[They] want to stand in inner emptiness”

“outer emptiness.”

“inner and outer emptiness,”

“inner and outer emptiness.”

“emptiness of emptiness.”

“great emptiness.”

“emptiness of ultimate reality.”

“emptiness of the compounded.”

“emptiness of the un compounded.”

“emptiness of what transcends limits.”

“emptiness of no beginning and no end.”

“emptiness of nonrepudiation.”

“emptiness of a basic nature.”

“emptiness of all dharmas.”

“emptiness of its own mark.”

“emptiness of not apprehending.”

“the emptiness of the nonexistence of an intrinsic nature.”

2.41 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823085#UT22084-014-001-248/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-248%22%5D\)

“comprehend the suchness of all dharmas.”

“The suchness of all dharmas, the suchness of the dharma-constituent, and the suchness of the very limit of reality”—

2.43 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823120#UT22084-014-001-253/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-253%22%5D\)

“Want to know how many tiny particles of earth there are”

2.46 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823121#UT22084-014-001-256/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-256%22%5D\)

“Want to blunt with the tip of one finger”—

2.47 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823122#UT22084-014-001-257/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-257%22%5D\)

“Want their single cross-legged posture to expand into and fill up...”—

“With a single alms bowl”

2.49 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823086#UT22084-014-001-260/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-260%22%5D\)

“tiny particles”

2.77 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823124#UT22084-014-001-294/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-294%22%5D\)

“How, Lord... when bodhisattva great beings are giving a gift?”

2.78 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823125#UT22084-014-001-295/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-295%22%5D\)

“The perfection of concentration... because of not being distracted and not constructing any ideas”—

“The perfection of wisdom... by way of not apprehending the knowledge of all dharmas”

2.79 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823087#UT22084-014-001-297/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-297%22%5D\)

“want to acquire the buddha qualities of the past, future, and present lord buddhas”

2.108 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823127#UT22084-014-001-348/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-348%22%5D\)

“The flesh eye, divine eye,”

“Moreover, Śāriputra, bodhisattva great beings who want to hear the entire doctrine that the lord buddhas in all world systems in all ten directions explain, and having heard it take it up perfectly by applying the power of memory uninterruptedly, and who do not want any to be lost up until they awaken to unsurpassed, perfect, complete awakening should train in the perfection of wisdom.”

2.133 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823129#UT22084-014-001-378/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-378%22%5D\)

“Blinding darkness”—

2.162 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823073#UT22084-014-001-407/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-407%22%5D\)

“bodhisattva great beings who want to establish them in the result of stream enterer, the result of once-returner, the result of non-returner, the state of a worthy one, in a pratyekabuddha’s awakening, and in unsurpassed, perfect awakening should train in the perfection of wisdom,”

2.163 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823074#UT22084-014-001-408/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-408%22%5D\)

“who want to train in the tathāgatas’ way of carrying themselves,”

“Want to train in the tathāgatas’ way of carrying themselves”—

2.164 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823131#UT22084-014-001-409/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-409%22%5D\)

“Look down as an elephant looks”—

2.169 3 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823132#UT22084-014-001-422/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-422%22%5D\)

“walk, stand, sit”

“lie down”

“become all diamond?”

2.184 4 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823075#UT22084-014-001-439/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-439%22%5D\)

“make use of those five sorts of sense objects,”

“in order to brings beings to maturity... taking to the five sorts of sense objects.”

“without afflictions,”

“make use of”

2.186 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823138#UT22084-014-001-442/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-442%22%5D\)

“skilled”

2.189 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823140#UT22084-014-001-447/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-447%22%5D\)

“Lord, how then should bodhisattva great beings practice the perfection of wisdom?”

2.190 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823139#UT22084-014-001-448/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-448%22%5D\)

Venerable Śāriputra having thus inquired, the Lord said to him, “Śāriputra, here bodhisattva great beings practicing the perfection of wisdom do not, even while they are bodhisattvas, see a bodhisattva. They do not see even the word bodhisattva. They do not see awakening either, and they do not see the perfection of wisdom. They do not see that ‘they practice,’ and they do not see that ‘they do not practice.’ They also do not see that ‘while practicing they practice and while not practicing do not practice,’ and they also do not see that ‘they do not practice, and do not not practice as well.’ They do not see form. Similarly, they do not see feeling, perception, volitional factors, or consciousness either,”

2.191 5 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823141#UT22084-014-001-450/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-450%22%5D\)

“and why?”

“the name bodhisattva is empty of the intrinsic nature of a name. The name bodhisattva is not empty because of emptiness,”

“and why?”

“because this—namely, bodhisattva—is just a name,”

“And because this—namely, emptiness—is just a name”—

2.192 8 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823146#UT22084-014-001-454/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-454%22%5D\)

“just names.”

“because where there is no intrinsic nature there is no production, stopping, decrease, increase, defilement, or purification.”

“Form is like an illusion, feeling is like an illusion,”

“And an illusion is just a name that does not reside somewhere, does not reside in a particular place”

“The sight of an illusion is mistaken and does not exist”

“And is devoid of an intrinsic nature”

“Bodhisattva great beings practicing the perfection of wisdom like that do not see production,”

“in any dharma at all”

2.193 7 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823155#UT22084-014-001-456/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-456%22%5D\)

“production... stopping”—

“decrease... increase”—

“defilement... purification”—

“And why? Because names are made up.”

“form, feeling, perception,”

“those interdependent dharmas, they are imagined,”

“names plucked out of thin air working subsequently as conventional labels,”

2.194 4 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823143#UT22084-014-001-459/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-459%22%5D\)

“The perfection of wisdom, too,”

“just as they are subsequently conventionally labeled, so too are they settled down on as real”

“when bodhisattva great beings practicing the perfection of wisdom do not see any of those names as inherently existing,”

“because they do not see them, they do not settle down on them as real”;

2.195 5 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823165#UT22084-014-001-462/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-462%22%5D\)

“moreover, Śāriputra, bodhisattva great beings practicing the perfection of wisdom think,”

“bodhisattvas,”

“awakening,”

“the awakened one,”

“the perfection of wisdom... form,”

2.196 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823170#UT22084-014-001-463/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-463%22%5D\)

“For example, Śāriputra, ‘self’ is said again and again,”

“cannot be apprehended”

2.197 5 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823172#UT22084-014-001-464/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-464%22%5D\)

“Similarly, bodhisattva great beings practicing the perfection of wisdom also...,”

“do not see”

“they do not see even the names”

“settle down on them as real.”

“Because they do not see what would make them settle down on them as real”

2.198 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823186#UT22084-014-001-466/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-466%22%5D\)

“setting aside the wisdom of a tathāgata, [they]... surpass the wisdom of all śrāvakas and pratyekabuddhas.”

2.199 5 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823187#UT22084-014-001-467/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-467%22%5D\)

“To illustrate, Śāriputra, if this Jambudvīpa were filled with monks similar in worth to Śāriputra and Maudgalyāyana,”

“A thicket of naḍa reeds, or a thicket of bamboo, or a thicket of sugarcane, or a thicket of rushes, or a thicket of rice, or a thicket of sesame”

“would not approach ... even by a hundredth part, nor by a thousandth part, nor by a hundred thousandth part; it would not stand up to any number, or fraction, or counting, or analogy, or comparison.”

“the wisdom”

“the wisdom of a bodhisattva”

2.202 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823192#UT22084-014-001-471/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-471%22%5D\)

“As many... as there are sand particles in the Gaṅgā River”

2.211 7 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823193#UT22084-014-001-480/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-480%22%5D\)

“venerable Śāriputra,”

“Lord, the wisdom of śrāvaka stream enterers,”

“All those wisdoms are not broken apart; they are a detachment, are not produced, and are empty of an intrinsic nature.”

“Variation”— “Distinction”

“So how, Lord, could...”

“what do you think, Śāriputra,”

2.212 5 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823200#UT22084-014-001-483/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-483%22%5D\)

“furnished with the best of all aspects”

“practicing the knowledge of all aspects”

“working for the welfare of all beings”

“Having fully awakened to all dharmas in all forms”

“lead all beings to complete nirvāṇa”

2.213 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823205#UT22084-014-001-485/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-485%22%5D\)

“What do you think, Śāriputra, do all śrāvakas and pratyekabuddhas think, ‘We must, having fully awakened to unsurpassed, perfect, complete awakening,’ ”

2.215 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823206#UT22084-014-001-488/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-488%22%5D\)

“What do you think, Śāriputra, do all these śrāvakas and pratyekabuddhas think, ‘We must, having practiced the six perfections,’ ”

“ ‘lead infinite, countless beings beyond measure to complete nirvāṇa.’ ”

2.216 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823208#UT22084-014-001-490/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-490%22%5D\)

“Śāriputra, a bodhisattva great being thinks...”

“lead infinite, countless beings beyond measure to complete nirvāṇa.”

2.217 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823210#UT22084-014-001-491/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-491%22%5D\)

“fireflies,”

2.218 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823211#UT22084-014-001-493/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-493%22%5D\)

“the sun”

2.219 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823212#UT22084-014-001-494/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-494%22%5D\)

“How, Lord, do bodhisattva great beings, having passed...,”

2.220 7 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823213#UT22084-014-001-496/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-496%22%5D\)

“their first”—

“production of the thought onward”

“emptiness, signlessness, and wishlessness”

“beyond the śrāvaka or pratyekabuddha level”;

“the irreversible”

“level”;

“the [six] perfections”

2.221 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823220#UT22084-014-001-499/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-499%22%5D\)

“Standing on which level, Lord, do bodhisattva [great beings],”

2.222 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823221#UT22084-014-001-500/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-500%22%5D\)

“in the interval from their first production of the thought,”

2.223 6 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823222#UT22084-014-001-501/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-501%22%5D\)

“Because Śāriputra, it is thanks to bodhisattva great beings that all wholesome dharmas appear in the world,”

“The ten wholesome actions, the morality with five branches, the morality with eight branches”—

“the concentrations”

“the path”

“the perfections”

“distinct attributes of a buddha”

2.224 3 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary (?
commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823228#UT22084-014-001-505/%5Bdata-
quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-505%22%5D)

“because those wholesome dharmas appear in the world, there are great sāla tree-like royal families in the world,”

“stream enterers appear in the world,”

“the perfectly complete buddhas,”

2.225 3 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary (?
commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823231#UT22084-014-001-507/%5Bdata-
quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-507%22%5D)

“purifies the offering,”

“Because the offering is absolutely pure”

“a giver.”

2.226 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary (?
commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823234#UT22084-014-001-510/%5Bdata-
quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-510%22%5D)

“Lord, how are bodhisattva great beings who engage with the perfection of wisdom ‘engaged’?”

2.227 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary (?
commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823235#UT22084-014-001-512/%5Bdata-
quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-512%22%5D)

the Lord

2.232 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823237#UT22084-014-001-517/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-517%22%5D\)

“when”

“are practicing with these seven emptinesses,”

2.233 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823236#UT22084-014-001-519/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-519%22%5D\)

“You cannot say... that they ‘are engaged’ or ‘are not engaged.’ ”

“and why?”

2.234 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823240#UT22084-014-001-520/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-520%22%5D\)

“because they do not see form as qualified by production or qualified by stopping,”

2.235 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823241#UT22084-014-001-521/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-521%22%5D\)

“They do not see form as qualified by defilement or qualified by purification.”

2.236 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823242#UT22084-014-001-522/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-522%22%5D\)

“do not see ‘a confluence of form with feeling,’ ”

2.237 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823243#UT22084-014-001-524/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-524%22%5D\)

“because they are empty of a basic nature”

2.238 6 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823244#UT22084-014-001-525/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-525%22%5D\)

“that emptiness of form is not form,”

“Because, Śāriputra, that emptiness of form is not seeable.”

“experience,”

“being collected together and knowing,”

“occasioning anything,”

“making conscious,”

2.239 3 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary (?
commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823250#UT22084-014-001-527/%5Bdata-
quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-527%22%5D)

“And why?”

“Because... form is not one thing and emptiness another; emptiness is not one thing and form another,”

“form is itself emptiness, and emptiness is form,”

2.240 5 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary (?
commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823253#UT22084-014-001-528/%5Bdata-
quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-528%22%5D)

“Śāriputra, that emptiness is not produced and does not stop,”

“does not decrease and does not increase,”

“is not past, is not future, and is not present.”

“In such as that,”

“there is no form, there is no feeling, there is no perception,”

2.245 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary (?
commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823258#UT22084-014-001-534/%5Bdata-
quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-534%22%5D)

“there is no buddha; there is no awakening.”

2.246 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary (?
commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823259#UT22084-014-001-535/%5Bdata-

quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-535%22%5D\)

“they do not see the practice of the perfection of wisdom as either ‘engaged’ or ‘not engaged’ with form”

2.256 4 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823260#UT22084-014-001-546/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-546%22%5D\)

“Neither cause emptiness to engage with emptiness” —

“the yogic practice of emptiness as well,”

“signlessness”;

“wishlessness.”

2.259 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823264#UT22084-014-001-551/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-551%22%5D\)

“they do not engage with nor disengage from form” —

“enter into the emptiness of the marks particular to dharmas.”

2.260 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823266#UT22084-014-001-555/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-555%22%5D\)

“they do not join form with the prior limit,”

“because they do not even see the prior limit.”

2.277 3 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823268#UT22084-014-001-573/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-573%22%5D\)

“They do not join the prior limit with the later limit”—

“join the prior limit with the later limit and... join the later limit with the prior limit.”

“because of the sameness of the three periods of time.”

2.281 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823271#UT22084-014-001-581/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-581%22%5D\)

“[Bodhisattva great beings]... do not join form with the knowledge of all aspects”—

2.313 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823272#UT22084-014-001-615/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-615%22%5D\)

“[Form] is not joined with ‘permanent,’ ”

“with ‘impermanent,’ ”

2.343 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823274#UT22084-014-001-648/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-648%22%5D\)

“Form is not joined with ‘calm,’ ”

“Form is not joined with ‘not calm,’ ”

2.352 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823276#UT22084-014-001-657/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-657%22%5D\)

“The knowledge of all aspects does not join with ‘calm,’ ”

2.428 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823277#UT22084-014-001-738/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-738%22%5D\)

“ ‘practicing,’ ”

2.429 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823278#UT22084-014-001-740/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-740%22%5D\)

“[Bodhisattva great beings]... do not practice the perfection of wisdom for the sake of the perfection of giving”—

2.438 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823279#UT22084-014-001-750/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-750%22%5D\)

“do not see a difference in any dharma.”

2.440 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823280#UT22084-014-001-753/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-753%22%5D\)

“do not even see the perfection of wisdom itself, not to mention a bodhisattva, so however could they apprehend fully all the clairvoyances?”

2.444 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823281#UT22084-014-001-759/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-759%22%5D\)

“Śāriputra, Māra the wicked one does not gain entry to a bodhisattva great being practicing the perfection of wisdom like this,”

2.457 3 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823282#UT22084-014-001-774/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-774%22%5D\)

“Any phenomenon united with”

“separated”

“Come together with or not come together with them”

2.458 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823285#UT22084-014-001-776/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-776%22%5D\)

“Because the dharma-constituent does not fully awaken by means of the dharma-constituent,”

2.463 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823286#UT22084-014-001-784/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-784%22%5D\)

“do not join form to emptiness”—

“and do not join emptiness to form”—

2.469 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823288#UT22084-014-001-791/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-791%22%5D\)

“Śāriputra, you should bear in mind that bodhisattva great beings engaged like that have been prophesied”—

2.470 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823289#UT22084-014-001-792/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-792%22%5D\)

“for the welfare of infinite, countless beings beyond measure, but still it will not occur to them to think, ‘The lord buddhas will make a prophesy about me. I am close to being prophesied,’ ”

2.472 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823291#UT22084-014-001-794/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-794%22%5D\)

“Practices the perfection of wisdom as an unproduced and unceasing being”

2.473 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823290#UT22084-014-001-795/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-795%22%5D\)

“Because the notion of a being does not occur to bodhisattva great beings... like that. And why? Because a being is absolutely not produced and does not cease, because the true dharmic nature of dharmas is not produced and does not cease.”

2.474 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823292#UT22084-014-001-797/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-797%22%5D\)

“emptiness... and cannot be apprehended,”

“in an isolated state.”

2.475 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823294#UT22084-014-001-798/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-798%22%5D\)

“Śāriputra, this... is the bodhisattva great beings’ ultimate yogic practice,”

2.476 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823295#UT22084-014-001-800/%5Bdata-

quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-800%22%5D\)

“[they] accomplish... great love, great compassion,”

“they do not practice with a miserly thought,”

2.477 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823297#UT22084-014-001-801/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-801%22%5D\)

“Where did they die... who have taken birth here?”

2.484 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823298#UT22084-014-001-812/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-812%22%5D\)

“Śāriputra, there are... bodhisattva great beings without skillful means,”

2.486 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823299#UT22084-014-001-814/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-814%22%5D\)

“will fully awaken to unsurpassed, perfect, complete awakening right here in the Fortunate Eon.”

2.506 3 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823300#UT22084-014-001-839/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-839%22%5D\)

“knowledge”

“is a bodhisattva [great being’s]”

“forbearance.”

2.538 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823303#UT22084-014-001-880/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-880%22%5D\)

“the light of the buddhadharmas,”

“up until they... fully awaken.”

2.539 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823305#UT22084-014-001-882/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-882%22%5D\)

“This, Śāriputra, is the origination of the bodhisattva great beings in the buddhadharmas.”

2.540 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823306#UT22084-014-001-885/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-885%22%5D\)

“Therefore, Śāriputra, bodhisattva great beings practicing the perfection of wisdom would provide no opportunity for basic immoral physical, verbal, and mental action.”

2.541 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823307#UT22084-014-001-887/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-887%22%5D\)

“What, Lord, is a bodhisattva great being’s basic immoral physical action?”

2.548 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823309#UT22084-014-001-895/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-895%22%5D\)

“cleansing the awakening path”

2.549 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823308#UT22084-014-001-896/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-896%22%5D\)

“What, Lord, is the bodhisattva great beings’ awakening path?”

“Śāriputra, when bodhisattva great beings practice the awakening path,”

2.554 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823311#UT22084-014-001-903/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-903%22%5D\)

“What, Lord, is the bodhisattva great beings’ knowledge of a knower of all aspects?”

2.555 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823312#UT22084-014-001-904/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-904%22%5D\)

“in possession of that knowledge,”

2.566 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823313#UT22084-014-001-915/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-915%22%5D\)

“flesh eye”

2.569 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823314#UT22084-014-001-922/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-922%22%5D\)

“divine eye”

2.573 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823315#UT22084-014-001-930/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-930%22%5D\)

“wisdom eye”

2.574 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823316#UT22084-014-001-932/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-932%22%5D\)

“dharma eye”

2.595 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823317#UT22084-014-001-962/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-962%22%5D\)

“buddha eye”

2.600 6 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823319#UT22084-014-001-970/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-970%22%5D\)

“They do not apprehend a false projection of miraculous power,”

“What they might falsely project,”

“they do not apprehend”

“Its intrinsic nature is empty”

“its intrinsic nature is isolated”

“its intrinsic nature is not produced”

2.601 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823325#UT22084-014-001-971/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-971%22%5D\)

“They do not intend miraculous power”

“[they] intend to accomplish miraculous power”

2.614 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823318#UT22084-014-001-987/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-987%22%5D\)

“Śāriputra, practicing the perfection of wisdom like that the six clairvoyances of bodhisattva great beings are perfected and purified, and those purified clairvoyances cause them to gain the knowledge of all aspects.”

2.615 5 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823327#UT22084-014-001-988/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-988%22%5D\)

“Therefore, Śāriputra, there are bodhisattva great beings practicing the perfection of wisdom who, standing in the perfection of giving, cleanse the path to the knowledge of all aspects based on not holding on to anything because of the emptiness that transcends limits.”

“Śāriputra, there are...”

“Because of the emptiness that transcends limits”—

“Based on not holding on to anything”—

“standing in the perfection of giving, cleanse the path to”

2.617 3 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823332#UT22084-014-001-991/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-991%22%5D\)

“Based on not having gone, not having come—

“based on not...”

“And not having grasped anything”—

2.618 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823335#UT22084-014-001-992/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-992%22%5D\)

“giving is designated based on holding on to things”—

2.619 3 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823336#UT22084-014-001-993/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-993%22%5D\)

“They do not falsely project ‘they have gotten beyond that.’ They do not falsely project ‘they have not gotten beyond that.’ ”

“They do not falsely project ‘giving and miserliness’ ”

“They do not falsely project ‘I have been snubbed.’ They do not falsely project ‘I have been saluted,’ ”

2.620 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823339#UT22084-014-001-994/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-994%22%5D\)

“Śāriputra, a nonproduction...”

2.622 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823340#UT22084-014-001-996/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-996%22%5D\)

“In regard to all beings, that they are the same”

“that all phenomena are the same”

- 3.1 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823345#UT22084-014-001-1063/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1063%22%5D\)

The Lord... said..., “Subhūti, starting with the perfection of wisdom, be confident in your readiness to give a Dharma discourse to the bodhisattva great beings about how bodhisattva great beings go forth in the perfection of wisdom.”

- 3.2 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823343#UT22084-014-001-1064/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1064%22%5D\)

“Will venerable Subhūti instruct... on account of armor in which reposes the power of his own intellect and ready speech?”

- 3.3 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823342#UT22084-014-001-1065/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1065%22%5D\)

“Śāriputra, it is just the Tathāgata who, by skillful means, will expound the perfection of wisdom to the bodhisattva great beings.”

“Whatever the Lord’s śrāvakas say, teach, and expound”—

- 3.4 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823346#UT22084-014-001-1066/%5Bdata-

quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1066%22%5D\)

“Lord, ... [w]hat phenomenon is this, the word bodhisattva great being, for?”

3.6 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823359#UT22084-014-001-1068/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1068%22%5D\)

“those... are just words,”

“do not exist inside, do not exist outside, and they cannot be apprehended where both do not exist”

3.7 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823361#UT22084-014-001-1069/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1069%22%5D\)

“Subhūti, it is like this: the word being is uttered again and again, but you cannot apprehend any being,”

“and except for being used conventionally as a mere word and conventional term, any phenomenon that is a designation is not produced and does not stop,”

3.8 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823363#UT22084-014-001-1070/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1070%22%5D\)

“self, being,”

3.35 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823364#UT22084-014-001-1097/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1097%22%5D\)

“body”

3.64 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823365#UT22084-014-001-1127/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1127%22%5D\)

“grass,”

3.67 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823366#UT22084-014-001-1133/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1133%22%5D\)

“dream, echo, mirage,”

3.68 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823367#UT22084-014-001-1134/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1134%22%5D\)

“Subhūti, when bodhisattva great beings are practicing the perfection of wisdom they should train in names and conventional terms that make things known, in advice that makes things known, and in dharmas that make things known.”

3.69 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823368#UT22084-014-001-1135/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1135%22%5D\)

“Subhūti, bodhisattva great beings thus practicing the perfection of wisdom do not view ‘form is permanent,’ ”

3.104 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823369#UT22084-014-001-1172/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1172%22%5D\)

“They do not view... as existing in the compounded element or as existing in the un-compounded element.”

3.105 4 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823370#UT22084-014-001-1173/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1173%22%5D\)

“do not mentally construct... any of those dharmas.”

“conceptualize,”

“mentally construct,”

“Standing without mentally constructing any dharma they cultivate the applications of mindfulness,”

3.111 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823374#UT22084-014-001-1181/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1181%22%5D\)

“the distinct attributes of a buddha.”

3.112 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823375#UT22084-014-001-1182/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1182%22%5D\)

“[Bodhisattva great beings] practicing the perfection of wisdom excellently realize the defining marks of the dharmas. And that defining mark of a dharma, of the dharmas, is not defiled and is not purified.”

3.113 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823377#UT22084-014-001-1183/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1183%22%5D\)

“having understood that they are [just] names and conventional terms that are dharma designations, they do not settle down on form,”

3.120 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823378#UT22084-014-001-1192/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1192%22%5D\)

“the skillful means”

“They do not settle down on suchness. They do not settle down on the very limit of reality. They do not settle down on the dharma-constituent.”

3.122 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823380#UT22084-014-001-1195/%5Bdata-

quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1195%22%5D\)

“Subhūti, bodhisattva great beings thus practicing the perfection of wisdom who do not settle down on all dharmas grow in the perfection of giving,”

3.123 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823381#UT22084-014-001-1196/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1196%22%5D\)

“They will obtain the dhāraṇī gateways. They will obtain the meditative stabilization gateways.”

3.124 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823347#UT22084-014-001-1198/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1198%22%5D\)

“Subhūti, bodhisattva great beings practicing the perfection of wisdom should thus understand names and conventional terms.”

“Subhūti, when bodhisattva great beings are thus practicing the perfection of wisdom they should understand the conventional usage of dharmas that are names and conventional terms.”

3.125 5 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823348#UT22084-014-001-1200/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1200%22%5D\)

“Lord, you say... ‘bodhisattva great being,’”

“What do you think, Subhūti, is the bodhisattva form, or is the bodhisattva other than form?”

“Lord, you say... ‘bodhisattva great being,’ ”

“What do you think, Subhūti, is the bodhisattva form, or is the bodhisattva other than form, or is the bodhisattva in form, or is form in the bodhisattva, or is the bodhisattva without form?”

“What do you think... is the bodhisattva form?”

3.126 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823385#UT22084-014-001-1203/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1203%22%5D\)

“Is the bodhisattva something other that is not form, ... is the bodhisattva something other that is not feeling...?”

“What do you think... is the bodhisattva other than form? What do you think... is the bodhisattva other than feeling?”

3.127 3 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823386#UT22084-014-001-1205/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1205%22%5D\)

“Or is the bodhisattva in form, or is form in the bodhisattva... or is the bodhisattva in feeling, or is feeling in the bodhisattva...?”

“What do you think... is the bodhisattva in form? What do you think... is the bodhisattva in feeling?”

“What do you think... is form in the bodhisattva? Is feeling in the bodhisattva?”

3.129 4 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823387#UT22084-014-001-1210/%5Bdata-

quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1210%22%5D\)

“Or is the bodhisattva without form... or is the bodhisattva without feeling...?”

“None of those, Lord.”

“What do you think... is the bodhisattva without form? What do you think... is the bodhisattva without feeling?”

“None of those, Lord.”

3.130 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823392#UT22084-014-001-1213/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1213%22%5D\)

“What do you think... is the bodhisattva feeling?”

3.132 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823384#UT22084-014-001-1217/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1217%22%5D\)

“Is the bodhisattva form... or is the bodhisattva feeling... or is the bodhisattva perception...?”

3.135 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823394#UT22084-014-001-1223/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1223%22%5D\)

“What do you think... is the bodhisattva perception... is the bodhisattva volitional factors?”

3.145 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823396#UT22084-014-001-1243/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1243%22%5D\)

“What do you think... is the bodhisattva consciousness?”

3.390 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823402#UT22084-014-001-1734/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-1734%22%5D\)

“What do you think, Subhūti, is the bodhisattva the suchness of form?”

“None of those, Lord.”

3.655 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823404#UT22084-014-001-2265/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2265%22%5D\)

“Subhūti, for what reason do you say...?”

3.656 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823350#UT22084-014-001-2266/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2266%22%5D\)

“Lord, when a bodhisattva great being absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could that form be a bodhisattva?”

“Lord... when a bodhisattva absolutely does not exist and cannot be apprehended, how could that form be a bodhisattva?”

3.658 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823406#UT22084-014-001-2269/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2269%22%5D\)

“How could the suchness of form be apprehended in it?”

3.659 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823351#UT22084-014-001-2270/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2270%22%5D\)

“Bodhisattvas, Subhūti, should train in the perfection of wisdom like that, without apprehending a being.”

“Excellent, excellent, Subhūti!” said the Lord. “Bodhisattvas, Subhūti, should train in the perfection of wisdom like that, without apprehending a being.”

3.660 4 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823352#UT22084-014-001-2271/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2271%22%5D\)

“What phenomenon is this, the word bodhisattva, for?”

“Subhūti... what do you think, is bodhisattva the word for form?”

“What phenomenon is this, the word bodhisattva, for?”

“What do you think, Subhūti, is bodhisattva the word for form? Or do you think bodhisattva is the word for feeling?”

3.744 4 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823354#UT22084-014-001-2430/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2430%22%5D\)

“Subhūti! ... when bodhisattva great beings are practicing the perfection of wisdom like that they should train in the perfection of wisdom without apprehending a word for form,”

“should train in the perfection of wisdom without apprehending a word for wishlessness,”

“Excellent, excellent, Subhūti!” said the Lord. “Bodhisattva great beings practicing the perfection of wisdom like that, Subhūti, should train in the perfection of wisdom without apprehending a word for form,” without apprehending the words for... consciousness is... a pleasurable state, a suffering state, self, selflessness, calmness, noncalmness, emptiness, nonemptiness, the state of having a sign, signlessness, the state of being wished for, or wishlessness,”

3.745 3 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823356#UT22084-014-001-2431/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2431%22%5D\)

“I do not see that—namely, the phenomenon with the name bodhisattva,”

“Again, Subhūti, you say...”

“I do not see that—namely, the phenomenon bodhisattva,”

3.748 11 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823389#UT22084-014-001-2434/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2434%22%5D\)

“one who sees.”

“one who feels.”

“one who does.”

“one who knows.”

“And why? You cannot make the uncompounded known without the compounded, and you cannot make the compounded known without the uncompounded.”

“Subhūti, bodhisattva great beings practicing the perfection of wisdom like that do not see any dharma at all, but they do not tremble, feel frightened, or become terrified at not seeing; their minds are not cowed by any dharma, do not tense up, and do not experience regret.”

“do not see form”

“greed, hatred, and confusion;”

“a self, a being, and a living being,”

“the desire realm, form realm, and formless realm;”

“śrāvakas and śrāvakadharmas... pratyekabuddhas and pratyekabuddhadharmas... bodhisattvas and bodhisattva dharmas ... buddhas and buddhadharmas... and awakening.”

3.750 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823421#UT22084-014-001-2438/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2438%22%5D\)

“Mind and mental factor dharmas”

3.751 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823422#UT22084-014-001-2439/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2439%22%5D\)

“thinking mind and thinking mind dharmas”

3.752 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823357#UT22084-014-001-2441/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2441%22%5D\)

“Subhūti, bodhisattva great beings should practice the perfection of wisdom like that, without apprehending all dharmas,”

“That is the advice about the perfection of wisdom of bodhisattvas, just that is the instruction”

4.1 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823423#UT22084-014-001-2444/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2444%22%5D\)

“Lord, bodhisattva great beings who want to comprehend form should train in the perfection of wisdom,”

“Lord, bodhisattva great beings who want to comprehend form,”

4.6 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823426#UT22084-014-001-2450/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2450%22%5D\)

“Who want to eliminate greed, hatred, and confusion”

4.9 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823427#UT22084-014-001-2453/%5Bdata-

quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2453%22%5D\)

“complete the ten wholesome actions... the perfections,”

4.15 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823428#UT22084-014-001-2459/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2459%22%5D\)

“the eighteen distinct attributes of a buddha.”

4.18 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823429#UT22084-014-001-2463/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2463%22%5D\)

“obtain the dhāraṇi gateways and meditative stabilizations.”

4.19 3 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823430#UT22084-014-001-2464/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2464%22%5D\)

“fulfill all the intentions of beings”

“complete all the wholesome roots.”

“The big flaw”—

4.22 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823433#UT22084-014-001-2470/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2470%22%5D\)

“A conforming love for dharmas”—

4.23 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary (? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823434#UT22084-014-001-2473/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2473%22%5D)

“Form a persistent negative attachment to the notion”—

4.32 3 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary (? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823435#UT22084-014-001-2483/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2483%22%5D)

“flawlessness”

“Do not see in inner emptiness outer emptiness”—

“And... in outer emptiness inner emptiness”—

4.34 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary (? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823438#UT22084-014-001-2486/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2486%22%5D)

“Train so that they know form but do not falsely project anything because of it”—

“the eighteen distinct attributes of a buddha,”

4.35 3 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary (? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823440#UT22084-014-001-2487/%5Bdata-

quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2487%22%5D\)

“do not falsely project anything even because of the thought of awakening.”

“Because that thought is no thought”—

“the basic nature of thought is clear light,”

4.36 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823443#UT22084-014-001-2488/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2488%22%5D\)

“A thought that is not conjoined with greed nor disjoined from greed”

4.37 3 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823444#UT22084-014-001-2492/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2492%22%5D\)

“Venerable Subhūti, the thought of which you say ‘it is no thought,’ does that thought exist?”

“Venerable Śāriputra, can you apprehend existence or nonexistence there, in that state of no thought?”

“No, Venerable Subhūti.”

4.38 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823447#UT22084-014-001-2495/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2495%22%5D\)

“Is then... this argumentative investigation of yours... appropriate?”

4.39 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823448#UT22084-014-001-2496/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2496%22%5D\)

“Venerable Subhūti, what is the state of no thought?”

“Venerable Śāriputra, the state of no thought is a state without distortion and without conceptualization,”

4.40 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823450#UT22084-014-001-2498/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2498%22%5D\)

“Venerable Subhūti, just as thought is without distortion and without conceptualization, so too is form without distortion and without conceptualization?”

4.51 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823451#UT22084-014-001-2510/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2510%22%5D\)

“unsurpassed, perfect, complete awakening are without distortion and without conceptualization as well.”

4.52 9 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823452#UT22084-014-001-2511/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2511%22%5D\)

“The Lord’s son, close to his bosom”—

“born from his Dharma,”

“magically produced from his Dharma,”

“his Dharma heir,”

“not heir to material possessions,”

“a direct eyewitness to the dharmas,”

“who witnesses with your body,”

“foremost of those who are at the conflict-free stage.”

“excellent!”

4.54 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823424#UT22084-014-001-2515/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2515%22%5D\)

“because in this perfection of wisdom there is detailed instruction for the three vehicles in which bodhisattva great beings should train on the level of śrāvakas and pratyekabuddhas, bodhisattvas, and buddhas.”

“in this perfection of wisdom is detailed instruction for the three vehicles,”

5.1 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823462#UT22084-014-001-2519/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2519%22%5D\)

“Lord, given that I do not find, do not apprehend, and do not see a bodhisattva or the perfection of wisdom, to which bodhisattva will I give advice and instruction in what perfection of wisdom?”

“Lord, given that I do not find, do not apprehend, and do not see any real basis...—Lord, while not finding, not apprehending, and not seeing any real basis, which dharma will advise and instruct which dharma?”

5.2 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823464#UT22084-014-001-2521/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2521%22%5D\)

“Because, Lord, given that I do not find, do not apprehend, and do not see all dharmas, this really is something I might be uneasy about, how I might make just the name bodhisattva and just the name perfection of wisdom wax and wane.”

5.3 2 references to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823465#UT22084-014-001-2522/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2522%22%5D\)

“Lord, furthermore, that name does not stand alone and does not meet up with anything. And why? It is because that name does not exist.”

“Lord, given that I do not apprehend and do not see the waxing and waning of form,”

5.164 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42823467#UT22084-014-001-2686/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-2686%22%5D\)

“suchness, unmistakable suchness,”

9.3 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42817217#UT22084-014-001-8081/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-8081%22%5D\)

“viewing in feelings inner feelings”—

10.16 1 reference to this passage can be found in the commentary Toh 3808, The Long Explanation of the Noble Perfection of Wisdom in One Hundred Thousand, Twenty-Five Thousand, and Eighteen Thousand Lines.

Reload this text to be read alongside this commentary \(? commentary=UT23703-093-001-42817465#UT22084-014-001-8231/%5Bdata-quote-location%3D%22UT22084-014-001-8231%22%5D\)

“For the sake of all beings they engage in the quest for knowledge of the Great Vehicle.”